Prorogation of Dominion Parliament.

THE first session of the sixth Parliament of the Dominion of Canada was prorogued by His Excellency the Governor General at eight o'clock on Thursday afternoon last, the 23rd inst. His Excellency was received with the usual military honors on his arrival at the Parliament Buildings; and having taken his seat upon the throne, dispatched the gentleman Usher of the Black Rod to summon "Her Majesty's faithful Commoners." The latter, in obedience to His Excellency's summons, appeared at the bar of the Senate Chamber, headed by their Speaker. The Governor General was then pleased to prorogue both branches of Parliament with the following

SPEECH:

Honorable gentlemen of the Senate:
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

In relieving you from further attendance in Parliament I desire to convey to you my appreciation of the diligence and earnestness which you have shown in the performance of your important duties. I thank you in the Queen's name for the cordial and affectionate congratulations you have offered to Her Majesty on the completion of the fiftieth anniversary of her happy reign. I have taken care to transmit your loyal address to be laid at the foot of the throne.

The readjustment of the tariff for the purpose of further developing our home industries upon principles which have been received with such marked acceptance by the people of Canada, will, it is confidently expected, in an especial manner encourage the working of our vast mines of iron and coal and promote the production within our own country of all the more important iron manufactures. The establishment of a department of trade and commerce under the supervision of a responsible minister and the measures you have passed for the better organization of other departments of government will, I trust, tend to aid in the extension of our home and foreign trade, as well as to improve the efficiency of the foreign service.

The numerous acts relating to railway and other industrial enterprises to which I have given her Majesty's assent indicate a steady growth in the national progress of the Dominion, and your liberal appropriation for the construction of the Sault Ste Marie canal ensures its completion at an early period.

Our agricultural population will, I am sure, learn with much pleasure of the provision you have made for the maintenance of the experimental farm in this vicinity, and the establishment of auxiliary stations in the several Provinces.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

In her Majesty's name I thank you for the provision you have made for the requirements of the public service. I shall see that is applied with due regard to economy.

Honorable gentlemen of the Senate:
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

I trust under the blessing of Almighty God the present promise of an abundant harvest may be fully realized and that when we meet again I shall be able to congratulate you on a still further increase in the general prosperity of the country. Meanwhile I bid you farewell.

The Session just closed, although not long, has, in many respects, been a very important one. The tariff changes introduced, particularly those affecting the iron duties, must stimulate home industries, and eventually result in building up within our own country extensive iron and steel manufactories. The creation of the Departments of Trade and Commerce and the Solicitor Generalship, and the reorganization of Government on the plan of the Imperial Cabinet, will, no doubt, prove of very great advantage in the despatch of business, while the appropriation necessary for the completion of the Sault Ste. Marie Canal is a matter for national congratulation.

The debating talent of the new House, particularly on the Government side, seems to equal, if it does not surpass, that of any former Parliament. The Opposition, severely worsted in the late election campaign, signally collapsed after the meeting of Parliament; and, on the breakdown and subsequent retirement of Mr. Blake, they seem to have become completely demoralized.

The session was not without its sad episode. Three deaths occurred among the members during two months, two of them very sudden. Mr. Moffatt, of Restigouche, and Mr. Campbell, of Digby, were taken away in the prime of life; while Mr. Campbell, of Renfrew, a man advanced in years, died after a severe illness of some duration.

Sir John Macdonald, the veteran Premier, bears his years lightly, and appears to be in excellent health and full of life and action. During the whole session he was most punctual in his attendance, not having been one day absent from the House, sitting out the long-night sessions with marvelous endurance. May he be long spared to guide the destines of this Canada of Ours.

The Jubilee Celebrations.

ALTHOUGH we, in this Province, have set apart the 30th inst. and the 1st of July as days on which to celebrate the Queen's Jubilee, the 21st inst. was the fiftieth anniversary of Her Majesty's accession to the throne. On that day the event was celebrated with great pomp and splendor in Great Britain, Australia, many parts of Canada, in the United States and all over the world. The grandest celebration of all took place, as a matter of course, in London. Great preparations had been made for the occasion and the crowds of people far surpassed in size and number anything that had ever been seen in the world's metropolis. Carriages and pedestrians had been moving all night towards the localities through which the Royal Procession was expected to pass, and before daylight every possible point of vantage along the route to Westminster was taken. By nine o'clock a brilliant throng had assembled in Westminster Abbey and every available seat in the venerable building was occupied. The Marquis of Salisbury, Prime Minister, and Mr. Gladstone were cheered when they entered the Abbey.

