wharf built at Burnt Church by the Dominion Government, and he hoped we would also soon have the breakwater at Escuminac. Both of these would materially assist in the development of business on the Miramichi. His position as a Dominion official was small—small in every way—[laughter] but he was nevertheless much interested in whatever would benefit the Miramichi.

R. B. ADAMS.

Mr. R. B. Adams said there was no department of the government—no service—that entered so closely and fully into the lives of the people as that of the post office. Other departments had to do with special interests and certain classes only, but the post office had to do with everybody—men and women alike. We are extending democratic rule and hear much of paternalism which is denounced by many, but the post office is the synonym of paternalism in government. After extended remarks in which he favored advanced socialistic ideas, Mr. Adams proceeded to give statistical information illustrating the magnitude and far reaching character of the work done by the postal department, and its great responsibilities, system and the general accuracy that characterised it. He expressed great pleasure over the success of the complimentary dinner to his brother and said he was particularly gratified, being himself a resident of Chatham, to have its representative citizens thus honor him. His brother had endeavored to do his best for the County and if he had failed in anything—in getting wharves at every farmer's door or breakwaters for everybody—sensible men would know that he had only failed where others could not have succeeded. He thought, with Mr. Stewart, that a man might be a great man without being a grabber or a getter. You cannot have a policy that will provide every hamlet with everything it wants, and it is unreasonable to expect a representative to do everything for everybody in a constituency, which is generally the case. Mr. Adams concluded the longest speech of the evening by proposing with special reference to overseer Lemuel Abbott, Robert and Frank Loggie and D. T. Johnstone, representing Mr. W. S. Loggie.

THE FISHING INTERESTS,

LEMUEL ABBOTT.

Mr. Abbott made an excellent speech, saying, amongst other things, that the fishermen were good fellows and he found that they liked to deal with A. & R. Loggie. The lumber business might be dull, but A. & R. Loggie were making money out of the fish business. Smelts were a poor catch, but Providence had squared the matter by sending an abundance of tomcods. He was glad to do honor to our representative, Mr. Adams, whom he had found always ready to get anything reasonable in the way of privileges or concessions for the fishermen. He also spoke a good word for Inspector Chapman who, he said, had few equals and no superiors as an officer.

ROBERT LOGGIE.

Mr. Robert Loggie said it was a pleasure to him to be present to honor Mr. Adams and respond to the toast of the Fisheries. The fishing interests are most important, and those engaged in the industry here were fortunate in having so good an officer as Mr. Abbott, to deal with, and a representative at Ottawa like Mr. Adams, who was always ready to use his influence and good offices in getting extensions of the season and similar favors when circumstances warranted, as was the case the other day when there was an extension of the smelt fishing, which had put a few more thousands of dollars in the pockets of our fishermen over the county. The county depends as much upon its fisheries as any other industry for the maintenance of its various interests and institutions—its churches, even, as well as the others—and he hoped the business would always maintain its important position.

D. T. JOHNSTONE.

Mr. D. T. Johnstone said he was a worker—not a talker. It was a pleasure to him to be present to honor Mr. Adams, who was a bosom friend from their childhood. He thought there was not much money made in the smelt business this winter, although Messrs. A. & R Loggie made money out of everything they took hold of. He had hoped to be called upon to respond to the ladies.

THE CHAIR.

Judge Wilkinson proposed the health of the Sheriff in a very complimentary speech, saying he was the first person he had met on landing at Chatham, when he came here from England. Mr. Shirreff, then a lad, was on the wharf, and on his enquiring of him the way to his brother's residence, he had conducted him thither. He referred to the satisfactory manner in which Mr. Shirreff always discharged the duties of his office. He also spoke highly of Dr. J. S. Benson and made very kindly reference to his parents whom he knew so well; and of Mr. Wm. Lawlor. These gentlemen, he said, had been overlooked.

Mr. D. T. Johnstone said Mr. Shirreff had not been overlooked; he had been assigned a prominent place but, at his own request, was allowed to take a back seat.

THE HIGH SHERIFF.

John Shirreff, Esq., said what Mr Johnstone had said was true; his natural diffidence had placed him in a less prominent position on the present occasion than was intended for him by its promoters. He was diffident, but not, perhaps, so much so as formerly, for his experience in the office he held was calculated to knock that kind of thing out of him. He was glad to honor Mr. Adams, whom he had long known and with whom his intercourse had always been pleasant and satisfactory. This was not a party gathering, so he felt free to be present to express his friendship for the guest of the evening. He reciprocated the good things said by Judge Wilkinson of him and referred to some reminiscences of their long-standing friendship. In his official capacity he had endeavored to do his duty fairly and without favor. He had, in doing so, sometimes incurred blame and unfriendly feeling but had the satisfaction of knowing that time had justified him with those who had misjudged him. Similar circumstances might exist even now, but he was content to wait for time to set him right. So long as he held the office the public might rely on his doing his duty fairly by all parties.

