Poetry.

LAND OF THE STRANGER.

In the land of the stranger if o'er thou would'st roam,
Tho' thy pathway with joy be enwreathed,
Should the song and the strain thou hast once heard at home,
By the lips of the stranger be breathed,
They will come o'er thine ear like the storm of the night,
Tho' the smile of the gay may surround thee;
They will wither thy joy, and their echo will blight
The mirth and the revelry round thee.

For remembrance is like the needle that guides
The poor wearied mariner forth,
Tho' the ship may be lost by winds and by tides,
The needle still points to the north.
Thus remembrance will last 'midst sorrow and care
Where'er we may happen to roam,
Tho' the eye beam a smile on the beauty that's here
The heart is still ling'ring at home.

And the smile that illumes the pale cheek the while,
Like flowers in the hands of the dead,
Whose blossoms but mock with their warm sunny smile
The pale cheek whose roses have fled.
Thus the smile that beams o'er the wanderers' cheek
Mocks the tear that is dimming his eye;
For his heart's far away, and his tongue cannot speak,
And the smile withers down to a sigh.

AN EXILE.

THE DYING CHIEF.

The stars look'd down on the battle plain
When night winds were deeply sighing,
As with shatter'd lance near his war-steed slain,
Lay a youthful chieftain dying.

He had folded round his gallant breast
The Banner once o'er him streaming,
For a noble shroud, as he sunk to rest,
On the couch that knows no dreaming.

Proudly he leant on his broken shield
By the rushing Guadalquiver,
While dark with the blood of his last red field
Swept on the majestic river.

There were hands which came to bind his wound
There were eyes o'er the warrior weeping,
But he raised his head from the dewy ground,
When the lands high hearts were sleeping.

And "away" he cried, "you aid in vain,
My soul may not brook recalling,
I have seen the stately flower of Spain
Like the autumn vine leaves falling.

I have seen the Moorish banners weave
O'er the halls where my youth was cherish'd;
I have drawn a sword that could not save,
I have stood where my King hath perish'd.

Leave me to die with the free and brave,
On the banks of my own bright river,
Ye can give me naught but a warrior's grave,
By the chainless Guadalquiver."

ANONYMUS.

Miscellany.

AN IRISHMAN'S HONOUR.

An amusing story is told of Barrington, once Recorder of Bristol:—Having to appear for the plaintiff, in a case at a winter assizes, at Clonmel, he "let it into" the defendant in no measured terms. The individual inveighed against not being present, only heard of the invective. After Barrington however, had got back to Dublin, the Tipperary man lost no time in paying his compliments to the counsel. He rode all day and night, and covered with sleet, arrived before Barrington's residence, in Harcourt-street, Dublin. Throwing the bridle of his smoking horse over the railing of the area, he announced his arrival by a thundering knock, which nearly shook the street. Barrington's valet answered the summons quickly enough, and, on opening the street door, beheld the appalling of the rough-coated Tipperary ruffian, with a large stick under his arm, and the sleet sticking in his bushy whiskers.

"Is your master up?" demanded the visitor, in a voice that gave some intimation of the object of his journey.

"No," answered the man.

"Then give him my compliments, and say Mr. Foley (he'll know the name) will be glad to see him."

The valet went up stairs, and told his master, who was in bed the purport of his early call.

"Then don't let Mr. Foley in for your life," said Barrington, "for it's not a hare and a brace of ducks he is come to town to present me with."

The man was leaving the bedroom, when a rough wet coat pushed by him, while a thick voice said, "By your leave," and at the same moment Mr. Foley entered the bedroom.

"You know my business, sir," said he to Barrington, "I have made a long journey to teach you manners, and it is not my purpose to return until I have broken every bone in your body," and at the same time he cut a figure of eight with his shillelah before the chival glass.

"You don't mean to say you would murder me in bed," exclaimed Barrington, who had as much humour as cool courage.

"No," replied the other, "but get up as soon as you can."

"Yes," replied Daines, "that you might fell me the moment I put my body out of the blankets."

"No," said Foley, "I pledge you my honour I will not touch you till you are out of bed."

"You won't?"

"I won't."

"Upon your honour?"

"On my honour."

"That is enough," said Daines, turning over, and making himself very comfortable, and seeming as though he meant to fall asleep. "I have the honour of an Irish gentleman, and I may rest as safe as though I was under the Castle Guard."

