PATROLMEN TOLD OF LOAFING ON BEATS; ENQUIRY ADJOURNED

Several officers gave evidence to this effect at Sessions on Saturday—Will resume on August 11th—Many witnesses examined.

Two sessions of the police enquiry were held on Saturday, and adjournment was made to August 11th at 2 p. m.

At the afternoon session the first witness was Samuel Journeay. He got instructions from chief as to use of baton, revolver, etc He heard deputy reading from criminal code and police manuel. Deputy instructed him as to making arrests.

Witness sometimes left his beat. He was on Market Square the night of the riots. With Officer Hickey he tried to arrest a rioter, but the crowd took him away from them.

Thomas McFarlane, appointed six years ago, passed medical examination, and was tested in reading and writing. Shortly after joining the force the chief gave them a lecture on the use of the baton, hand cuffs and revolver. He had read the Marshall manual.

Witness sometimes left his beat. On the night of the riot he went to bed early, having been on day duty for twelve hours.

John Colwell left the force in 1892. He was appointed by Chief Marshall. He had done some loafing on his beat. He was dismissed for going into Mrs. Donovan's at York Point. He was not reported for drunkenness. He had had no previous difference with the chief. Afterwards he had given evidence at the investigation by the common council.

Mr. Mullin—I object. All this took place 23 years ago.

The court thought the matter was not material.

John Elmore, a merchant on South wharf, told of going to his warehouse one night and finding Ira Perry in the warehouse with a light. Perry got in by a ladder to a rear window. Next day they missed a tub of butter. Witness reported the matter to the police, but nothing came of it.

Mr. Mullin—What excuse did Perry give for being in the building?

A. Perry said he found the ladder up against the window, and had entered to see if anyone was in the warehouse.

To Mr. Mullin witness said he had no personal knowledge of the tub of butter. His partner told him the tub was missing. He did not know how Perry could have taken out the tub that evening.

Harold Watson, police officer, was appointed in 1913, and was given instructions as to use of handcuffs, baton and revolver. He was told by the chief what offences he could arrest for without a warrant.

Witness had always been on the West Side. Sergt Finley frequently read instructions to his men.

Rupert Dykeman, appointed 1912, passed medical examination and tests in reading and writing. He was given instructions by the chief as to use of baton, revolver and handcuffs. He heard the deputy read the police manual to the men. He did some loafing. On the night of the riot he was home, and was not called out.

Fred T. Cowan, appointed in 1913. Did duty on the West Side. He passed a medical examination and tests in reading and writing. He was given instructions as to use of baton, handcuffs and revolver. He was instructed by chief as to whom he could arrest. He had heard the Marshall Manual read. He loafed on beat.

At the morning session Policeman J. F. McNamee said he had loafed on duty. He went to the power house on orders of the chief the night of the riot.

Policeman F. L. O'Neill loafed on duty, and had heard parts of the criminal code read.

Chief Clark—"There should be men enough to have a school of instruction as elsewhere."

NATIONAL STRIKE AGAINST WAR, SOCIALIST LEADER ANNOUNCES

The Socialists held a big meeting in Trafalgar Square tonight to protest against war. James Keir Hardie, Independent Labor and Socialist member of parliament, who was the chief speaker, declared that Italy, although bound by treaty to remain neutral, and there was no reason why Great Britain should not do likewise. He announced his intention of calling a national strike against the war.

The railway stations are crowded with German, French and other reservists returning to their respective countries.

The Board of Agriculture has issued a statement that there is sufficient wheat in the country to supply the whole population for four months, allowing for normal consumption, irrespective of imports.

ON CHARGE OF RIOTING

Bedford L. Hines,, a Mute Makes Seventh Man Behind Bars For Participation in Riots.

Saturday afternoon Officers Briggs and Garnett arrested Bedford L. Hines aged 54 years and a native of New Brunswick on the charge of being riotously concerned with others on the night of July 23rd. The charge in the police book does not give an account of how Hines was concerned in the riot, but it is said that the charge of loud shouting cannot be preferred against the prisoner as he is a mute.

The placing of Hines behind the bars makes the seventh man arrested on the charge of taking part in the riot and there is still several hundreds who were mixed up in the affair and who are wanted by the police but are not known to the latter.

The others who are now in jail on this serious charge are William Brown, aged 24, of the United States, arrested on July 23rd; Thomas Shannon, aged 25, of St. John, arrested on July 27th; William Chambers, aged 28, of England, arrested July 28th; Percy Warn, aged 39, of Australia, arrested July 29th; William Day of New Brunswick, aged 22, arrested July 30th, and William Edinston of England, arrested on July 29th.

