To the Officers and Members of Branch No. 39, Noustadi.
Received your hearty congratulatory address from the Branch, and my lady and myself were indeed pleased to think that you acknowledge such deep interest in our nuptial futurity. The thanks which we owe you can only be echoed, as words or pen cannot express them. But suffice to say that we sincerely thank you, and extend to all a courteous welcome to our conjugal hearth.

Archbishop Ryan's pastoral on the Jubilee, printed in his official organ, the Philidelphia Catholic Standard, is a fervid and elequent presentation of the claims of the Holy Father. "The navigator from Genoa," His Grace says, "the Catholic discoverer of this Continent, came here in his bark of the Conception before the pilgrims from England in the Mayflower. The Church that was built on the rock of Peter sent her brave children to this land long before Puritan foot touched the rock of Pymouth. The first standard of civilization planted here was the Cathoof P.ymouth. The first standard of civilization planted here was the Catholic cross, and here it shall remain to bless with the benediction of Christianity the society of this New World. There is evidently nothing in the genius of the Catholic religion inconsistent with the genius of our Constitution, and the present Pontiff must feel, like his predecessor of happy memory, that 'in no country of the world was he more truly Pope than in the United States of America.' Let us, dearly beloved brethren, by our generous offerings on occasion of his Jublies, show him that in no country of this world does the Pope continue to be more reverenced and loved."

The Christian Register, of Boston, com-

self-imposed task of exterminating the Catholic Church, says: "In the strife of controversy which has gone on between Protestantism and Catholicism, it is difficult to say which side has abused the Catholic Church, says: "In the strife of controversy which has gone on between Protestantism and Catholicism, it is difficult to say which side has abused the other more; but, for real audacity and originality in abuse, we will match Rev. Justin D. Fulton, a Baptist Protestant minister, against any champion which the Roman Catholic Church can put forth. Dr. Fulton, having long since exbausted the vials of wrath in the Book of Revelation, and compared the Catholic Church to the Roman Catholic Church can put forth. Dr. Fulton, having long since exbausted the vials of wrath in the Book of Revelation, and compared the Catholic Church to the fall of Babylon and the apocalyptic beast, row presents a more modern and a still more infamous charge. It is now the duty of the ratepayers to stand by a councillor who stands by them, and encourage him to persevere to the end and see that the town is not bamboosled into paying for a thing they do not want and did not order."

Mr. J. J. Carran, Q C, M. P., has been unanimously elected Vice President of Branch 26.

Archbishop Walsh, in a Pastoral Letter, reminding the clergy and laity of the Archdiocese of Dublin of the public devotions of the Rosary during the month of October, enjoined by Leo XIII., begs them also to remember the special needs of the Caurch in Ireland, and of her faithful children. He exhorts them to confidence in the protection of the Muther your character and qualities, both as President of Branch No. 39 and as a member of the noble association to which we have the honor to belong.

It is, then, with no small degree of pleasure that we desire to present our heartfelt congratulations, both to yourself and your esteemed lady, upon entering a new state of life, as represented in the holy bonds of matrimony.

We would further desire to express

Every policeman in Ireland who has got a rifle—and all the members of the force are well supplied with these weapons of war—is perfectly at liberty to belabor a peasant with it, and if the peasant successfully retaliates, to shoot him dead. That is the principle apon which the police acted in their savage onalaught on the meeting at Mitchelstown, and their murderous fusillade from the barracke; and it is this doctrine that the Government have, with the most brazen effrontery been justifying through their mouthpiece in the House of Cormons. Stated in its naked simplicity, it must awaken the horror of all civilized persons, and suggest to the people of these countries the question whether they are really living in a land where men have for centuries struggled for popular freedom and died in the firm belief that they handed it down securely to their children, or under a barbarous regime which vests undisputed power in the myrmidons of the law.

Esmonde is a very young man, slightly but firmly built, with a delicate straight face and an exceedingly handsome head, more resembling that of Robert Emmet than Henry Grattan. When he crossed his arms in speaking, he was, indeed, singularly like the portraits of Emmet; and as one listened to his deliberate words of Irish national purpose, the thought came again and again to many that under similar circumstances he would gladly tread the same road which led Robert Emmet to death and immortality. Sir Thomas Esmonde is already a fercible speaker, and experience will make him a great one. The effect of his Boston speech was admirable.

