HAMILTON NEWS

WORK OF THE CITY FATHERS

Beach Control, Good Roads and Curbing Were the Principal Topics Discussed.

BOARD OF WORKS AND SEWERS.

Erskine Church Will Probably Call Rev. R. Martin of Markham —General News.

Hamilton, Ont., May 14.—(Special.)—The City Council met to-night, and during the course of a not very lengthy session talked principally of Beach control, good roads and curbing.

When the report of the Harbor and Beach Committee was presented, making a lot of recommendations for the improvement of the Beach, Ald. Ten Eyck protested against the report going thru. The committee's recommendations meant the expenditure of a lot of money, and the committee itself had no money to spend. He thought the Mayor ought to rule the report out of order, as transgressing the rule concerning expenditures.

Ald. Nelligan, as a once chairman of the Harbor Committee, expressed his admiration for the committee's proposals. It was anxious and willing to improve the resort, and now there were some who wished to take its powers away.

Ald. Fearnside, the committee's chairman, stood manfully by his report. It was right in every particular, and the members were going to support the recommendations.

Ald. Morden and Ald. Dixon objected to the doing away of the sprinkler for an electric service.

Ald. Fearnside said he had received an opinion from the City Solicitor respecting the committee's powers over the Beach. That opinion was right in some ways and wrong in others. The committee, he said, wanted an independent legal opinion.

Ald. Evans advocated a proper definition of the powers of the committee and the Parks Board. He understood, however, that legal opinion, so far, gave the control to the Parks Commissioners. He suggested that the two bodies meet and come to some understanding.

Ald. Dixon and Ald. Pettigrew moved an amendment to refer the report back to the committee, and this was agreed to.

Board of Works Report.

When the report of the Board of Works, which chiefly concerned the good roads program, came up, Ald. Findlay moved an amendment that for curbing on Herkimer-street, between James and Hess-streets, there be substituted the repaving of Victoria-avenue, from King to Barton-street.

Ald. Ten Eyck raised a objection to curbing being put down as local improvement on streets where work of a similar nature had been already paid for under the local improvement plan.

Ald. Hobson moved in amendment that curbing be done on James-street south, striking out curbing on Barton-street, from James to Wentworth-street.

Finally the report was passed to everyone's satisfaction.

Sewer Committee Report.

The report of the Sewer Committee was passed without change.

In committee of the whole on bylaws, Ald. Massey in the chair, ex-Ald. Board, F. Chester Fearman and ex-Ald. Ross were moved as successors to W. J. Kingdon on the Board of Cemetery Managers. Board's vote was 11 to 5 against, and Fearman's 15 to 2 for. Mr. Fearman's name accordingly was placed in the bylaw.

A bylaw was also passed giving the Council power to expropriate land for the Birch-avenue sewer.

Erskine Church Pastorate.

A meeting of the congregation of Erskine Presbyterian Church was held this evening to choose a successor to Rev. J. G. Shearer. The claims of seven candidates were considered, and the choice of the congregation fell on Rev. R. Martin of Markham. Mr. Martin preached in the church yesterday, and it is expected he will accept the call.

Barn and Horse Burned.

There was a $500 fire at a barn belonging to Peacock Bros., corner of Wentworth and King-streets, late this afternoon. The building was badly scorched, some hay and harness were consumed and a horse was burned so badly that it will have to be killed.

Had Stroke of Paralysis.

The body of the late Charles M. Counsell, one of Hamilton's wealthiest citizens, who died of paralysis at St. Catharines this morning, was brought here to-night. Deceased was about 60 years of age. He was for some years manager of the Stimson Bank, and he resigned that position to become manager of the Exchange Bank, which afterward failed. Mr. Counsell went into the stock-broking business after the failure of the bank, and remained at it up to the time of his death. His sisters are Mrs. Edward Martin and Mrs. McGiverin. The sons are: Charles of the Bank of Montreal, at Montreal; Edward of the Merchants' Bank, Brandon; Norman, who lives near Freeman postoffice; John L. of the law firm of Barwick, Aylesworth & Wright, Toronto, and Ronald of the Imperial Bank, Toronto.

Will Be Lawsuit.