"A WAR OF PIRACY", FRENCH PAPER DESCRIBES GERMANY'S ATTACK

Paris, Aug. 2—The deep indignation caused in France by Germany's methods in beginning the war is voiced by the Temps, which says:

"Up to the last moment the French and Russian governments had given Germany credit for acting in good faith; there is now no longer doubt that it is an ambush. Russians, Frenchmen and Englishmen must stand united against the powers of brigandage, who have just been unmasked.

"The British government yesterday informed the German ambassador that England could not remain neutral. We did not desire this war, but since it was forced upon us, with good heart we will wage it. For forty years Germany has prowled around us, with the constant idea of striking a blow with minimum risk, but by prolonging the menace she has taught us our lesson.

"Garman attacks us now at an hour when all our material and moral forces stand in united array against her. The war thrust upon us is a war of piracy. The French people, with magnificent union, hurls itself to the fray as a single man."

The lobby of the Chamber of Deputies was crowded today with members, many in uniform, and all eagerly discussing the crisis. All agreed, without distinction of party, to vote without discussion the measures, the government will ask for the defense of the country, in face of the aggressive attitude of Germany, which is now clearly manifested.

All the museums and galleries in Paris have been closed, the various staffs having gone to the war.

All possible measures have been taken to ensure that Paris will not lack for food. Special trains have been reserved for the transportation of foodstuffs, particularly milk. In the event of the home supply becoming inadequate, a decree suspending the prohibition on the importation of foreign fresh meat will appear in the Official Gazette tomorrow, thus assuring large supplies from Argentina and other parts of the world in the near future.

Severe regulations will be rigorously applied against persons attempting to profit in the present state of affairs by increasing the price of the necessities of life.

DELIVERED ADDRESS ON THE RIOTS

Rev. F. P. Dennison in forceful sermon before large congregation in Tabernacle Baptist church.

Taking as his text Acts 19-29 Rev. F. P. Dennison preached a forceful sermon before a large congregation at Tabernacle Baptist church last evening. He said in part:

"We saw a few days ago in this, our own city, a condition of things rendering it necessary that the riot act should be read, an occasion that will long be remembered by the citizens. Like Ephesus the whole city was filled with confusion. The St. John and Ephesian riots were similar in character, and in locality. Let me bring to your notice a few thoughts that have occurred to me.

"Paul's motto was 'thoroughness.' 'This one thing I do,' he said. He preached Christ crucified, risen and glorified. It was his unvarying text wherever he was, whether in Antioch, Athens or Rome. There could be no lofttier theme to set before the human intellect, none better suited to his hearers' hearts, nothing more worthy of the consecration of all his powers. It was a task assigned to him by the exalted Christ. It possessed for him inexhaustible fulness of meaning. The preacher, evangelist, missionary or minister who substitutes for this theme any branch of secular or social science has both mistaken his calling and thrown away his best weapon for combatting the ills of life and saving souls.

"The cause of the riots was the loss of gains, the old story of protected trades, like the liquor, opium and white slave traffic. We notice Demetrius' religious zeal, not only was his trade in danger, but what was of vaster moment (did he believe it?) the temple of the great goddess would be made of no account. The extravagant language he used contained an element of truth, in that the temple had been built at the common expense of the cities of Asia. The populace was filled with indignation, not because of Demetrius' loss, but of the dishonor done to Diana. We have several lessons here—the world-disturbing character of Christianity, the power of self-interest hindering the reception of truth, pride of intellect and worldly knowledge and gain and the foolish conduct of idol worshippers—'eyes have they and see not'—"

The speaker, in conclusion, referred to the unconscious testimony often given by the world to the power of The Christ, and Christianity.

Face Peeling Easy— Blond or Brunette

"The blonde's complexion fades early, because her skin is extraordinarily thin and fine," says Mme. Lina Cavalieri. "The brunette's, as a rule, is the reverse. The skin is thicker and has a tendency to an oily appearance."

For either the faded blonde's skin or the brunette's oily or sallow complexion, the best remedy is ordinary mercolized wax. Used every night, this will give one an entirely new complexion within about a week's time. The wax gradually peels off the worn-out surface skin, with all its defects, a little each day, without affecting the delicate underskin in the least. The latter will have the exquisitely beautiful glow of youth—indeed, one may readily lose ten or fifteen years from her age, so far as appearance goes, by a course of this simple treatment. The wax, securable at any drug store, is applied like cold cream.

THE GREATEST STRUGGLE IN WORLD HISTORY

Rev. Gordon Dickie speaks on War — The dawn of peace has not yet come.

Rev. Gordon Dickie, M. A., preaching in St. Andrew's church last evening, referred to life's eternal guest. He said: "We often hear of attempts to solve world problems on short notice. Almost every age has its remedy for the ills of life, and would persuade men that there is no need to seek further.

