Athens Will Have a Catholic Church.

On Thursday, Oct. 26, at 1 p.m., Father Kelly called a number of his parishioners to Athens to excavate the foundation for the proposed new church. The Catholics were joined by a goodly attendance of Protestants, who spontaneously worked the whole afternoon, thus evincing a true spirit of the christian love, peace, and generosity of heart and mind that abides in our midst, and which should exist in the hearts of all true followers of our divine Saviour. The faithful workers unexpectedly found a solid rock foundation, and by 6 p.m. the excavations were completed and left ready for the masons to begin their work next spring. The location is a beautiful one, overlooking the whole town of Athens, and the church when erected will be seen from miles around. The church will not solely prove beneficial to the Catholics in and around the town, but will be substantially instrumental in the promotion of the general progress of the town. Athens can proudly boast of having the best schools in Ontario, and repeatedly have we heard Catholic parents object to send their sons and daughters to Athens because there was no Catholic church wherein they could worship on Sunday, and hence they go to Gananoque, Brockville and Kingston where they can find church facilities. An increase of Catholic population in Athens would certainly be welcomed by our common-sense community and particularly by our citizens in business life. The Catholic population is not increasing but truly decreasing. Why? because there is no church for them in Athens. But trusting in Divine Providence who, in His goodness, provides for all, soon a church will grace the neat town of Athens, and our co-religionists will have their spiritual wants satisfied. Father Kelly proposes erecting a church that will be ornamental as well as useful to the town—COM.

We are pleased to learn that at the World's Fair a cheese sent from the Mallorytown factory was one of five from Ontario that scored 99½ per cent. We congratulate the maker, Mr. Frank Blanchard, and the patrons of the factory, as the achievement is creditable alike to both. Athens sends forth many excellent cheesemakers, and it is gratifying to know that one of them, at least, is qualified to stand in the first row of the makers on the American continent.

Obituary.

Manada A. Brannon departed this life at her home, Elgin st., Athens, on Thursday last, aged 38 years, 6 months and 14 days. Her demise closed a long and painful illness and to her, death came as a happy release, for she was ready when the Master called. During her life she practiced a large measure of self denial and self sacrifice, and so it was fitting that during her sickness she should, as she did, receive the unwearying, loving care of relatives and friends. The funeral services were conducted in the Baptist church on Saturday, a large concourse of relatives and friends being present.

The Late Richard Howe.

An old and respected resident of Glen Buell in the person of Richard Howe passed over to the great majority on Wednesday, Oct. 11th, after an illness extending over several months, during which time he suffered much pain. He was second son of Thomas and Elizabeth Howe, who lived in the township of Yonge, at or near that old historic ground, Lake Eloida. They were U. E. Loyalists stock, and pioneer Methodists also. Mr. Howe's father was the first licensed local preacher in that section of the country. Richard Howe, was united in marriage to Lucy, daughter of Zenas and Catherine Oxton, October 16th, 1850. They also became active members of the Methodist church. In politics, he was a non compromising Reformer. He left a wife, two daughters, and one son. The funeral services were held in Glen Buell church. The Rev. J. V. McDowell, pastor, used 2nd Corinthians, 5th chapter, and 1st verse: "For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were disolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens." His mortal remains were interred in Glen Buell cemetery. Mr. Howe was 70 years, 7 months old.

Who Has Right to Use of Sidewalk.

MR. EDITOR.—I have been asked this question many times within the last week. My answer has in every case been that bicycles and Salvation Army have no right whatever to use of sidewalk. I consider either or both of them to come under the head of "nuisance," and also extremely dangerous to the public, and I wish through your paper to give my opinion in regard to using the sidewalk for the use of the wheel or drum. Danger should be written in big letters on the front of the bicycle, also on the drum of the Salvation Army. Now, I raise no objection to our young men, or our old men, tying a string around the lower part of their understanding, and getting astride the wheel, which no doubt they are ready to fully believe is fast doing away with steam or horse power, or even electricity itself; but I do object to the use of the sidewalk for that purpose. People, when on the sidewalk, should feel and know that they are safe from all danger, as regards hoops, wheels or wagons. He on the bicycle will steal up behind you, blow his whistle or ring his bell, and you, poor unfortunate, who are not able to afford to own one, or would be rather timid, must necessarily jump for the middle of the muddy street, and let his lordship pass by, or be run over. Even if the middle aged are able and willing to get out of the way, and take to the streets, the old and decrepid and the children are not. Perhaps it would be well for our city fathers to build an extra sidewalk for the people and give up the present one for the use of the wheel, for it is not sufficient for both. I, myself, have never yet paid any attention to either whistle or bell of the bicycle, when on the sidewalk, and I here give warning to the wheelmen of this village, that I will not move one inch, when on the sidewalk, and should any of them see fit to run against me, they had better make a finish of me there and then, for if I am ever able to crawl around after, I shall surely pay them off, with big interest.

