HENRY NORMAN ANSWERED

Brings Up the Subject of European Intervention in Spanish-American War.

POSITION OF BRITISH GOVERNMENT

Refused to Aid in Putting Pressure on the United States Action.

London, Jan. 20.—The subject of proposed European intervention in the Spanish-American war was brought up by Henry Norman (Liberal), in the House of Commons this afternoon in the form of a question asking whether any communication proposing or concerning joint or collective action by the European States, in view of the outbreak, or expected outbreak, of the late war between the United States and Spain was received from the Austrian or any other government, and, if so, what was the nature of the reply of Her Majesty's government. Mr. Norman further invited Lord Cranborne, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, to lay the papers in the case on the table.

Lord Cranborne, in reply, said no such communication had been made to the government after the outbreak of the war, but that immediately before the war communications were received from other powers suggesting the presentation of a joint note to the President of the United States. Her Majesty's government agreed to join with the other powers in a note expressing the hope that further negotiations might lead to a peaceful settlement, accompanied by guarantees acceptable to the United States for the preservation of order in Cuba. The government first took steps to ascertain whether the presentation of the note, as well as its terms, would be acceptable to the President.

Her Majesty's government, Lord Cranborne continued, declined to associate itself with other subsequent proposals, which seemed open to the objection of putting pressure on the government of the United States and offering an opinion on its action. The Under Secretary concluded with saying he was unable to lay the papers in the case on the table.

A DECIDED INNOVATION.

Gee Electrical Co. to Open School for Their Employes.

An innovation on the part of a company to impart useful information to its employes is about to be established by the Gee Electrical Engineering Company. It is the intention of the company to open a school for its employes, with a class once a week, the features of which will be lectures by the heads of the various departments, followed by discussions in which all will take part.

Quarters have been acquired for this scholastic purpose on Parliament-street, and the school will be opened on Friday evening with a soiree and concert.

Mr. Gee is president of the school, Mr. J. Woodburn, vice-president; Mr. Fewings, secretary, and Mr. Kilner, secretary. The principal lecturers will be Mr. Gee, who will speak on general electric matters, both from a practical and theoretical standpoint; Mr. Woodburn, on the distribution of wires; Mr. Matthews, the manufacture of dynamos; Mr. Scott, mechanism and electricity; Mr. Watts, construction work, and Mr. Gibson, manufacture of construction devices.

A NEW MARKET FOR OUR PRODUCTS.

The great problem of modern statecraft is the finding of new markets. Within the borders of the Chinese empire lives one-third of the entire human family, and granting that the individual Chinaman does not have the consuming power of the average white man, still with this enormous population China possesses the greatest undeveloped power of consumption that exists on earth, and its enormous trade that is to be is recognized as the prize of future commerce. China offers a market so tremendous in its possibilities and a trade so rich in its promised rewards that all others fade into insignificance when compared with it. It is not, therefore, surprising that the powers have been striving to bring this last great unexploited market under their control, and that they are jealously watching each other while seeking to enlarge their own spheres of influence.—From No. 28 of the New York Central's "Four Track Series."

No. 28 of the "Four Track Series" will be sent free, postpaid, to any address, on receipt of five cents in postage, by George H. Daniels, General Passenger Agent, New York Central Station, New York.

Eleven Break Jail.

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 20.—Eleven of the most desperate prisoners in the United States Penitentiary on McNeil's Island made their escape between 1 and 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, and up to a late hour last night were still at liberty. It was the most daring and successful jail break ever attempted in this State, and the character of the men implicated makes it doubtful whether they will be re-taken without loss of life.

Patrick on Trial.

New York, Jan. 20.—Albert T. Patrick was called to trial to-day before Recorder Goff on an indictment charging him with the murder of William Marsh Rice, who died in this city Sept. 23, 1900.

Hair Falls

It doesn't take much of Ayer's Hair Vigor to stop falling of the hair. This is because it is a regular hair-food, feeding and nourishing the hair and making it grow thick and heavy. It always restores color to gray hair—all the dark, rich color.

