Sudden Outbreak of Diphtheria at Toronto Junction Startles Board of Health.

EIGHT HOUSES NOW PLACARDED

Stock Yards Are Forging Ahead—Corner Stone of Bracondale Church to Be Laid.

Toronto Junction, Sept. 30.—A sudden outbreak of diphtheria last week has given the Board of Health quite a scare. There are now eight houses placarded in different parts of the town, and in some houses there have been two and three cases. The people on Western-avenue are of the opinion that the disease existed in a house on the street, at least ten days ago, and that it was from this house that the infection originated. This house has only just been placarded for diphtheria, and is the last on the street to be placarded. Fortunately all the cases are of a mild type, and as the malady can in no way be traced to the schools it is not likely that they will be closed. Mr. W. J. Irwin, chairman of the Board of Health, visited Dr. Bryce of the Provincial Board, to-day, in reference to the matter, but unless the outbreak continues he will not make an investigation.

There were registered with Town Clerk Conron for the month of September, 9 births, 2 marriages and 8 deaths.

The Property Committee of the Town Council met to-night and recommended the laying of crossings in various parts of the town. Mr. A. B. Rice, on behalf of the School Board, asked to have the sidewalk on Clendenan-avenue lowered. Mr. Baby wants the water mains extended to the western limit of the town.

The stock yards are still forging ahead. Fourteen pens are now about completed, and about 30 pens will be finished within the next two weeks.

During the past two or three days the surveyors for the Stock Yards Company have been unable to run any lines. Whenever the instrument was brought into play, some eccentric individual persisted in getting in front of the theodolite and spoiled the distant vision.

BRACONDALE.

The corner stone of the new Church of Christ will be laid on Saturday afternoon by Mr. Wanless. It is expected that Hon. S. C. Biggs, Rev. D. Harris, Mr. J. Henderson and others will take part in the ceremony.

A largely signed petition has been forwarded to Mr. W. J. Hill, M.L.A., asking for the appointment of two justices of the peace for the Bracondale neighborhood.

Special young people's services were held on Sunday afternoon in the Presbyterian Church, which were addressed by Mr. R. Northey.

The Harvest Home services in Zion Church on Sunday afternoon were well attended. Rev. Mr. Davey of Chalmers Church preached at the afternoon service.

NORTH TORONTO.

Councillor Brownlow has just purchased the pair of red brick houses immediately north of the Metropolitan Railway Power House, on the west side of Yonge-street, the sum paid being $4500.

Mr. S. J. Douglas, chairman of the School Board, is mentioned as a probable candidate for the office of Mayor at the next municipal elections. Several prominent and reliable residents, at present not in the Council, are also said to be willing to run for councillorships.

Canon Osler, who was in a very critical condition at the end of last week, has rallied a little, and is rather better. The rector of St. Clement's, who was telegraphed to return to Eglinton owing to the Canon's serious condition, arrived home on Sunday morning, but was able to return yesterday to his family at Stony Lake.

Mr. Walter E. Hopkings, formerly principal of the Eglinton school, left for Hamilton yesterday to attend the School of Pedagogy.

Residents of Broadway-avenue will petition the Council to give them an asphalt pavement. This thorofare is the only one in town without a sidewalk. An attempt to get the desired improvement some time back was unsuccessful, owing to the opposition of the Toronto Synod, who are largely interested in the avenue. It is learned, however, that the Synod will withdraw its opposition, and that the matter will soon be settled.

CALLED TO AURORA.

New Boston, Mich., Sept. 30.—Rev. G. L. Sprague, the Baptist minister who has been at Flat Rock for several years, has been called to Aurora, Ont.

RECEIVES A COMMISSION.

Ottawa, Sept. 30.—Sergt. W. R. Wright of the R.C.R.I., who has been at headquarters here as clerk, has received a commission in the coast regiment of the West African Frontier Force.

Y.W.C.G. Rally.

Mr. Elias Rogers occupied the chair at the Y.W.C.G. rally, held last night. The affair was largely attended. Interesting addresses were given by J. W. Flavelle and Miss Garrett. The former spoke on "Business for Women," and the latter on "Bible Studies."

DIAMOND DYES AND DIAMOND DYE MAT AND RUG PATTERNS

Are the Favorites Everywhere.