DR. J. S. BENSON.

Dr. J. S. Benson also responded, making suitable acknowledgement of the good things said of his parents and himself by Judge Wilkinson. He was glad to be present to testify his friendship and loyalty to Mr. Adams, whom he had known when he first studied law in the late respected Allan A. Davidson's office. He had always been a political follower of Mr. Adams, for he could not recollect any act of his, in all his political life, of which he had reason to be ashamed—in either local or Dominion politics. Since he had been in an official position he had not of course, taken any active part in politics, but he wouldn't say what he had done for Mr. Adams quietly. He hoped that gentleman would be long spared to occupy the position he now so efficiently fills.

MR. LAWLOR.

Mr. Wm. Lawlor thanked Judge Wilkinson for coupling his name with the toast, in company with the Sherriff of the county and Dr. Benson. He accepted the compliment in his capacity of a humble mechanic, who, like others who had spoken, was pleased to honor Mr. Adams and join in giving him a send-off to Ottawa.

NATIONAL POLICY AND REVENUE TARIFF.

Mr. D. G. Smith said that although it was very late he wished to offer a toast which should have had a more prominent place, as it touched an interest of great importance in the affairs of the country. But before doing so he must express his surprise that remarks which he had made earlier in the evening had formed the text for a party speech, by another gentlemen. As he understood it, they were here simply to express their good will to Mr. Adams as the representative of the county, but as the motives and principles of those who had opposed the national policy in 1878 were assailed, he proposed to discuss the matter briefly.

The chairman: I beg to interpose; we are not to discuss party matters—

Mr. Smith: That, sir, was precisely my view, but I think the time for your interposition was when the offending speech I refer to was being made. While I give credit to those who supported the national policy in 1878 for a desire to promote the interests of the country, I claim, in behalf of those who advocated a revenue tariff policy equal loyalty to Canada and an equally high regard for principle. Those who advocated protection were seeking to fasten upon Canada a policy which the mother country had tried and abandoned for a policy which was not one of free trade—for no great country can have absolute free trade—but a revenue tariff policy, and the Canadian conservatives were, therefore, copying the tariff methods of the United States. How, then, can those who contended for a tariff policy modelled after that of Great Britain be stigmatized as looking to Washington, especially by a party which was itself looking in that direction for its policy? More than that, experience and the teaching of the best political economists justify the contention that, beyond the protection which is incidental to a revenue tariff intelligently constructed, there should be no special advantages offered to any class. True self reliance and independence are manifested by those who are not afraid to compete, on equal terms, with their business rivals, and who do not ask to be subsidized at the expense of their neighbors. Protection, for the sake of protection, and as a distinctive policy is a political heresy. He regretted that time would not permit him to more fully discuss the and, perhaps, some other points raised, but as it was late he would simply give The Banking Interest, coupled the names of Messrs. Dean and Grant.

MR DEAN.

Mr. George Dean, of the Bank of Montreal, expressed regret that Mr. Winslow and Mr. Anderson were not present to speak for the respective institutions over which they preside here—the Banks of Montreal and Nova Scotia, respectively. He was glad his lot had been cast amongst the people of Chatham, and that the outlook for the lumber and fish business was hopeful. The interests of the banks and business community were identical, and he hoped Mr. Adams, whom he esteemed as a friend, would secure all the "loodle" he could for his constituents, so that their notes might be promptly paid. He would say to the lumbermen, "saw wood and we'll stand by you." Mr. Dean closed by jocularly offering to discount $1000 notes for anyone present if endorsed by either Messrs. A & R Loggie, Edward Sinclair or Mr Snowball.

JOHN ROBINSON.

Mr. John Robinson, of Newcastle, referred to the condition of business on the Miramichi; also to his friendship for Mr. Adams, who, he felt was the true friend of every man and interest in the County. He hoped to see him return in good health from Ottawa

MR. DESBRISAY.

