THE CABINET HAS RESIGNED

Aberdeen's Messenger on His Way to Mr. Laurier

WHO WILL FORM A NEW GOVERNMENT.

Senate Reading Room
1 Jan 96
SENATE

Why His Excellency Declined to Sanction Orders-in-Council

Passed by the Outgoing Administration—Sir Charles and His Colleagues Resigned on Tuesday, But the Resignations were Not Accepted Until Yesterday Afternoon, Owing to the Hitch Over the Appointments—The Governor-General's Stand Prevents Messrs. Angers and Desjardins Returning to the Senate—Is the Government House Ruling a Good One, According to English Precedent?—Rearrangement of Seats in the Commons Chamber and Quarters in the Federal Building—Interesting Notes from the Capital During Exciting Times.

Ottawa, July 8.—(Special.—The Tupper Ministry is no more, and to-night a messenger is on his way to Arthabaskaville to summon Hon. Wilfrid Laurier to the Capital. When he arrives he will be entrusted with the task of forming the second Liberal Cabinet since Confederation.

There was no meeting of the Council this morning, for the simple reason that Sir Charles Tupper was at Government House conferring with His Excellency.

The Premier left Rideau Hall shortly after 1 o'clock, and after lunching at his son's house came up to his office in the State Department. Notices for a Cabinet meeting for 3 o'clock were immediately sent out, and at the hour appointed the Miniters met in the Council Chamber for the last time.

First Tendered on Tuesday.

The resignation of the Cabinet was first tendered to the Governor-General yesterday, but action upon it was not taken by His Excelency until today, owing to certain points which had arisen between the Ministers and the Governor requiring adjustment.

To-day's meeting of the Ministers was not prolonged. The communications which the Premier had to make evidently did not require extended discussion.

By 4 o'clock the Ministers had dispersed, Sir Charles Tupper returning to the State Department. He remained there until 5.15, and then proceeded to Government House for the purpose of pressing the resignations of himself and his colleagues.

By 7 o'clock it was known officially that the resignations had been accepted and that Lord Aberdeen had sent for Mr. Laurier. The Liberal leader will likely arrive here at noon to-morrow, and as his slate is practically completed the personnel of the new Ministry will be known in a day or two.

Sir Charles Interviewed.

Sir Charles Tupper to-night confirmed to me the news of the acceptance of his resignation, but on the matter of appointments said he had not Lord Aberdeen's permission to say anything, consequently his lips were sealed. What action His Excellency proposes to take, therefore, regarding the appointments made by his late advisers is not definitely known to-night. There is, however, a well defined rumor that a compromise was reached, the minor offices being approved by Lord Aberdeen, but the Senatorships and Judgeships being left for Mr. Laurier to fill. As a consequence, Angers and Desjardins lose their seats in the Upper House, and including the late Mr. Read's seat and one in Nova Scotia, there will be four places in the Red Chamber falling immediately to the Liberals.

The Issue With Lord Aberdeen.

The question which has been at issue between the Gov.-General and his late advisers since Monday is an interesting one. All constitutional authorities point to the right of a retiring Government to fill vacancies, and, indeed, this was conceded in the matter of the Mackenzie Government. Only one appointment by that Government was interfered with, and that of Mr. Buckingham, and in this case it was simply a proposed transfer of him to another office. Whether His Excellency is justified in taking the stand with which he is credited time alone will tell.

The View Todd Takes.

Todd, in his Parliamentary Government in England, page 513, says: "Outgoing Ministers are bound to conduct the ordinary business of Parliament, and of the country so long as they retain the seals of office. They continue, moreover, in full possession of their official authority and functions and must meet and incur the full responsibility of all public transactions until their successors have kissed hands upon their acceptance of office. Upon this point it has been declared by Sir Robert Peel that, though the members of an administration may have tendered their resignations, they were still entitled to make any appointments which the exigencies of the public service might require, and these appointments they were undoubtedly entitled to go on making until they were actually superseded by the entrance into office of their successors. It was always the practice to fill up vacancies. Peerages promised by Ministers' predecessors in office had been granted though no instructions had been signed or sealed on the subject."

How Colonial Advisers Should Act.

In his work Parliamentary Government in the Colonies, page 42, the same learned authority says: "While the Governor (of a colony) is free to suggest or remonstrate with his Ministers when requested to give the sanction of the Crown in cases of appointment or removals from office, it is only under very exceptional circumstances that he would be justified in disregarding the recommendation of his responsible advisers on such subjects."

It is worthy of note that the Tupper Ministry have held office just two weeks after their defeat, or half the time Mr. Mackenzie took to wind up his affairs.

Re-arrangement of the House.

The chamber of the House of Commons is in readiness for the meeting of Parliament, although all the seats have not yet been allotted in it. Mr. Charlton still sticks to his old seat on the Opposition side, next to Mr. Foster's new seat, but he will have to cross the floor to the Liberal side of the House. Mr. Scriver has occupied a seat to the left of the Speaker since Confederation. Although permanent chairman of the Liberals' caucus, he never changed his seat during the time the Mackenzie Government was in power, and Conservatives like him. Major J. Sutherland, however, says that no Liberals have the right to appropriate the best seats on the Opposition side and their leader will insist upon both Charlton and Scriver crossing to the Speaker's right. Room 16, where the Liberals will have their headquarters, is ready to receive them. This was the old press room prior to room 8 being provided for the newspaper men. The Conservatives will have to take room 6, the old quarters of the Grits.

The Leader's Quarters.

Hon. Wilfrid Laurier's new sessional quarters will be off the library. This was Sir John Macdonald's old room and was afterwards Sir John Thompson's. Until Sr Charles Tupper became Premier, Mr. Foster occupied it. Major Sutherland, the Liberal whip, has not yet selected his room, which will be one of those near the reading room of the House of Commons.

If Sir Charles Tupper retains the leadership, as he is likely to do for the present, he will have Mr. Laurier's old room, close to No. 6, while the Conservative whip, will take Mr. Sutherland's old quarters, which were alongside Mr. Laurier's room.

The Speaker Gets the Chair.

Ex-Speaker White has for the last time taken his parliamentary chair. From time immemorial it has been tom for the Speaker of the Commons to take with him to his home the chair which he occupied officially in the House. Accordingly the Honorable Peter's six-term seat has been shipped to Pembroke.

General Topics.

It is reported that Mr. John Brophy, C.E. of Ottawa, has been appointed superintendent of the Rideau Canal at a salary of $2200 per year. This is the position which Robert Birmingham refused.

Three years ago hardly a pound of butter was made in Moosejaw District in the Territories. Last month the Government Creamery there 14,000 pounds was made.

Officers of the Fisheries Department have been successful in securing a splendid lot of parent fish for St. John hatchery, far in excess of the previous year.

It is rumored here that Overseer Chadwick of the Lake of the Woods fishery district has been suspended from duty owing to the great dissatisfaction in connection with the administration of the duties of his office.

Hugh John Macdonald goes to Montreal to-morrow, thence to Winnipeg.

Mr. Dickey bids good-bye to Ottawa to-morrow leaving for Amherst in the morning.

Boys, Take Warning.

The City Council is offering a reward of $5 for information that will lead to the conviction of persons found injuring shade trees on the streets and in the parks, and policemen in plain clothes have been detailed for special duty to stamp out this kind of vandalism. The magistrate has the power to inflict a fine of $50 and costs or send the convicted parties to jail for six months. 24

President Cox of the Bank of Commerce Had a Big Scheme On

WHEN HE VISITED THE NEW PREMIER

He Was Not After the Portfolio of Finance Minister.

But He Wanted to Get For His Bank the Account Which the Government Has for Years Carried With the Bank of Montreal—The Transfer, it is Reported, Will Be Made as Soon as the Laurier Cabinet Gets Into Working Order—It is Rumored That Mr. Cox Chipped In to the Extent of $30,000.