For over 20 years the Diamond Dyes have been the chosen and popular home dyes all over the civilized world. In Europe, Asia, Africa and Australia, Diamond Dyes are as eagerly sought for as in the homes of this continent. Diamond Dyes dye perfectly all weights of fabrics, producing rich and brilliant colors that never fade.

The "Diamond Dye Mat and Rug Patterns" are also deservedly popular. The designs are artistically colored on the best Scotch Hessian and ready for hooking. Any lady in her spare time can make up a pretty mat or rug at small cost. Send your address to The Wells & Richardson Co., Limited, Montreal, and you will receive free of cost sheets of designs to select from.

Public Amusements

"Arizona" is a Masterpiece.

"Arizona," Augustus Thomas' masterpiece, is at the Grand again, and attracted a large first night audience. Fairly brimming over with pathos, pretty love passages, humor, almost every sentence of the dialog of "Arizona" is pregnant with interest. Its climaxes thwart one's anticipations; its characters are drawn with consummate skill, and thruout that air of genuine realising pervades. The story is full of surprises, thrilling and essentially natural life. It flavors of life on the western plains, and the various phases of life at a military post, on a ranch and among the nondescript population generally, are splendidly portrayed by an unusually capable company. It is well staged, too, and altogether leaves nothing to be desired.

The Lieut. Denton of Mr. Sydney Ainsworth was decidedly a clever bit of acting, and Mr. Harrison Armstrong, as an Arizona ranch owner, gave an excellent interpretation of a whole-souled, typical rancher. Mr. George T. Meech, as Col. Bonham, was splendid, and Miss Gertrude Perry, as his wife, made a pretty, winsome little matron, and acted just as well as she looked. Miss Elsie Esmond, as Bonita Canby, was another clever member of the cast, and Mr. John Drury, as Tony Mostano, a Mexican, scored one of the successes of the evening. The other characters in the cast of "Arizona" are cleverly sketched. It runs for the rest of the week.

Live Melodrama at Toronto.

"The Span of Life" was well presented twice yesterday at the Toronto Opera House, and is just the sort of play which enthuses a melodrama loving audience from the start, while the gallery god at times feels impelled to stand upon his hind legs and fairly shout his delight.

The action is spirited, and opening in England jumps to South Africa and then reaches a satisfactory conclusion at "home, sweet home" again. The villain is as bad as they make 'em, even in melodrama, and there was no one to sympathize with him as he was led away with the bracelets on him, while those who are to live happy forever after form a glad tableau. When the story opens the villain is after a mint of money, which necessitates the murder of his juvenile and precocious stepbrother, and calls for his marriage to the little chap's sister. But she has made her own choice, and the schemer's plans are foiled. Ten years later he is in pursuit of a gold and diamond mine, which the hero has located, but once again his plans come to naught.

The piece is well staged, and there are two scenes which are more than ordinarily exciting; the one showing the burning house and the escape of a big steamer from wreck, and the other the human bridge, composed of the Donazettas trio, over whom the heroine and her child cross to safety when pursued by Arabs. This trio also give a clever acrobatic turn, which received, well deserved applause. Altogether, "The Span of Life" should prove a popular attraction all week.

Blanche Walsh at the Princess.

No doubt the approach of the royal visit prevented the Princess Theatre being filled last night to welcome back Blanche Walsh, who heretofore has been popular with Toronto treatre-goers. Our citizens are, perhaps, saving up their money for the various entertainments that will be brought off while the Duke and Duchess of York are within our gates. Still a fair audience was present last evening.

Miss Walsh's new play, "Joan of the Sword Hand," is a dramatization of S. R. Crockett's novel of the same name, and it may be said that other books have lent themselves more readily to production upon the stage. The scenes of the play are laid in two Spanish principalities, and the presentation has about it the trappings of Anthony Hope's "Prisoner of Zenda." The story of the romantic drama has been related already in these columns. It runs thru five heroic acts.

Miss Walsh effectively fills the amazonic role of the martial heroine, and W. Paton Gibbs makes a sufficiently detestable Prince of Courtland. The play runs the week, with Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

Capital Bill at Shea's.

