FRENCH-CANADIANS EARN HIGH PRAISE

Officers Writing Home Say They Have Certainly "Made Good."

REMAIN COOL UNDER FIRE

Only Regret Is That They Have Not Yet Used Bayonets.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, May 27.—The French-Canadians are making good soldiers. Reports from the front indicate that they have shown on active service the good qualities of the regular French and British troops, with whom they are associated. Gen. Sam Hughes from the first has declared that they would turn out to be good fighting men. Recently he received a letter from his son, Col. Garnet Hughes, praising the work of the French-Canadians in the division. The most emphatic commendation, however, has come from Col. F. S. Meighan, commander of the 14th Montreal Battalion.

Col. Meighan says: "I would not want to command a better lot than I have with me, and the French-Canadian company of the regiment has certainly 'made good.' The French officers are most efficient, and you can understand in a country like this what an assistance French-speaking troops are. The interpreter who was attached to us was rather disgusted when he found that about 30 per cent of the battalion could speak French as well as himself. Our men have been cool and steady under both rifle and shell fire, and their only grief is that they have not yet had a chance at the Germans with the bayonet."

Bomb Kills 50 German Soldiers

Allies' Aviator Drops Missile on Street Car in Ostend.

[Canadian Press.]

Amsterdam, via London, May 27.—Fifty German soldiers who were passengers in a street car at Ostend were killed by a bomb dropped from an Allies' aeroplane, according to a dispatch from that city to the Telegraaf, describing a series of air raids made by the Allies' aviators. The railroad station, shipping in the harbor and numerous houses have been damaged.

SASKATCHEWAN BILL TO ABOLISH BARS WILL BE INTRODUCED ON FRIDAY

Premier Scott's Measure Will End Club Licenses and Retail Trade.

[Canadian Press.]

Regina, Sask., May 27.—Premier Scott, in the Legislature, gave notice that he would on Friday next introduce a bill for "regulation of the liquor traffic." This is the important measure which is to abolish every bar and club license from Saskatchewan and remove the retail trade in intoxicants wholly from private funds. In all probability the second reading of the bill will be taken up early next week.

DANISH STEAMER SUNK BY GERMAN SUBMARINE; CREW MEMBERS SAVED

South Shields, Eng., May 27.—2:41 p.m.—The Danish steamer Betty was torpedoed by a German submarine in the North Sea yesterday, and went to the bottom. The members of her crew were rescued, and have been brought to the Tyne.

The Danish steamer Betty was 281 feet long, and of 1,267 tons net register. She was built in 1912, and was owned in Copenhagen. She sailed from Baltimore April 10 for Copenhagen, where she arrived May 8.

SEARCH FOR FORTUNE OF LUSITANIA VICTIM

Widow of M. B. Medburg, Long Separated, Hunting His Money.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, May 27.—Search for a fortune estimated to exceed $150,000 believed to have been accumulated by Morris Benjamin Medburg, a dealer in antique jewelry, who was lost with the steamship Lusitania, is in progress here. Milton Shepardson, a lawyer of Oakland, Cal., is making the inquiry in behalf of Mr. Medburg's widow and two children, who live in Alameda, Cal. Mr. Shepardson said that Mr. Medburg left his family in California several years ago, and that Mrs. Medburg had not heard from him for more than two years, when she saw his name in the list of those who were lost on the Lusitania.

The lawyer said that he had found $30,000 deposited in a bank in Medburg's name, and that he has learned that Medburg had a large deposit in London. Mr. Shepardson has begun procedure through the state department to recover the fortune for the widow and her children.

MAY DISBAND "PRINCESS PATS"

Practically All Officers and Men Killed or Wounded.

