Piles To prove to you that Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and absolute cure for each and every form of itching, bleeding and protruding piles, the manufacturers have guaranteed it. See testimonials in the daily press and ask your neighbors what they think of it. You can use it and get your money back if not cured. 60c a box, at all dealers or EDMANSON, BATES & CO., Toronto.

Dr. Chase's Ointment

The impression that British North America is covered with valuable timber is fallacious. Black walnut, red cedar and white oak are not found north of Toronto. A line drawn from the city of Quebec to Sault Ste. Marie will designate the northern limit of beech, elm and birch. The north shore of Lake Superior will mark the northern boundary of sugar hard maple.

Sunlight Soap is useful in more ways than one. It will demonstrate its wonderful cleansing power in every cleansing operation. 98

SHE TREED THE FLIRT

Young Lady and Bulldog Teach Him a Lesson.

Carbondale, Pa., Aug. 7.—For two hours yesterday pretty Elsie Hoagland, of Forest City, with the aid of a bulldog, kept a flirt treed, while a large crowd, attracted by the unusual spectacle, looked on, applauded the girl and "joshed" her victim. The latter was James Manley, a lineman, who was at work on a telegraph pole near the home of Miss Hoagland, when he spied her at the window. Humming "Elsie of Chelsea, a Sweet Little Girl," the lineman made desperate efforts at a conquest. Tiring of his persistence, Miss Hoagland waited until he prepared to move towards the ground, then, with her bulldog, took a position near the foot of the pole. "Tige" obeyed her commands to "watch him," and for two hours Manley pleaded and begged pardons before he was forgiven.

EXCHANGED SHOTS

Burglars and Watchman Clash at Hamilton.

Hamilton, Aug. 7.—About 2:30 yesterday morning the office of the Imperial Cotton Company, on Sherman avenue, north of Barton street, was broken into. The burglars blew off the vault door with nitro-glycerine. The noise of the explosion attracted Night Watchman Anderson, who was in the mill. He saw a man standing on guard in front of the office and fired at him. The shot was returned. The night watchman ran upstairs, opened a window, and fired again. There were two men standing near the door, and they fired at Anderson and ran down Sherman avenue. Anderson opened fire on them, but he failed to hit either of them. The vault door was badly damaged. The crooks did not get anything, as no money is kept in the office over night.

SMITH IS FOXY

Young Desperado Gets Credit of Several Robberies.

Galt, Aug. 7. — The police are busy these days hunting for the renowned "Foxy" Smith, the young thief and highwayman, who terrorized these parts last winter by the daring acts of himself and gang. On Sunday it was reported that he had been seen in the woods near Killean, seven miles from here, and the same night eleven policemen were sworn in and surrounded the section in question. While they were thus engaged the G. T. R. station at Schaw was broken into and the till rifled of what it contained, supposedly by Smith and his pals. On Saturday night the office of George Pattinson's woolen mill at Preston was broken into, the safe door blown off, and a small sum of money secured, the watchman narrowly escaping death from a bullet as he chased the three cracksmen as they decamped. Other depredations of a mild character have lately been committed. "Foxy" gets the credit for them all and they certainly look like his handiwork.

POLICEMAN RUNS AMUCK

Fires Cannon in Man's Face and Chops Way Into House.

Highlands, N. J., Aug. 7. — The entire police force of this place ran amuck at 2 o'clock Wednesday morning. The police force consists of one man, but he is described as a whole army in himself. Charles Finch is his name. He shipped a big cargo of liquor on Tuesday evening and set off on a cruise for trouble.

Finch anchored outside of Murphy's bar so long that John Vanberger, a bartender, ordered him to weigh anchor. Finch had among other things a package of dynamite. He said he did not want to explode it just then, but would get something that would do as well.

He disappeared and returned in half an hour with the one foot brass cannon that is used for firing salutes at Sandlis' bathing pavilion. The cannon was ready for business, and, placing it on the bar, French discharged it full into Vanberger's face.

One of the bartender's eyes was shot out and his face horribly mangled. He is in a precarious condition.

Dozens witnessed the act, but were afraid to prevent the escape of the policeman, who walked in the direction of Parkertown.

Arriving there, Finch got an axe and went to the home of Charles Parker. Finch, who has had some domestic trouble, was under the impression that Mrs. Parker was harboring Mrs. Finch. The policeman chopped down Parker's front door and searched the house, but failed to find any trace of his wife.

Returning to the highlands, the policeman went to Creighton's Hotel and announced that he was there to blow up the place with dynamite, which he exhibited. He changed his mind, however, and went home, where he was arrested this morning, and remanded without bail to await the result of the bartender's injuries.

Finch told the magistrate that he remembered nothing of his doings except that he was disturbed by bad dreams after he arrived home.

Couldn't Report.

Col. Mills, superintendent of the West Point Academy, has a reputation for sternness even among army men. Years ago, when he first took command of the post at Buffalo, he found that station extremely lax in discipline, and it was no secret among his friends that he proposed to work some reforms. Shortly after his installation he was one day annoyed by the receipt of a telegram from subordinate officers on a furlough, which read: "Will not report today as expected, account unavoidable circumstances."

The tone of the message was not at all to Col. Mills' mind, and he wired at once in reply: "Report as expected or give reasons."

Within an hour the following message came over the wires from a hospital in New York:

"Train off, can't ride; legs off, can't walk. Will not report unless you insist."

The colonel did not insist.—Cleveland Plaindealer.

Distinguished Visitors.

London, Aug. 7.—Hon. George Peel, who recently distinguished himself by letters to the Times criticising Canada's preferential policy, sailed for Canada Wednesday on the steamer Canada. Sir William Holland leaves for Canada on Saturday to attend the chambers of commerce congress at Montreal, where he will represent the Manchester and Associated Chambers of United Kingdom.

Continental waiters, says Truth, have an international system, in the way they paste hotel labels on visitors' luggage, of showing what may be expected in the matter of tips.

MR. TAYLOR'S SUCCESSOR

Mr. John F. Mackay Appointed Business Manager of Globe.

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—Mr. John F. Mackay, of Woodstock, has been appointed business manager of the Globe, in succession to the late Mr. Charles W. Taylor. Mr. Mackay, although still a young man, has won a place among the foremost newspaper men in Canada. He began his newspaper career in the office of the Sentinel-Review, Woodstock, and, after brief terms in Toronto and Chatham, held for several years the position of business manager of the Montreal Herald. During the past four years he has had charge of the Sentinel-Review, Woodstock, in partnership with Mr. Andrew Pattullo, M. P. P. In each position he has achieved distinct success, and in the larger sphere to which he is now called his business ability, varied experience and personal character will make him a worthy successor to a truly worthy man. Mr. Mackay is now arranging to dispose of his Woodstock interests, and will enter on his duties in the Globe office during the present month.

WANTS $10,000 DAMAGES

An Engineer's Widow Is Suing the Canadian Pacific.

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—A writ for $10,000 damages against the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, was issued in the high court yesterday on behalf of Mrs. Rose Langelier and family. The action is taken to recover the loss sustained by the death of Napoleon Langelier, Mrs. Langelier's husband, who was a C. P. R. engineer. Mr. Langelier was in a railway accident at Carleton Junction on May 28, and died thirteen days after, as a result of the injuries. On May 28, when running into Carleton Place, a freight train stood in the way and the engineer, seeing that a collision was imminent, jumped, and sustained the injuries which afterwards proved fatal.

MANY INVENTIONS

Or the Fantastic Fiction of the Conservative Press.

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—The Conservative journals have begun to fabricate a new line of stories. A while ago the effort was made to create the impression that dissensions prevailed in the Cabinet. Now they are conjuring up quarrels between Sir William Mulock and Mr. Fielding over the Premiership, which is not vacant, and is not likely to be so for a long time to come. Of how foolish and utterly unreliable those reports are, one illustration only need be given. A night or two ago Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the French Liberal members held a conference upon some matters affecting the organization of the party. The following evening the local Tory journal came out with a scare-head story, representing that the Premier had consulted his followers in regard to making concessions to the Winnipeg Catholics. The following morning the very same paper gave a new version of the conference. This time it was a demand made upon the Government for increased subsidies on behalf of the Province of Quebec. Both reports were as far from the real object of the meeting as anything very well could be. They serve to show, however, the purely imaginative character of the yarns which are appearing in the Conservative press.

IMMIGRATION FIGURES

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—According to immigration returns supplied by the department of the interior, the arrivals for July number 11,278. This is a falling off as compared with the previous months of the year, but it so happens that the immigration during July of every year is much smaller than for the other summer months. The arrivals for last month were made up, 5,093 British, 2,867 from the continent, and 3,318 from the United States. Compared with July, 1902, there is an increase of 2,639. For July, 1902, there were 2,170 immigrants from Great Britain, 3,168 from the continent and 3,251 from the United States, or a total of 8,589. For the first seven months of the calendar year 1903 to July 31 the returns give a total of 94,315, as against 54,040 for 1902. The British immigrants numbered 36,802, as against 12,804 for the same period of the previous year; the continental immigrants 29,157, as compared with 21,391, and the immigrants from the United States 28,356, compared with 18,845.
