WILL ERECT AN ART MUSEUM

Victorin Memorial Meeting Decides to Ask City to Commemorate the Late Queen in This Fashion.

CENTRAL SQUARE TOO EXPENSIVE.

Other Proposals Voted Down and the Matter is Now Settled—Sabine Versifies.

About sixty of Toronto's representative citizens met in the City Hall last night to settle the form of the proposed Victoria memorial. Col. Patterson was in the chair. Four proposals were submitted to the gathering: (1) Home for the aged and infirm, (2) a consumptive sanitarium, (3) an art museum and gallery, (4) the opening of Victoria-square in front of the Municipal Buildings.

The first two of these proposals, in spite of the eloquent advocacy of their supporters, were voted down. The struggle was between the art gallery and Victoria-square. At one time it looked as tho the latter would gain the day, owing to the convincing speech of Eugene O'Keefe, its chief advocate. But B. E. Walker pointed out the impracticability of this proposal, by reminding the gathering that the citizens would never pass a bylaw for the purchase of the grounds at an expense that could not be less than $350,000. The art museum, on the contrary, would not cost the city more than $25,000.

The poet Sabine put in an eloquent poetical plea for Victoria-square, picturing the delights of a greensward, whereon overworked swains and damsels might disport themselves.

In the teeth of Mr. Sabine's impassioned lyric, the scheme for the erection of an art museum was carried by a vote of 34 to 11.

Among those present were His Worship the Mayor, J. W. Flavelle, Frank Arnoldi, R. Y. Ellis, R. Birmingham, Dr. Barrick, James Mavor, Rev. J. F. Lewis, F. F. Manley, Rev. Armstrong Black, Rev. OTTAWA ANGLICAN SYNOD

Bishop Hamilton Complimented the Clergy and Spoke Cheerfully of the Outlook.

DENOUNCED SECULAR EDUCATION.

Finances of the Diocese Found to Be in Good Condition—Good Bookkeeping.

Ottawa, June 18.—At the Synod of the Anglican Diocese of Ottawa this morning Canon Hannington was elected clerical and J. Ford lay secretary.

Bishop Hamilton, in his annual address, spoke of the bright auspices of the Anglican Church at the opening of the 20th century. He alluded to the death of the Queen and the accession of the King, and to the death of Archbishop Lewis and the Very Rev. Dean Lauder. In vigorous terms he denounced the present system of secular education. It was impossible to train all children up alike. Divers characters required distinct training, and he hoped the day was not far distant when the education of the young would be in the hands of the churches. He protested against the present feeling in favor of shorter services, and presented the offer of Trinity College that the diocese should elect two clerical and two lay delegates to the board.

Complimented the Clergy.

The Bishop, referring to the clergy, said: "The clergy may not be all men of the highest intelligence, but they are industrious and aggressive."

The claim was made that the Church of England holds the greatest freedom, "No man's mind being put in a straight jacket in the Anglican Church."

Continuing the address, he stated that the laity realizes more than ever the important part they have in the worship in the Church. "England's Church trusts her laymen, hence the laymen love and trust her." The Bishop also stated that the English branch of the Catholic Church has no occasion or desire to imitate the Papal Church, all the former has being hers by heritage, inherited from the undivided Catholic Church, not from the Roman Church.

The Financial Standing.

The report of the Audit and Accounts Committee was first received and adopted. Considerable discussion arose as to the treatment of the subjects therein contained. It was finally decided, on motion of Chancellor Lewis, to adopt the report referring the various suggestions to the regular committee entitled to deal with them.

The report, in part, was as follows:

"The capital sum of all the funds appertaining to the Diocese of Ottawa, as shown by the balance sheet, amounts in round numbers to about $270,000. The administration of these funds and of the business connected with the diocese is carried on at a cost of something less than $2000 per annum, or, in other words, the administration of the diocese costs a little less than ¾ of 1 per cent. per annum.