The Princess Pats Regiment may be disbanded. At present a mere handful of the 1,000 odd who left Montreal early in the war remain, and practically all the officers are either wounded, dead or prisoners. According to Sir Adam Beck, who but recently arrived home from France, it is altogether unlikely that the depleted ranks will be filled with drafts from Canadian or British regiments. Lieut. Hugh Niven, son of Dr. Niven, of this city, who holds temporary command, may be given a commission in some other regiment. If it is a fact that the regiment will be disbanded and its remaining members drafted into other battalions, then one of the most splendid regiments this war has discovered will only live in history.

THE DIARY OF MARS

The war has again been carried to the shores of England. German aeronauts attacked Southend, 40 miles from London, last night, and after raining bombs on the town escaped, pursued by British aviators. The British admiralty announced two women had been killed by the bombs, although dispatches direct from Southend assert but one woman was killed. One or more Zeppelins took part in the raid. The property damage was not large.

Aviators of the Allies have inflicted heavy damage recently on German positions in Belgium. A message from Ostend says fifty German soldiers were killed by a bomb dropped on that city from an aeroplane.

Notwithstanding their heavy losses in men and warships, the Allies are continuing incessantly the campaign which aims at the conquest of Constantinople. An Athens dispatch states that they are constantly bringing up reinforcements, and that the Turks are greatly impressed with the unremitting vigor of their assaults. There is no evidence, however, that the Allies have been able to extend greatly the field of their operations on Gallipoli peninsula, most of which is still held by the Turks.

The Italians have as yet encountered no serious opposition in their invasion of Austria, now under way at several points along the frontier. It is believed the Austrians will fall back on the Isonzo River, toward which the Italians are advancing, and there attempt to halt the movement toward Triest. The first heavy fighting of the campaign is expected along this line, where the Austrians have strong defences.

WAS THE NEBRASKAN SUNK BY TORPEDO?

This Is Big Question in States Which Officials Have Not Answered.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, May 27.—Messages received by the state department today from Ambassador Page and Consul-General Skinner at London and Consul Frost at Queenstown, failed to say definitely whether the steamer Nebraskan had been torpedoed or had struck a mine.

One of the dispatches said the Nebraskan's American flag had been hauled down five minutes before she was struck, although her name was painted on her sides in letters six feet high.

The United States naval attache at London has been sent to Liverpool to examine the Nebraskan's hull.

As the dispatches did not make it certain whether the steamer had been hit by a mine or a torpedo, they left unanswered the principal point that the President and his advisers want made clear. They expect further reports from the naval attache. Pending receipt of clearer explanations, no action will be taken.

GERMAN OFFICERS KILLED WHILE BATHING

British Shell Landed Fairly, and Between 20 and 30 Fell.

[Canadian Press.]

London, May 28.—The recital of occurrences at the front written by the British eyewitness under date of May 25 and given out in London today is devoted largely to the telling of minor incidents.

The account deals with comparatively small actions in various parts of Flanders, and the writer says the German losses lately have been very heavy.

"A building in La Bassee used by the Germans as a bathing establishment was hit recently by one of our howitzer shells while it was full of German officers," the eyewitness relates. "Between 20 and 30 of them were killed or wounded."

Continuing the eyewitness relates how a detachment of Germans, attempting to make use of their deadly gas at Ypres were themselves suffocated by this gas after a French shell had burst the cylinder containing it.

Notable among the recent German losses, the eyewitness asserts, were those sustained by the 37th Prussian Infantry in the action of May 16-17. This organization lost 2,400 out of 3,000 men.

RUSS, REINFORCED, HOLD ENEMY BACK

Had Given Way Slightly Under Terrible Artillery Fire.

[Special Cable to The Advertiser.]

Petrograd, May 27.—Under irresistible Austro-German artillery fire, the Russian line between Przemysl and Jaroslau has been forced to fall back slightly.

War office dispatches today described the Austro-German bombardment as "a hurricane of fire."

The enemy artillerymen swept the exposed Russian positions along Jaroslau-Przemysl Railway until a portion of the Slav line fell back to more protected positions along the west bank of the San. Reinforcements, including heavy artillery, reached the Russians, and they are now successfully meeting the enemy's attack both north and south of Przemysl.