The Tipperary salamander looked very marvellously astonished at the pretended sleeper, but soon Daines began to snore.

"Halloa!" says Mr. Foley, "aren't you going to get up?"

"No," said Daines, "I have the honour of an Irish gentleman that he will not strike me in bed, so I am sure I am not going to get up to have my bones broken; I'll never get up again! In the meantime, Mr. Foley, if you should want your breakfast, ring the bell; the best in the house is at your service. The morning paper will be here presently, but be sure to air it before reading, for there is nothing from which a man so quickly catches cold as reading a damp journal," and Daines once more affected to go to sleep.

The Tipperary fellow had fun in him as well as ferocity; he could not resist the cunning drollery of the counsel, so, laughing loud, he exclaimed, "Get up, Mr. Barrington, get up, for, in bed or out of bed, I have not the heart to hurt a hair of so droll a head."

The result was that, in less than half-an-hour afterwards, Daines and his intended murderer were sitting down to a warm breakfast, the latter only intent upon assaulting a dish of smoking chops."

JACK ASHORE.—Policeman. "Holloy, Jack! I suppose you are not sorry to come on land for a bit?" Jack (who hasn't got his shore legs yet.) "Well, it ain't such a bad place for a day or two, only it's so precious difficult to walk straight."

THE CZAR'S GERMAN COUSINS.

The Revue des deux Mondes, in a recent article on the relations of Russia and Germany, gives the following resume of the intermarriages of the Imperial family of Russia with the lesser German Courts:—

"The Emperor Alexander married a Princess of Baden, and the Emperor Nicholas married the daughter of Frederic William III., the sister of the reigning King. Catherine Paulowna, a sister of Alexander and of Nicholas, married, first, a Prince of the Oldenburg family, and afterwards the King of Wurtemburg. She died three years after her second marriage; but, though the Royal widower afterwards married a German Princess, the short residence of Catherine Paulowna at the Court of Stutgardt established there relations with Russia which are now drawn so close as to need no extraneous strengthening. The eldest son of the King of Wurtemburg, Prince Charles, heir to the throne, was married in 1846 to the Grand Duchess Olga, daughter of the Czar Nicholas, and of one the King's nieces, the Princess Charlotte, now called Helena Paulowna (for German Princesses who make Russian marriages change not only their names, but their religion as well,) is married to the Grand Duke Michael, fourth son of the Emperor Paul. Prince Frederic, the son-in-law of the King, is a colonel of Russian Uhlans; one of the King's cousins, Prince Eugene, is a general of infantry in the service of the Czar; and one of his uncles, this Duke Alexander, was a Russian general-in-chief, and the head of the direction of the roads. The two sons of the Duke Alexander have both been major-generals in the Russian Army. Electoral Hesse and Grand Ducal Hesse are no less closely allied with the Imperial family of Russia than is Wurtemburg. In Grand Duchal Hesse Princess Mary, the sister of the reigning Grand Duke Louis III., is married to the hereditary Grand Duke of Russia, Alexander Nicolaewitsch, and her brother Prince Alexander, is a major-general in the service of Russia and head of the Russian regiment of Borissoglebski. In Electoral Hesse Prince Frederic, a cousin of the Grand Duke, is married to the Grand Duchess Alexander, daughter of the Emperor Nicholas.—He is the colonel of the Russian regiment of Mariapolsk, and one of his uncles, Prince Emile, is colonel of the regiment of the dragoons of Kiassan. Prince Ernest, one of the collateral branch of Hesse Philippsthal-Barchfield, is a retired general of cavalry in the Russian service. In the Duchy of Warsaw the reigning duke, Adolph, is married to Elizabeth, Michaelowna, a grand daughter of the Grand Duke Michael and niece of the Czar.—In Oldenburg Prince Pierre, son of the Czar's sister Catherine Paulowna, by her first marriage with the uncle of the reigning Grand Duke of Oldenburg, is a general of infantry in the Russian army, President of the Senate, Director of 'Civil and Ecclesiastic,' with the title of an 'Imperial Highness' by virtue of a special ukase. Lastly, the Grand Duke Constantine Nicolaewitsch is married to the Princess Alexandra, now the Grand Duchess Josefowna, a daughter of the Duke of Saxe Altenburg; and the grand daughter of the Grand Duke Michael of Russia is married to the Duke of Meklenburg-Strelitz. The pages of the 'Almanach de Gotha' show how universally the Russian influence is represented at the Sovereign Courts and among the mediatized families of Germany. Where there are no intermarriages with they Imperial family, there are princes, dukes, and archdukes attached to the Muscovite army by military dignities and employments. It is startling to see how many chiefs of Russian regiments, and colonels of Russian Dragoons and Uhlans there are among the haughty nobles who surround the German Sovereign.