The Hoepfner Refining Co. has stopped George Webb, the contractor for the chimney and boiler house at their works, from going on with the work. It is claimed by the company that he was not making earnest efforts to replace the chimney, and that it will have the chimney rebuilt by some other contractor, and sue Mr. Webb for the difference in cost and for the amount paid on the job, about $10,000.

Police Points.

William McFarlane, the man who was found with a broken leg on Emerald-street yesterday morning at 4 o'clock, has been identified as the man who broke into Robert Pirie's house, East-avenue, and drew a revolver on him. It is supposed McFarlane broke his leg when he jumped from the window. He will be kept under surveillance at the hospital till he recovers.

An Old Printer's Suicide.

An inquest was held yesterday on the death of Jasper Hurrell, an old-time printer, who jumped from a third storey window at the Insane Asylum yesterday, and died in a few minutes from the injuries received. The verdict was simply suicide. The body will be buried by the deceased's family.

The Church of the Future.

Rev. Dr. Glassford gave a lecture in Macnab-street Methodist Church to-night on "The Church of the Future."

Turn-Out of the Thirteenth.

There was a large turnout of the 13th regiment to-night. The redcoats marched to Victoria Park.

Minor Matters.

Campbell Leckie, sr., engineer in charge of the disposal works, has sent an application for an increase of salary to the City Council.

Alive Bollard's cool, fragrant smoking mixture, 30c a quarter pound. 4 King-street, Hamilton.

The contract price of the ten sewers, for which tenders were recently accepted, was $4677.34. Engineer Wingate's estimate was $4763.06.

Mr. David Sim, Simcoe-street, was kicked by a drunken man. Four ribs were broken, but he declined to prosecute.

THE METHODIST CONFERENCE

A Proposal to Make All the Book Concerns Contribute Exclusively to Superannuation Fund

WAS TABLED BY A RISING VOTE

The Organic Law of the Church Came Up for Consideration—Committee on Episcopacy.

Chicago, May 14.—The General Conference of the Methodist Church to-day discussed the question of confining the profits of the book concerns to the support of the superannuated ministers. The questions involved the withdrawing of subsidies from church publications that could not exist otherwise, and the payment of conference expenses. The discussion was lengthy and at times spirited, but the matter was finally laid on the table by a rising vote.

Revision of Constitution.

Discussion of the report of the Committee on the Revision of the Constitution and the report of the Committee on the Rules for the General Conference Elections took up most of the time of the conference after the morning recess.

Just before adjournment Chairman Buckley of the Committee on Episcopacy read the report bearing on the effectiveness of the Board of General Superintendents. Every bishop at present acting was recommended to be continued in the present relations.

Delegates for the Ecumenical.

A motion by Bishop Hurst that a commission be created by the General Conference, consisting of one member from each General Conference district, to select the 129 delegates to the Ecumenical Methodist Conference in London, was adopted.

The regular order of the day, the organic law of the church, was considered, article 10 being read for amendment or adoption. This article defines the powers and restrictions of the General Conference. After some debate the resolution was referred for further consideration by the committee.

Election of Bishops.

The report of the Committee on Elections, which was made public Saturday, recommending that the election of bishops be held under the two-thirds rule, was brought up, and resulted in a spirited debate.

Dr. J. M. Buckley of New York, editor of The Christian Advocate, made a strong plea for the adoption of the report, which, he said, would tend to neutralize electioneering methods. The report was voted on by sections.

The Choice of Editors.

The section providing for the election of editors of the several Advocates was recommitted to the Book Committee for further action, the intention being, it is understood, to continue some of the subsidized publications, for which editors are to be selected.

The two-thirds rule on the election of bishops was then adopted by an overwhelming vote.

Chairman Buckley's Report.

The time of the session was extended to hear Chairman Buckley's report No. 2 of the Committee on Episcopacy, the report being on the effectiveness of the Board of General Superintendents. The report, which was adopted after a short debate, recommended that the whole list of present acting bishops be declared effective.

The conference then adjourned for the day.

IT WAS A BAD DAY FOR SIR WILFRID LAURIER.

Government regarding the founding of a Canadian mint.