As to the Salvation Army marching on the sidewalk, it is entirely wrong and very dangerous. About three weeks since, two of our most respectable citizens (women), one quite aged, were run over by a horse which took fright at the drum and flag of the Army. At the same time, I was holding a horse and near by me were three other men holding their horses. Now, it is well known that on Saturday evening the best trade of the week is done. Farmers, busy through the week, come in to trade, and there is a string of horses hitched to posts all along main street. When the drum and flag come up the sidewalk, each one is obliged to run for dear life to his horse to try and pacify the justly frightened animal. If those people believe that the drum is chock full of religion, let them knock it out in their barracks; or if they must march, let them take the middle of the streets, and thus avoid all danger, nuisance, and trouble to those who have no drum.

HIGH SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT.

The "commencement" exercises and entertainment in connection with Athens high school, held in the lecture room of that institution on Friday evening last, was in every respect a brilliant success. A room double the size would not have contained all who would like to have attended, and it is to be regretted that the village is not yet possessed of a hall that could be utilized for such gatherings. Among the large audience present were many old-time pupils and graduates, whose love for the old school and its associations brought them from distant points to attend the annual commencement. Mr. J. P. Lamb, reeve of the village, presided, and on the platform with him were Rev. W. P. Dyer, M. A., principal of Albert College, Belleville, Rev. Wm. Wright, Rev. John Grenfell and Trustees A. W. Johnson, H. H. Arnold, D. Fisher, Jas. Duggan and I. C. Alguire. The platform was pleasingly decorated with curtains and a profusion of flowers. The meeting opened with devotional exercises conducted by Rev. J. Grenfell, and Mr. U. J. Flach, M. A., head master, then gave a brief salutatory address. After welcoming the audience and expressing his pleasure at seeing such a large gathering, he briefly reviewed the work of the past year, showing that the school had in respect to the number passed, and in other respects, excelled its previous worthy record for the past six years. The chairman's address was very brief and he concluded it by introducing Mrs. A. E. Donovan, who favored the audience with a well executed and pleasing piano solo. The valedictory address was by Miss Carrie Grenfell and it was by all present pronounced a very fine composition. As it will appear in next week's Reporter, we forbear further comment, but may add that Miss Grenfell's excellent elocution was admired by all. The "address to the class of '93" was by Rev. John Grenfell, who gave one of the finest addresses it has ever been our pleasure to hear him deliver. It was alike suited to the occasion and its special object. The Orphean Orchestra, a new musical combination, (more familiarly termed the "Orphans"), made its first appearence on Friday evening and was accorded a very warm reception. It is composed of Messrs. A. Compo, J. Tye, E. Leehy and G. Merrick They received a most unmistakeable encore. Rev. W. P. Dyer, M. A., was then introduced and for a half hour he held the undivided attention of the audience. His address was plain and practical and full of encouragement for the persevering student. Altogether, the Rev. Principal made a highly favorable impression on the Athenians. To the parents of successful students, and to the students themselves, the presentation of the diplomas and certificates was, perhaps, the most interesting feature of the evening. This was performed as follows:—

Anniversary Services.

Services commemorative of the 6th anniversary of the institution of the Presbyterian Church in Athens were held in St. Paul's church on Sabbath last. Rev. J. A. Cameron preached, morning and evening, and deepened the favorable impression that his previous pulpit utterances had made. The attendance on both occasions was good, considering the character of the weather. The excellent singing of the choir was a distinctive feature of the day.

On Monday evening an entertainment was given in the high school hall and it was favored with a large attendance. Mr. U. J. Flach presided. The choir of St. Paul's church opened the programme with a well rendered selection, and were followed by Mr. Bissett and his "Daisy." It is seldom that Athenians are visited by a comic vocalist, and Mr. Bisset received a royal welcome and a rapturous encore on each appearance. An address on the subject of "the model church," by Rev. Mr Cameron, combined instruction and entertainment in a pleasing way. Mrs. Donovan and Miss Loverin favored the audience with a piano duet. Professor J. B. McKay, of Kingston, experienced so much difficulty in following the road from Brockville to Athens that he was a little late in arriving. The majority of the Professor's selections were in a light vein and kept the audience in the best of good humor. "Bairnies, Cuddle Doon," and the story of the man who joined were received very favorably. His Scotch dialect was excellent. All his numbers were stamped with a distinctive originality. The entertainment closed with the national anthem.

A Rough Voyage.

HALIFAX, Oct. 30.—The steamer Athoie arrived from Hailo with a cargo of sugar. She has been 80 days on the voyage and is 18 days from Gibraltar. Capt. Watson reports beautiful weather until the 19th, since which time they had series of east to southeast gales, the vessel being compelled to lay to on two occasions, the seas being very high and boarding the vessel with great force, but no damage was sustained.

The Worst is Feared.

WILL CALL AT FIJI.