THE BIG SHIP AND A LONDON SQUARE CONTRASTED.—A bare statement of the dimensions of the large ship which Mr. Scott Russel is just now building scarcely conveys a notion to the majority of minds of its vast size, capacity, and cost. An ingenious friend of ours, Mr. Gould, jotted down some points of comparison between the ship and Tavistock-square, and these serve to make the idea much clearer. He points out that Tavistock-square consists of 56 houses, and that there are 11 houses on one side, of 25 feet frontage, or 425 feet. It would require 9 from the other side, or 225 feet, to make the length of the large ship, viz., 27 houses—675 feet. Then the houses being 46 feet deep, it would require two houses put together to make the section of the ship, which is 83 feet; so that it would actually require all the houses in the square put together in two rows to make a block the size of the big ship, setting aside the angles cut off in coming to the keel. Again the inhabitants of the square may be considered 8 to a house, or 448 souls; whilst the ship will some day carry four times or five times as many, say 2210, or possibly 3000 souls. At any time of winter the 56 houses in the square will probably have ten tuns of coals each, or 560 tons; whilst the big ship will take nearly 20 times as much, or at least ten thousand tons for its own consumption. To carry the comparison one step further, the cost of 56 houses to build would be about £112,000, the furniture £58,000, or £17,000 ready to be inhabited. The ship, it is supposed, will cost £450,000 or £500,000 before it is ready for its inmates. Rather striking this.—The Builder.

CURSING FROM THE ALTAR.—Mr. W. H. Ball, a resident gentleman of the county of Clare, wrote a few days since to the Right Rev. Dr. Vaughan, Roman Catholic bishop in that district, to complain that he had been cursed by name from the altar by the Rev. Mr. Frawley, parish priest of Ballycorick, on Sunday, the 1st inst., for having, in his capacity of patron of the local national school, appointed as teacher a Pretestant young woman of excellent character, the sole cause of objection being her religion. In a subsequent letter Mr. Ball, attributes the language used by the priest to the fact that he (Mr. Ball) had sent a notice to quit to another priest, the Rev. Mr. Breen, who was a tenant of his, with a view of raising the rent, as he did in the case of others of his tenantry. To these letters the bishop replied, stating that the Rev. Mr Frawley denied having ever cursed Mr. Ball, or any one else; and that he was sure that gentleman had been provoked by unfair representations of what had occurred in the chapel, declining to interpose his authority with his priests on the occasion.

SIZE OF OUR GREAT LAKES.—The latest measurement of our fresh water seas are these:—

The greatest length of Lake Superior is 335 miles; its greatest breadth is 160; mean depth, 988 feet; elevation, 627 feet; area 32,000 square miles.

The greatest length of Lake Michigan is 360 miles; greatest breadth, 188 miles; mean depth, 900 feet; elevation, 587 feet; area, 20,000 square miles.

The greatest length of Lake Huron is 200 miles; greatest breadth, 160 miles; mean depth, 900 feet; elevation, 574 feet; area, 20,000 square miles.

The greatest length of Lake Erie is 250 miles; greatest breadth, 80 miles; mean depth, 84 feet; elevation, 555 feet; area, 6,000 square miles.

The greatest length of Lake Ontario is 180 miles; greatest breadth, 65 miles; mean depth, 500 feet; elevation, 265 feet; area, 6,000 square miles.

Total length of all five, 1,585 miles; covering an area altogether of upwards of 90,000 square miles.

BARRICADES MENDING AT SEBASTOPOL.—We are told by the electric telegraph that "bombardment continued, but the breaches were always repaired." Certainly those Russians are good tailors.

THE RUSSIAN LANGUAGE.—The Russian tongue is almost insurmountable to a foreigner, and to master it sufficiently for literary purposes, would be in itself for such a person the labor of a life.—Excepting the Chinese, there is, perhaps, no language in the world fraught with so many difficulties. In the first place, the Russian alphabet possesses nine more letters than the English, and is made up of Greek, and Sclavonic characters. In 1629 the first Russian book was printed at Amsterdam, and it was about the year 1704 or 1705 that Peter the Great himself made many alterations in the old Sclavonic letters, for the purpose of assimilating them more to the Latin ones; and the first Russian journal was printed with this type at St. Petersburgh in 1705, four years after the foundation of that city, from a font which had been cast for him by artists brought from Holland.