Shortly after eleven o'clock the Queen's carriage emerged from the gates of Buckingham Palace. At sight of her the air was rent with cheers by thousands of voices, mingled with the music of the numerous military bands stationed in front of the Palace. The Prince of Wales, the Duke of Edinborough and the Duke of Connaught, besides the Marquis of Lorne, the Princes of Germany and the young Princes, Her Majesty's grandsons, all in full uniform rode beside her coach as a body gaurd. All the carriages containing royal and distinguished personages were of the most gorgeous kind, and the horses were richly caparisoned. All along the route of procession the greatest enthusiasm was manifested by the multitude when Her Majesty appeared. After the services in Westminster Abbey, the Queen returned by a somewhat different route, to Buckingham Palace. Our space forbids us giving but the merest outline of the proceedings. In St. John and Halifax the celebrations were very fine, being characterized by orations, musical entertainments, torchlight processions, illuminations, &c.

Death of Monsignor Power.

THE Very Reverend Monsignor Power, of Halifax, died suddenly in that city, on Tuesday, the 21st inst. Something over two months ago, while on his way to the Sacred Heart Convent, he was suddenly seized with a spasm, which caused difficulty in breathing. Having recovered from his first attack, an occasional spasm came on him from time to time; but under the treatment of Doctors Ternan and Farrell he had apparently recovered his wonted strength. On Monday he sang a Requiem Mass and chanted the office for the dead. Before retiring on Monday night he requested Father Madden to call him at a quarter past six on the following morning, as he had to perform a marriage ceremony. When Father Madden came to call him on Tuesday morning he found him already up. He afterwards said Mass and married a couple. A short time after breakfast he went down town to get shaved, as was his daily custom while in the city. On his return his strength failed him, and he had to be assisted to a cab and driven to the Glebe House. Having reached his room he lay down, and said to his brother priests and the Archbishop, who were present, that he was about to die, and asked for the last rites of the Church. He was accordingly anointed and prepared for death; and scarcely had the last Sacraments been administered when he passed quietly away.

Monsignor Power was a native of Halifax, and studied in St. Mary's College in that city, and subsequently in Carlow College, Ireland. His priestly labors, extending over a period of thirty-six years, were in the city of his birth. During all this time he endeared himself to the people of Halifax, Protestant as well as Catholic, by his genial and kindly disposition and his unbounded generosity to the poor. He had, more than once, been administrator of the diocese, discharging the onerous duties of that office with rare prudence and judgment. Just six years ago the Pope conferred the purple upon him and raised him to the dignity of Monsignor. Last year, on the occasion of the celebration of the Silver Jubilee of our Bishop, Monsignor Power was one of the visiting prelates.

On Thursday morning the solemn obsequies over the dead priest's remains took place in St. Mary's Cathedral, which was crowded to suffocation. His Grace the Archbishop preached an appropriate and touching sermon; the immense funeral cortege then slowly wended its way to Holy Cross Cemetery.

Our Schools.

Now that the season of college and school commencements has arrived, it may not be amiss to say a word concerning some of the institutions of learning in our midst. The closing exercises of St. Dunstan's College, a report of which appears in another column, sufficiently indicate that this institution is doing a noble work in the cause of Christian education. The examiners bore unanimous and unqualified testimony to the thoroughness of the instruction imparted in the languages, mathematics and sciences, as evinced by the students in their familiarity with these various branches. The valedictory address of Mr. Mclellan leaves no doubt as to the fact that rhetoric and oratory receive special care in the College curriculum.

The institution is now on a solid basis, and is destined to flourish, therefore all who possibly can, should avail themselves of the educational advantages which it affords.

The Convent de Notre Dame is one of the finest educational establishments in the Maritime Provinces, and would do credit to a much larger city than Charlottetown. Under the guidance of the good nuns of the Congregation de Notre Dame, this institution enjoys most unexceptionable advantages for the training of young ladies. We trust the number of its pupils may go on increasing from year to year.