The entertainment at Shea's this week is the best presented this season up to the present. There is something there to suit every taste. After a clever exhibition of athleticism by the Aglos trio, G. A. Sturgeon and Nan Engleton give a travesty introducing the War Scene from Virginius, in which there is some good acting in appropriate costumes. Elizabeth Murray sings coon songs, and four young ladies give an operatic turn which is decidedly pretty. The young ladies present a serenade, accompanied by a beautiful scenic production, and really good singing. On recall there is a change of costume to the military, and songs are given, including the everpresent "Dolly Gray." A second encore brought "Annie Laurie," in solo, and quartet, which met warm approval. "The Serenaders" are very entertaining. Joe Welch, in Hebrew makeup, gives a thoroly amusing "Study from Life," namely, the troubles he had as a sweatshop operator, peddler, prisoner and jail bird. On the encore he parodied the song, "The Holy City," and then made an amusing reference to Saturday night's boxing bout, given by the Crescent Athletic Club.

W. C. Fields, by his peculiar make-up and clever juggling, caused both amusement and admiration. He is without doubt one of the most expert in his line, and his nonchalant, easy-going manipulation of balls, hats, sticks and cigar boxes keeps the audience in roads. McIntyre and Heath, assisted by a third man, all in burnt cork, present a gambling skit, in which "The Man from Montana," after being fleeced, turns the tables on the eastern sharps in neat shape, and the cheers are uproarious.

The finale is a military scene, showing the camp of a gatling gun squad, gun and all, a turn at drill and finally an attack from the enemy, and the defence. The soldiers are very rapid in their movements, and perfect in drill, and the scene is thrillingly realistic. The audiences yesterday were among the largest of the season.

Royal Musical Festival.

The popular and social interest in the Royal Musical Festival in Massey Music Hall on Oct. 10, 11 and 12 is something that has been never equalled in the entertainment annals of Toronto. Large numbers of people are coming from outside places for the series, and also in order to hear Calve sing before Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York on Thursday evening, Oct. 10. The public are reminded that the sale of seats, beginning at 9 o'clock today, is for the season of four performances only, and that no seats for the royal night separately can be reserved to-day. To-morrow (Wednesday) morning at 10 o'clock at Massey Hall seats which are left over from the season sale will be sold by auction for the royal night only. Then on Thursday morning the remaining seats for the royal night and also for the three other performances will be placed on sale at 9 o'clock at Massey Hall. The series sale to-morrow will be held at the main box office on the right hand side of the main entrance. The door which will be open for the public will be the west door on Shuter-street, and the line will be formed across the entrance hall. The only seats reserved in advance are those for the royal, vice-regal, gubernatorial, Premier and cabinet ministers who have made application.

Good Show at the Star.

Sam T. Jack's Own Burlesque Company commenced a week's engagement at the Star Theatre last evening and played to a large audience of men. This theatre and the performances which have been placed on the boards since its re-opening appear to be popular with a large class of men who can enjoy a smoke during a pretty swift entertainment.

The evening's entertainment opens with a satirical burletta in one act, entitled, "Krausemeyer's Dilemma," in which a large number of pretty girls in the scanticest of costumes contribute to the enjoyment of the spectators. During the action a specialty by Mlle. Beatrice, contortionist, proved very interesting and provoked great applause.

Juha Natus performed very acceptably on the difficult tuba, or bombardon, and was encored several times. The laugh loosened, George B. Hoyt and Neff-Ben, provoked much mirth, with their songs and jokes. The living pictures of "Diana surprised at the Bath," "The Twelve Temptations," and similar presentations, were as realistic as the audience could desire, and were much appreciated in consequence.

The last half of the program was a farcical burlesque satire, "Wanted, a Husband," in which is introduced the newspaper staff on The Gossip, in which the liquid air specialty and the staff of shapely female reporters share the applause.

While no great pretentions are made as to scenery, the costumes are many of them pleasing, and the week at this theatre will see a large attendance.

The Royal Concert.

The sale of seats by auction begins to-morrow (Wednesday) morning at Massey Hall at 10 o'clock for the Royal Concert. On Thursday morning at 9 o'clock the single seats will be placed on sale. Mr. Dickson, the well-known auctioneer, has been favored with the conduct of the sale. Those people wishing to secure good seats should attend Massey Hall early.

C.P.R. LAND SALES.