The committee found, on examination, that everything appertaining to the accounts was admirable, and accurately kept. The method of account-keeping is founded on receipt books, kept in manifold, the receipts being now consecutively numbered, following a suggestion made by the committee last autumn."

The committee expressed pleasure at the fact that none of the income accounts were overdrawn.

Referring to the Widows' and Orphans' Fund, the committee drew attention to the fact that 27 of the 70 clergymen in the diocese are in arrears in contributing their appointed share. The amount of their arrears extends from $261.48 in one case to $1.02 in another.

Referring to the insurance question, the report said:

"Assuming that the value of the property thruout the diocese to be $500,000 and the insurance an aggregate sum of $400,000, and that the average loss fro mfire during the past ten years has been at the outside $20,000, it would follow that a blanket policy for $100,000 could probably be obtained direct from the insurance office by tender, which would tend greatly to reduce the cost to the several parishes.

Dad Was Near.

In whispers glowing, rapturous and fervent, they spoke of what would be when they twain became as one. Wrapped in each other's arms and the friendly darkness born of a purposely-extinguished chandelier, they recked not of the complaining creak of the overburdened chair which supported their united weight; neither heard they a suspicious sound which floated in thru the keyhole, a sound as of a fat and elderly man breathing heavily outside that aperture.

"Only think, sweetest sweeting! Just think, dearest darling!" he whispered, ecstatically, "won't we be happy when we're married and have a house of our own? Love, kisses, bliss ——"

"Rates! taxes! bills! servants! doctors! youngsters!" said a sepulchral voice, solemnly.

The chair was suddenly relieved of its double burden, the gas flared up brazenly; but when they opened the door a moment later, awkwardly bidding each other good night, the hall was empty, and they saw and heard nothing to account for the warning voice.

But far away up the staircase an elderly man, with a cruel smile on his face and a substantial corporation beneath his waistcoat, crept stealthily, in bestockinged understandings, to his night's resting place. —Tit-Bits.

Royal Marriage By Proxy.

One of the queerest features of court life in Europe is the marriage by proxy of royal personages. There are at the present moment no less than three royal ladies who have been thus wedded—the Queen Regent of Spain, the Dowager Queen of Portugal and the ex-Queen of Naples. Kings and reigning sovereigns are held to be too important personages to be married anywhere else than in their own dominions. On the other hand, it is held to be infra dignitate for a spinster princess of the blood who is about to blossom forth into a full fledged queen or empress to travel abroad in quest of a consort. In order to meet this difficulty the royal or imperial bridegroom delegates one of the principal nabies of the realm, who goes thru the religious and civil portion of the wedding ceremony in the capital of the bride's country on behalf of his master, making the responses for him and tendering his hand, as well as the ring, at the prescribed points of the ceremony. He then accompanies her to his master's dominions, acting as her chief escort. According to the ideas of the church, a ceremony of this kind is sufficiently binding upon the bride and upon the royal bridegroom to render any further ceremony, ecclesiastical or civil, superfluous, and when any additional religious function takes place it usually assumes the form of a "Te Deum" and a solemn benediction, attended by both husband and wife immediately on the arrival of the latter in the capital of her adopted country.

Fish Lines.

From The St. Nicholas.

A fish sat him down with a blink to think,
And dipped his fin thoughtfully into the ink,
Then finned this short note:
"Dear Tommy," he wrote,
"In response to your line of the other day
I hasten to thank you without delay,
But, had not that squirming, delicious young worm
Shown a set in his curves too suspiciously firm,
I might not be here
To write you, my dear
(What you may not believe, 'tis so monstrously queer),
That the wiggler you sent
With most kindly intent
Had swallowed a pin that was frightfully bent!

"You see—if I'd greedily taken a bite,
The pain and the shock would have finished me quite;
So, the next time you send,
My juvenile friend,
Just mark if the worm has a natural bend
Ere you dangle him temptingly down here to be
The death of some innocent young thing like me."

And he grinned as he used some dry sand for a blotter
(Ink dries rather slowly, you know, under water),
Then signed it in haste
And sealed it with paste.