Montreal, July 8.—(Special.)—The World was informed to-day that one of the first moves of the new Finance Minister will be to transfer the Dominion's account from the Bank of Montreal to the Canadian Bank of Commerce, which has already a good friend in the Ontario Government, the latter having no less than a million dollars and more on deposit at that institution. When Mr. George A. Cox, the millionaire presiden; of the Bank of Commerce, came down to Montreal to interview Hon. Mr. Laurier, it was stated that the Toronto banker was asked to accept the portfolio of Finance, but it soon leaked out that he had a far more profitable scheme on hand than that of stepping into Hon. G. E. Foster's shoes at Ottawa.

It is stated that Mr. Cox subscribed $30,000 to the Liberal election fund for western Ontario, and it is not at all surprising that such open-handed devotion should be rewarded. It has also been stated that the business in London will still be retained by the Bank of Montreal, but that the Government account on this side will go wholly to the Bank of Commerce.

CAUGHT ON THE DEVIL'S STRIP.

Bicyclist Receives Probably Fatal Injuries in Garrison Hollow—Unconscious at the Hospital.

John Thompson, a butcher's employe, living with his wife and family at 93 Northcote-avenue, lies in the General Hospital with a badly cut head and internal injuries which may result fatally. He was riding a bicycle in Queen-street west at 10.30 last night, and was on the devil strip in Garrison hollow, when cars aproached from both directions. He tried to ride past the westbound car before the other reached him, but was unsuccessful, and was caught between the two. His bicycle was smashed, and on examination it was found that he had received an ugly cut on the head and several bruises, while it was evident that there were severe internal injuries. Dr. Watson, who was called, ordered his removal to the hospital. He was unconscious from the time of the accident, and the physicians entertain grave fears of his recovery.

IRISHMEN IN BUFFALO.

The Revolutionary Party Said to Have Been Reorganized There.

Buffalo, July 8.—The Irish revolutionary party has been re-organized in this city, most of the old-time "shoulder-a-musket" members of the Land League having been enlisted in Wolfe Tone Council of the Irish National Alliance. This, says the authorized circular, is "an organization of a revolutionary character, which believes in the complete independence of Ireland and the use of any means sanctioned by the laws and usages of civilized nations to attain its end."

It is made up mainly of members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, Police Captain Killeen, head of that organization in this country, being amongst the chief promoters and the active members are mostly of the two military companies attached to the 13 Hibernian Councils.

It is True.

A paragraph in The World yesterday gave currency to a report that the members of the firm of Guinane Bros. were about to dissolve partnership. A representative of The World was informed by the Messrs. Guinane that the report was true. "We are," said they, "going into liquidation at once, and the $100,000 stock in the Yonge-street store will be sold as quick as we can sell it. It's a poor time to sacrifice, but the case is urgent. The dissolution will take effect in August, and we hope to clear before then. Will give you full particulars later on.

"Of course, our King-street store will be continued, though we close this big store."

The Venezuelan Dispute.

Berlin, July 8.—The Herald news agency gives currency to a report that there has arrived in Berlin from Caracas a special envoy entrusted by the Venezuelan Government with authority to negotiate with the British Government a settlement of the boundary dispute between the two nations. The report, however, lacks confirmation.

WILL GREENWAY SETTLE IT?

The Winnipeg Free Press Deals With the School Question—Tom Grigg, the Hotelman, Dead.

Winnipeg, Man., July 8.—(Special.)—The Free Press to-day editorially discusses the rumor that Premier Greenway will at once make a settlement of the school question satisfactory to the Catholics, and remove the dangerous obstacle from Mr. Laurier's pathway. The Free Press says: "If the Manitoba Ministers were manoeuvering in aid of their political friends in the Dominion they have the gratification of knowing that success has rewarded their efforts. There is nothing now remaining to prevent them from addressing themselves to the school question in very earnest, and settling it once for all. It is most desirable that they should do this. There is something to settle, and it is proper and altogether expedient that it should be settled by the Government and the Legislature of Manitoba. If the question should get back into the Federal arena, there is no guarantee that the province may not be compelled to accept conditions that are unnecessary, and may prove extremely irksome. Here it can be settled to the satisfaction of all parties."

Death of Tom Grigg.

Tom Grigg, proprietor of the Windsor Hotel at Regina, died at noon today of inflammation of the bowels, with other complications. Deceased, with his brother, Sam Grigg, formerly managed the Grigg House at London, Ont.

