LODGE IS FOR NO EXEMPTION

Massachusetts Senator Supports The President's Policy

FOREIGN RELATIONS

Believes it Right to Make Canal Free to Local Vessels But Advises Against it Because of Feeling Abroad

Washington, D. C., April 9—Senator Lodge, ranking republican member of the foreign relations committee, addressed the senate today in support of President's Wilson's Panama Canal tolls policy. He maintained vigorously the legal right of the United States to exempt its shipping, foreign as well as coastwise, from tolls, but declared that "a decent respect to the opinions of mankind," and the "distrust, and in some cases, dislike" with which the United States is regarded abroad, demanded prompt repeal of the exemption clause of the canal act.

"Whether we shall insist upon giving to our ships," he said, "two or three millions of dollars, in a disputed way, is, in my opinion, a very small question, compared to the larger issues which are here involved. I am not in the counsels of the President of the United States, but I believe that during the last year, the present position of the United States in its foreign relations has become very apparent to him, as it has to other responsible and reflecting men, and with this appreciation of our present position, has come the earnest wish to retrace some of our steps, at least, and to regain, so far as possible, the high plane which we formerly occupied."

"It would be an obvious impropriety to point out the specific conditions of our present relations with the various nations, both in the old world and the new; it is enough to note the fact that we are regarded by other nations with distrust, and in some cases with dislike. Rightly, or wrongly, they have come to believe that we are not to be trusted, that we make our international relations the sport of politics and treat them as if they were in no wise different from questions of domestic legislation.

"This has not been in accord with our history or our position. Only once have we abrogated a treaty, and then actual, if not declared, war existed. We have scrupulously observed our international agreements, and where differences have arisen, we have settled them, not with the high hand of power, but by negotiation and arbitration.

"The outcry about exhibiting subservlency to Great Britain or any other country because we see fit to repeal the tolls, seems to me hardly worthy of serious consideration. The United States is altogether too great and too powerful to be subservient to anyone, and the mere fact of suggesting it seems to me to indicate an uneasy suspicion on the part of those from whom it emanates, not only of the validity of their position, but of the power and greatness of their own country, as to which I, for one, am troubled by no doubts."

"I am of opinion," he said, "that under the terms of the treaty we have a legal right to exempt our own vessels no matter what trade they are engaged in. In my view, if we admit that we have not the legal right to exempt from tolls vessels engaged in foreign trade, we have no right to exempt or refuse to collect tolls from vessels of the United States engaged in any trade. I think, however, that we have the legal right to exempt or refuse to collect tolls from all vessels of the United States."

Royal Commission Is The Expectation

Names of Two Judges Are Heard As Possible Members

MR. DUGAL'S SPEECH IN THE HOUSE

Opposition Member Today Formally Presented His Motion in The Legislature---Fredericton Comment on Situation---Another Caucus

(Special to Times)

Fredericton, N. B., April 9—There was great interest in the house proceedings this afternoon when Mr. Dugal formally laid his charges before the legislature. In doing so, he spoke briefly in English and asked the permission of the house to continue in his native tongue.

Mr. Dugal said:—

"In rising to move the motion of which I have given notice, I desire to make a few remarks. In making these charges, Mr. Speaker, I felt that with the evidence I had in my possession, which I consider absolutely reliable, I owed a duty to the province as a member of this house to make known what has come to my knowledge. I am not unmindful of the great responsibility I have assumed. I fully recognize the seriousness of these charges. Were I not fully convinced of my ability to prove them, when given the opportunity I would not have made them. The reputation of our public men cannot be too strongly guarded, but the doing of one's duty in a fearless manner is just as essential as the safeguarding of reputation.

"I can assure you, Mr. Speaker, that I would much prefer to deal with this matter in my native tongue, when I could more fully enter into details, but the electorate of this province are looking not so much to eloquent speeches as to the proof that I have to submit to the committee to be named by you. I will therefore content myself with these few remarks in English and crave the indulgence of the house to speak briefly in French."

Another Caucus.

The supporters of the government were in caucus again this morning. They are much troubled over the situation and feel that the effect of the Dugal charges must be far reaching and gravely disturb political opinion, not only in New Brunswick but elsewhere.

It was stated unofficially this morning that the investigation into both charges would be conducted by a royal commission, and the statement even went so far as to name two judges of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court. Such a course would redound to the credit of Governor Wood and his advisers.

For the present it is said Premier Flemming is not acting in an advisory capacity.

There is a growing feeling that the charges are well founded and that evidence will be forthcoming. Messrs. F. B. Carvell, E. S. Carter, Dugal and Pelletier knew the whole case before the charges were made, but it must be said that the loyal feeling of Premier Flemming's followers was not shaken until yesterday afternoon.

"It cannot be true, it cannot be true," said one member; "if this awful thing is proven, I will go out of public life," but little by little the facts began to shower upon the government supporters. They learned that men who were leaders in their party, and yet not in the legislature, had known of the transactions for months and yet said nothing. That is a most serious aspect of the affair. Men of high standing belonging to the Conservative party knew that the honor of the province and the reputation of its ministry was being endangered, and yet did not unite and demand a halt. They could have told Governor Wood what Frank B. Carvell, M. P., told him yesterday and His Honor would have done the rest. They did not, and instead of cleaning their own house they left the necessary task to their opponents.

Mr. Dugal's Motion

Mr. Dugal's formal notice of motion was as follows:—

I beg leave to give notice that on Thursday next I will move, seconded by Mr. Pelletier, the following motion, namely:

Whereas, Louis Auguste Dugal, a member of the Legislative Assembly of this province for the county of Madawaska, has from his place in the House this day formulated certain charges against the Honorable James Kidd Flemming, Premier, and Minister of Lands and Mines, which he is credibly informed and believes he can establish by satisfactory evidence, and which charges are:

That the said Honorable James Kidd Flemming, through the agency of William H. Berry, Chief Superintendent of Scalers of the Crown Land Department of this Province, and under the direct control of the said Honorable James Kidd Flemming, in the Year A. D. 1918, did unlawfully extort from divers large lessees of Crown Timber Limits within this province, a sum of fifteen dollars per square mile of their said timber limits, over and above the amount of bonus paid by them respectively as set forth in the fifty third annual report of the Crown Land Department of the Province of New Brunswick for the year ending the 31st day of October, A. D. 1913, in pages 23 to 27, thereof, both inclusive, which said amounts so unlawfully extorted from said lessees amounted in the whole to the sum of about one hundred thousand dollars, no portion of which sum was accounted for or paid into the revenues of this province, and said moneys were extorted from said lessees, and paid to the said William H. Berry, with the knowledge and consent and under the direction of the Honorable James Kidd Flemming, while occupying the said offices of Premier and Minister of Lands and Mines, and all of said moneys were so paid before the said lands were classified under the provisions of chapter eleven of the Statutes of New Brunswick for the year A. D. 1913.

Therefore resolved; That a committee of the House, consisting of seven members, be nominated by Mr. Speaker to examine into the said charges, and to report whether they find the said Honorable James Kidd Flemming guilty of so directing the extortion of said moneys by the said William H. Berry; then what disposition did he make thereof to whom the said sums were paid, as well as the ultimate destination of all of said moneys, and that the said committee have power to call for papers and documents and to summon and examine witnesses under oath, under the provisions of Chapter 5 of the Consolidated Statutes of New Brunswick A. D. 1903; and,

Further resolved: That said committee do proceed with such investigation until they have fully investigated such charges and reported upon the same to this House.

BISHOP IS FREED

Threat Had Been To Crucify Him on Good Friday

Mexico City, April 9—After spending more than a week in the camp of Zapata a rebel bandit, in fear of crucifixion, Bishop Campos of Chipala, reached Iguala today, having been saved from a terrible death.

Catholics expressed the greatest relief as it was feared the threats of the rebels would certainly be carried out unless a ransom of 50,000 pesos demanded by Zapata reached the rebel camp before Good Friday, when it was declared the bishop would be crucified.

Bishop Campos declared that the threat of crucifixion had been really made by a subordinate of Zapata. Then reports of tremendous feeling aroused throughout the country began to reach the rebel camp and Zapata ordered the bishop released.

DID NOT TAKE THE BAIT

Fredericton Mail:—About the time Mr. Dugal began to ask embarrassing questions of the government in the legislature he received an invitation from Premier Flemming to attend a Tory caucus. The invitation was of course, not accepted. Had it been accepted there would have been no chance to prefer charges against the government on the floors of the house. It was a nice little scheme.

LIBERALS CHECKMATED UNIONISTS SEEKING TO VENTILATE GRIEVANCES

London, April 9—The Standard claims to be able to state that the government has definitely decided in favor of the dissolution of parliament in June, probably toward the end of that month. The general elections would thus take place in July.

Before separating for the brief Easter holiday the members of the House of Commons enjoyed themselves yesterday by twisting into caricature the grave, sedate procedure of the venerable mother of parliaments. On the eve of a holiday the house invariably discusses a pot pourri of topics and the Unionists had a fine, diversified list of grievances needing ventilation, but by the simple process of putting down a wholesale array of blocking motions the Liberals checkmated discussion at every turn.

This was in revenge for Lord Hugh Cecil having prevented the diverse debates last week. The seven seas were swept clean by a motion to call attention to all foreign affairs and anything that had happened in the empire on which the sun never sets could be brought under review. It was a refinement of polite irritation. Altogether there were nearly 100 blocking motions.

New York, April 9—Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte, whose great uncle was Napoleon I of France, and whose great grandfather was Jerome Bonaparte, king of Westphalia, was married here yesterday to Mrs. Blanche Pierce Strabeigh.

The descendant of the Napoleons said he resided in Washington and had no occupation. He was born in Paris thirty-six years ago. The bride was born in Newtonville, Mass., daughter of Edward H. Pierce. A short time ago she obtained a divorce from Harold Strabeigh, of this city.

