OBITUARY

Mrs. William Dunn

A sad event took place on January the 4th at the home of Wm. Dunn when the loving wife and mother was called to rest at the early age of 53 years. The deceased had been in failing health for the past two years and about seven weeks ago was compelled to take her bed. All that kind and loving hands could do, was done for her, but it was of no use. She bore her pains most patiently and was willing to be called to a better home. She was of a kind and loving disposition and was loved by all who knew her, she was also a faithful member of the Roman Catholic Church. She leaves to mourn the loss of a loving wife and mother, her husband, one daughter Amedee and one son Leonard both at home, also 7 brothers: Andrew Boudreau of Escuminac-Wm. Peter and Albert of Maine; Augustus of Campbellton; Charles of Glencoe; Anthony and Joseph P. of Glen Levin. The remains were forwarded to the Roman Catholic Cemetery, Rev. Father Lanteigne officiating. The pall bearers were Richard Firth, William Irvine, Albert Nicol, Lindly Boudreau, Andrew Boudreau, and Herman Boudreau. The funeral was largely attended showing the great esteem in which she was held. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved family.

N. B. COMPENSATION BOARD DISCUSSION

The Conference at St. John Concluded and Now Up To Government

St. John, N. B. Jan. 12—Fredericton will be the scene of the next discussion of the New Brunswick Workmen's Compensation Board and the Compensation Act, the three days' meetings and hearings in St. John have been concluded at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the New Brunswick Telephone Co. Ltd. assembly hall. At the conclusion of the hearing by Hon. Dr. P. J. Veniot, the Premier, and Hon. J. P. Byrne, the Attorney General, the Premier thanked those who had laid their views before him, and said he hoped that out of the mass of facts, figures and statistics the Government would be able to reach some conclusion.

There were some things that had not been made clear and the Premier hoped that the representatives of Labor would go together and consider the various points still hanging fire and let the Government know their views before the Legislature met. He also expressed the same desire regarding the employers. He was particularly eager to get the views of the Labor men as to the $5,000 liability limit, which had been amended so that the amount was now unlimited. This amendment had been the cause of a 50 per cent. increase in compensations.

The Premier remarked that he knew that Labor and the employers would not agree and this was a case where the Government would be obliged to "take the bull by the horns" and decide one way or another. He would like the opinion of both sides. The Government had only one object in view, declared Hon. Dr. Veniot, and that was to provide a workable act. The Government was pledged to compensation and both employers and employees had agreed to the principle. The Government would recognize, he added, the rights of the working men of the province.

The afternoon session was mainly occupied with the discussion of the report of F. W. Wegenast, a Torsation matters, who represented all sation matters, who reptesented all the employers in the province, except the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The discussion was largely between Mr. Wegenast and E. Compton Chalk, expert of the firm of Price, Waterhouse & Co., accountants, who were engaged by the Government to make a report on the compensation system in New Brunswick.

The two experts disagreed on numerous points, most of which were discussed briefly at Thursday afternoon's hearing. The subjects of discussion included surcharges, capitalized accounts, actuaries' tables and other technical points. Mr. Chalk admitted that the Workmen's Compensation Board has made several mistakes, but defended the Board in general from the charges and criticisms made by Mr. Wagenast on Thursday, when the employers' side was presented.

SECTION HAND SAVES EXPRESS IN ENGLAND

London, Jan. 15—The prompt action of a section hand prevented what might have been a terrible disaster to an express train near Weybridge.

Just before the London to Bournemouth express was due, the man noticed a distinct crack in the rail over which the train was to pass.

There was no time to reach the signal box, but he raced between the rails towards the express. He placed detonators on the rail and the driver warned by the explosions, slowed up.

The train had passed over the cracked rail before it could be pulled up, but at such a slow speed that the rail stood the strain. Had the train retained its speed it is hardly possible that the train could have kept the rails.

A young woman, she was rapidly being overcome by the severity of her sufferings until Dreco brought the comfort and happiness of health into her life again.