St. Joseph's Convent, conducted also by the Nuns of the Congregation de Notre Dame, is worthy of the highest praise for the great and lasting benefits it has conferred on the community, in educating and training in the ways of Christian perfection, at a very moderate cost, a large number of young ladies.

Then there is St. Patrick's School, where our young boys receive thorough and sound instruction in all the branches of a useful education. We think the people of this community have every reason to congratulate themselves on the fact that so many opportunities of obtaining a first-class education are placed within easy reach of their children. They should not, therefore, fail to take advantage of these opportunities, and to send those, with whose education they are entrusted, to one or other of these schools.

Convent de Notre Dame.

THE closing exercises of the above named institution for the scholastic year just past, took place in the grand hall of the Convent on Wednesday last, the 22nd inst. There were present on the occasion His Lordship the Bishop, Very Rev. James McDonald, V. G., Revds, Pius McPhee, Angus McDonald, James Ænaes McDonald, D. F., A. J. and Gregory McDonald, S. Boudreault, L. McDonald, D. J. Gillis, J. C. McDonald, Drs. Chaisson, Grant and O'Ryan, A. J. McIntyre, F. X. Gallant, J. C. McLean and E. P. Boyd; Hon. W. W. Sullivan, P. Blake, Esq., M. P. P., Professor Caven, James Byrne, Esq., C C., Edward Roche, Esq., besides a very large number of ladies and gentlemen, friends of the institution and relatives and friends of the pupils. The stage was suitably decorated and the walls were hung with paintings in oil and water colors, the work of the pupils. Elevated seats had been arranged on the back and sides of the spacious stage, which were occupied by the pupils attired in robes of snowy whiteness. The distribution of prizes was interspersed with recitations, and vocal and instrumental music of a very high order. The valedictory address read by Miss Winnie Blake was well written and excellently read; it breathed sentiments of the purest love and gratitude to the good nuns in charge of the institution for their christian training and their never-ceasing care of those committed to their charge. It contained a feeling allusion to His Lordship's recent illness and expressed the deepest thankfulness at his recovery.

His Lordship the Bishop briefly addressed the pupils, expressing the great satisfaction it afforded him at all times to be present at exercises of this kind, and recommending them to remember through life the christian instruction received and the good example shown them while within the walls of their Alma Mater. "God Save the Queen" was then played and the vast audience dispersed. Owing to the crowded condition of our columns we are obliged to hold over the prize list till next week.

City Schools' Examination.

The midsummer examinations of the City Public Schools commenced on Monday last, the 27th inst. The first school examined was St. Patrick's, Queen Square, of which Mr. John P. Wickham is Principal. There were present on the occasion His Honor the Leiutenant Governor, W. E. Dawson, Esq., chairman, Messrs. John Ings, Thomas Handrahan, Donald Farquharson and Thomas Foley, all of the city school board; P. Blake, Esq., M. P. P., Professors Caven and Lepage of the Prince of Wales College, D. Montgomery, Esq., Supt. of Education, Mr. John McSwain, Principal of the Model School, Edward Roche, Esq., Legislative Librarian, Hon. D. Laird, Revds. F. X. Gallant and Joseph McLean, Revds. W. R. Frame and James Carruthers, James D. Mason, Esq., and Mrs. Mason, F. P. McCarron, C. C., and several other ladies and gentlemen. The different classes were examined by Professor Caven and Lepage, D. Montgomery and Edward Roche Esqs., and Mr. McSwain. After the examinations the pupils all assembled in the main hall when the following programme was excellently carried out, after which the distribution of medals, prizes and diplomas took place:

1. Opening Song—"The Harp that once through Tara's Hall."
2. Recitations—1st, John Payne, 2nd. Eddie Rooney, 3rd. Five Pupils.
3. Song—"Gently Gliding"
4. Declamation—By Asa J. Merril.
5. Recitation—By Three Pupils.
6. Recitation—By Edward Whelan Hughes.
7. Song—"Cricket on the Hearth," by Twelve Pupils.
8. Recitation—By Arthur Trainor.
9. Recitation—By Arthur Dillon.
10. Song—"The Village Blacksmith."
11. Dialogue—"Making Poetry."
12. Recitation—By Willie Trainor.
13. "Song—March Away," "God Save the Queen."

