LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—The pretty schoolgirl gaily tells
Of verbs that point her duty's way;
Her voice is light as tiny bells,
Her face a bloom in beauty's way.

She sharply nodds her little head
O'er sentences declarative—
Her moods, it may be safely said,
Will mostly be imperative.

—The patrol wagon had eleven calls to repond to on Saturday evening between 6 and 8:30 o'clock, and as the calls began to fill up with the prisoners, the men at the Central Station looked for one more to make an even dozen. But they waited all night, and he came not.

—The pulpit of the London West Methodist Church was occupied on Sunday morning by Mr. James A. Irwin, of this city, who preached an excellent discourse from Mark, xvi., 15: "And he said unto them, go ye into all the world, and preach the Gospel to every creature."

—The special collections taken up in St. Paul's Cathedral on Sunday in aid of the choir boys were liberal. The musical part of the service was excellent. During the evening Dr. Sippi sang with fine effect "Abide With Me." The sermons, morning and evening, were preached by Rev. W. T. Hill and Rev. Principal Miller respectively.

—A small boy named William Hood, trembled in the awful presence of the Police Magistrate this morning. With other companions he had been firing off a revolver on the Wortley road, and was arrested. He said he had paid 35 cents for the weapon, and was only using blank carrridges. The Magistrate warned him to amuse himself some other way, and the penitent William promised faithfully.

—Mr. Donald McAlpine, of Mosa township, formerly of Metcalfe, and one of the old pioneers of the county, died at his residence last week in his 85th year. He was a man of robust constitution, which enabled him to face the many disadvantages which he encountered when in 1842 he commenced hewing out a home for himself in the dreary wilderness of days gone by. He leaves behind him a family of five sons and two daughters, among them being Dr. McAlpine, of Vancouver, B.C., and Donald McAlpine, of this city.

—James Hobbins, jun., is the name of a respectable looking youth, who by his actions seems to be the very reverse. Jerry McDonald has forbidden him to buy liquor at his place, but Hobbins obtained it there Saturday in the proprietor's absence. When asked for the money by the bartender he leaned over and struck him, whereupon P. C.s Crawford and Nickle were summoned and arrested him. An open jackknife was found on his person. At the Police Court this morning, the Magistrate fined him $10 or 20 days for being disorderly, and suspended judgment on the assault case.

—Rev. R. G. Fowell, M. A, has been appointed by the committee of the Colonial and Continental Church Society their association secretary for the southwestern district, to replace the Rev. D. E. M. Simmonds, who has been transferred to the northwestern district. The counties in which Mr. Fowell will represent the society are: Channel Islands, Cornwall, Devon, Dorset, Gloucester, Hampshire, Hereford, Monmouth, Somerset, Wales (south), Isle of Wight, Wilts, Warwick, Worcester. Mr. Fowell has but recently returned to England from this city, having been for five years principal and divinity professor of Huron College.

Death of Mrs. Richard Thompson.

The residents of 50 years and over are thinning out, and but few remain to recall time's changes. One of the kindliest of the old residents, Mrs. Richard Thompson, died at the residence, 300 Piccadilly street, on Saturday night, of epilepsy. She may be called a native, though born in Yorkshire, England, Feb. 4, 1824. Her parents, while she was an infant, came to Ogdensburg, N. Y., and removed from there to St. Davids, near Queenston, and in the year of the rebellion of 1837 located at London. She married Mr. Richard Thompson in 1841 and had nine children, seven of whom and her husband survive. The eldest son, James, died about eight years ago at Friend, Nebraska, and the second daughter, Emily, wife of Mr. James H. Brown, about thirteen years since. The surviving children are Frank, Charles and Mrs. Locke, now in Nebraska; Lizzie, wife of Nicholas Wilson; Theresa, wife of Charles Sterling; Miss Ellen Thompson and Mr. John P. Thompson, of this city. Mr. Thompson has the sympathy of all in the loss he has sustained in his declining years by the death of his estimable wife, and the community regret the removal of another of the old kindhearted residents whose presence kept alive the memories of other days.

Educational Sermons.

Special educational sermons were preached in this city yesterday by Rev. Dr. Potts, of Toronto. In the morning he occupied the pulpit of the Colborne Street Methodist Church, and was greeted by a large audience. He selected his text from Isaiah, l., 7-9, In the course of his remarks he pointed out the many advantages of education to the minister. "There is no place," he said, "where we can put our poorly-educated men. It is no use sending them into the foreign fields, everyone recognizes that. There is no place for them; they must be educated. It is necessary that the bearers of the glad tidings should be educated, and educated well, that they may be able to tell in all its purity the story of the grand redemption and salvation. A salvation that prepares the sinner for his new relationship with God, which is a salvation from depravity by divine redemption and a salvation which shall last for eternity." In the evening Dr. Potts preached in the Dundas Center Methodist Church, taking for his text Matthew, xx., 18 and 19: "Behold we go up to Jerusalem, and the Son of Man shall be betrayed unto the chief priests and unto the scribes, and they shall condemn him to death and shall deliver him to the Gentiles to mock and to scourge and to crucify him; and the third day he shall rise again." Liberal collections were taken up at both services in aid of the educational projects of the church.

Evangelist Weaver at St. James'.

St. James' Presbyterian Church was well filled last night. Mr. Leonard Weaver, the English evangelist, delivered an eloquent and forcible sermon. He took for his text I. Samuel, x., 23-27. He said although Christ was not mentioned in the text, yet he would endeavor to preach him and his wondrous love from it. There was not a chapter in the whole Bible from Genesis to Revelations that was not full of Christ. The Bible, he said, was a book for everybody in every condition of life, and a person could always find something in it to suit his individual case. He compared human sympathy with the sympathy of Christ, and said the former sunk into utter insignificance beside the great and all-absorbing sympathy of the Son of God. He then went on to say that salvation was for everyone, no matter how degraded or utterly lost they were. Even if Satan himself would have nothing to do with them, God would willingly receive them into eternal joy and glory if they would only put their trust in Christ and his sympathy. As a friend, adviser or interceder, none could be compared to Christ. He said a good many persons were pleased with Christ, and imagined they had a kindly feeling toward him and his work, but they would not come forward and stand up for their friend, they preferred to remain half-hearted, or rather faint-hearted in his cause. He pleaded with all to come boldly out and nail their colors to the mast. If he was a friend at all, he was surely worth acknowledging. He warned them to delay not, to-morrow might be too late. He said the Spaniards had an old saying that "The road of bye and by leads to the town of nowhere," and the English had "Procrastination is the thief of time." He said there were only two kingdoms, the kingdom of God and the kingdom of the devil, and every person had to make their choice. Mr. Weaver gave several very interesting experiences in his work as an evangelist. The sermon was brought to a close by the large congregation heartily joining in the beautiful hymn, "Stand Up for Jesus!" Mr. Weaver will conduct a meeting in Victoria Hall to-night for men only, and each afternoon and evening of the week for the general public at the same place.
