A Clean Man

Outside cleanliness is less than half the battle. A man may scrub himself a dozen times a day, and still be unclean. Good health means cleanliness not only outside, but inside. It means a clean stomach, clean bowels, clean blood, a clean liver, and new, clean, healthy tissues. The man who is clean in this way will look it and act it. He will work with energy and think clean, clear, healthy thoughts.

He will never be troubled with liver, lung, stomach or blood disorders. Dyspepsia and indigestion originate in unclean stomachs. Blood diseases are found where there is unclean blood. Consumption and bronchitis mean unclean lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

prevents these diseases. It makes a man's insides clean and healthy. It cleans the digestive organs, makes pure, clean blood, and clean, healthy flesh.

It restores tone to the nervous system, and cures nervous exhaustion and prostration. It contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs.

Constipation is the most unclean uncleanliness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. They never gripe. Easy to take as candy.

METHODIST DISTRICT DELEGATES STRONGLY IN FAVOR OF CHURCH UNION

Not a Dissenting Voice Among the Speakers in Carleton Meeting Last Night—Question Outlined by Rev. Dr. Campbell—Some of the Things to Be Gained by Union.

Thursday, June 8.

If the atitude of the St. John district of the Methodist church can be taken in any way as indicating the opinion of the majority in the N. B. and P. E. Island conference, the project of union with the Presbyterian and Congregational churches will carry with an overwhelming majority when finally put to the vote in the sessions of the larger body which will meet here next week.

The question of union was debated at the meeting of the district last night in the Carleton Methodist church and every speaker who took part expressed himself strongly in favor of the basis of union with the exception of one, who while critical of the matter, said that he had an open mind and was willing to be convinced. Rev. Dr. Flanders presided at the session.

Rev. Dr. Campbell first dwelt on the problems which were confronting all the churches in common at present, most of which were the direct result of over multiplication. He then set forth at length the salient points of similarity and contrast between the Methodist doctrine and polity, and the statements in the proposed basis of union.

As far as he had been able to find by travelling up and down the country the opposition to union seemed to be animated chiefly by the unwillingness of some to give up old historical names. The past, he admitted, had its value for us but the things which the church ought to stand for chiefly were those which would be most conducive to the coming of the kingdom of Jesus Christ. For himself he declared he was unreservedly in favor of the scheme.

George A. Henderson followed briefly. He was in favor of union and referred to the overcrowding in the country places which would be overcome if it were adopted. The main effort of the church as it seemed to him ought to be the enlisting of followers of Jesus Christ rather than the making of Presbyterians or Methodists.

Significant Facts.

Rev. Jacob Heaney said he had given the question much thought. While personally in favor of union, they ought, in his opinion, to have sympathy with those who were opposed to it. The fact, however, that the three churches had gone so far towards union was to his mind impressive. The formation of such a document as the basis of union would have been impossible 25 or even 10 years ago. He spoke of the overcrowding at Harcourt where he was stationed some years ago and where there were three churches, each of which led a struggling existence. This was, in his mind, a source of great waste of time and money.

S. A. Worrell said that his attitude towards the proposed union was critical. He was afraid there would be unforeseen difficulties in carrying the scheme to its completion. He was open to conviction either way but at the present time he did not feel that he was in a position to vote on the question.

Strongly in Favor of Union.

Rev. George A. Ross declared himself strongly in favor of the proposed basis of union. If the scheme could be consummated by his vote it would soon be an established fact. He held it was a sign of progress that people nowadays cared little for many things which their fathers held important. What was considered essential now was the mobilisation of the evangelical forces all over the country.

The three churches interested in the negotiations were now facing a crisis in their history. This was important beyond all estimation and no matter how the question was settled the attitude of the churches could never be the same afterwards. If it was decided in the negative it could not fail to have a disastrous effect on evangelical effort.

As to the basis of union statements touching polity and doctrine, he did not think that any part of it was intended, even by the framers, to be final. The scheme had been presented in the form in which the people could most easily accept it or reject it.

Joshua Clawson, rising to propose a vote of thanks to Dr. Campbell, took issue with the last speaker. The declaration of doctrine, he thought, ought to be binding on the ministers of the church and they ought to take an obligation to preach it. He was heartily in favor of the union and personally he was prepared to go much further and take in the Episcopalian and Baptist bodies. He would be ashamed of the Methodist church if it did not in all its conferences vote strongly in favor of the scheme, which he hoped to see carried.

A Strong View.

Rev. J. L. Dawson rose to second the vote of thanks. He referred to conditions in Sussex, instancing them as proof of the necessity of some kind of union between the churches. He agreed with Rev. Mr. Ross that the basis of union in the parts where it treats of doctrine or polity were not final. The most attractive thing to him in the scheme was that it appeared to offer a chance for a man to think for God. One of the most deplorable things in the church at the present day was the dead hand laid on every living heart. Personally, he contended, he had as good a right to think as Athanasius and while he might repeat his creed he was under absolute obligation to God to accept only such parts as he believed, rejecting all the rest. The man who cannot think freely cannot act rightly. He was in sympathy with the very simplest creed and believed that if they started with a basal truth there was enough consecrated thinking in the church today to build a doctrine as good as any which had been evolved at any time.

ST. JOHN MARKETS

There was very little movement in the local markets last week. The spring run of shad is now over and the catch is reported to have been poor. On the other hand last week was the first week in the season the fishermen have been drifting for salmon and they have had fairly good catches. The fish are noticeably larger than has been the case for years so early in the season. Prices for shad were high. Prices in the grocery and provision lines showed no activity during the week. Raisins are high in sympathy with the rest of the dried fruits, and it is said that there is little probability of lower figures this year. The following were the principal wholesale quotations yesterday:
