OVER A MILLION INVOLVED

FAILURE OF SAWYER, WALLACE & CO. OF NEW YORK.

The Firm Was a Heavy Exporter of Wheat and Cotton—Losses in Foreign Option Business Force the Assignment—The Failure Pronounced Irretrievable—No Preferences.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—It became known in the produce exchange a few minutes before closing to-day that Sawyer, Wallace & Co., of 18 Broadway, one of the largest general commission houses in this country, had made an assignment to Marshall Ayres, of 12 Broadway. The liabilities are believed to be somewhere between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000. It will be several days before the amount of the assets can be determined, but the failure is a bad one. From the fact that it was coincident with the news that Theadore Itzig, the Berlin agent of Sawyer, Wallace & Co. had committed suicide, a rumor spread that Itzig embezzled the firm's funds. Itzig, however, was only one of a half-dozen agents of the firm in Berlin, and was short only about $200 in his accounts with the firm.

The real cause of the failure was the fact that the firm's resources had been completely exhausted by losses in their foreign option business, conducted through Lucius Willard Sawyer, the son of the senior member of the firm, and for five years the manager of the London branch. These options were in lard, wheat and provisions generally, and although Mr. Sawyer has been plunging heavily for two years, it was not until this spring that the firm discovered how deeply they were involved. A member of the firm said to-day that the failure was absolutely irretrievable, and that all assets, both individual and partnership, had been turned over to the assignee without preference of creditors.

There had been no rumors of impending trouble, and when private news of their failure was received on several exchanges there were not many who credited it. It leaked out only 10 minutes of the closing hour, and consequently, the failure had very little influence on change There was, however, a decline of 12 points in cotton and 1 cent in wheat on the curb after the exchange closed. No notice of the failure was posted at the produce, cotton, petroleum, or coffee, exchanges, of which Sawyer, Wallace & Co. were members. Mr. Miller the financial member of the firm, has been closing up all contracts on the exchanges for the past two weeks in anticipation of a suspension. Three days ago the firm saw that an assignment was inevitable, and at 1 o'clock this afternoon a cable despatch from the London branch, announcing their practical failure there brought matters to a head. As soon as the necessary business details could be arranged the assignment was declared in this type-written statement.

It is with inexpressible sorrow that we are forced to close our business career by a general assignment for the benefit of our creditors. Our resources have been completed exhausted by losses in our foreign option business (wheat and provisions chiefly), conducted in London. Owing to the number and variety of these foreign accounts we cannot state the amounts of our liabilities or assets, but when we can do so a meeting of our creditors will be called if they so desire. Meanwhile we have turned over to our assignee, Mr. Marshall Ayres of the city of New York, all of our assets, both partnership and individual, without preference to creditors.

SAWYER, WALLACE & Co.

Sawyer, Wallace & Co. exported three-fourths of all the wheat that was sent from here to Germany, and they were also big dealers in cotton, lard and pork. Coffee and petroleum were also handled by them. There were rumors to-day that the firm had been speculating unfortunately in wheat and grain, but it was said by those who knew them best that these transactions were all on commission. Some time ago Sawyer, Wallace & Co. began bearing December wheat at 95, and closed out their contracts at $1.10 and $1.15. It is not known whether this was commission business or not. The firm had no stock exchange number.

Mr. Sawyer said tonight to a Herald reporter: "Beyond the type written statement that we gave out this afternoon, I can give no information. We are entirely in the dark, and until we get further news from London, we cannot explain our failure. We have never authorized our London agent to speculate in options for us. All such purchases we made on commission. Some of these commissions failed. We have had some drafts from London recently, and this has exhasted our resources. We have tried to do business as honorable merchants for the last 35 years, and I do not know how to explain this blow."

"Do you think that there is a possibility that your affairs may be so arranged that you can continue your business?"

"Our assets and liabilities, owing to the way in which our business was scattered, are as yet unknown quantities and until they are determined it is idle to talk of the future of our business. Probably within a few days our assignee will be able to make a statement."

They felt very angry at being conveyed in bond like freight.

A Question of Precedence.

QUEBEC, Sept. 6.—Quebec society is much exercised over a dispute on the question of precedence between the governor general and Cardinal Taschereau. It is said the cardinal declined to attend the ball last night because he was not [illegible] the fleet and commander of the forces in Canada, and these officials refused to give him precedence. The cardinal refused to say anything about it. He added: "The papers here all said that Prince George called upon me the morning after he arrived, but that was all imagination. Remember I do not say he was obliged to call upon me; all I say is he did not." The Canadian authorities on the question of precedence do not make any provision at all for a prince of the Church of Rome. He would therefore take rank at best as a foreign prince, that is, after the commander of forces and admiral who take precedence according to seniority.

Among the attractions proposed are a grand ball at the Windsor, the illumination of the Lake St. Louis Canoe club, a general illumination of the city, a grand drive over the mountain, trip down the rapids, &c.

The general committee of the common council met yesterday afternoon for the purpose of considering the report of the committee on harbor improvements. The report on the matter of railway deep-water facilities at Sand Point was read. It recommended that negotiations be made with the Dominion government on the subject of the Carleton Branch railway and the wharf and harbor frontage privileges connected therewith in furtherance of the memorial sent under resolution of the last meeting of the council, and generally with a view of securing the advantage to this port of deep-water railway terminal facilities at Sand Point, on the western side of the harbor, in connection with the Canadian Pacific railway, and that the common clerk be deputed to go to Ottawa on the part of the city in the matter.

On motion the report was adopted after which the committee authorized the common clerk to proceed to Ottaw.

After a lengthy discussion it was decided to purchase the Dennis Morris property in Lancaster at the figure named by the appraisers, $35,000.