Mr. Theophilus Desbrisay said he and Mr. Adams had always been personal friends, even when he was not in political accord with him, and he remembered that when Mr. Adams was Surveyor-General and not by any means inclined to do more than was reasonable for the concern in which he (Mr. Desbrisay) was employed, he used to tell him to keep away from him, for he would say—"You know, Deb', you'll get what you want." He hoped Mr. Adams, as well as our other legislators would do everything possible to relieve the business community. The local government takes some $200,000 a year out of the lumbermen, while the Dominion taxes on beef, pork and clothing take the Lord only knows how much more, and yet the lumbermen praise both governments. He expressed his admiration of the many excellent speeches that had been made, and proceeded to say that he believed he was the first man on the North Shore who had taken smelts with a bag net. It was in 1863, and the work was not so well understood then as now. They lowered the mouth of the net with "fifty-sixes" attached to its lower side. They had poor luck at first, but finally struck them by the ton. They barrelled them up and shipped them to the States receiving 27 cents a lb. for them. He spoke at some further length on the lumber and other interests and said he hoped Mr. Adams would use his influence to secure all possible good things for the County.

Dr. Benson proposed the Ladies, coupling the names of Messrs. James Johnston and Geo. W. Cutter therewith.

GEO. W. CUTTER.

Mr. Geo. Cutter said the duty of responding to this was usually discharged by the young men, and as Mr. Johnston had got out and Capt. Barker, who had been "through the mill" was not present, he would say that he was not yet too old to appreciate the love, goodness and kindness of the ladies. He had always belonged to the Liberal Conservative party here and elsewhere in the Dominion and supported Mr Adams in his elections since he (Mr. C.) came to the County. He was, therefore, glad to do him honor on this occasion

Mr. Wm. Lawlor proposed the host and hostess, which was appropriately responded to by Mr. Thos. Flanagan.

Mr. R B Adams gave the last toast, "absent friends," explaining that as the facilities for having an affair of this kind were limited, the invitations had been practically confined to Chatham, and it was, therefore, fitting to remember those who would be present, had they been afforded the opportunity. The company broke up at 1. 30 after singing several of the airs usual y on such occasions.

EXTENDED:—It will be seen that the time of receiving Tenders for Tracadie Lazaretto has been extended to 24th inst.

RE-ELECTED:—F. W. Sumner was re-elected Mayor of Moncton, on Monday, by a majority of 218 over H. A. Whitney.

MILL GOING AGAIN:—Messrs. McDougall & Russell's grist and saw mill at Black Brook has resumed operations.

PROHIBITION.—The continuation of the Popular Science Monthly article on prohibition, begun in the ADVANCE last week is held over until next week.

READ MR. WYSE'S advt. His new rooms are very attractive. You can find anything you have for sale to him to be sold at his regular weekly sales, and you can buy bargains there.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH:—The choir of St. Andrew's Church purpose giving a musical entertainment in the Sabbath School Hall on the evening of Monday 26th inst. Further particulars next week.

PRESS TELEGRAMS:—The World intimates, by inference, that the Chatham telegram in reference to the supper of last Thursday evening which appeared in the Telegraph was sent by Mr. D. G. Smith. Mr. Smith neither wrote nor sent that or any other telegram on the subject to any St. John paper. The World seems to be in hysterics over a truthful statement by a "Record" Chatham correspondent of the exhibition Mr. Stewart made of his ill breeding at the supper. Everybody who read the Record statement knew it was absolutely accurate.

Church Opening at Millerton.

Grace Presbyterian Church, at Millerton, will be opened for divine service on Sunday next, the 18th inst. Morning service will be held at eleven o'clock, local time; evening service will begin at seven o'clock, local time. The Rev. Wm. Aitkin will preach at the morning service and Rev. Neil McKay at the evening service. A silver collection will be taken at both services in aid of the building fund. The public are cordially invited to attend.

Neal Dow's Birthday Celebration at Chatham.

At a meeting of delegates from the W. C. T. Union, Independent Order of Good Templars, and Sons of Temperance, held on the 8th inst. in the Methodist Parsonage, it was decided to celebrate the ninetieth birthday of the author of the Maine Liquor Law on the 20th inst. by a public gathering in the Temperance Hall, when the members of the above organizations are to appear in regalia and an efficient choir will provide music. A member of the W. C. T. U. will give a sketch of Neal Dow's life and work and several short addresses will be given. W. S. Loggie, Esq. chairman of committee and R. B. Bennett, Esq. Secretary.

The Dog Races.

The dog races on the Miramichi are to come off on Saint Patrick's day in the morning, beginning at 9 o'clock. Messrs. E. Hutchison, Theo. DesBrisay, R. A. Lawlor, Geo. Dean, D. G. Smith, P. H. C. Benson, Wm. Wyse and others are to attend to the arrangements.