The ceremony was performed by Alderman "Happy Jack" Reardon, at the city hall.

TURNS DOLLAR INTO $1,024 AT ROULETTE

Society Woman at Cannes Has Remarkable Run of Luck Playing "the Black."

Cannes, April 9—A well known society woman residing at Cannes, whose name is not given and has won $1,024 for $1 in a "little fling" at the tables at Monte Carlo. When playing roulette she placed one five franc piece on 'black' "Black" turned up and the ten francs was left on.

Again "black" won, making a total of twenty francs. The money was left on "black" and became two louis. Again "black" won and the total amounted to four louis. Once again the croupier announced "black" and eight louis was left on the number.

A buzz of applause went round when for the sixth time "black" won, making sixteen louis. "Black" continued to win until the modest five franc piece had become one hundred and twenty-eight louis The tension was great, for it required courage to leave the pile once again, but the fair gambler backed her opinion and "black" again awarded her. At this point the lucky winner picked up her $1,024 and placed it in her reticle. "Red" turned up on the next spin.

New York, April 9—Angered by the display of Easter finery which his wife and three daughters were showing him last night, William Weise of Mount Hope, a suburb, seized a shotgun and shot himself through the head, dying instantly.

When Weise upbraided Mrs. Weiss and his daughters, they laughed at him, for getting angry.

"You won't feel so funny about this by Sunday," he said, and disappeared into another part of the house. A moment later he committed suicide. Weise was foreman at a cable manufacturing plant. He was about forty-five years old.

P. E. I. FINANCES

Premier Mathieson's Budget Speech and Criticism by the Opposition Leader

Charlottetown, P. E. I., April 9—Premier Mathieson delivered his budget speech in the legislature last night. Actual receipts last year were $506,558 being $4,777 more than estimates; and actual expenditures were $490,987 being $9,874 less than estimate, making an actual surplus of $15,500. For the coming year he estimates receipts at $529,254, and expenditures $528,627, a surplus of $5,630. Last year the debt was reduced by $24,969. This year the estimated reduction is $20,000.

In estimated receipts for this year the fox tax is placed at $55,000, compared with $87,000 actually collected last year. Hon. John Richards, leader of the opposition, replying, declared that he would stand by his charges re oyster industry that fishermen were dissatisfied and discontented and contended their rights were being infringed upon. He criticized the financial statement charging the government with extravagance. Only for the fox tax, he said, they would be in a bad position financially.

A QUEER CASE

Interesting disclosures were made in an affidavit which was read in the city court this morning, by Dr. Wallace, K. C., when the case of a former bank clerk who was sued for an amount due for board and lodging for his wife was called. In this affidavit it was stated that the defendant, who is under twenty-one years of age, was forced into marriage with his wife who is sixteen years of age by the threats of her father, made through a lawyer, and that the young man lost his position in consequence of such marriage.

It was also said that a suit is now pending in the Supreme Court Chancery Division, to annul and set aside this marriage, on the grounds of duress and fraud. R. G. Murray who appeared for the plaintiff objected to this affidavit being received, on the grounds that Dr. Wallace did not appear for any party to the suit. The court did not receive the affidavit and on the case being proven, judgment was given for the plaintiff.

Charlestown, Eaton was met by the three young men to whom he expressed a desire to see the places of interest in this section, including the Bunker Hill Monument.

The trio willingly offered to show the Englishman about, and one of them spoke of having a sufficient amount of money to go about. Another of the three said he had more than he and they offered to pool their money together. The stranger agreed to this and placed his $240 with the three other men's money. One of the three placed the money in his pocket and when the opportunity arrived they ran away and left the stranger staring after them.

He gave chase but the three were far ahead and soon out of sight by dodging through side streets. A description of the men was furnished by Eaton to the Charlestown police.

COURT FUNCTIONS ARE TOO EXACTING

Report Says King and Queen Will Abolish Them

TWO TO BE HELD IN MAY

King Also to Have Two Levees —Afternoon Drawing Rooms May Take Place of the Court Receptions After 1914

New York, April 9—A cable from London to the New York American says

Of all the things the king and queen like least are the court receptions. The long train of presentations is wearying in the extreme. An unceasing repetition of bowing and smiling to hundreds of gorgeously attired women is a trial on the nerves, which take a lot of keeping up. The late King Edward was no lover of these court ceremonials and on more than one occasion he very nearly collapsed.

It is an open secret that next year these courts will be abolished. Even the formal and strict stickler for etiquette, Queen Victoria suffered severely through the court ceremonies, and she often left early, commissioning the then Princess of Wales (now Queen Alexandra), to take the general presentations.

Nex year the old practice of afternoon drawing rooms is likely to be revived, when a tea room will be substituted for the present supper. During next month, there will be two courts. One is to be held on a Friday, and the other on a Monday. These will be held during the first half of May and two levees will be held by the king at St. James Palace in the same month.