Official dispatches announced a victory over the Turks in the Caucasus Russian troops occupied the Caucasian village of Mirandaub.

PITTSBURG MINERS LEAVING FOR FRONT

7,500 Foreigners Have Already Left—Italians Now Getting Ready.

[Canadian Press.]

Pittsburg, Pa., May 27.—Thousands of foreign-born miners have already left this district to join the colors, and if the exodus continues, coal operators and union officials fear a serious shortage in labor. Van Bittner, president of the Pittsburg district of the United Mine Workers of American, said last night that 7,500 men, 15 per cent of the total mining population of the district, have gone home since the war started. He said these included many Slav miners, and now that Italy had entered the war many Italian miners will follow. Operators estimate that between 2,500 and 3,000 men will leave this district within a few weeks for Europe.

HAS LOST SIGHT

Charles Smith Writes Home of His Wounding.

From a hospital in Baythorpe, Nottingham, England, Charley Smith sends a letter to his mother and father, who live at Byron, which states that the bullet wound he received in the recent battle has rendered him blind in the left eye. The message came this morning, and says that the bullet pierced just above the left eye and turning, after coming in contacting with some bone, entered his chest. The doctors have extracted it, and he hopes to be out of the hospital within a few week, when he will continue his convalescence with relatives in England. It is doubtful if he will be enabled to serve at the front again.

CORP. SCOTT LUCKY

Mechanical Transport Men From London in Thick of Fray.

"All through the recent big battles, and was lucky enough to get by without a scratch," says Corp. W. C. Scott, of the Mechanical Transport, in a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Scott, 502 Maitland street.

Corp. Scott, who is now with a transport somewhere in Belgium, describes that fighting put up by the Canadians as "something awful," and that it is impossible for him to describe it. "My subsection, with five trucks and the boys who left London and vicinity were in the thick of it," said the corporal in his letter.

Tobacco and newspapers are two of the most welcome things that the men at the front can receive, and all divide up with those who fail to receive any.

EXPECT TO GO SOON

18th Men in England, "Had It All Over" Others In Fitness.

Members of the 18th Battalion in England who have not left for the front expect to receive notice to move any time now, according to a letter received here from Signaller H. A. Secord, wo left with the 2nd Contingent.

"Nearly every capable man in England is in the army," says Secord, "and I wouldn't be surprised if they raise two or three more contingents in Canada, as their fighting has made a great hit."

Secord concluded by stating that the soldiers who left this city "have it all over" the other soldiers for smartness in appearance, and that many of the soldiers look "awfully sloppy" compared with the boys from this city.

SISTERS FIGHT FIRE IN THREATENED NUNNERY

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, May 27.—The Grey Nunnery, at Dorchester and St. Matthew streets, was the scene early this morning of a fire which imperilled the lives of 800 inmates of the institution.

With the assistance of Father Walsh, Father LaFortune roused the nuns, and 40 aged women residing in the wing threatened.

Although they worked in smoke-filled rooms, the Sisters set to work without a sign of panic to provide for the safety of their helpless charges. The hose was unreeled from the standpipes in the halls and large quantities of water were already playing on the flames by the time the firemen arrived. With the city fire department relieving the nunnery force, the fire was soon under control.

ITALY HAS MORE FATAL GAS BOMBS THAN GERMANS

Won't Use Them, However, Unless Enemy First Does So.

LOCAL ITALIANS HAPPY

Fact That Their Countrymen Making Good Progress in War Pleases Mightily.

Although no Italians have left London for the homeland since the declaration of war was made upon Austria, nevertheless about 50 native sons, at one time resident in London, are in the ranks aligned against the country's foe. Last fall, shortly after Britain had declared war on Germany, word reached this city from Rome which called upon all reservists resident here to immediately repair to the colors. Fully half a hundred obeyed the summons.