There will be a purse of about ten dollars, and two classes of dogs will compete—big ones, with the larger boys as drivers, and smaller ones, which the smaller boys will drive, the first named class being barred. The starting point will be off or near the Muirhead wharf and the course, towards Douglastown, with one turn, the finish to be over the line the start is made at. Entries should be made in writing and sent to any one of the above named gentlemen by Saturday night at the latest, in order to enable the management to perfect arrangements.

The Death and Obsequies of late Rev Father Bannon

The space at our disposal last week did not admit of the publication of much that would have had a mournful interest in connection with the death and obsequies of the late Rev. Father Bannon. Many letters and telegrams of condolence were received by His Lordship, Bishop Rogers, the three following being of especial interest:—

ARCHBISHOP'S HOUSE.
HALIFAX, N. S.
February 28th 1894.

His Lordship the Rt. Rev. Dr. Rogers, Bishop of Chatham.

MY DEAR LORD:—I must add to my telegram of last night some further expression of my sympathy with your Lordship, and with Mrs. Bannon and her family on the death of the revered and worthy Priest whom she reared for God and his Holy Church. Your Lordship has lost a most devoted friend and assistant, who was always true to your interests; the congregation has lost a watchful and zealous Pastor, who instructed them by his word, and edified them by his example; his venerable mother has lost a loving and dutiful son, whose blameless life was to her a joy and a glory. May his happy death, and the reflection that his years had been spent in the ministry of Christ for the good of souls, be her consolation, and the support of her sorrowing family. May I ask your Lordship to make my sentiments known to Mrs. Bannon and her family, and my regret that circumstances do not permit me to have the mournful satisfaction of assisting at Father Bannon's obsequies. May God grant him a speedy entrance into eternal life.

I remain, My Dear Lord Bishop,
Yours in Christ,
† C. O'BRIEN,
Archbishop of Halifax.

ST. JOHN, N. B. Feby 27th., 1894.

MY DEAR LORD:—I have just received your telegram giving the sad news of the death of the good and worthy Father Bannon. I answered the telegram immediately, and I write this for the morning's mail. I would wish to attend the funeral, but I got a bad cold in the cars, going to New York and have not been able to get clear of it yet. Indeed I have been obliged to keep to my room nearly all the time since, and though otherwise I feel in good health, a bad hacking cough remains. Father Casey will assist at the funeral service, going up on Thursday. Although Father Bannon has been suffering for a considerable time, yet your Lordship must feel the loss keenly, especially as he was so long the principal priest with you and so worthy of your confidence.

Wishing your Lordship every blessing and happiness;

I am very faithfully yours, in J. C.
† J. Sweeney,
Bishop of St. John.

CHARLOTTETOWN P. E ISLAND,
March 9th 1894,

Rt Rev. James Rogers D. D. Bishop of Chatham.

RT. REV. AND DEAR BISHOP:—I have just learned of the death of my esteemed friend, Rev. Father Bannon, and I hasten to offer my sympathy to your Lordship in this hour of trial. I condole most sincerely with you in the loss sustained both by you and your diocese, by the death of this good and holy Priest, who was so zealous a labourer in the Lord's Vineyard. May the God of all mercy give him eternal rest, and give to the Diocese of Chatham many such men to labor in union with their good Bishop for the salvation of souls.

Believe me my Lord Bishop,
Yours in Corde Jesu,
† James Charles McDonald,
Bishop of Charlottetown.

Letters were also received from Rev. Wm. A. Walsh, Grand Seminary, Montreal; Rev. M. A. O'Keeffe, Grand Falls, who was suffering from a severe cold which prevented his coming to the obsequies; the Sister Superior of St. Dunstan's convent, Fredericton; the Sisters of the Congregation of Notre Dame, St. Louis, Kent; the Sisters of the Hotel Dieu of St. Joseph, Campbellton; the Sister Superior of the House of St. Joseph, Tracadie; Sister Clarke, R. H. of St. Joseph, Hotel Dieu, Montreal, in behalf of herself and Sister Walsh and others. There were also telegrams from Archbishop O'Brien, Bishop Sweeney, Rev. E. Murphy, Halifax, Mother St. Bonaventure, in behalf of the Sisters of Charity, Halifax, and others.

The pall-bearers at the funeral were Messrs. Bryan Moran, Thos. Flanagan, Jas. Clowrey, John Coleman, Patrick Connors, Thos. Buckley, Wm. Lawler and Thos. Crimmen.

In Memoriam.

REV. THOS. J. BANNON RECTOR PRO CATHEDRAL, CHATHAM, DIED MARCH 6, 1894.

'Tis hard to say, Thy will be done!
Or feel, it if we say
A Priest revered—a well-loved one,
That Will has caused to pass away.