It was growing quite dark and he's not time to waste,
So he posted it slyly, without wasting more,
On the crest of a ripple and ran toward shore;
Then, shaking his scales in a satisfied glow,
All shining and shimmering, sank down below,
Where he soon fell asleep
In an oyster bed deep,
With the green sheets of water his slumber to keep.

Don'ts.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox, in Detroit Journal.

Whatever your work and whatever its worth,
No matter how strong and clever,
Some one will sneer if you pause to hear,
And scoff at your best endeavor,
For the target art has a broad expanse,
And wherever you chance to hit it,
Tho close be your aim to the bullseye fame,
There are those who will never admit it,
Tho the house applauds while the artist plays,
And a smiling world adores him,
Somebody is there with an ennuied air
To say that the acting bores him.
For the tower of art has a lofty spire,
With many a stair and landing,
And those who climb seem small ofttime
To one at the bottom standing.
So work along in your chosen niche
With a steady purpose to nerve you;
Let nothing men say who pass your way
Relax your courage or swerve you.
The idle will flock by the Temple of Art
For just the pleasure of gazing,
But climb to the top and do not stop,
Tho they may not be all praising.

The Bearing Rein.

There are few more pronounced and picturesque centres o ffashion than Hyde Park at the meeting of the Coaching Club, but for a lover of horses it was difficult not to take exception to one example of modern custom as there displayed. THEY DO IT.

People Quit Coffee and Get Well on Postum Food Coffee.

A man in Milford, Ind., says he did not quit drinking coffee because he thought it hurt him, but because he found a morning beverage he liked better in Postum Food Coffee, but, to his wonder and surprise, he found in a few weeks all of the old symptoms of sickness had left him.

He had been greatly troubled with his stomach and heart, also with what is called "water brash," and dull headaches "which made me very irritable and quick-tempered."

All of these symptoms disappeared, and he discovered, in spite of all his previous theories, that coffee was really the cause of his troubles, and the leaving off of coffee and taking on Postum Food Coffee brought about a perfect cure.

He speaks, also, of Mrs. Josephine Kelly, living at Elkhart, Ind. Says she was afflicted much as he was, but had become more emaciated than he. So she quit drinking coffee and took on Postum Food Coffee. She is now a healthy and robust lady, and willing to make affidavit that Postum Food Coffee saved her.

The gentleman from Milford speaks also of Thomas McDonald as having recovered by using Postum. It can be had at all grocers. A good cup of Postum cannot be made unless it is boiled long enough to bring out the flavor, and food value, then it is delicious.

THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

General Assembly at Ottawa Yesterday Discussed Young People's Societies.

SOME DIFFERENCE OF OPINION.

Fears of a Line of Cleavage—Financial Reports Show a Good State of Affairs.

Ottawa, June 18.—The delegates to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church had a diversion this morning. Rev. Dr. Warden, the Moderator, sounded the fire alarm and the brigade was turned out for the entertainment of the commissioners.

The first business taken up was a report from the committee on the utilization of the services of Rev. Dr. Campbell, Perth, read by Prof. Bryce of Winnipeg. The report recommended that Dr. Campbell be continued as agent to the century fund up to the time of the meeting of the next General Assembly. The committee suggested that during the year Dr. Campbell be engaged in collecting subscriptions already made and tabulating and publishing returns, also in canvassing Manitoba, the Northwest Territories, British Columbia and other regions not yet even taken. Further, it was recommended that the Century Fund Committee be instructed to take into consideration what the position of Dr. Campbell may be after the next General Assembly.

The report was adopted.

The Young People.