Winnipeggers are Indignant.

Winnipeggers are justly indignant over the result of the Dominion Government census of Winnipeg just published. The city's population is given at 31,000, whereas there is positive proof at hand that 40,000 would be closer to the correct figures.

A LETTER FROM SHARP.

The Man Who Tried to Swindle Toronto Candidates Makes a Statement to The World.

The following was received by The World last night, postmarked Port Huron, July 8:

Port Huron, Mich., July 7th, 1896.

Editor World: Having noticed the peice you had in your Monday morning World about arresting my wife Mrs. Rose Sharp for receiving money under false pretence I want to in form you that she is not to blame at all. It is all my fault and not hers. She simply went and done what I told her and she never knew that she was doing wrong. the way I happened to come to Toronto from Buffalo was through a letter I got from a certain canadate in Toronto who asked me to come and work for him and I came and brought my wife with me. of course she does not know anything about receiving money in Elictoon and I told her that I had a vote in centre Toronto and that I had another in East Toronto and that I had another in West Toronto and that i also had a vote in East and West York and of course she believed all that i told her. It was me that sent her to Mr. McLean last Friday to try to Borrow two dollars as I needed some money. It was also me that sent her to others canadates to ask for the Land of money. She did not know that she was doing wrong so I hope you will be kind enough to get her of free next Monday if possible i will not say anything about any of the canadates but if she should happen to get senteced I will make it Interesting for some of the toronto Canadates. well I guess this is all. there is no need to write to me for when you get this I will be a good many miles from here. so please try and get her of next Monday and tel her to go home to her parents in Buffalo, because she is innocent. good Bye from

SMITH'S FALLS MURDER.

"Tom" and "The Kid" Have Not Yet Been Caught—Detective Rogers' Experiences on the Trail.

It was reported in several Montreal and Toronto papers that they had been captured at Ogdensburg, but the report is entirely without foundation. The men in custody at that place were seen by the detective, and are the wrong parties.

The movements of the two men the detectives are after, as far as they can be traced, are as follows: On the night of the shooting they left the tramp rendezvous near Smith's Falls and came into the town about 10 p.m. Meeting a couple of young fellows, they said that a man had been shot and that full particulars would be learned in the morning. One of them inquired for a doctor, and was directed to one, but did not go to him. Next morning, Morgan, one of the gang of tramps, went down to the place where the murder was committed, and met the pair in question. The latter moved on a coal car about 11 a.m. and went as far as Irish Creek, where the trainmen put them off. They got on to the trucks again, however, and rode to Brockville. Morgan was arrested, but, having been drunk the night of the murder, could give no information.

Detective Rogers arrived in Brockville on Saturday, and found out that Tommy and the Kid had left for Montreal. He immediately followed, and counted upwards of 72 hobos on the track between Brockville and Lachine, besides 8 others passing on freights bound west. He did not recognize his men, however, nor did he find them in Montreal, where he met with some 300 seedy characters in the different institutions in the city. Thence the trail was lost, and the men, who are an absolute necessity to the Crown, are still at large.

Detective Rogers wishes to have the rumor contradicted that the two tramp witnesses, Tom and the Kid, who would be of the greatest service to the Crown in the Smith's Falls murder case, have been caught.

FREE COINAGE OF SILVER.

Canadian Moneyed Interests Would Temporarily Suffer.

THE VIEWS OF SOME OF OUR CITIZENS

Our Banks Have Eighteen and a Half Millions in the States.

A Premium on Gold Would Follow the Unlimited Coinage of Silver—The Return of Canadian Funds Ought to Improve Trade Here—A Speculative Boom in Products One of the Possibilities—Britain Has Liquidated to a Large Extent—Canadian Stocks Would Probably Benefit.

Silver is the topic of the hour. The Democrats, in convention at Chicago, are advocating, with no uncertain sound, the free and unlimited coinage of silver as the leading plank in their political platform. The Republican party have adopted the gold standard. The Presidential fight in November next will therefore be on the money question. The success of the silver issue would bring about many changes. Gold would eventually go to a premium, and repudiation in a measure would be a possibility. The creditor classes would of course get the worst of it, while some good would likely accrue to the debtor classes.