After the distribution brief addresses were delivered by the Lieutenant Governor, Mr. Dawson, Professor Caven, Mr. Laird, Mr. Blake, Rev. Father Gallant and Rev. Mr. Frame. All expressed themselves highly pleased with the manner in which the exercises had been conducted, as it was a proof of the thorough and satisfactory work done during the year just past. The dicipline, progress and general efficiency of the school elicited from them the highest praise for Principal Wickham and his worthy assistants. We will give the prize list next week.

SOME time ago, a correspondent furnished us with the following particulars of the capture of a huge bear in the vicinity of Harmony Station, which, through inadvertency did not appear in our columns last week. It appears that Bruin had, during the spring, been committing serious depredations among the flocks of this portion of the country, and preparations had been made to cut short his rapacious career. Accordingly, on a certain night, his arrival at his usual haunt of plunder was awaited by Messrs. Martin, J. McCarthy, Thomas Grinsell, John McPhee and D. and G. Leslie. Towards daylight, to the delight of those who were awaiting him, the terror of the sheepfold arrived and was received with a shower of lead. After being wounded he travelled about three quarters of a mile, but his gory tracks discovered his whereabouts to the posse who soon came upon him. A shot from Mr. McCarthy's unerring rifle put an end to his existence, to the great relief of the neighborhood; when stretched to his full length, he measured eight feet and a half from snout to rear paws, and his height is said to have been over four feet.

St. Dunstan's College.

The public examination and distribution of prizes for the academic year just closed, took place at St. Dunstan's College on Thursday, the 23rd inst. During the forenoon the different classes were examined by His Lordship the Bishop, the Very Rev. James McDonald, V. G., Revds. Angus and A. J. McDonald, Revd. Drs. Walker, Chaisson and Grant, Rev. Fathers Boyd and Mahar, and many other members of the Rev. Clergy, besides Professor Caven, Edward Roche, Esq., Mr. John McSwain and Dr. Conroy. The manner in which the students of the different classes acquitted themselves was creditable in the highest degree and reflects the greatest honor on the professors of the institution, while it proves that the work of the past year has been of the most thorough kind.

At three oclock in the afternoon all assembled in the main hall of the College which was suitably decorated for the occasion, the walls being covered with many specimens of the students work in painting and drawing. Besides His Lordship and the Rev. Clergymen and gentlemen already mentioned, there were present His Honor the Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. McDonald; Owen Connolly, Esq. and Mrs. Connolly; Dr. McLeod and Mrs. McLeod; James Byrne, Esq., C. C., and Mrs. Byrne, and a numerous throng of visitors and friends of the institution, besides parents and relatives of the students. The following programme was admirably carried out:

1. Song and chorus "Come into the summer wood:" College Glee Club
2. Distribution to preparatory course.
3. Instrumental duet—J. T. Gallant and F Quinn.
4. Distribution of prizes to 3rd class.
5. Song and chorus—"Canadian boat song"—Glee Club.
6. Distribution to 1st and 2nd classes.
7. Piano solo—"Return of the Brave"—J. T. Gallant
8. Distribution of prizes to philosophy class, and diplomas to commercial class.
9. Valedictory by Mr. A. P. McLellan.
10. Vacation Song—Glee Club.

The prizes were distributed to the successful students by His Honor the Lieutenant Governor. After the distribution his Lordship the Bishop addressed the students. He said that the day's exercises gave him a greater amount of pleasure than had ever been afforded him on a similar occasion. The present flourishing condition of the college was a source of the highest satisfaction to him; and he trusted, as many as possible would hereafter avail themselves of the advantages which the institution afforded, of receiving a sound, thorough and Christian education. Those who were now leaving the college would be regarded as children who had gone forth from the house of their parents to take their place in the battle of life. If they would but faithfully treasure up the lessons of wisdom and christian piety which they had been taught within the walls of their alma mater all would be well.

His Honor Lieutenant Governor McDonald said it afforded him much pleasure to add a word to what had already been said by His Lordship. Judging from all that had come under his observation, he believed the last year had been the most successful in the history of the college. He was convinced from what he had seen that both the Professors and students had not been idle during the year. The healthy appearance of the students was strongly in favor of the presumption that the cook's duties had been more onerous than those of the attending physician. He made a pleasing allusion to the success which had attended the athletic feats, and said this was a proof that while their mental faculties were developed, their physical training had not been neglected. Edward Roche, Esq., being called for, said the examinations in which he had participated on this occasion, were first-class in every respect. He had personal knowledge of the fact that the papers submitted in mathematics had been anything but easy, yet the answers given were satisfactory in the highest degree.