"It seems but yesterday that men talked about there being no more war. The world had seen its last great struggle and henceforth men would wrangle in arbitration courts.

"On this continent, we are preparing to celebrate the passing of the hundred years of peace, but Europe is preparing for the greatest war in history. In comparison with this the struggles of Napoleon seem child's play. No one can tell what desolution it will bring or what price we must pay. It is strange that in the crisis of life it is usually, not the man's head but his heart that guides him.

"The great argument against war is an economic one. It is bound to be bad business. The great argument in favor of war is sentimental. In their frenzy men are calling for the very thing which years to come may financially jeopardize their country. It goes to show that in the quest for life we have not yet reached the ideal.

"We must go on further before war's shadows pass and there comes the dawn of eternal peace.

"There are some people who adopt an easy optimism in the face of moral crisis. They believe in the best, but are not prepared to work or suffer for it. Their only policy is to sit and wait. But reforms do not come that way.

"We must be prepared to suffer and sacrifice for national ideals.

"The vision bids us.—Neither stand nor wait, but go. In life's eternal quest only those who persevere until the end shall be saved. May God enable us to enjoy hardness as good soldiers of Christ."

REV. D. J. MACPHERSON HELD FIRST SERVICE

Rev. D. J. MacPherson, B. D., took up his duties as pastor of Brussels street United Baptist church yesterday. Large congregations attended morning and evening services and Mr. MacPherson's addresses were given an attentive hearing. The new pastor made a particularly favorable impression. At both services he emphasized the fact that Brussels street church was open to all strangers and he wished the people in general would understand this.

His evening sermon dealt with the life of Judas and its application to modern times. He discussed several ideas in connection with Judas' betrayal of Christ and pointed out that selfishness, avarice and impatience were characteristics that could prove a benefit if properly bridled and directed.

Rev. Mr. MacPherson is a native of Prince Edward Island and received his earlier education at the Horton Collegiate Academy and at Acadia College, from which latter institution he graduated in 1905.

He studied theology at Colgate Seminary, Hamilton, N. Y., graduating with the B. D. degree in 1908, at the same time receiving the M. A. degree in course from his alma mater. He had the honor upon graduating from the university and also from the seminary, of being chosen as one of the commencement speakers.

CANADA TO MUSTER OUT 21,000 MEN

That is Tentative Plan for the First Expeditionary Force to Empire's Aid.

Ottawa, August 2.—The cabinet has been in session almost continuously since Sir Robert Borden returned. A special issue of the Canada Gazette was authorized in compliance with a request received early this morning from the Imperial government asking the Canadian government to notify all men of the Royal Naval Reserves now in Canadian territory to report at once for duty.

The special issue of the Gazette, printed at once at the Government Printing Bureau, is now being mailed to all points of the country.

According to tenative plans the Canadian expeditionary force will consist of about 21,000 men.

If more men are needed the government has told the war office that they can be readily supplied. A second and third army division can be raised in the course of a month.

RAIN BROKE UP PATRIOTIC PARADE

Montreal, August 2.—Dr. J. R. Reynaud, French Consul-General, is sending out a call to all the reservists of the French army in Canada who may be reached asking them to go to the defence of France. It is said that there are about 10,000 French reservists in the Dominion.

Similar calls are being made by the Austrian and Swiss consuls in Montreal. There are between 300 and 400 Austrians in this city, and but few Swiss.

The French patriots in Montreal resumed their parading tonight, and it was understood they were about to march to the German consulate about ten o'clock when a heavy downpour of rain caused the paraders to scatter for the night.

WILL INDEMNIFY LUXEMBURG FOR DAMAGE

Luxemburg, Aug. 2.—The Minister of State of Luxemburg has received a telegram from the German imperial chancellor declaring that the military measures taken by Germany in Luxemburg do not constitute a hostile act against the Grand Duchy. They are simply measures, the chancellor states, to protect a railroad connected with the German system against possible attack by French troops. Luxemburg will be completely indemnified for any damage to its lines.

"Cholera Infantum"

IS ONE OF THE MOST COMMON SUMMER COMPLAINTS OF INFANTS

Cholera Infantum begins with a profuse diarrhoea; the stomach becomes irritated, and in many cases vomiting and purging set in. The child rapidly loses flesh, and is soon reduced to great langour and prostration.

Cholera Infantum can be quickly cured by the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

Mrs. George Henley, Boxgrove, Ont., writes: "I can recommend Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for Cholera Infantum. My little girl was so sick I did not think she could live, as we could not lift her up, for when we moved her her bowels would move. I gave her "Dr. Fowler's" and the first dose helped her, and one bottle cured her. I recommended it to my sister, whose child was sick, and it cured her also. Then again I have told other friends about it, and they have found that it is a grand medicine to have in the house all the time."