Moneyed Interests Would Suffer.

With a view of gauging the possible effects on trade in Canada by the adoption of free coinage of silver by the United States, a World representative yesterday interviewed a number of financial men and trades people. The majority of these were of the opinion that the moneyed interests of Canada would suffer. Our banks now have balances of over $18,500,000 in the United States. This money is kept at New York, Chicago, Duluth and other centres, for the reason that there are more opportunities there for making quick, safe and profitable investments than at home.

Mr. Thomas Lownsbrough, when asked if free coinage in the United States would have any material effect on Canadian trade, replied that it would be only temporary. It would create, he said, a very unsettled feeling among our bankers, who have large balances on the other side, and a displacement of securities would result. He did not anticipate any such good times as Canada had during the American war, when gold was at a big premium. There was an active demand for all our products, which is the very reverse now. Free silver could only improve our trade by stimulating prices on the other side in a marked degree.

Farmers Would Benefit.

"There is this about free silver," Mr. Lownsbrough said: "it would enable the farmers of the United States to compete with the farmers of the Argentine Republic and India. American farmers would then be on the same level with other silver countries. Of late years they have not been able to compete with these countries in the selling of their wheat."

"I do not think that the temporary depression in United States railway shares would be as severe as many suppose. You must remember that the liquidation on the part of the British has been going on for years, and their holdings of Yankee rails are several hundred millions less now than in 1892."

A Good Thing for Canada.

A gentleman engaged in the "carrying trade" on the lakes thought that it would be a good thing if our banks were forced to keep their surplus moneys at home. The loss would have to be borne by shareholders in the shape of smaller dividends, while the public ought to benefit by the increased supply of funds at the command of bankers.

A leading member of the Toronto Stock Exchange said there would be considerable depreciation in the prices of American securities so largely held in Canada, such as Cable and Postal Telegraph, but this would be offset by an increased demand for purely Canadian investments. A temporary depression would be followed, he thought, by a speculative boom on Wall-street.

A capitalist on King-street, when spoken to on the subject, said he did not think that the Democrats could possibly win. The silver craze has many objectionable features. A panic would be created by the passage of such a measure, and it would put the States back at least ten years. We could not escape altogether. Our interests and business relations with our neighbors to the south are so entwined that they could not suffer and we escape.

Vim and snap are the result of good digestion. To secure both use Adams' Tutti Frutti Gum. Refuse all imitations.

HAMMOND MURDER TRIAL

Postponed for One Year Because Witnesses in the United States Have Not Been Got—McKenzie Stabbing Case.

Bracebridge, July 8.—The second day of the Assize Court opened at 9.30 a.m., and the forenoon was taken up with a civil case.

At noon Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, Q.C., of Toronto, addressed the court concerning an adjournment of the case of Queen v. Hammond. Mr. Johnston appears for the prisoner, and opposed the adjournment, stating that the prisoner had now been kept in jail for several months, and that if the trial were postponed, he would have to remain in jail here until next July, as the Assizes are held here but once each year.

Mr. Heyd, who represents the Crown, said an adjournment was necessary on account of the Crown's inability to get two witnesses from the United States. The arguments occupied a considerable time, and the case was adjourned. However, the grand jury had not made any presentment, and although they have spent the day in considering the case, they adjourned until to-morrow.

Charge of Manslaughter.

At 1.30 p.m. a jury was empanelled in the case of the Queen v. McKenzie. There were numerous challenges of jurors on both sides. Mr. Heyd addressed the jury and proceeded with the case. The first witness was Archy Sloan, district constable, who was an eyewitness of the row between prisoner and deceased Scott, and who arrested the prisoner.

The afternoon was taken up in the examination of Crown witnesses. The evidence so far is contradictory in one particular viz, Sloan and others state that deceased struck McKenzie while he was seated in the chair and before he was stabbed. Others say McKenzie was standing. The Crown did not call Boyd, who knows more about the affair than any other person. He and perhaps a dozen other witnesses will be called by the defence in the morning. McKenzie has been out on bail until this evening, when Mr. Heyd refused to allow bail. As doubtless the matter will be settled to-morrow, an application was not made to the judge for bail and he was locked up.