Although the story has not appeared in English papers within Canada it is nevertheless true that Italy has a terrible weapon in the form of a gas bomb, which not merely renders those who inhale its poisonous fumes paralytic but kills instantly. Italy has served notice on Germany that does she or Austria use the gases that drove the French backward at Langemarck, then she will retaliate with her awful weapon. Does the alliance not have recource to poisonous gases then neither will she.

Another war contrivance Italy has perfected is an ingenious device somewhat in the form of a compass by means of which the approach of hostile water or air craft may be noted. This device also has the faculty of giving the exact range and position of the enemy, and so enables the one about to be attacked practically immune from danger, certainly from a surprise.

The victory of the Italians as recorded in the press of today and yesterday has aroused the highest enthusiasm in patriots here. They are eager for the latest news, and does the need come will be willing and ready to go home and take up arms against the enemy.

CHRISTMAS SNOWSTORM SWEPT QUEBEC VALLEY

Frost Has Done Heavy Damage in Ontario, Quebec and New York.

[Canadian Press.]

Quebec, May 27.—A regular Christmas snowstorm swept the valley, along the lower river and the I. C. R. lines last night between Sayabec and Rimouski, according to passengers coming into Quebec this morning from Halifax. A snappy cold wave is spreading over the eastern portion of the province. Last night in Quebec suburbs a heavy frost was reported, while at St. Fereol, Montmorency County, some 30 miles from Quebec, there fell two inches of snow. Crops have been seriously damaged by cold weather.

DAMAGE AT BRANTFORD.

Brantford, May 27.—Severe frost did considerable damage to clover and garden truck here during the night, four degrees of frost being registered. Wheat seems to have come through all right. Market gardeners in the neighborhood of the city will lose heavily, tomatoes, cucumbers and beets suffering most.

WORST IN THIRTY YEARS.

Kingston, Ont., May 27.—Market gardeners in the Kingston district suffered a severe loss during the night as the result of frost. "It was the worst frost I have known in my thirty years' experience," said one gardener.

BAD IN NEW YORK.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, May 27.—Killing frosts throughout the lake region and the middle Atlantic states broke May weather records for many years last night, and promise unseasonably cold weather for the next twenty-four hours.

Reports to the weather bureau this morning indicate heavy damage to fruit and vegetables throughout the section, particularly in the interior of New York.

While ice was being formed on standing water, and crops were frozen in the east, warm showers were playing over the central valleys.

NIAGARA NIPPED.

[Canadian Press.]

Hamilton, May 27.—A grilling white frost hit the Niagara district last night and, running in streaks, beans, tomatoes, early potatoes, grapes and strawberries were nipped. The damage all told, while extensive, was not so severe as the temperature indicated.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS.

Death of Mrs. Skelly.

Mrs. Katheline Skelly, wife of Robert Skelly, No. 1 Waverly Place, died early today at Victoria Hospital after a short illness. Surviving are her husband and one child; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willoughby, of this city; three sisters and four brothers, Wesley, of Carado; Willoughby, of Smith Falls; Henry and John, of this city; Mrs. J. W. Wyatt, of Mount Brydges; Mrs. R. Sherlock, and Mrs. C. Jeffery, of this city. The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Funeral of Mrs. Burns.

The funeral of Mrs. Cecilia Sanger Burns, who died on Sunday at St. Joseph's Hospital, was held on Wednesday morning from the residence of W. J. Burns, 472 Ridout street, at 8:30 o'clock, to St. Peter's Cathedral, where services were conducted by Rev. Father McKeon. Interment was made at St. Peter's Cemetery, where Rev. Father Tobin officiated. The pallbearers were Thomas Hall, William O'Brien, William Burns, Fred Nash, Robert Collins, Chester Panter. Relatives who attended the funeral included William Sangar, of Euclid, Ohio; James Sanger, city; Mrs. J. E. McLeroy, of Orwell, Ohio; Mrs. J. E. Gifford, of Orwell, Ohio.