"I have used your Hair Vigor, off and on, for 30 years. I am now over 60 years of age, have a good head of hair and not a single gray hair."

Annie Wooster's Suit Against Puritan Laundry Adjourned.

On Aug. 7 last Miss Annie Wooster, 29 Olive-avenue, was working for the Puritan Laundry, 256 Brunswick-avenue, and was in charge of the mangling machine for pressing collars. While cleaning the roller of some dirt it was started, and her hand was drawn in and badly crushed. Before Mr. Justice Robertson and a jury in the Civil Assizes yesterday afternoon, Miss Wooster claimed $5000 damages from the Puritan Co., on account of the injuries she received and the loss to her occasioned thereby. She was in the hospital nearly two months, and has been under the doctor's care ever since. On the application of the defendants' lawyers, Messrs. Riddell and Irving, the case was adjourned till Monday next, the defence to pay the costs of the day. In the meantime the plaintiff's witnesses will view the machine. Messrs. McWhinney and Woods appeared for the plaintiff.

By consent the record in the suit of Clarkson v. McFarlane was withdrawn. Certain money in court is to be taken by the plaintiff in full satisfaction of his claim. Each party will pay his own costs.

Peremptory list for to-day at 10 a.m. is: Plain v. C.P.R., Dority v. Eaton, Bird v. Williams, Cox v. G.T.R., Webb v. New York Life Co., Smith v. Eaton.

STRAWS SHOW WHICH WAY THE WIND BLOWS.

The fact that grocers and general dealers are selling less oatmeal, cracked wheat and other cheaply prepared grain foods to-day than a year ago is significant. It means that our people are now using something more popular and more conducive to health.

Malt Breakfast Food has become the decided choice of old and young of all classes, who have found in it nutritive qualities that the old grain foods never possessed. Malt Breakfast Food has given the clearest proofs of its virtues as an aid to digestion, for the reason that it contains no starchy ingredients so common in other foods. Weak stomachs find it comforting and refreshing; it builds up the body and strengthens bones, muscles and tissues. Strong and weak find it a perfect food. See your Grocer.

CANADA AHEAD IN CHEESE.

What the Revised Figures of British Dairy Imports Show.

London, Jan. 20.—The revised official figures published of British dairy imports show that Canada continues easily first in cheese, sending in 1901 three times as much as the United States, which has second place. Canada received £3,697,780, and the States £1,274,061.

The Times recalls how the States lost trade by the unscrupulous methods of makers of filled cheese, who removed the natural butter fat from the milk and inserted inferior, cheaper fat. Canadians acquired a grip of the trade which they were not likely to relinquish.

Denmark is easily first in butter, supplying 43 per cent. of British imports; Australia second, Siberia third. Canadian and American supplies are erratic, the Canada received £1,008,002, against the States' £689,164.

Made Happy and Proud.

Capt. George S. McDougall of the splendid Canadian Pacific Railway steamship Athabasca, sailing between Owen Sound and Fort William, is a happy and proud man to-day. He was summoned to headquarters at Montreal to be presented with the United States government's memorial, a handsome and valuable gold hunting case watch, chain and compass. The testimonial was sent by the Hon. John Hay, Secretary of State for the United States, to the Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, and by him forwarded to Lord Minto, who despatched it to Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the C.P.R.

The watch bears the following inscription:

"From the President of the United States, to Capt. George McDougall of the British steamship Athabasca, in recognition of his humane services in the rescue of the captain and crew of the American barge Preston, June 29, 1901."

The presentation to the captain was informally made yesterday morning by Sir Thomas Shaughnessy.

It will be remembered that on the above date, while the Athabasca was on her course to Fort William, about 30 miles southwest of Passage Island, Lake Superior, at 6 o'clock in the morning a vessel was sighted six or eight miles off, flying a flag of distress. The captain had just left the bridge, after a watchful night in the heavy storm, and, upon being called up, put his vessel about, and in an hour found that the disabled ship was the American barge Preston, loaded with lumber, on her way to Port Arthur. In the heavy gale she had sprung a leak, which could not be controlled, her fires were nearly out and the vessel and crew were at the mercy of the waves.