Rev. Alfred Gandier presented the report of the young people's societies. He said the reports from those societies were less complete this year than ever, and the statistics were altogether inadequate to represent the actual state of affairs. He thought it would be necessary to add one-third to the membership in order to arrive at a correct estimate of the membership of the church. Mr. Gandier thought there should be unity of name as well as unity of aim and effort in the work of the young people. He also raised the point whether the time had not come to move along denominational lines and organize the young people as the Methodists and Baptists were organized. The young people were loyal to the Presbyterian Church, but there was not so much esprit de corps among young Presbyterians as there was among the young people of other churches. Ministers had a duty to perform in directing the young people to a class of reading which would strengthen their minds and enrich their character, and give them a worthy conception of the great periods in the history of Christ's church upon earth. At present the tendency of the young people was too much towards useless, shallow fiction. He closed by moving the adoption of the report.

Rev. Mr. Henderson of Hensall seconded the motion. He gave an instance showing discrepancy in the returns, and expressed the belief that the statistics were very incomplete. There should be unification of the young people's work under wise leadership, and it should be brought into closer touch with the church.

A Note of Warning.

Rev. Dr. Gregg, Toronto, said that while young people's societies had done a vast amount of good, there was a tendency to create a line of cleavage between old and young, which was not desirable. The young people's societies, from their strength and influence, exerted much weight in the selection of a pastor, so much so that the opinion of the older members of the congregation was very much ignored. Moreover, there were so many meetings of young people's societies during the week that they tended to disorganize family life. Ultimately the older people would be forced to organize in order to conserve their interests.

Rev. J. S. Conning, Walkerton, said that if the older members of the church would attend the young people's meetings they would be cordially welcomed. The church should do what it could to stay the decreasing interest in young societies. There were great opportunities for work in such organizations and therefore the church should exercise keen oversight.

Rev. Dr. Hogg opposed withdrawing from affiliation with the Christian Endeavor Society, and the Moderator said it was not proposed to do so.

Decrease of 12,000.

Dr. Johnson of London expressed disappointment with the report of the committee and said it did not seem to realize the seriousness of the situation. He quoted figures to show a decrease of 12,000 members in five years. This was not caused by inaccurate returns, but a spiritual condition which the superficial suggestions of the committee fail to meet. He agreed with Dr. Gregg that there is too much cleavage in the church. He moved an additional suggestion that the committee consider whether or not it would not be better to have the young people's societies brought under the supervision of the Sunday School Committee.

Rev. Dr. Somerville said he knew societies where the members balloted to see whether their pastor should be admitted as a member or not.

The Christian Endeavor Society found an ardent champion in Dr. Dickson of Galt and Rev. Anderson Rogers of New Glasgow. The former said he was pained at the display of ignorance made about the C. E. movement.

After a discussion which lasted until 12 o'clock, Dr. Johnson's amendment was defeated, and the recommendations of the committee were adopted.

Financial Reports.

Mr. E. A. McCurdy presented the Finance Committee's report for the Eastern section, showing contributions considerably in excess of those of the previous year. This the committee regards as "particularly gratifying, in view of the special effort on behalf of the Century Fund, and of the appeals which have been made to them and responded to for other and worthy objects."

The balance sheet shows a sum of $1,425.80 to the committee's credit. The cost of administration for the ordinary schemes was 3.37 per cent., while, by including the Century Fund and Indian Famine Fund receipts, it was only 2.31 per cent.

The receipts for the year, compared with those of the preceding year, are shown by the following table:

	1899-1900.	1900-1901.

The Western Section.

Mr. George Keith of Toronto presented the report for the Western section. Regarding the Century Fund, the report says: "It was generally expected that the effort made in connection with the Century Fund would affect somewhat seriously the ordinary contributions for the schemes of the church. It is, therefore, gratifying to be able to report that nearly all the schemes closed the year free from debt. The amount received for the regular schemes, excluding the Century Fund, was $89,094.25 in excess of last year. This is mainly owing to a large bequest received for Knox College. Including interest on investments, repayment of loans, etc., the actual receipts by Rev. Dr. Warden in the Toronto office exceeded one million dollars." The report also says that "the success of the Century Fund must be gratifying to the whole church. It is confidently believed that it will tend to increase the general scale of giving thruout the country, and that this will be shown in future years in largely-increased contributions to our educational, missionary and benevolent schemes." The balance-sheet shows a sum of $528,918.20 to the credit of the committee, invested in the various funds for Knox College, missions, extensions and ministers' widows and orphans.