Drowning Victim Buried.

The funeral of J. W. Tupholme, the young man who was drowned in the Thames, near Woodland, on Victoria Day, when he fell from a motor launch, was held today at 3 o'clock to Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Services were conducted at the home of his step-father, Henry Gardener, 83 Briscoe street, at 2:30 o'clock, by Rev. Dr. D. C. McCrae, pastor of the Hamilton Road Presbyterian Church. The inquest into the death of the young man will be held on Friday evening at the county courthouse. It is believed that a sudden swing of the launch in following a bend in the river threw Mr. Tupholme from the roof of the cabin into the water, and that he sank immediately. He is survived by his wife, and his home was at 27 Adelaide street.

LETTER LOST ON LUSITANIA AND SUFFERING COMES

Sister of Mrs. Poure Rendered Homeless By Ravages of Germans in France.

TICKET SENT TO HER

But As It Was Being Carried On Sunken Cunarder Is Now Lost.

The sudden sending to eternity of many hundreds of men, women and children is not the only tragedy of the torpedoing of the Lusitania by a German submarine. Sometimes the mere losing of a letter or its miscarriage results in as great suffering as does death. A case in point was learned of in London this morning.

The parents and brothers and sisters of Mrs. Maurice Poure live in France. Since war broke out, their home has been levelled to the ground and the members of the household scattered here, there and everywhere. A sister suffered untold misery. Absolutely destitute, without home, clothes or the wherewithal to buy food or provide a roof for cover, friends found her. They did what was possible to partially alleviate her suffering, but their best endeavors could not nearly make up to her for all she had lost and suffered. Finally she was taken across the channel and found temporary sanctuary in England. But so many had to be cared for in the British Isles that the attention given her case was neither more nor less than that of hundreds of others. Word reached Mrs. Poure of the plight of the sister and immediately aid, in the form of a ticket to London, Ont., was dispatched. Now the letter went out with the mail aboard the Lusitania and when that vessel was sent to the bottom, so was the mail. Mrs. Poure did not know the precious letter was on the ill-fated ship, but when day followed day with no word from abroad to show whether or not the ticket had been received, she became anxious. To-day she could bear the suspense no longer and saw and talked with Ernest Ruse, G. T. R. ticket agent here, from whom the passage had been purchased. It was he who, after learning what time the letter had been mailed, told her the likelihood was the ticket was at the bottom of the Atlantic, just off the Irish coast. Mrs. Poure felt very badly. Her sister would think it strange, was her thought, that no effort had been made to render her assistance and she so badly in need. However, as the ticket is lost, another will be forthcoming so soon as Montreal is heard from, and though later than expected, the precious pasteboard will eventually serve its purpose and bring to Canada another the Kaiser's madness has rendered homeless and destitute.

ALLIES CAPTURE SOME GALLIPOLI POSITIONS

Take Important Points In Bayonet Attack—Fleet Bombards Turks.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, May 27.—Another message from Athens dated today says the allied forces are continuing their advance on the Gallipoli Peninsula. As a result of a bayonet attack, they have occupied important positions, where they are now strongly entrenched. The losses of the Turks have been heavy. The aeroplane squadron of the Allies is rendering splendid service. The fleet is continuing its bombardment of the Turkish positions night and day.

News reaching Athens from Mytilene says that 400 Italian families have fled from Smyrna to Vourlah, in Asia Minor, where they are awaiting a steamer to take them to Italy.

WHY OTTAWA WON.

Knotty Lee practically handed Ottawa a game yesterday when he took Bobby Auld out in the eighth and put Kirley in. Guelph was leading 9 to 2 at the time and looked to have the game cinched. The Senators couldn't hit Auld, but they took to Kirley nicely. Carleton, the first man up, hit a home run. Before the side had been retired, seven runs were scored, making the game even. Ottawa showed across the winning run in the ninth.