True to the traditions of the order, no Orangeman will think of appearing without a silk hat, and to those who do not already possess one that is presentable on such an important occasion this notice is particularly addressed. At W. & D. Dineens' it is possible to obtain a handsome and stylish silk hat, of high quality, at a most reasonable price. Three dollars is surely little enough for a good silk, yet there are several designs at that price, while others of still better quality are four and five dollars. Drop in before the 11th and see these hats. You will be pleased with the bargains offered at Dineens', King and Yonge-streets.

WAS A BABEL OF NOISE

Most People Went Wild at the Convention in Chicago Yesterday

WHEN GOLD BUGS WERE UNSEATED.

What the Platform of the Great Democratic Party Looks Like

As It Comes From National Committee on Resolutions—It Favors Free Silver Straight and a Tariff for Revenue Purposes Only—Straight Opposition to Monometalism—The Platform to be Considered by the Convention To-Day.

Chicago, July 8.—After passing through a listless morning session the Democratic National Convention witnessed two scenes to-night which compensate those whose pent-up feeling had been given no vent in the earlier part of the day. Men and women joined in the demonstration for each of the contending factions of the Democracy. They shouted and cheered, sang and stamped, and fairly turned the great Convention Hall into a pandemonium. It was during the roll-call of States on a motion to adopt the minority report of the Committee on Credentials that both demonstrations occurred. The majority of the committee had submitted a report unseating members of the Michigan gold delegation and providing that silver contestants should take their places.

Chairman Daniel had put the question on the adoption of the minority report and the voting by States was proceeding with comparative quiet and some prosiness. When New York was reached Chairman Hinkley's large frame loomed up under the little banner that indicated the locality of the Empire State Democrats. There was a silence for a brief second, then Mr. Hinkley's voice rang out: "New York casts her 72 votes aye."

A great cheer went up from all parts of the hall. The delegates on the floor led the applause, some of them rising to their feet. A man among the spectators rose and waved his hat, and in an instant the audience was up seemingly en masse, and people were cheering like madmen. The demonstration lasted over fifteen minutes.

The second demonstration was a repetition of the first, and was intended as a counter-charge of the silver men. They found their cue in the announcement of the vote which showed that the minority or gold report of the Credentials Committee had been rejected and again pandemonium reigned.

A Bland banner and a Bland band kept the enthusiasm from flagging, and coats were taken off and waved wildly, newspapers and hats were thrown in the air, and a scene of wildest confusion followed the playing of "Dixie."

Beyond these scenes there was little of interest that occurred in the Convention Hall.

The morning session passed in a weary wait for the Committee on Credentials to report and an adjournment was taken until 5 o'clock.

At the evening session nothing was accomplished except the adoption of the report of that committee seating silver delegates from Nebraska and Michigan and giving the silver men greater control.

At 9.33 it was decided not to attempt the adoption of the platform to-night, and an adjournment was taken until to-mororw morning at 10 o'clock.

The Resolution Committee has been called to meet again to-morrow morning, when further changes in the platform are expected to be made.

THE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

Full Text of the Report of the Sub-Committee on Resolutions.

Chicago, July 8.—The following is the platform, as reported by the sub-committee to the full committee on resolutions at its meeting this morning:

We, the Democrats of the United States in National Convention assembled, do reaffirm our allegiance to

It Pays to Advertise in the World.

A proof of The World's superiority as an advertising medium is afforded by the result of a test made last week by Messrs. W. & D. Dineen, the hatters. As a means of ascertaining the comparative merits of The World and The Telegram, which two papers they regard as the best morning and evening advertising mediums, respectively, this firm chose two straw hats, nearly similar in design and of the same price. One was advertised in The World and one in The Telegram, the cost of the advertising being the same in each paper. The result is told by Mr. William Dineen in these words: "The Herald, which was advertised in The World, was frequently called for during the week, and nearly every one in stock was sold. The Yorker, which was advertised in The Telegram, was not called for in a single instance. We regard the test as fair and conclusive, and think The World is entitled to credit as being the best advertising medium among the Toronto dailies. Such we have always found it to be."