Mr. Fielding replied that while the question had for some time engaged the attention of the Government, yet no official communications had been held with the Imperial Government. It was not clear to his mind that a mint similar to the Australian mint would meet the needs of Canada. The Australian sovereign was coined in value like a British sovereign. He had no definite statement to make. He was under the impression that, while many bankers in Canada were in favor of a mint, still the majority were opposed to it.

Third Readings.

Under the orders of the day, the Quebec and Lake Huron Railway bill went thru a third reading without opposition.

Mr. Clarke saw that amendments to the Colonial Investment and Loan Company bill were duly sanctioned, and read a third time.

Only Absolute Proof of One.

Hon. Dr. Borden brought up the question of obtaining certificates of the deaths of members of the first contingent. He read a letter from Mr. Chamberlain to Lord Minto, stating that Lord Strathcona had applied for such certificates, and that they would be issued to him as soon as they were obtained. But it would be weeks, and possibly months before the necessary papers were ready. So far, the only absolute proof of death was in the case of Pte. Johnston.

No Officer Appointed.

In answer to Sir Adolphe Caron, Dr. Borden said that no officer acting under the Government had been requested by the Imperial Government to act for them in providing Canadian stores for the supply of the forces operating in South Africa.

Prison Binder Twine.

There were 226,955 pounds of hemp received at the Kingston Penitentiary between Oct. 31, 1899, and April 1, 1900. Between June 30, 1899, and Jan. 1, 1900, 252,138 pounds of binder twine were supplied from the institution. From July 1, 1899, to May 1, 1900, 219,132 pounds of binder twine have been made at the penitentiary.

Sir Richard Cartwright put thru a bill to amend the act relating to ocean steamship subsidies without an effort.

Then Trouble Began to Brew.

Now came a break in the even tenor of the day, and for a time it looked as if there was to be a pitched battle. Sir Adolphe winked at Archie Campbell and Archie took the chair of the committee of the House on the Criminal Code.

"Why not take up the resolution regarding West Huron?" asked Sir Charles, surprised.

Sir Wilfrid explained that on Friday the Criminal Code had not been gone on with because Mr. Foster had informed him Messrs. Casgrain and Bergeron were absent and wished to be present when the Code was taken up. The Code had been postponed as a favor to Mr. Foster.

Mr. Foster pointed out that Mr. Borden had not then moved his resolution. It was customary to take up an important resolution and have it threshed out before other business was gone on with. Why was the precedent broken?

"Go on," said Sir Wilfrid to Archie Campbell, but Sir Charles took up Mr. Foster's cry and asked on what grounds the Prime Minister violated the precedent?

Sir Wilfrid did not deign to reply.

Sir Hibbert Tupper was tired of the Sphinx-like First Minister, and hotly declared he did not propose to let Sir Wilfrid escape so easily. For his part, he objected to being dragooned this way and that at the mere caprice of the Government. He wanted to know why Sir Wilfrid had substituted the Code for the resolution asking an election investigation. He proposed to protest till an answer was given.

Sir Wilfrid Was Angry.

While Sir Hibbert spoke, Sir Wilfrid was fidgeting to get on his feet. At last he was up, and he was certainly angry, as his face evinced. The Government had no intention of avoiding the responsibility consequent upon Mr. Borden's resolution, but he begged the Opposition to remember that there were such things as courtesies. It is on a finical point like this that Sir Wilfrid lets himself out. He gave an object lesson in rhetoric, when he was asked how the amenities of the House were to be understood, and how the courtesies of the House were to be carried out. Such noble words as "fair," "honest," etc., were frequent in his harangue. Having worked himself up, he then let himself loose, and, smashing his fist at the Opposition, said: "I will have the hon. gentlemen understand that when they are given a favor, whether the favor is taken advantage of or not, we propose to carry on the business of this House in our own way. Above all things, an engagement between parties in the House should be respected."

Then Mr. Foster Got Up.

Mr. Foster then took the Prime Minister in hand and raked him fore and aft. He explained that the Code was not discussed on Friday as a favor to the whole House, because the legal talent of the House should be present on such an occasion. Besides, it was a breach for the Government to have desired to go into supply when so much other business was on the slate. He twitted Sir Wilfrid with trying to lecture the House on etiquet, and told him that he had to make his election on the question of the investigation asked for. He reiterated the attempts already made to burk an enquiry, while "not a frown crossed the Ministerial brow." If the Prime Minister favored an investigation, then it should be had at once, for too much time had been wasted already.