A PAYING BUSINESS.

Mr. Peter Mahon, a well known Catholic of Aberfoyle near Guelph, left Australia for his home in Canada on the 5th of October. He has been in Australia for two and a half years for the firm of Lyon, McNeil & Coffee and we understand he has cleared over $10,000 for himself. He recently generously sent a present of $1,000 to the new Catholic church being built in Guelph out of his profits. In another column we print an account of three Catholic young men of Dundas who have just left for Australia to work for this firm. Four young men who left in July last, and who had only had one week at work, have reported sales amounting to £223 for their first week. We understand the firm require a few more smart Catholics to act as agents. agents.

Three Popular Young Men off to Australia for the Firm of Lyon, Mc-Nell & Coffee, of Guelph.

Dundas Standard, Oct 13,

At the G. T. R. railway station in Dundas on Monday at 9.25 a. m. a most interesting and affecting scene was witnessed by a crowd of about 200 deeply concerned relatives and friends. Three of the most popular young men of this town took the first real step in the parting of the ways in life—a step which tore them from all their childhood and youthful associations and unhered them into the broader domain of manhood, with all its hopes and fears, triumphs and reverses. These young men were Messra. Peter J. Land, James Hickey and John L. Sullivan, all natives of Dundas, and having a large circle of acquaintances, friends and relatives who are all interested in various degrees in their success. Their destination is Sidney, Australia, where they go to represent in the antipodes the book publishing firm of Mr. J. W. Lyon, of Guelph. The parting, therefore, between them and their friends here was keenly felt. The distance, the danger by land and sea, and the comparatively long period which must necessarily elapse between loving missives, laden with good wishes and records of what has taken place in the interval, all had their influence. Hence unwonted moisture glistened in the eyes of both those who went and those who records of what has taken place in the interval, all had their influence. Hence unwonted moisture glistened in the eyes of both those who went and those who stay. The young men were worthy of it all. A more popular trio of youths step ping out into life's battle it would be hard to find anywhere. A brief sketch of their past career, since leaving school, will therefore prove interesting.

Mr. Land has been in his father's grocery store (and which recently was his own) ever since he left school. Although somewhat retiring in disposition, his frank bearing has won him hosts of friends during his few years of immediate contact with the public. He is second son of Wm. Land, and, having lost his mother some years ago, leaves besides his father two sisters and two brothers residing in

Wm. Land, and, having lost his mother some years ago, leaves besides his father two sisters and two brothers residing in this country.

Mr. Hickey is the son of Mr. Thomas Hickey, of the building and contracting firm of Palmer & Hickey, Dundas. He has a twin brother, Willie, and was born in 1867. An elder brother, two younger ones and a baby sister, with his mother, formed the family of which he was the ornament and centre. "Jim," as he was familiarly called by his associates, was one of the best of young men. Since leaving school five years ago, he has been employed in the mammoth establishment of Messrs. Grafton & Co., and prior to his departure was the recipient of a very kindly letter was the recipient of a very kindly letter from that firm testifying to his high char-acter and excellent abilities.

Mr. Sullivan leaves behind an aged tather, one sister and two brothers, and has the good will of all. He is a good has the good will of all. He is a good talker, generous to a fault, and his many good qualities won deserved recognition from his employers for the past five years, Messrs. Grafton & Co.

These young men will be decided acquisitions to Mr. Lyon's staff in that far-off colony, Australia, and he may congratulate himself upon having secured their zervices. The best wishes of hundreds follow them, and the Standard adds its hope that they will have a pleasant journey and be eminently successful in the business they have undertaken. Rev. Vice Chancellor Keough accompanied the party as far as Guelph.