THE WAR.

INCIDENTS AT SEVASTOPOL

GLEANED FROM THE BRITISH JOURNALS.

THE BATTLE EVE IN THE RUSSIAN CAMP.—A correspondent of La Presse communicates the following curious information respecting the proceedings in Sebastopol and the Russian camp, from the arrival of the reinforcements under Gen Dannenberg, till the battle of Inkermann.

The new reinforcements, which have come to the assistance of the Russians, had been already announced to the Commander in-Chief from Perekop. It was known that this army, commanded by Gen. Dennenberg—the most able we are assured, of all the Russian generals—and by the two Archdukes, Michael and Nicholas was composed of the 10th, 11th and 12th divisions. Each of these corps consists of 16 battalions of infantry, of two battalions of artillery, and of a force of cavalry, the number of which is not accurately known. Altogether 30,000 men have arrived at Sebastopol, post-haste, having left their baggage behind at Nicolaieff.

Having reached a forest, two leagues to the northeast of Sebastopol, the army halted, and the two Archdukes put themselves in communication with Prince Menschikoff who paid them a visit. A council of war was held on the 3d. at which the two Archdukes, Prince Menchikoff and Cen. Gorchakoff, were the only persons present. It was decided at the council that an attack should be made upon the allied forces two days afterward. The army was to advance toward Inkermann, to take possession of the fortified works which crown the heights and surround the plain of Inkermann. After having accomplished this, the army was to attack the eastern side of the French works towards Balaklava.

At the same time a vigorous sortie was to be made to help these operations. The point chosen was a spot between the Quarantine and the southern fort. A portion of the garrison of the city and of the southern fort was to attack and destroy the first and second French batteries which are causing considerable damage in the town.

Matters being thus arranged, Prince Menchikoff reserved to himself the command of the town and the disposition of the columns which were to make the sortie. The army and the reinforcements which had come up were placed under the commands of General Gorenskoff. The army of operation was to receive, also, draughts of troops from the garrison of Sebastopol. The archdukes placed himself on the staff.

Measures were immediately taken to insure the due execution of these plans.

The bishop began by reminding the soldiers of their duty to the Czar and their country, and drew their attention to the two archdukes, who had come to share their dangers. He then spoke of their enemies, and gave an explanation of the battle of Alma, calculated to flatter the self-love and to elevate the courage of the imperial army. The English came under the special notice of the bishop. He said they were poor soldiers, destitute of all energy, and hostile to the cause of God. His allusions to the French were a mere echo of the proclamation of the Czar at Moscow, in the year 1812.

The most remarkable point, however, was the strange conclusion of the address:

"If you are conquerors," cried the bishop, "great joy is in preparation for you. We know from unimpeachable sources that these English heretics have in their camp an enormous sum, which God will give into your hands. This sum amounts to thirty million roubles. The Emperor makes you a present of the third part of this tremendous sum. The second third is reserved for the purpose of the re-building of Sebastopol, which you are on the point of relieving. The remainder will be divided among the Princes and officers who will, to-morrow be your commanders in the battle. Every one of you, the Emperor promises a month's pay and rations. As to those of you chosen by God for a glorious death, your Emperor will permit you to dispose of your share in the booty by will. Whatever may be the wishes of any one of you they will be respected solemnly."

LETTER FROM AN OFFICER—LORD RAGLAN'S MESSAGE—"IS IT INTENDED TO MAKE WAR LIKE SAVAGES?"

Camp before Sebastopol, Nov. 8.