"I have only used one bottle of Dreco," says Mrs. Golding, " and I am ever so much better. I was a martyr to stomach trouble and indigestion. CANADIAN HATCHERIES TAKE UP PROPAGATION OF BROOK TROUT

Maritime Province Streams Being Depleted of the Speckled Beauties Through Increased Popularity of the Automobile and the Improved Roads.

Ottawa, Jan. 10—Improved roads and increased popularity of the automobile are resulting in a heavier toll of trout being taken from streams in the Maritime Provinces, according to officials of the Federal Fisheries Department.

To make good the anglers inroads upon the fishing streams of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, the staffs of the Middleton, Windsor, Bedford and Margaree hatcheries have taken up the propagation of speckled or brook trout upon a more extensive scale than formerly. Last season they prospected a large part of Nova Scotia in search of places where trout eggs were obtainable in reasonable quantities. Owing to the extent of the district to be covered only a small area was examined and no large finds made. The work will be carried on this year.

POULTRY SHOW AT MARIA, QUE.

Large Number of Entries and Lively Interest Displayed at This Show

I am pleased to make known to the public of Bonaventure and Gaspé the report of the Poultry Show held in Maria on December the 13-14-15. The inclement weather of the first day did not prevent the entries from being numerous and notwithstanding the rush which usually happens in such circumstances, each exhibit was taken in consideration and had a place clearly assigned in the labyrith of coops.

No complaints were heard from them—on the contrary their joy was testified by cocophonic chants.

549 fowls and 75 other exhibits pertaining to aviculture were recorded. Barred Plym-Rocks, White Wyandottes, Rhode Island Red, Chantecler presented in Trios, Breeding Pens or separately; Geese, Turkeys, Rabbits formed the majority and with a right since they are the breeds we pay the most attention to these days.

I have mentioned the Chantecler but I would be afraid of injuring it if I neglected to introduce it to the public. It is a breed exclusively and frankly Canadian, founded by the Rev. Brother Wilfred of La Trappe d'Oka.

Its diffusion began about 1916. "The Chantecler" expands rapidly and this is due to its glossy whiteness, its knightly appearance, its laying capacities and the good weight of flesh it produces.

Although far from the center where it radiates, we already find some breeders of Chantecler in Maria viz: M. V. Audet first purchaser and M. H. Thibodeau.

We hope that by the fruits it will bear the Chantecler will rejoice its founder and will give the satisfaction we expect from it in our district.

Let us read attentively the list of prize winners and thus meet those whom poultry breeding interests in Bonaventure Co.

The ¾ of the exhibits were furnished by Maria; the others were from: New Richmond, Bonaventure, Port Daniel, Cascapedia and St. Jean l'Evangeliste.

CONSERVATION OF FOREST WEALTH

Federal Government Asked to Assist Provinces Along Certain Lines

(Canadian Press by Leased Wire)

Ottawa, Jan. 12.—The Federal-Provincial Forestry Convention, which has been in session here since Monday, concluded its work yesterday, when it adopted a number of resolutions dealing with the subjects which have been discussed.

Ways in which the Federal Government might assist the province in forest conservation were suggested. The general opinion was that the Dominion Government might develop the air service protective powers and could help the provinces to establish telephone lines, trails and lookout towers in forest areas. As humidity of the air had an important effect on the fire hazard, it was felt that the Federal meteorological bureau could furnish valuable information in this connection. Campaigns to educate people along lines of forest protection were urged by the conference, which suggested the literature sent out for this purpose by the provinces might be carried free through the mails.

Its a poor rule that won't work both ways, you know."

Montreal, Jan. 16—The appointment of Mr. L. B. Boyd, formerly of the Soldiers' Settlement Board of Canada, as Superintendent of Land and Colonization in the United States is announced by Mr. W. D. Robb, vice-president, in charge of Lands, Colonization and Development of the Canadian National Railways. The appointment of Mr. Boyd follows closely the announcement of the principles of policy to be adhered to by the National System in the field of immigration and colonization during the year, and is made for the purpose of introducing more direct and aggressive methods in this important work in the republic. Hither to the Canadian National Railways have maintained an office in Chicago for the colonization of farm lands in Canada. This office is abolished, and a new one opened at St. Paul, which is closed to and in more direct connection with those sections of the United States from which prospective settlers are to be expected generally.
