STRATHROY.—In buying a cow at a sale, supposed to be with calf and confirmed by two of the family that she was due to calve in the month of February and four days after proved not to be with calf, having been farrow for two years. She was sold on one year's time for $45. When the note is due how much could be kept back, or what steps should be taken to recover damages? Ans.—If the note has been transferred to an innocent holder, you must pay it in full when due and sue the seller of the cow for damages; but if he holds the note when due you may claim damages in reduction of the note. The amount of such damages in either case depends upon the evidence of the value of the cow without calf and can only be determined by a trial or an arbitrator in case the parties cannot agree upon the amount.

A Comparsion.

When you think of putting money in the bank, do you speak of the expense? Of course not, but at the same time you raise the question of expense when considering a life insurance policy. There is absolutely no expense in connection with an "Imperial Endowment Policy" as issued by the Imperial Life Assurance Company of Canada, Toronto, and it offers more advantages to the investor than a bank. You make an annual deposit, and at the end of the Endowment Period you withdraw those deposits improved at compound interest, or you can withdraw your account any time after three years. In addition to this, under an "Imperial Endowment Policy," the company will pay the full face value of the policy immediately on receipt of proof of your death. Compare the advantages a bank can offer with the advantages you secure under this form of policy, and which will you decide upon? If you wish to look into the plans of the Imperial Life, write, stating your age, or call on Geo. R. Hamilton, Manager Western Ontario, Huron and Erie Building, London.

Loss of Schooner Maud and Six of Her Crew —Petrel Seizes 52 Gill Nets, Property of Poachers.

Boston, Nov. 21.—The long overdue schooner Maud, of Beverly, coal-laden, from New York for her home port, has foundered at sea and her crew of six are believed to have perished. Capt. Hogan, of the schooner Mary A. Whalen, just in from a fishing trip, states that on Nov. 12 he sighted the Maud in a helpless condition. He offered to take the captain and crew off the vessel, but the offer was declined. The Whalen headed for the fishing grounds, and the Maud was within sight until the 13th, when another gale came on. On Sunday morning, about 60 miles southeast, half east, from Chatham, the wreckage of a vessel was seen, which is believed to be part of the schooner Maud.

SEIZED BY THE PETREL.

Amherstburg, Ont., Nov. 20.—The Dominion fisheries protection steamer Petrel arrived here last night. Capt. Dunn reports gathering in 52 gill nets set in Canadian waters east of Middle and Pelee islands. The Yankee poachers have been getting bold at this point for some time, and Capt. Dunn took a run out and gathered in the gill nets. The Ontario fisheries department has lately granted licenses to fishermen for gill nets along the international line, so the Americans will be kept on their own side of the line. The Petrel, which is doing great service, will not go into winter quarters for some time.

The Ada was abandoned Nov. 6, in latitude 43°, longitude 58°. Ferlan fell in with a burning vessel early Nov. 8, near where the Ada was abandoned.

CURED OF SEVERE PAIN IN RIGHT SIDE BY.... POWLEY'S LIQUIFIED OZONE

Stomach trouble of no matter how long standing is caused by some organ not performing its work properly. If there is a lack of the gastric juices for instance, the food you eat is not properly digested, becomes fermented, produces gas which presses against the heart and lungs and causes intense pain. That was the condition of Peter Coady of Montreal. He had stomach disorder and was cured by Powley's Liquified Ozone.

Read his own story.

Gentlemen: For nearly twenty years past I have been troubled with indigestion, and nearly all this time I have suffered with a severe pain in my right side, extending round to the center of my back. I had to lay off from my work, many times, the pain was so severe. I have had to give up several good situations, being unable to do the work, and have lost hundreds of dollars by not being able to hold my situations. I never expected to be cured, having tried all kinds of medicines, but never received any benefit from them.