"I received your letter of the 16th about an hour after the termination of one of the hottest engagements of this or any other age, which took place on our regular Gunpowder day, the 5th of November. I will not enter into particulars, as you will gather everything from the despatches, and our correspondent's account; but I will tell you that with the numbers we had opposed to the Russian force nothing but British energy could have held the position we did for many hours without the slightest assistance. The enemy was supposed to be about 40,000; whereas our number during that time did not amount to more than 6,000 or 7,000 at the outside. Nothing could exceed the way our fellows fought; and it would have done your heart good to see the Guards stand up against the awful odds opposed to them. The Russian artillery was fearful, and they had got 32, 18, and 12 pounders upon the heights, which played upon us unceasingly. They always attack us at the same point, because they can shell us from their forts and ships over the whole of that ground. A very strong reinforcement had arrived from Odessa the day before, together with two of the Grand Dukes, and this was supposed to be their grand effort, which, thank God, has signally failed. They brought up their entrenching tools, so that they had evidently intended making a lodgement. Our loss is 2,502 killed and wounded, whilst theirs is variously estimated at 12,000, 15,000, and some say 20,000. The Guards who only went into action 1,200 strong, lost killed and wounded 580. Out of those there were twelve officers killed, and twenty-two wounded. I had my horse killed. Out of 11 general officers employed that day we lost three killed and five wounded! At this rate you will say, things will very soon come to a determination, and so it must be so far as the English army is concerned, for if we are to lose between 2,000 and 3,000 every day we go into action, our present 14,000 bayonets will pretty soon be used up. Our siege is going on slowly, but they say it must be done and shall be done. There was a council of war yesterday, and I am told it was settled that we were to make ourselves comfortable for the winter here. The much abused 46th has just arrived, looking smart and clean. The Duke of Cambridge and Major Macdonald, A.D.C., had their horses shot under them, and I were very nearly taken prisoners. Very trifling reinforcements have yet arrived. The Russians kill our wounded so much, that Lord Ragian has sent in to know 'if it is intended to make war like savages.'"

LORD GEORGE PAGET ON THE FIELD OF BATTLE.—A Sliverstone man, in a letter referring to the disastrous charge of the light cavalry on the 25th, says:—"There was Lord George's regiment (Lord George Paget) the 11th Hussars, 13th, 17th, and 8th Hussars, all cut to pieces. Lord George's regiment is cut up terribly; but he has escaped as yet. He has proved himself worthy of being called the Marquis of Anglesey's son. He fought at the head of his regiment like a hero. I was told by an old soldier that got wounded by his side, that Lord George waved his sword, saying, "Now, my lads, for Old England. Fight—conquer or die!" and led his men gallantly. The major is killed, and one lieutenant killed. Mr. Jolliffe is supposed to be shot; they can't find him."

SIR GEORGE BROWN'S GREY CHARGER.—A remarkable instance of vitality is recorded of the horse bestridden by Sir George at Alma. No fewer than 8 ball bullets were extracted from the poor animal at Constantinople, whether he was sent for treatment. The horse afterwards resumed his master, and is now perfectly well, and fit for field duty.

GETTING HOMEWARD.—No novel ever had a sham hero who comes up to the realities I have witnessed. One of my troop for instance, had his horse shot under him in the melee. "Bloody wars," he roared, "this won't do," and right at a Russian he ran, pulled him from his horse by the sword hand in a most extraordinary manner—then deliberately cutting off his head as he came down, vaulted into the saddle, and turning the Russian charger against his late friends and fought his way. This took less time to do than I to tell it. I saw another of our fellows unhorsed, and wounded, creep under a Russian charger and run the sword up his belly. The animal plunged and fell on his slayer, crushing him to pieces.

HOW FRENCH RIFLEMEN PICK OFF RUSSIAN GUNNERS.—The Constitutionnel published the following letter, written by a Zouave before Sevastopol:—

"MY DEAR FATHER,—I have been leading of late the life of a poacher. I am every day on the look-out for a Russian, being attached to a company of francs tireurs, or riflemen. Our duty is to fire at the Russian artillery men and to protect our own, who have no reason as yet to be dissatisfied with us. —— I cannot say the same of the Russians, who appear to suffer greatly from our rifles. To give you an idea of our mode of acting, we set out at 2 in the morning, fully accoutred, with a supply of ammunition and biscuit. On our arrival in the trenches we are provided with bags, a shovel, and a pick-axe. At a given signal we jump over the parapets with the agility of stags, and take refuge in some sheltered spots under the forts, where we dig a kind of rabbit-hole to hide in. We place our bags as a protection on the side facing the enemy, and we then set to work. We remain in this sort of tomb the entire day; we leave it at dark, often exposed to a shower of grape-shot. You will naturally ask, dear father, what we have to do. We load and fire in rapid succession, and every shot tells on a Russian artillery-man. The other day two officers were standing on a piece of timber placed on a tower opposite my station, for the purpose of having a view of our works. With two shots I brought down those gentlemen, and at the same moment the batteries let fly a discharge of balls, shells, and grape-shot which fortunately passed over my head."