"It is worthy of remark that the cost of administering the missionary and benevolent work of the church was, last year, under 3 per cent. Included in this expense is the salary of agent, secretaries, expenses of committees, office rent, office staff, printing, stationery, postage and everything that properly pertains to administration."

The receipts of the year from congregations, etc., were as follows:

Rev. J. C. Madill.

The General Assembly Committee on Applications to Receive Ministers From Other Churches has been considering the case of Rev. J. C. Madill, and will report in favor of his application, if he can produce letters of disjunction and recommendation from the Congregational Church.

Augmentation Committee.

The Augmentation Committee's report took up the afternoon meeting of the General Assembly, and at night the report on Church Life and Work. A recommendation to appointment of Sunday school missionaries was presented by Rev. Dr. Bryce, convener of the committee appointed to consider the best means of promoting Sunday school work. The matter will come up later.

The proposal is that a Sunday school missionary be appointed for the Maritime Provinces, another for Quebec and Ontario, and a third for the West, the salaries of the two former to be $1000 a year and expenses, and for the latter $1200 and expenses, the money to come from the Children's Day Fund.

The report of the Eastern section of the Augmentation Fund, thru Rev. J. S. Sutherland of Halifax, showed that grants were made to 55 congregations, amounting to $8224, and two became self-supporting. Forty more are on the list this year.

The report of the Western section was read by Rev. Dr. Lyle of Hamilton, showing that 149 congregations received $22,071, 21 became self-supporting, 11 mission congregations were taken on the augmentation list. An appeal for more generous gifts to this fund was made by Rev. Dr. Robertson, Rev. J. W. McMillan, Lindsay; Hugh McKellar, Glengarry; Rev. John Chisholm, Kempville, and others. A Proposal to appoint an agent to stir up the churches to increased gifts, but it was voted down and the report was carried.

The Assembly adopted a resolution calling upon the church to give more prominence to the Widows' and Orphans' Fund, and to the Aged and Infirm Ministers' Fund.

At the evening sedurunt, the report of the Widows' and Orphans' Fund was received. It showed a deficit of $3302, and was presented by Mr. A. MacMurchy of Toronto.

The report in connection with the Church of Scotland was read by Rev. Dr. Campbell, clerk of the Assembly. This fund has assets worth $113,484. During the year the receipts were $25,529.

The report on Church Life and Work was presented by the Rev. Dr. McLeod of Barrie, and was seconded by Dr. Kilpatrick of Winnipeg. On the whole the report showed a hopeful tone. Speaking of the temperance question, Dr. McLeod deprecated criticism of the Federal and Provincial governments, for any alleged delays in giving effect to temperance legislation, saying that a calm discussion of the subject would be the greatest factor in bringing about a settlement.

BATTLE FOR MOLINEUX'S LIFE.

Lawyers of Note in the Court of Appeals at Buffalo, Struggling Over Alleged Murderer.

Buffalo, June 18.—The final direct verbal plea for another chance before a jury for Roland B. Molineux, the alleged poisoner of Mrs. Katherine J. Adams and Henry C. Barnet, and the first half of the arraignment of the people in resistance were heard by the Court of Appeals to-day. John G. Milburn, champion of the cause of young Molineux, spoke from 10 until 11.40 o'clock, and was succeeded by former U. S. Senator David B. Hill, who held the attention of the court until 1 o'clock, when the day at 2 o'clock, in an address in opposition to the re-trial of the case. Hill will close by noon to-morrow, and with a brief reply for the appellant the case will be submitted to the judgment of the court. It was a day of oratory, stirred at times to the thrilling point with touches of invective.

WILL STINSON A WINNER.

Captured a $2500 Prize in the 30-Mile Race at Boston.