Winnipeg, Sept. 30.—The C.P.R. land sales for the month of September were much heavier than usual. The aggregate will be in the neighborhood of 63,000 acres for $210,000. In September, 1900, the total sales amounted to 21,807 for $69,012.54. The land sold this year exceeds the sales up to the same period of last year by about 40,000 acres. The sales by the Canada and Northwest Land Company were also very heavy. This company sold 11,000 acres for the sum of $60,000. For September, 1900, the sales were 2400 acres for the sum of $12,800. The sales by the Canada and Northwest Land Company for the year are 8000 in excess of those up to Sept. 30 last year. The sales of the C.P.R. and the C. & N.W.L. Co. for 1901 will probably exceed these of any previous year.

Come Back and See Us.

The fall season is the best season to see clothes, and Archambault's, 125 Yonge-street, is the best place to see them satisfactorily. If you want a good suit made to order in the latest style, fit and finish, go to Archambault's and see what you can get for your money. Then go anywhere else, and if you see anything better don't come back.

Archambault will soon see you again if you want a suit.

Peat Industry.

W. E. H. Carter, secretary of the Bureau of Mines, has returned after looking into the peat establishments at Beaverton. The industry, altho in its infancy, is rapidly becoming an important one, and Mr. Carter said yesterday that the peat manufacturing business had a great future before it. There are large deposits of peat, he says, in the midland counties and south of James Bay.

Muskoka Fairs.

Prof. Hart of the Kingston Dairy School, who has been appointed to attend the fairs in Muskoka, left yesterday for the north. He will judge the live stock and dairy exhibits at the various fall fairs, and after each day's judging will hold a meeting of exhibitors, at which he will explain his reasons for making his awards.

Paine's Celery Compound

Cures Chronic and Complicated Cases of Rheumatism.

IT BANISHES EVERT TRACE OF POISONOUS ACID FROM THE BLOOD.

Has Made More Permanent and Wonderful Cures Than All Other Medicines in the World.

All rheumatic sufferers dread the variable and trying weather of October and November. Sufferers from the various forms of rheumatism—articular, muscular, inflammatory, gout and lumbago—suffer more intensely in the autumn months. Chilling winds, damp air, cold rains and night frosts aggravate existing misery and agony.

Thousands of victims of rheumatism have come back from summer health resorts only to find themselves as badly tortured and crippled as they were before they started for their false Meccas of health. Mineral springs, baths and massage systems can never drive out the morbid principle of terrible rheumatism from the blood and joints.

Careful medical tests and a long experience prove that Paine's Celery Compound is the only agent and medicine for the cure of all forms of rheumatism, and succeeds when everything else fails. With a confidence created and strengthened by thousands of victories over rheumatism, we urge suffering men and women to use Paine's Celery Compound. Its marvelous virtues will meet your case and do for you what it has done for others. Mrs. J. Vince, Barrie, Ont., says:

"I am happy to say I have taken Paine's Celery Compound with great results. I had sciatica so badly that I could not turn in bed or walk without help, and for a period of three weeks was helplessly laid up, and suffered pain that at times was almost unbearable.

"I tried many medicines, but all in vain. I was afterwards recommended to try Paine's Celery Compound. I used six bottles, and am entirely cured and enjoy good health. I take great pleasure in recommending the valuable medicine that cured me."

DAY SPENT WITH DOCTORS

Crown Closed, and Defence Began Its Case With Medical Testimony in Sifton Trial.

INJURIES NOT INFLICTED BY AN AX

Fourteen Blows Would Have Crushed in the Elder Sifton's Head Like a Shell.

London, Sept. 30.—The defence in the Sifton murder trial was begun to-day.

The Crown closed its case with the evidence of medical experts, and the defence was initiated with more expert testimony; so that it was a day spent with the doctors. The evidence summed up was that "it might and it might not."

Mr. Justice MacMahon made a mild protest to the Crown Counsel against the string of doctors which it was proposed to call, and Mr. Riddell decided to dispense with eight or ten physicians whom he had not called at the time of the protest.

The defence put Dr. A. J. Johnson and Dr. John Caven of Toronto in the box, and both gentlemen inclined in their statements to the theory that the injuries could not have been inflicted by an ax as described by the prisoner, Herbert. This was the admission wrung from every medical witness for the Crown, or nearly so—that fourteen blows from an ax would have crushed in the skull of the deceased as if it had been an egg-shell.