A Change in the Route From Canada to Australia.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—Henceforth the Canadian-Australian steamers will call at the Fiji Islands. This change in the route, the proprietors of the steamers confidently hope, will influence the Imperial Government to grant a subsidy to the line. The Arawa, which has been chartered for eighteen months to replace the disabled steamship Miowera, which stranded on the evening of October 2, while entering Honolulu harbor, is a much larger vessel, and has a cold storage capacity of 30,000 carcases, while she has also a capacity for carrying large quantities of fruit, butter and cheese

"Thus," the Times remarks, "the disaster may prove a blessing in disguise, developing trade in a much greater degree between the colonies."

The Arawa leaves Sydney for Vancouver on November 18, the Miowera's schedule date.

Helpless and Hopeless.

TWO YEARS OF THE MOST INTENSE SUFFERING.

Mrs. John W. Cope, of Port Stanley, Suffers From Malarial Fever Followed by Ulcers—Her Friends Dispaired of Her Recovery—A Cure Found After Doctors Declarod There Was no Hope.

From the St. Thomas Journal.

One of the happiest couples in the county of Elgin are Mr. and Mrs. John W. Cope, who live in the house at the tollgate, on the London and Port Stanley road. The cause of their joint happiness is that Mrs. Cope, who for three years has been a great sufferer, and whose recovery was not believed to be possible, has been completely cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, after a number of physicians and many remedies had failed. The many reports of the marvelous cures effected by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in different places are so well authenticated as to leave no doubt as to the absolute truth of all that has been claimed by them. If, however, further proof is wanted it it afforded by the wonderful, almost miraculous cure of Mrs Margaret Cope. Hearing of this remarkable case a Journal representative was detailed to investigate it. The lady who is sixty-four years of age, was found engaged in her home work, evidently as well as she had ever been and as active as many women not half her age.

"Yes, I was completely cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills," said Mrs. Cope, in reply to the reporter's query, "and I will be pleased to give you all the facts in regard to my case, in the hope that it may be the means of inducing some other sufferer to try these wonderful Pink Pills and find relief. In August or September, 1890, when we were living in Tilsonburg, I was taken ill with malarial fever. After I recovered from the fever my limbs began to swell. They continued to swell for nearly a year. Two years ago, red, sore spots, the size of a big penny, broke out on each ancle. A Tilsonburg physician was called in and attended me for more than three months, but I grew worse and worse. These spots stung and burned and caused me most intense pain. He finally told me that nothing could be done for me as my age was against me, and that I could not live long. Then I tried medicines given me by a Tilsonburg druggist, but to no avail. A year ago last fall we moved to the tollgate here. The sores kept growing more and more painful and kept getting larger. I tried everything that anyone recommended, but nothing did me any good and everyone who saw me was of the opinion that I could not get better. A physician, formerly practising at Port Stanley, was then called in and treated me about four months. He said he had never seen anything like my case in the whole course of his practice, and said the sores were ulcers. At this time the sores formed a complete ring around my ankle and up the leg for four inches. The effusion from the sores was like water, and three or four heavy cloths rolled around them would soon get wet, and the water would run down into my slippers. The burning, stinging and twitching was unbearable and I could not sleep at night from the intense pain and could not keep the bed clothes on my limbs because of the burning sensation. The longer the physician attended me the worse I seemed to become. Then my son sent for another doctor. He did not say what was the matter, but that I could not be cured At this time my husband strongly urged me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and although utterly discouraged I began taking them in Nov., 1892. After I had taken four boxes the stinging pains in the sores began to stop and the effusion of water ceased. I continued taking the Pink Pills until I had taken twelve boxes, and as you now see, I am entirely cured. I have not taken any Pills since last April and my health was never better than it is now. I can stand work better than I could for years before I was taken ill, and feel like a new woman. I went down to Tilsonburg on a visit recently and my children and old friends and neighbors could hardly credit that I was cured, but it is a joyful fact nevertheless."

Mr. Cope was present during the interview with his wife and said: I know that every word my wife has said is true, and both of us are prepared to make affidavits to its truth at any time. She suffered so much with the sores that I thought she would go crazy, and had little hope that she would ever be cured. You may be certain that we are profoundly grateful for this wonderful remedy, and that we never lose an opportunity to say a good word for it. It has brought my wife health and strength after everything else had failed, and we have reason to be deeply thankful."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood, and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, all diseases depending upon vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities, and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork, or excesses of whatever nature.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., and are sold only in boxes bearing their trade mark and wrapper printed in red ink, at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, from their address.

A lady named Mrs. T. C. M. Humphries, living in Keene, Ont., who used only two bottles of Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure, has forwarded a statement to the effect that it completely cured her of in flammatory rheumatism, kidney and liver troubles. Such a complication of diseases yielding so quickly to this remedy should encourage sister sufferers to give it an honest trial.