Five attempts were made to tow the vessel, but each time the heavy cables parted, as she would not ride the waves. The storm was blowing wilder and carried away the smoke stack of the Preston, her rear cabin and part of her deck load of lumber.

Capt. Harlow of the Preston decided to abandon his vessel, and signalled for the crew to be taken off. Owing to the heavy sea and the impossibility of lowering lifeboats, this was a difficult task, but Capt. McDougall displayed his skilful seamanship and determination ably assisted by his efficient crew. Again and again, a score of times, the Athabasca was put about and came near enough to the Preston to take off her crew of 13 by life lines and life preservers, sometimes taking one, two or three at a time. The skill with which the Athabasca was handled, the coolness and careful judgment of the captain, inspired confidence in her 150 passengers, and, while he exercised every precaution for the safety of the lives and property entrusted to his charge, he doggedly stuck to the task of saving eleven men and two women from a watery grave, never leaving the bridge from 6 o'clock in the morning until 3.30 in the afternoon, demonstrating that deeds of valor are not to be looked for only upon the battlefield or on the ocean.

The passengers presented the captain with a flattering address, which has since been beautifully engrossed and illuminated.

The Royal Canadian Humane Association awarded him a parchment certificate for distinguished bravery, and it is reported that the attention of the Minister of Marine will be directed to the matter, with a view to having the Dominion government recognize in some suitable manner one of the most humane and successful rescues recorded in the history of the navigation of the Great Lakes.

An amateur dramatic entertainment will be given to-night under the auspices of the St. George's Literary and Musical Society, in the school house of St. George's Church, John-street.

Starts With a Cold

Catarrh is a lingering cold which refuses to yield to ordinary treatment.

Catarrh usually starts with a cold in the head and if left unchecked in this climate rarely gets well of itself.

As fresh cold is taken the disease spreads, getting deeper and deeper, creeping along the mucous membranes from nose to throat, from throat to windpipe, from windpipe to bronchial tubes and from bronchial tubes to lung cells.

The mucous membranes all connect, one with another. Hence it is easy to spread from one part to another lined with this same membrane. This is why catarrh in the head soon affects the throat and finally the stomach itself, bringing on chronic catarrh of the stomach, which is a most obstinate form of dyspepsia.

Everybody is now well agreed that catarrh is a blood disease and not a local one, and the attempt to cure by local applications simply gives temporary relief from the purely local symptoms without the remotest effect in staying the progress of the disease.

There is a new preparation recently offered to the public that is apparently destined to do away with every other form of catarrh treatment.

This new remedy is not a secret patent medicine, but is a large, pleasant tasting tablet composed of Bloodroot, Red gum from the Eucalyptus tree, and other valuable and harmless specifics, which are taken internally and seem to have a remarkably beneficial effect upon the blood and mucous membranes, apparently eliminating the catarrhal poison from the whole system.

These tablets, while being pleasant, convenient and absolutely safe to use, have made cures in long standing cases of catarrh that are little short of marvelous. They are sold by druggists under name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and any catarrh sufferer who has tried inhalers, lotions, ointments, salves, etc., and realized their inconvenience and uselessness will fully appreciate the difference between a mere palliative and a permanent cure after giving Stuart's Catarrh Tablets an impartial trial.

All druggists sell them at 50 cents for full sized package, and no matter where the catarrh is located, in the head, throat, lungs or stomach, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets will surprise you with the effective result of even a few days' use.

A Pleasant Medicine.—There are some pills which have no other purpose evidently than to beget painful internal disturbances in the patient, adding to his troubles and perplexities rather than diminishing them. One might as well swallow some corrosive material. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills have not this disagreeable and injurious property. They are easy to take, are not unpleasant to the taste, and their action is mild and soothing. A trial of them will prove this. They offer peace to the dyspeptic.

They have regained their health, I have received my pay. I send my new Herculex