A Mere Pretext.

Sir Charles termed Sir Wilfrid's attitude a mere pretext to prevent a discussion of the resolution, but agreed if Sir Wilfrid would promise to take the question up to-morrow, to go on with the Code.

The white-winged dove of peace settled upon the House when Sir Wilfrid crawled out of his dangerous position, saying, "Certainly." The Criminal Code was being scanned when the House rose at 6 o'clock.

Puttee Gets His Way.

After recess, the Code was the bill of fare. The clause concerning combinations was discussed. Mr. Puttee wished a clause inserted so that nothing in the act would be construed to apply to employes who had combined together for their own protection. With alacrity the Government agreed to the amendment.

Mr. Puttee explained that his amendment would protect trades unions. Much discussion followed upon the remaining clauses, which passed with more or less alteration.

The House adjourned at 11.35 o'clock.

MURRAY GETS A BIG TIP ABOUT THE DYNAMITERS.

by 11 o'clock the magistrate had committed the three for trial.

Officer Mains' Story.

W. H. Mains of the Ontario police, on being sworn, said he saw Dullman, Walsh and Nolin in each other's company at Niagara Falls every day from Tuesday, April 17, to Saturday, the 21st, when the explosion occurred. He and Officer Welch arrested Nolin and Walsh, and Mains arrested Dullman, as he was preparing to leave the Rosli Hotel. Mr. German sharply cross-questioned Officer Mains, but he could get nothing from him, except that he watched them because they looked like crooks.

As Mains stepped from the box, Crown Attorney Cowper arose and said that the Crown had presented its case.

Defence Offered No Evidence.

The defence offered no evidence.

Mr. German, in addressing the magistrate, said the crime which was alleged was a great and serious one. It was as serious as possible. Had it been successful it would have caused great loss of public and private property, and probably great loss of life. Without doubt, the G.T.R. station would have been swept away, and the loss of life might have been enormous. It was reasonable that the public excitement should be very great and that the public mind should be greatly agitated over the attempt. But there was one other thing to consider. It was a well-recognized principle of British law and justice that a man is innocent until he is proven guilty. Thus, the public should refrain from judgment upon the prisoners until the final decision of the court. Even Nolin and Walsh, against whom, to say the least, the evidence is strong, may have an answer for the jury, and the public should, in the meantime, withhold its opinion. The public newspapers sometimes go too far and imbue the public with ideas of guilt before the accused have a chance to be heard. He apprehended there was plenty of evidence to commit Nolin and Walsh for trial, but, unless the Crown held something back, there was no evidence to convict his client Dullman. It was all evidence of suspicion, and there was nothing to attach guilt to him more than to anyone else who might have been in their company. Dullman was only accused of being an accessory in the crime, and there was nothing upon which to commit him. The evidence of Mrs. Constable, who saw Dullman with Walsh and Nolin in Thorold, was nothing. The man ended by stating that Dullman had a complete and satisfactory answer to the charges against him.

Mr. McBurney said he would make no plea, as it was useless to waste breath when the committal had been decided on.

All Three Committed.

Magistrate Logan, in summing up, stated the case was now beyond his jurisdiction, and he committed Nolin and Walsh for trial on the third clause of the charge. He admitted there was no evidence to show that Dullman had been in Thorold on the day of the explosion, but the evidence shows his association with the other two all thru the week. He also committed Dullman for trial.

Trial on May 22.

The trial of the three will come up at the Assizes, opening on May 22, and Chancellor Boyd will be the presiding judge, E. F. B. Johnston of Toronto will be Crown prosecutor and Messrs. McBurney and German will defend the prisoners.

Mr. German stated to The World that Dullman could explain all his actions, and that he would have a number of witnesses to testify to his good character. He stated the prisoner's real name to be Karl Dullman, but he would not give the address of his former residence.

It is expected that the witnesses, who will testify for Dullman are friends who have been drummed up in Buffalo and New York.

Must Be Found Guilty.