Professor Caven on rising, humorously referred to Mr. Roche's love for mathematics. The students in the English and Latin classes which he had examined, had proved themselves to be thoroughly acquainted with the subjects which they were studying. He said he considered himself honored in being an examiner. In conclusion he advised the students, during the vacation, to lay aside all their books with the exception of those necessary for their devotional exercises.

Rev. Father Boyd referring to his former connection with the college, said it was pleasing to awaken the memory of those happy days. During the last year, he was pleased to observe the study of mental philosophy had been made a part of the college course. In the difficult examinations to which they had been subjected the students had shown themselves to be at home. It afforded him much pleasure to notice that the boys from the archdiocese of Halifax, to which he was now attached, had acquitted themselves in a very creditable manner.

The Rev. Rector made the pleasing announcement that Mr. D O'M. Reddin, Jr., would give a gold medal to be competed for next year. It is needless to remark that this announcement was received with applause.

The exercises were brought to a close by all present rising and joining in singing "God Save the Queen."

DUBLIN, June 27—Prince Albert Victor and Prince George of Wales came here to day to attend the ceremonies in St Patrick's Cathedral, to-morrow, in honor of the Queen's Jubilee at Kingston. They were received with great enthusiasm. The Marquis of Londonderry, the Irish Viceroy, met them. The town commissioners presented them with an address. On their arrival here they were presented with an address of welcome by the Conservative citizens. Among the sentiments expressed was: "We welcome the grandsons of Her Majesty the Queen, under whom Ireland has enjoyed the blessings of just law, true liberty and constitutional government." Prince Albert Victor responded and then he and his brother, with the party escort, proceeded to the vice-regal lodge. During the journey through the streets, there was much cheering by the crowd. Some cries of "Coercion," or an occasional cheering for Parnell. The Corporation Council of Dublin will hold aloof from participation in the celebration. Business is being conducted as usual. Dublin does not seem to be taking much of a holiday over the arrival of the princes. There is sufficient display of bunting in the streets and bustle among the loyalists to indicate there is a public interest in the event.

Dominion Parliament.

The attention of the House during the first days of last week, was for the most part, occupied with finishing up the supply.

On Thursday, the 23rd, the House met at ten o'clock and took up railway subsidies and passed them by 2.30 o'clock. Considerable discussion took place on several items. Mr. Putman made a good speech in answer to Mr. Jones' attacking the vote to the railway running through his county. Mr. Eisenhauer carped at the vote on account of the central railway. Mr. Pope said if it would please Eisenhauer he would drop the subsidy. Mr. Jones attacked Sir Charles Tupper for trying to buy Nova Scotia by railway Subsidies. Sir Charles Tupper said that it was evident Mr. Jones wished to have the subsidy dropped, as the tone of his remarks was to that effect. The opposition generally opposed the granting of railway subsidies at all, Cartwright declaring that he would never have made a single railway grant of the kind.

On re-assembling after recess, Sir John stated that he had ommitted before stating that Sir Edward Watkin has presented the people of Canada with an admirable bust of the duke of Newcastle, in his life time a warm friend of Canada, and at one time colonial Secretary. The bust has been placed in the library of parliament. Replying to Mr. Casey, Sir John said the labor commission, which had been appointed last year, had not sat before the elections, because he thought it would look like election bait. The subject was too important to be made, even in seeming, the football of politics. The commission would sit during recess. While Alonzo Wright was speaking, the usher of the black rod gave his three customary loud resounding knocks, and called the faithful commons to present themselves before the Governor-General, which was accordingly done.

The American Magazine.

The table of contents of THE AMERICAN MAGAZINE for July is remarkable for length and variety.

The frontispiece reproduces a painting by Seaton Donoho, bearing reference to the well-known tradition, embalmed in Maryland archives, that several Indian tribes used to hold their yearly councils on the hill where now stands the national capitol.