Boston, June 17.—Will Stimson won the 30 mile motor-paced race at Charles River Park this afternoon. Johnny Nelson was second, and Jimmy Michael was two miles in the rear. Nelson was booked to win, but he went so fast that his motor tandem simply slipped from beneath his pacemakers. They went down in a heap, and he fell himself, lost precious seconds in changing to another wheel, and in picking up his second motor tandem. Stinson, too, had hard luck. Just when he had the race apparently secure, his motor tandem failed him and he almost lost all he had gained from Nelson, but he had a whole skin and no bruises, and he rode with comparative ease into first money, which was worth nearly $2,500.

The tandem teams that furnished the spills consisted of E. D. Stevens of Buffalo, steersman, and E. T. Pickard, Nelson's trainer. Stevens was the worst injured. Pickard was bruised, yet jumped upon the rear end of another tandem, picked up Nelson, as soon as the latter had remounted, and then turned him over to another set of pacemakers, Pierce and Marks, who carried him for the rest of the race. Nelson made one new world's competitive record, that for seven miles, in 10.47 3-5.

From the time of Nelson's accident, up to the twenty-fourth mile, it was considered a foregone conclusion that Stinson would win. At that point Stinson's motor failed. Then Nelson got back all but half a lap of what he had lost. Stinson went out and overhauled Nelson in time, and at the finish was half a mile adead.

When Some Other Wets the Walk.

Chicago Record Herald.

She stands upon the grassy lawn and lightly swings the hose,
And smiles to see the water fly, not caring where it goes.
She makes the walk all wet and ducks the grocer's boy and sees
Her neighbors passing, with their skirts held almost to their knees.
She litl ecares how wet they get who have to pass that way,
And, hearing many strangers scold, she laughs at what they say.

* * *

Dressed in her daintiest, she goes to call on Mrs. Brown—
Good gracious! There's a spurting hose! There's thunder in her frown,
The walk is wet, she lifts her skirts and goes upon her heels,
And doesn't try at all to hide the feelings that she feels,
"Some people think but of themselves!" Hate moves her to declare;
"Alas, the pity that such boors are always everywhere!"

Vaudeville at Hanlan's Point.

The refined vaudeville performance at Hanlan's Point is amusing thousands of people this week. The clever act of the Great Gays is a mystery to all, the trunk feat being one to puzzle all minds. The Zoellers, in a sensational aerial act; Dawson and Booth, comedy character artists; Angwesettas, comedy acrobats; Collins and Madill, musical entertainers, and the Telephone Trio, constitute a clever aggregation of performers. The show will be given every afternoon and evening during the week.

Junction School Board Considers Whether Drill Instructor or Principal Takes Precedence.

IS DRILL THE CHIEF OBJECT?

Successful Concert of Home Circle No. 38—Other District News Tersely Told.

Toronto Junction, June 18.—The members of the Public School Board considered seriously to-night whether the drill instructor or the principal of the school, took precedence in arranging the classes for drill. Last year, the drill instructor arranged his companies according to the size of the boys. This interfered with the classes, as each company was composed of boys from different forms. This year, Principal Wilson of the Annette-street School arranged the companies to suit his classes and put the boys of the second and third forms into one company, and the boys of the fourth form into the other. The question would probably never have become debatable had not some kind lady presented a flag to the company most efficient in their drill. The boys of No. 5 Company, Annette-street, won this flag last year. Now there is jealousy among the boys, because some of those who helped to win the flag have been put in No. 2 Company and are not permitted to walk behind the flag they helped to win. The question resolves itself into whether drill or learning is what the boys are sent to school for, and the answer of Trustee Joy to Trustee Mavety to-night signified that learning was the chief object, and that it was hard to get the boys to take an interest in drill, as some got behind the fence, others stayed in school and others joined the ranks when the drill instructor came. Miss Sarah B. Thomson was appointed as representative on the Board of Examiners for entrance examinations, and the reports from Carlton, St. Clair-avenue and Annette-street showed that there are 1250 pupils on the school roll.
