HOLY NAME PARADE HELD IN WATERLOO

One Thousand Men of Kitchener and Waterloo Take Part in Combined Procession.

Special to The Toronto World.

Kitchener, Ont., Sept. 14. — About 1,000 Catholic men representing the various Roman Catholic societies of Kitchener and Waterloo turned out this afternoon in one of the most unique religious demonstrations ever witnessed in the twin cities. All of the Roman Catholic societies of St. Mary's Church, Kitchener, including the Knights of Columbus, the Canadian Order of Foresters, the C. M. B. A., the St. Boniface Society and Holy Name Society, marched from Kitchener, meeting the Catholic societies of Waterloo midway between the two places. The parade then proceeded to St. Louis Church, Waterloo, where a solemn benediction, followed by a sermon on the holy name by Rev. Wilbert Meyer, was celebrated. The demonstration was held under the auspices of the Holy Name Society of Waterloo. It will be made an annual affair in future.

Nursing Sister A. Crusdal Dies in Guelph Hospital

Special to The Toronto World.

Kitchener, Ont., Sept. 14.—A pall of gloom has been cast over the Freeport Military Hospital, owing to the rather sudden death of Nursing Sister Alice Crusdal. Miss Crusdal was on duty at the institution up to Tuesday evening. Wednesday she was taken suddenly ill and was removed to the Guelph General Hospital. This morning she passed away, paralysis of the heart being the cause of her death. Deceased was an overseas nurse for two years. Her home is in Waterford.

Several Women Will Try For Guelph Education Board

Special to The Toronto World.

Guelph, Sept. 14.—Strong efforts are already being made to secure women candidates for the Guelph Board of Education for next year, and when the January elections roll around, it is expected that some seven or eight women will be in the field for positions on the board. At the present time, Mrs. C. R. Crowe is the only lady school trustee.

STATE SHOULD PAY FOR THE LITERATURE

Socialist Motion in French Chamber Dealing With Elections Is Voted Down.

Paris, Sept. 14.—All indications point to the fact that the eleventh legislature of the third French Republic whose mandate expired in May, 1918, will not be dissolved in time to proceed with the elections on October 26, the tentative date semi-officially agreed upon.

Since the deputies resumed their sittings on August 26, after two weeks' vacation, little headway has been made in clearing up the voluminous orders of the day confronting them. With the ratification of the treaty a foregone conclusion, the deputies of all parties have busied themselves with the more personal matter of the electoral law as affecting the coming elections. Numerous amendments tending to postpone until 1923, or render ineffective, proportional representation have been proposed and voted down after lengthy speeches.

The climax was reached yesterday when Deputy Varenne proposed an amendment to the electoral law of July 12, 1919, whereby the campaign literature, posters and propaganda of all candidates shall be paid for by the government, which would undertake to have copies delivered to every voter in behalf of candidates of all political parties.

Louis Klotz, the finance minister, strongly opposed the measure, first because it entailed an expenditure of between fifty and sixty million francs, and, second, because extremists and Socialists would be using government funds to distribute Bolshevik literature and tracts against the republic.

Socialists Complain.

The socialists contended that they were not supplied with funds as they were the representatives of the people, while the other candidates were backed by powerful corporations and business interests in a position "to flood the constituencies with money."

The debate in the chamber was very bitter. There was such an uproar several times that M. Deschanel intervened, saying: "This debate, where the personal interests of the members alone are at stake, is humiliating enough without giving the country such a spectacle."

M. Bon, the stormy petrel of the socialist party, whose chances of reelection are considered so slim that he may not be a candidate, brought down upon him the wrath of his socialist colleagues by saying: "Let us meet our political death bravely."

The amendment was rejected by a vote of 246 to 224.

Meanwhile the socialist convention was sitting at the headquarters of the labor federation, where Albert Thomas, De Jeante, Dalbiex and other socialists voted for war credits and disapproved of the Russian soviets.

In the chamber M. Klotz and Loucheur made optimistic speeches on the Versailles treaty, referring particularly to the financial and reparation clauses.

BRANTFORD VETERANS HONOR WAR HEROES

Special to The Toronto World.

Brantford, Ont., Sept. 14.—Over 300 veterans of both the G.W.V.A. and army and navy joined this afternoon in their first decoration day. A visit with band accompaniment was made to the G.W.V.A. plot in Mount Hope Cemetery, where a number of veterans have already been buried and a service conducted by Captain C. S. Oke was held.

ANOTHER BIG STRIKE IN SHINING TREE

Gold Discovered on Hundred-Foot Level of Wasapika Property.

Special to The Toronto World.