Under the title "Metlakahta," Z. L. White tells, with illustrations, the story of the complete civilization of an Indian tribe on the Northwest coast. They were fierce savages, cannibals, murderers, and regarded as wholly irreclaimable. They now have a thriving town, with a good civic government, and they constitute a moral, industrious community.

In the July instalment of "Olivia Delaplaine," Mr. Fawcett leads his readers out of the elegant circles of wealth and fashion, and introduces them to the less-refined but perhaps more amusing society gathered at the table of a New York boarding-house.

The Rev. S. W. Culver, President of Bishop College (Marshal, Texas), gives an interesting account of the colored schools in the Southwest. The difficulties to be overcome in giving education to the negroes of the South are still very great, but a fair degree of success has been attained, and the progress, though not rapid, is very encouraging.

A Professional Opinion.

Rev. F. Gunner, M. D., of Listowel, Ont., says regarding Burdock Blood Bitters: "I have used your excellent Burdock Compound in practice and in my family since 1881, and hold it No. 1 on my list of sanative remedies. Your three busy B's never sting, weaken or worry."

Look at the all wool Tweeds, selling for 45 cents a yard, at J. B. Macdonald's.

Cholera Infantum.

That terrible scourge among children may be speedily cured by Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. All forms of bowel complaints, nausean and vomiting, from an ordinary diarrhœa to the most severe attack of Canadian cholera, can be subdued by its prompt use. It is the best remedy known for children or adults suffering from summer complaints.

Beer Bros are offering special lines in Dress Goods, Mantles and Carpets.

Miraculous.

"My Miraculous Cure was that I had suffered from kidney disease for about two years, was off work all that time. A friend told me of Burdock Blood Bitters, I tried it, and am happy to say that I was cured by two bottles" Wm. Tier, St. Mary's, Ont.

If you want anything for yourself or your house, you can get it good and cheap at Beer Bros.

Nature Makes No Mistakes.

Nature's own remedy for bowel complaints, cholera morbus, cholic, cramps, vomiting, sea-sickness, cholera infantum, diarrhœa, dysentery, and all diseases of a like nature belonging to the summer season, is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, which can be obtained of all dealers in medicine.

Don't call a large, strong sinewy man a prevaricator. If you are sure he is a prevaricator, hire another man to break the news to him.

No one knows better than those who have used Carter's Little Liver Pills what relief they have given when taken for dyspepsia, dizziness, pain in the side, constipation, disordered stomach, &c. Try them.

The West Virginia senators are the youngest men in that body, Senator Kenna having been born in 1846, and Senator-elect Faulkner in 1846.

Backache is almost immediately relieved by wearing one of Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters. Try it.

"I Dont Want Relief, But Cure," is the exclamation of thousands suffering from catarrh. To all such we say: Catarrh can be cured by Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It has been done in thousands of cases; why not in yours? Your danger is in delay. Enclose a stamp to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., for pamphlet on this disease.

An Important Arrest.

The arrest of a suspicious character upon his general appearance, movements or companionship, without waiting until he has roobed a traveler, fired a house, or murdered a fellow-man, is an important function of a shrewd detective. Even more important is the arrest of a disease which, if not checked, will blight and destroy a human life. The frequent cough, loss of appetite, general langor or debility, pallid skin, and bodily aches and pains, announce the approach of pulmonary consumption, which is promptly arrested and permanently cured by Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery." Sold by druggists.

The man who tries to make a two-thousand dollar salary fit a four-thousand dollar out-lay generally winds up the experiment in a foreign clime.

No injurious effects can follow the use of Ayer's Ague Cure. It contains an unfailing antidote and specific for miasmic poisons, together with remedial agents which purify and re-invigorate the system.

An editor offers three dollars for the best written love letter. There are some people who would give more than that to get back some they have written.

No medicine is more conscientiously prepared, more powerful, or more highly concentrated, than Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Its standard of excellence is the result of careful study. This preparation is acknowledged by the medical profession to be the best blood purifier.

How to Gain Flesh and Strength.

Use after each meal Scott's Emulsion; it is as palatable as milk and easy digested. Delicate people improve rapidly with its use. For Consumption, Throat affections and Bronchitis it is unequalled. Dr. Thomas Prim, Ala., says: "I used Scott's Emulsion on a child eight months old; he gained four pounds in a month."