Mr. McBurney, acting for Nolin and Walsh, states that altho the evidence is strong against them they will stand trial and will not plead guilty.

Yesterday Dullmann was allowed to examine the grip and clothes which were found with him in the Rosli Hotel. He denied owning the grip, altho admitting it had been in his room. He also denied ownership of some of the shirts and underwear. Some of the clothes are certainly too small for Dullmann and the officers think they can prove them as belongings of Nolin.

The volunteers who have been guarding the canal are expected to be relieved of duty almost any day, and the department will appoint special constables in their stead.

On Friday a number of the residents of Bertie Township had a public meeting and passed a resolution complaining of the expense of the dynamiters' trial to the county. The kick was forwarded to the Attorney-General.

The Connection of Dullman.

Welland, May 14.—(Special.)—To-night the World received a 'phone message from Buffalo, where the police and newspaper men have been working up some facts which will undoubtedly connect Dullmann with the plot. Walsh, Nolin and Dullmann were seen at different times together on Canal-street, the famous street of Buffalo's tenderloin district. Dullmann was also seen in a saloon there talking earnestly with a resident of Lockport, Niagara County. The World informants, who are Irish and anti-British, will not divulge who this Lockport man is, but the police will probably ferret it out. His discovery will likely lead to the unearthing of the plot.

A Chicago End to the Story.

There is also a Chicago end to the story, but very little is known of this. A query to the Washington D.C., police informs your correspondent that up to 6 o'clock to-night no answer has been received from Merna's Dublin relatives.

Another Scare.

On Saturday night the guards at the Port Robinson lock had another scare, and this time all four of the guards state that they saw two men lurking around a large wood-pile near the lock. The guard on duty, when he first saw the two, challenged them, and getting no answer to repeated challenges, fired. He then aroused the whole guard, and they saw the two running away. Each one fired several times, making in all 15 rounds which were sent after the fugitives. None of these, however, took effect, for nothing more of an alarming nature was seen or heard.

THAT MONEY LENDERS' BILL

Has Now Been Read a Third Time and Reported to the Commons For Approval.

INTEREST FIXED AT 12 PER CENT.

On Negotiable Instruments, Contracts, Etc., and Six Per Cent. After Judgment.

Ottawa, May 14.—(Special.)—In the Senate to-day Sir Mackenzie Bowell asked a number of questions tending to show that the present Government departed from the rule of always calling for tenders.

Hon. Mr. Mills said that the only exception was in the case of small sums.

The House went into committee on the Usury bill. The title agreed to was "The Money-Lenders bill," but when the bill was reported it was reported as "An Act Respecting Money-Lenders." Some members wish to amend clause 2, fixing the rate as not higher than 10 per cent., but the clause stood. In the meaning of the bill, then, a money-lender is one "who makes a practice of lending money at a higher rate than 10 per cent., but does not comprise registered pawnbrokers as such."

Clause 3 was so amended as to fix the limit of interest on negotiable instruments, contracts, etc., at 12 per cent., and after judgment at 6 per cent.

Clause 7 was amended so that the act will apply to negotiable instruments executed before the passing of the act and maturing after its passing.

An offence under this act makes the offender liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding a year or to a $1000 penalty. The bill was reported.

When the House went into committee on the General Inspection Act, Sir Mackenzie Bowell pressed that the act should be general, and not apply to flaxseed in Manitoba alone.

Mr. Mills said when the other provinces wanted it they could get it.

Sir Mackenzie wanted to amend the bill, but Mr. Mills told him it was a Government measure. A vote was taken, and the bill was reported with amendments.

A Handsome Exterior.

Little satisfaction will come to anyone in buying a piano if all that can be said of it is that it is handsome to look at. But with the knowledge that the interior, like some famous watch, is perfect, then there is a real appreciation of its exterior. A piano presenting an attractive appearance is a handsome piece of furniture in the home. Because, recognizing this fact, the old firm of Heintzman & Co. have not only established a high reputation for the beautiful tonal quality of their pianos, but also for the magnificent art cases that bear their name. Recently they have placed in their warerooms some handsome instruments—distinctive in their real art character—different in design in every way to the ordinary piano case. Among such may be named the new Colonial style case and another line is their art series, where the case is in sawed veneer, giving the instruments a most artistic effect. Toronto warerooms of this well-known firm are at 117 King-street west.