Sudbury, Sept. 14.—Considerable excitement prevails here as the result of the most important discovery yet made at depth in the West Shining Tree camp, on the Wasapika property, and already a large number of well-known mining men have left for the camp to make a close personal examination.

The strike, reported as phenomenally rich in gold, was made at the 100-foot level of the Ribble vein, and the last 14½ feet of ore passed thru is said to average over $100 to the ton, while over a width of 42 feet the drillers remained in good pay values. As the hanging wall of this big lode has not yet been reached, Mine Manager Rogers, E.M., who passed thru here this afternoon on his way from Toronto to the property, as well as others who have been watching underground developments at Wasapika, are of the opinion a total width of at least 50 feet will be opened up before the vein is completely passed thru.

The Ribble vein at the surface where the shaft was put down showed a width of eight feet, with gold values running around $9 to the ton, and the fact of such a remarkable increase in both vein width and values is interesting many here, who believed the rich gold values found on the surface thruout the West Shining Tree camp would not persist to depth. These sceptics are now optimistic regarding the future, and have wired their principals in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and other large centres as to the importance of the underground development at Wasapika, as well as to the camp in general. A larger rush into West Shining Tree than ever is looked for almost immediately.

It is of equal importance that the Ribble vein is opened up on the Wasapika property for a length of over 2000 feet, and immediate plans for the future, according to Engineer Rogers today, are to be extensive drifting along the 100-foot level, as well as continue to sink the main shaft to a very much greater depth.

"A close scrutiny of the ore now being developed in Wasapika," said Engineer Rogers this afternoon, "is highly encouraging, and I do not think the Hollinger or any of the other large gold mines of Porcupine will have anything on us within a reasonable time."

As Mr. Rogers explained, the vein filling is fine-grained quartz, intermingled with basalt, and bears a close resemblance to the most productive found in Porcupine. That this vein will not only retain its remarkable gold values, and persist to great depth, is the confirmed opinion of this engineer, who is recognized as one of the earliest pioneers in West Shining Tree.

"We will begin blocking out a large tonnage of commercial grade ore as quickly as the hanging wall of the vein is reached," concluded Mr. Rogers, "and you can take it from me the West Shining Tree camp will soon be on a producing basis, as well as stay there, possibly as great a length of time as any in northern Ontario. I have always had faith in the rock formation for gold in large quantities thruout the West Shining Tree district, and Wasapika, proving up so splendidly under development, simply substantiates my belief. There are also a number of other properties in close proximity to Wasapika which will likely make good, and the next one to reach the mine stage will probably be West Tree mines, whereon already very rich ore has been encountered at 80 feet in the present campaign of underground development."

Among those who accompanied Engineer Rogers on his trip in were Reginald Hore of The Canadian Mining Journal, Senator Fowler of Ottawa, and S. K. Clarke of Toronto.

FAVORABLE SHOWING BY ALBERTA WHEAT

Calgary, Sept. 14.—The new season's wheat is now being delivered to the government elevators in increased quantities daily, being of uniformly high standard, No. 1 northern predominating. Many samples weigh over 62 pounds. One particularly fine lot weighed 66 pounds to the bushel.

Brooks, Alta.—From 12 acres of irrigated land, J. E. Strong expects returns of between $300 and $400 an acre. A field sown to alfalfa for seed is now ready for harvesting. He intends to put all the seed back in the land, seeding about 200 acres of alfalfa next year. Threshing is progressing favorably on irrigated farms, with yields fulfilling expectations, many fields of wheat averaging 40 bushels to the acre. A new settler south of here has a field of oats that will probably yield 100 bushels to the acre.

Raymond, Alta.—A farmer here has just finished threshing a field of wheat, averaging 56 bushels to the acre, machine measure. The crop was grown on irrigated land. Threshing is progressing favorably in this district, ideal weather prevailing.

NOTED RUSSIAN AUTHOR EXPIRES FROM SHOCK

Helsingfors, Sept. 14.—The Russian author, Leonid Andreeff, died suddenly Friday at Mustamaeki, Finland, according to The Hufvudstadsbladet. He suffered from an attack of heart disease following a Bolshevik raid in which a bomb was dropped near his residence.

Andreeff was well known as an author of the Maxim Gorky school. In addition to political subjects he wrote several sketches for stage presentation.

STEAMERS IN COLLISION.

London, Sept. 14.—A radio message received here from the British steamer Atlanten stated that that vessel had been in collision early today with the American steamer Waubera, bound from New York for Antwerp.

The Waubera later wirelessed that she was only slightly damaged and was proceeding for Antwerp.