On May 25th, 1901, I procured a bottle of Powley's Liquified Ozone and began taking it. I at once experienced relief and continued with the treatment. I have taken six large bottles and I feel a very different man. The pain has entirely left my side, and I now feel well and strong. My stomach retains my food, and I am able to do my work with greater ease than for years past. I am very thankful for it and attribute my cure entirely to the use of Powley's Liquified Ozone. I cannot thank you too much for your wonderful preparation and the good it has done me. I would not be without Ozone in my house.

(Signed) PETER COADY, 628 Cadieux St., Montreal, P. Q.

Powley's Liquified Ozone assists and strengthens any weak or deficient organ of the stomach. It stimulates the gastric glands healthily, insures a plentiful supply of resolvent liquids, so that the food is thoroughly digested. It makes your stomach take good out of the food you eat and makes your system strong. Powley's Liquified Ozone is liquid life.

RECIPROCITY CONVENTION!

American Trade Interests Should Consider Canada's Future.

Reciprocity Commission Proposed—Hon. John Charlton Urged Better Treatment of the Dominion.

Washington, Nov. 20.—The national reciprocity convention, which began here yesterday, finished its work tonight and adjourned sine die. Several important resolution embodying the views of the convention on reciprocity and other matters were adopted. They provide as follows:

"Resolved: That this convention recommends to congress the maintenance of the principle of protection to the home market, and to open up by reciprocity opportunities for increased foreign trade by special modifications of tariff, in special cases, but only when it can be done without injury to any of the home interests on manufacturing, commerce.

"That in order to ascertain the influence of any proposed treaty on our home interests this convention recommends to congress the establishment of a reciprocity commission, which shall be charged with the duty of investigating the condition of any industry and reporting the same to the executive and to congress for guidance in negotiating reciprocal trade agreements.

"This convention recommends to the requests of congress that a new department be created, to be called 'the department of commerce and industries,' the head of which shall be a member of the president's cabinet.

"That a reciprocity commission be created as a bureau of this new department."

A BOSTON VIEW.

The views of the Boston Chamber of Commerce on the subject of reciprocity with Canada were presented in a paper by George H. Coppins. There was, he said, from the conclusion that Canada should be included in any general scheme for reciprocal treaties, no logical escape. Our interests were more nearly touched by the future of that country than by the future of the South American states. Canadians last year had bought from us at the unparalleled rate of $20 per capita. If an impassable trade barrier was raised between the two countries Canada would face the changed condition with comparative ease, for her foreign markets are now established elsewhere, but with us the stoppage of trade would mean the closing down for want of orders of thousands of American factories and workshops. We should cultivate such a good customer, and not incur his hostility.

HON. JOHN CHARLTON.

Hon. John Charlton, a member of the Canadian Parliament, spoke earnestly in favor of some reasonable concessions in trade relations to meet the liberal treatment accorded the United States by Canada. Canada, he said, wanted reciprocity and free trade in the natural products of both countries. If the United States wanted to retain the trade with Canada it now holds she must give Canada some adequate and fair concessions for the privilege she now enjoys. Canada could not permit existing conditions to continue.

LUMBERMEN'S STAND.

Wm. Irvine, of Chippewa Falls, Wis., largely identified with the lumber interests, discussed the situation of the lumber interest on the question of reciprocity with Canada. He believed the lumbermen of the United States would voluntarily agree to the same concession proposed by the Canadian high joint commissioners, provided those who are engaged in the manufacture of things consumed by the lumbermen in the manufacture of lumber would agree to similar reduction of duty on their products. He also discussed the preferential duty given by Canada on goods imported from Great Britain, and in conclusion said:

"Before any negotiations for a reciprocal trade agreement with Canada be considered, the government of that country should take steps through its legislative body to place the products of the United States and of Great Britain, whether imported under the provisions of their tariff laws or under the provision of a treaty, upon an equality in its domestic market."

George J. Seabury, of Philadelphia, offered resolutions favoring subsidies to American shipping and construction of the isthmian canal, but the convention was not disposed to take up the question, and Mr. Seabury, in the interests of peace and harmony, withdrew the resolutions. This action met with the cordial acknowledgment of President Search, who said he felt the meeting had accomplished the object for which it gathered, and that to have added anything to that would have been a mistake.

CHILD ATE STRYCHNINE TABLETS.

New York, Nov. 21.—The police of Hoboken, N. J., are investigating the mystery of the death of 5-year-old Emeline Dal, who died on Tuesday of strychnine poisoning in a room of Busch's hotel, Hoboken. The child was the daughter of Harvey S. Dale, manager of a life insurance agency in Chicago. Mrs. Dale said she had not been feeling well, and had been taking strychnine tablets; that she accidentally left some of them lying on a dressing table, and the child ate three, thinking they were candy.

DISASTROUS COLLISION!

Seven Trainmen Killed and Seventeen Persons Hurt.

Two Trains Collide While Running at Full Speed — Somebody Blundered.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 20.—A terrible wreck occurred on the Santa Fe Railway, one mile west of Franconia, Arizona, a switch station, twenty miles east of Needles, Cal., early today. Seven trainmen were killed, three passengers and fourteen trainmen injured.

Limited trains east and westbound crashed together, while running at full speed. The eastbound train was drawn by two engines, while the westbound train had but one locomotive.

THREE ENGINES WRECKED.

The three engines were crushed and blown to pieces by an explosion which followed the collision. Both trains were made up of vestibule cars of the heaviest kind, and while they stood the terrific shock well and protected the passengers to a great extent, several of the cars took fire at once and burned up. The dining cars, one on each train, one Pullman and two composite cars were destroyed.

THE DEAD.

Following is a list of the casualties:

Dead—H. M. Elligott, engineer; P. P. Goldsmith, fireman; E. F. Barnhardt, barber; Walter Davorage, waiter; W. L. Case, fireman; A. H. Armitage, fireman; Sam Brown, waiter. The bodies of the latter three are missing.

ORDERS DISREGARDED.

The collision is said to have been due to a disregared order by the crew of the west-bound train. It would seem that the crew of the east-bound train had orders to take the siding at Franconia and await the passage of the west-bound flyer, which was running two hours late and trying to make up time. The east-bound train failed to reach the siding, and as the west-bound train did not wait for it, the two trains came together without warning and with

AN AWFUL CRASH.

The boiler of the west-bound engine is said to have exploded immediately after the crash, scalding to death those of the engine crews who had not been killed outright.

A scene of awful confusion followed the crash. The massive engine piled up in an indescribable mass of broken and twisted steel, while the scalding steam hung in a dense, suffocating cloud over the debris from which the agonizing cries of the injured and dying enginemen could be heard. The heavy Pullmans and composite cars jammed the dining and baggage cars upon the heated pile of debris, carrying death to the dining-car crews and setting the cars afire.

ONLY THREE PASSENGERS BADLY HURT.

From meager details gathered from the passengers, it is learned that the sleeping cars, with one or two exceptions, suffered slightly. So far as learned, only three passengers suffered injuries of a severe character, the awful results of the wreck being confined mostly to the train crews and employes of the dining car service.

At the Santa Fe headquarters, at Los Angeles, it was stated that from all appearances the blame rests with the crew of the westbound train. The westbound limited carried a full passenger list from eastern cities, but it appears none were injured.

FROM GASPE

Comes an Interesting Tale of How Easily and Simply a Man May Leave His Troubles Behind Him.

The sons of Gaspe are a hardy race. Nature has done much for them, and no more cheerful, buoyant, hearty men are to be found anywhere in this broad Dominion.

Occasionally, however, sickness will make its inroads in the most robust community.

A case in point is that of Mr. Joseph J. Arbour, of Perce, who for six months had been suffering severely with stomach trouble. Dyspepsia had him so tight in its grip, that as he says, he would be obliged to go for days without eating anything at all.

He was feeling very discouraged—Dyspepsia always makes a man feel blue—until one day a local druggist recommended Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, on the strength of what they had done for some of his customers.