A number of prominent musical people gathered in the ware rooms of Wm. Kanbe & Co. yesterday to examine a plano and the plane of the firm for Senator Billy Mahone. of Virgina, for his Washington residence. The instrument was specially designed and built for that gentleman, and is truly a magnificent specimen of the highest musical as well as accurative art. It is a full Concert Grand. the same in size and general outline as the famous grand Measure Enable & Co furnished for the White House. The case is of rich and beautifully figured rose-wood, decorated with inisid work of white holly of unique and intricate design, carried out in the most artistic manner. PASTORAL LETTER OF THE BISHOP OF KINGSTON. James Vincent Cleary,

DEARLY BELOVED IN CHRIST—Occupied though we are with the arduous work of pastoral visitation in the remote districts of our Diocese, we cannot forbear communicating to you without delay our gladness of heart and thank cet delay our gladness of heart and thank-fulness to God for the signal favor con-ferred by His goodness upon the most helpless and most pitable of our flock in our Episcopal City within the last twenty-four hours. For the public journals have this day conveyed to us the following resolution adopted by the Public School Board of Kingston in last sight's meeting:—

Public School Board of Kingston in last sight's meeting:—
"That the pupils, children of Separate School supporters, now reported to be in attendance at the Kingston Public schools, be expelled at the end of the month, and that no further Separate school supporters be admitted." Carried.

Welcome, thrice welcome are the joy ful tidings that the few Catholic children, chiefly the offspring of mixed marriages, who have hitherto been torn away from the loving care of their spiritual mother, the holy Church of God, and have been handed over by one or both of their semi-catholic or apostate parents to the semi-catholic or apostate parents to the perilous guardianship of the Public School Board, for the formation, as it were, of their minds and morals and manners, and their bealthful training in all the domestic and social virtues, have been delivered from the terrible danger of shipwreck of their faith, and consequent loss of religion and morality to trus which they have been exposed in the refra schools controlled and directed by the declared enemies of their faith this and their Church. We have all the law, more reason to rejoice and be thankful for the happy termination of our grave anxieties in respect of the purity of faith and morals of this small fragment of less than one per cent of the rising Catholic generation in our city, because the action of the public school board, and the studiously insulting spirit and manner of their action, supply a guarantee for the future as well as for the present, and secure to Christ and His Church not alone those few helpless waifs for whose unexpected rule safety we thank God to day, but also Catholic children yet unborn, whom the Catholic children yet unborn, whom the anathema of the public school board will effectually save from incurring similar danger through the venality or religious indifference or cowardly weak-ness of their parents.

It was competent to us, as to other Bishops in this Province, to employ in the various methods of correction provided by God and His Church for enforcement of Episcopal authority and the pro-tection of the lambs of the fold against ther betrayal by their unnatural parents. We who eferred, however, to follow the rule of to ti patience and gentle persuasion, especially because the laws of Catholic iffe on the subject of education of the young are subject of education of the young are sherred with such edifying unanimity and steadfastness by our faithful people of Kingston, whereas the instances of wil-ful disobedience have been remarkably express our conviction of the inability of any other city whatever in this Province to unfold so high a record of fidelity to

"Blessed be the God and Father of expour Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of all with our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of all mercies, and the God of all comfort, who comforteth us in all our tribulation" (II Cor. 1), for that which we forbore to do, lest we should give too much pain to those who obstinately disobeyed us and resisted the Holy Ghost from whom we hold our commission "to rule the Church of God" (Acts w. 20) in the tenritor of of God" (Acts xx, 28) in the territory of spirit kingston diocese, has been done most effectually, albeit in spite and malice, by our enemies, whom a sweet, directive of Providence has converted into our earnworked out in our favor a blessed result for religion, directly the reverse of their malevolent intentions. Balaam, bribed malevolent intentions. Balasm, bribed the with money, endeavored to utter his stipulated curse against the people of God (Numbers xxiii.); but an overmastering, heavenly influence compelled him to utter a blessing instead. Cataphas, fearful of losing his place of abnor and emolument, took h the ruth. Even so the ten members of the public school Board of the city of lingston or rather the unnamed majority among the ten, who, for reasons best known to themselves individually, adopted the revolt ng ukase above recited, have been folled of their industrus purposes by the Holl Servit was walked to be the hole service and the service was the service with the service was t pose by the Holy Spirit, who rules the destinies of the Catholic Church, and have destinies of the Catholic Church, and have been made the unwitting and unwilling instruments of our poor children's protection against the irreligious and demoralizing influence of a system of education dominated by men who were not ashamed to approve a decree so unjust to helpless little children, so unchristian in its violence, so shockingly uncharitable to their fellow-citisens. The