Toppled Over—Broke His Leg.

In the Assize Court yesterday afternoon Mr. Alexander Gorrie, a sheriff's officer, was suddenly overcome with the heat, and toppled over while Chancellor Boyd was delivering his charge to the grand jury. In falling he broke his leg. He was carried out into the corridor and a physician was summoned. While being attended to, Mr. Gorrie's son, Alexander, the well-known choir leader and singer, who is a clerk in Sheriff Mowat's office, appeared on the scene, and, seeing his father lying on the floor, fell into a faint. It was some time afterwards before he revived. Mr. Gorrie, sr., was taken to the General Hospital in the ambulance. He lives at 24 Henry-street.

WILL PROSECUTE THE GIRL.

Rachel Williams, Now in the Hospital, Will Be Charged With Concealment of Birth.

At the Morgue yesterday afternoon Coroner W. A. Young conducted an enquiry into the death of the child which was found in the rear of Thomas Davies' ice house, at the foot of Leslie-street. The witnesses examined were Willie and Grace Taylor, 23 Curzon-street, the two bright children who found the body; Miss Ada Rundle, forelady in Frankel Bros.' factory, on George-street; Mrs. Agnes Whidden, police matron; Dr. A. J. Harrington, Dr. Primrose, Dr. W. T. Parry, P. C. Abbott and P. C. Charlton.

Had Died From Neglect.

The physicians in their report of the post-mortem examination stated that they were satisfied that the child was born alive and had died from the want of proper care. There were no marks of violence found on the body.

The Girl's Story.

Rachel Williams, the young colored woman who was arrested by Detective Forrest, was present, and repeated her story, told to the police matron after her arrest. She said she gave birth to the child about 2 a.m. on Tuesday last, at the place where it was found. She did not hear the infant cry, but saw it move. She then wrapped it up in an old skirt and hid it in the bull rushes. She returned to her work at Frankel Bros'. establishment in the afternoon, and was employed there up to the time of her arrest. The jury, after a few minutes' deliberation, returned the following verdict:

"We find that deceased was given birth to by one Rachel Williams about the 8th inst.; that deceased was healthy in birth; that deceased came to his death, not as the result of disease, but as the result of neglect and exposure that he had received at the hands of his mother, when, with ordinary care, he would have lived."

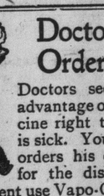
Mr. H. W. Maw appeared for the Crown. After the enquiry, Rachel Williams, the child's mother, was removed to the General Hospital in the ambulance for treatment. It is the intention of the Crown to prosecute the unfortunate woman on a charge of concealing the birth.

RETAIL GROCERS KICK.

Because Peddlers' Licenses Are Too Low—They Are Also After the Street Vendors.

Several important topics were discussed at the meeting last night of the Retail Grocers' Association, in St. George's Hall. Once more the early-closing of grocery and fruit stores was talked about, and the action of the City Council in enforcing the law yesterday was highly commended. They favored the increasing of the license fee to peddlers of foreign fruits and disapproved of the privileges extended to the Italians who have fruit stands at the Custom House and the trading stamp system. It was decided to send a delegate to the Congress of Grocers, to be held in Paris, France, this summer. The following were elected members: Messrs. F. Davis, A. Draper, C. Plumb and A. Ricard.

Samuel Winburn, who lives at 24 Thompson-street, fell down a flight of stairs at 104 Yonge-street, where he is employed, yesterday, and broke his ankle. He was taken to the Emergency Hospital in the ambulance.



Doctors Order It.

Doctors see at once the advantage of taking a medicine right to the part that is sick. You see the doctor orders his own medicines for the disease, and has his patient use Vapo-Cresolene at the same time. It destroys all germs of diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles, and other contagious diseases; and there is no remedy its equal for croup, sore throat and hard colds. You now see why it often cures whooping-cough in two or three days.

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit, including the Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a life-time, and a bottle of Cresolene, complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials free upon request. VAPO-CRESOLENE Co., 60 Wall St., New York, U.S.A.