'Tis hard to think 'tis for the best,
As they bid us who would be kind
'Tis best for him, who's gone before,
But not for us here left behind.

Ah! not for us, who know him well,
And, knowing, learned to love.
Our loss, our sorrow who can tell,
Save but the One Who dwells above.

For us, indeed, 'twere vain to say,
Oh! death where is thy sting!
The treasured past in memory dwell
Of happy hours spent with him,

That treasured past, those memories dear,
His noble image with us yet,
Make it, Oh God! so hard to bear,
A loss we never can forget.

But He, Who dealt the blow will give,
The strength to bear it too,
And let us ever while we live
Be to this memory true.—

Remembring that he loved us here
And loves and watches where he's gone,
And let us strive to meet him there,
When death shall claim his own.

Then let us say, as low we bow
Father Divine, Thy will be done,
The sorrow that has laid us low
Will draw us nearer, nearer home.

Saint Patrick's Academy, Montreal.

A School Visitation.

GLOUCESTER CO., N. B., March 3.

To the Editor of the Miramichi Advance.

SIR: Recently, I visited a school in this County in which there were upwards of 30 small children, who, as well as the teacher, were all Roman Catholics. During my stay the teacher examined all the scholars in the several grades. At the conclusion, well pleased with the result, on leaving, I asked the teacher if any religious instruction was given after hours. She said no, that it was prohibited in school during school hours or after, and only the Lord's prayer was allowed, and she quoted the Courier, a paper published at Bathurst, as authority. You may feel assured, Mr. Editor, that I was surprised. Now, what I want to know is if the statement made by the teacher in connection with the Courier is correct. I hope not. If such is the case where is this anti-Christian crusade to carry us—this effort to banish Christian sentiments and instruction from the schools?

I remember, over 50 years ago, going to school in a log cabin which had the earth for a floor, and notwithstanding the poverty of the place, I was taught to write the beautiful sentence, "Knowledge of God is the best kind of knowledge," and, later on, and in school, the following beautiful entence, "Seek first the kingdom of God and all other things shall be added unto you." Such is what occurred to my mind when told by the teacher that religious instruction was prohibited. Now, what I want to know is whether such a regulation was authorized by the Board of Education and when and at whose instance.

Yours truly, etc.,
ENQUIRER.

Has He Been Here?

We did not realize that there was any unusual motion of the earth in this region, and yet, the Sun's Fredericton despatch of last Saturday says:—

"H. H. Pitts, M. P. P., has just returned from a trip to the North Shore. He visited the orange lodges at Campbellton, Bathurst, Newcastle, Chatham and Moncton, and delivered addresses at Bathurst and Moncton to big audiences."

The St John River Lumber Cut.

Robert Connors, the well-known St. Francis lumber operator, is at the Royal. A Sun reporter had a pleasant chat with him last night with regard to the operations on the upper St. John. He says most of the men are out of the woods. The ice is all that prevents stream driving from being undertaken now. There has not been such a depth of snow in the woods up there as is reported elsewhere. The cut this winter has been away below the average; in fact without the logs held over from last winter there would be a small quantity of logs for manufacture next season. Some fifteen million American logs, which were cut last winter, are held over on the upper St. John. Ten millions are for J. R. Warner & Co., three for Cushing & Co., and two for Stetson, Cutler & Co.

W. H. Murray held over ten millions of provincial logs.

This year's cut of logs above Grand Falls has been about as follows:

Kilburn & McIntosh, 6,000,000 for W. H. Murray.

Gilmon, 6,000,000 for Mr. Murray.

Thos. Clair, 3,000,000 for Geo. Barnhill.

Nixon, 3,000 000 for Purves & Co.

Nadeau, 1,000,000 for Purves & Co.

Marquis, 3,000,000 for Purves & Co.

Keswick & Tedlie, 5,000,000 for Randolph & Baker.

James Burgess, 2,500,000 for Geo. Barnhill.

The output of American logs at the head waters of the St. John has been:

Robert Connors, 5,000,000.

W. H. Cunliffe, 4,000,000.

A Cushing & Co, 3,000,000.

C. Sweeney, 1,500,000, for S. T. King & Sons.

Neil McLean, 3,500,000, for Miller & Woodman.

Page & Mallet, 3,000,000 for Miller & Woodman.

A Dechene, 2,000 000, for Cushing & Co.

J. A. Morrison, 2,000,000.

John Stevens, 2,500,000 for Messrs Jewett.

McCullum has got out 2,500,000 on the Aroostook for Hale & Murchie, and Nason 3,000,000 for Cushing & Co.—[Sun.]