Mr. Arbour resolved to use them, and now he is very glad that he did. He says:

"I suffered from Dyspepsia for six months. The pains were so great that I would be obliged to go without taking anything except a drink of milk, for days at a time.

"Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets were recommended to me, and I determined to try them. I used one box and was much relieved and bought another.

"Before the second box was all used I was well again. They completely cured me. I can eat anything, and feel better than I have for years.

"I can highly recommend Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets as a sure remedy for dyspepsia."

A remedy that can cure a case like Mr. Arbour's, and which has received the very high indorsation of the druggists and physicians, is surely one worth trying.

Do you still doubt? Doubt and fear are symptoms of stomach trouble. Be assured Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets never disappoint.

They have promptly relieved and permanently cured many cases just as bad and worse than yours. Then why delay and suffer on when there is a remedy at hand?

Every druggist sells them. Every druggist recommends them. Everyone who has tried them, tells the same story as Mr. Arbour. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are no experiment, and you are taking no chances. If you are suffering with Dyspepsia, or stomach trouble of any kind, Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure you.

Arrests for drunkenness in 129 cities of the United States are said to aggregate 312,000 during the last fiscal year.

GONE UP IN SMOKE

The Gerrie Homestead at Whitby Burned—A $150,000 Blaze at St. Pauls, Minn.

Whitby, Ont., Nov. 19.—The Gerrie homestead, familiarly known as "Rose Lodge," occupied by W. T. Barclay, surrogate registrar of Ontario county, and one of the historical houses of the town, was partially destroyed by fire tonight. Rose Lodge was built by the late Jas. H. Gerrie, who was mayor of Whitby when he died, over twenty years ago, and was a splendid mansion, surrounded by wooded grounds and gardens. It is owned by the Gerrie estate, comprising the four surviving members of the family. The loss, which will be considerable to both owners and occupants, is partially covered by insurance.

Wingham, Nov. 19.—A fire, which broke out this morning early in Sebastian's barber shop, destroyed the barber shop and Clarke's tailor shop, in the same building, and badly damaged Griffin's large grocery building adjoining. Part of Griffin's stock was removed, but his loss is considerable. All the losses are partly covered by insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 19.—Fire destroyed the People's Storage Building in the retail district tonight. A gasoline explosion seriously injured several firemen, two perhaps fatally. The loss is about $150,000; partially covered by insurance. The building was owned by Caroline E. Boardman, of Troy, N. Y. The damage to adjoining property amounted to about $10,000.

"Skunk of Civilization."

Mrs. P. I. Frey, Williamsport, who occasionally fills her husband's pulpit, last night delivered a sermon on "Popular Sins," and during her remarks said:

"One of the popular sins of the day is theater-going. Many an old deacon will sit and snore in the house of God, while the pastor is preaching the Word, but that same deacon will go to the theater, sit with his eyes wide open and split his sides laughing over some silly, nonsensical performance on the stage. Our young girls care more for their pretty ball gowns and the flowers that some dude has sent them than they do for the robe of righteousness or the approval of God Almighty.

"The drink evil has also crept into the church. Some of the best paying members of our churches have made their money through beer and whisky, and plenty of church members have wine and beer in their cellars. Tobacco using is a curse that should be wiped out. Tobacco smoking on the street is the skunk of civilization, and no Christian can honor God and indulge in it. The saddest sight that the angels have to look upon is the theater-going, dancing, wine-drinking, card-playing, church member."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

A Lake Captain's Experience.

Capt. McDonald, one of Kingston's most prominent mariners, writes: "For years I have battled with the agonies of Bronchitic Asthma, oftentimes so bad that I could not sleep for nights at a time. I spent hundreds of dollars on doctors and quacks without getting relief, but one dollar's worth of Catarrhozone perfectly cured me." The above testimonial was given two years ago, and as the Captain lately stated he was still quite free from Bronchitis. It proves Catarrhozone a veritable specific.