The defence are understood to have decided not to put the prisoner in the box, as had been intended at one stage of the case. Two prisoners, who were brought back from Kingston Penitentiary, Nelson Blackwell and William Fountain, will also not be called by the prosecution. They were expected to give evidence concerning a conversation had in the jail with the prisoner. The defence will not now be long continued.

The Crown cleared away a big group of witnesses on both sides, when this morning the court refused to hear evidence touching the financial troubles of the prisoner. The Crown had alone nine witnesses on this phase of the trial.

This afternoon Dr. Hossack of Lucan said he could not understand one impact causing the injuries. Dr. Morris of Delaware and Dr. W. J. Teasdell of London were strongly against the theory of the fracture and wounds being due to a fall. Dr. John Ferguson of Toronto did not believe in the theory of a fall. This closed the case for the Crown. The cross-examination of Dr. Caven was in progress when the court rose at 6 o'clock.

MORNING SESSION.

London, Ont., Sept. 30.—At the Sifton trial this morning the defence started out with a rush and scored two important points in rapid succession.

The first witness was John Sifton, brother of the late Joseph Sifton, and uncle of the prisoner. He was introduced to give information about wills. He was called as a Crown witness, but gave good evidence for the defence. In the first place he said that Gerald Sifton did not, as far as he was aware, know of the contents of Joseph Sifton's will. He said further, he had never acted for an inquest.

In cross-examination Mr. Johnston got the facts about the famous butter paper will, made on the night before the tragedy, before the jury, and all about Edgar Morden and his doings with it. John Sifton had entered suit against Morden and gained a verdict, having proved that the butter paper will was a forgery.

By John Waters, registrar of Middlesex, it was attempted to prove that Gerald Sifton was financially involved and in such circumstances that the death of his father would afford great relief and a great inheritance.

Mr. Johnston objected. He pointed out that there was no evidence that Sifton knew the contents of his father's will.

The court upheld the objection.

This decision was unexpected, and quite disconcerted the Crown, and a little later an adjournment was made to enable the Crown counsel to consult.

David Leckie identified the knife found in the straw in the Sifton barn mow as the one he had lent Joseph Sifton a few days before his death.

Martin Morden was recalled. He said Gerald Sifton had told him that the late Joseph Sifton had in his will left an inheritance to him (Sifton). He would not swear to the day or month the conversation took place, nor anything more about it. Sifton had said to him, "Everything is willed to me." That, he remembered distinctly.

"Why did you not tell of it when in the box the other day?" asked His Lordship.

"I did not think it was necessary," said Morden.

Edward Peters, a neighbor, said that there had been trouble between Joseph and Gerald Sifton, because of Joseph calling Mrs. Sifton names. He said he would have been mad, too, if his wife had been called such a name. Joseph Sifton was a quarrelsome man.

An adjournment was here taken to permit of consultation of Crown lawyers.

The adjournment made by the Crown was brief and the medical evidence was resumed.

Dr. Williams of London said he believed the bruises on Sifton's head might be made by a fall or a series of blows. He discredited Herbert's statement that 10 or 12 blows were poured on the head.

Dr. Williams stated that neither Sifton's skull nor Dr. MacNell's evidence as to the conditions he found told any such story as that told by Walter Herbert of the number of blows from two such powerful men delivered with intent to kill.

Dr. Roome told much the same story.

Mayor Howland's Plans.

Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York may be the guests of His Worship Mayor Howland for a short time during their sojourn in Toronto. So says the little bird.

Rumor, verified, says that when His Worship returns from the Pan-American jaunt on Thursday he will no longer be an inmate of his bachelor apartments at 21 Isabella-street, but his private letters should be mailed to 67 St. George-street.

The Mayor was asked by The World last night if his intentions were to change his address, and, with his usual candor, he replied that such was the case, and that his sister, Mrs. Merritt, was about to join him in a St. George-street house.

"Is it true that the Duke and Duchess might be your guests?" was asked.

The Mayor replied that he was more anxious that every public engagement should be filled.

Husky Men Are Scarce.

Chief Grasett a week ago was instructed by the Board of Police Commissioners to swear in 200 extra men for special duty during the royal visit. So far only half the number have put in an appearance, and applicants are requested to apply at once.

Good Time Assured.

The Peel Old Boys will run their annual excursion to Brampton to-morrow. The committee who have the outing in hand are working hard to make the occasion a success, and a good time is promised all who attend. The Grenadiers Band will accompany the excursionists.