NARROW ESCAPE.—A great deal of mischief was done by the Russian ships in the harbor, which threw a perfect shower of 8 and 10-inch shot and shell among our fellows. They continued this all night after the battle, though their own troops were withdrawn, and the shell only fell among their own killed and wounded. Some of the narrow escapes of individuals seem almost miraculous. The correspondent of The London Illustrated News had a most narrow escape. Two round-shot passed through his tent, and, before he could leave it, they were followed by a large shell which burst inside the tent within two feet of where he was standing. The tent was literally torn to ribbons by the explosion, yet strange to say the representative of our pictorial cotemporary was unhurt.

ANOTHER IRISH PILL FOR THE CZAR.

NEW CAVALRY CORPS FOR THE CRIMEA.—On the evening of the 30th Nov. (writes an English contemporary), nearly 100 Irishmen, the greater part of a new cavalry corps destined for special service in the East, embarked at Hungerford pier, on their way to Woolwich, whence they sailed for Gibraltar, in a vessel called the Joseph Shepherd. They are designated the Mounted Staff Corps, and consist of men selected for their intelligence and good conduct from the Irish Constabulary and Dublin Metropolitan Police. They all appeared to be men in the very prime of life, above the average height, and to be possessed of great muscular energy. They are accompanied by Major Grant, their commanding officer, Captain Baynes, and two subalterns, namely—Cornets Budgen and Hunten. Their appearance was novel and picturesque, and their embarkation attracted a considerable crowd of spectators in the vicinity of the market and pier of Hungerford. They were dressed in the new regimental tunic which is a short red coat, without epaulettes, tastefully ornamented back and front with black braid, and in which the ease and comfort have been as much consulted as the elegance of the wearer. The head-dress consisted of a strong black felt hat, resembling an ordinary helmet in shape, and encased or set in an open work of brass, in which both taste and durability were combined. They wore black or dark blue pantaloons, lined for about six inches round the bottom and up the inside of the leg with leather. They were each armed with a sword, and, what gave additional novelty to their ensemble, a Colt's revolver, which they carried in a neat black leather case on the left side. They will join their horses at Gibraltar. Several young women had followed in their wake to the place of embarkation, some of whom, and one in particular, evinced considerable emotion as the moment of separation arrived.

THE FIGHTING SECRETARY.—Colonel Steele, Lord Raglan's military secretary, was for some time supposed to have fallen. Lord Raglan, in the heat of the fight, ordered him to ride to the brigade of Guards and give the order to advance, intending, of course, that, the order being given, he should return to his place with the staff. The moment was however, too exciting for the hot blood of the military secretary, and, having given the order of his chief he rushed forward himself with his old battalion, and did not again present himself to Lord Raglan until he came to announce that the field was won, and to ask forgiveness for the breach of orders of which he had been guilty in joining in the brilliant charge of the Guards which so largely aided in gaining the battle.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC SURGEON.—A private letter from the East states that Dr. R. J. Mackenzie, of Edinburg, was so much attracted by the prospects of an active campaign that he resigned a first-rate practice and went out to Turkey, furnished by the Earl of Aberdeen with an introductory letter to Lord Raglan, who at once appointed him a temporary army surgeon, and attached him to the 79th Highlanders. In addition to undergoing all the hardships and privations incident to a life of campaigning, Dr. Mackenzie penetrated to Wilden, Schumla and Silistria, (after the raising of the siege), where he assisted at a great number of surgical operations for the relief of the numerous wounded in the Turkish hospitals in those places. —Edinburgh Advertiser.

The Times correspondent says that our Riflemen lately met some Russian soldiers in a quarry, and both being without ammunition they commenced pitching large blocks of granite at each other. It is evident from this that should powder and shot fail, the war will not be at an end while our men can get within a stone's throw of the enemy. Hospitality has evidently been brought to such a pitch, that the parties will go on pitching into each other as long as there is anything with which the Allies can have a shy at the Russians.

The Russian couriers manage to get from Sebastopol to Moscow, by way of Odessa, in 96 hours; from Moscow they reach St. Petersburg, by an extra train, in 12 hours; thus already 108 hours suffice, when no accidents occur, to convey Prince Menschikoff's despatches from the seat of war to the centre of Government.

LIBRARY FOR THE CRIMEA.—The Committee of the Religious Tract Society have furnished for the sick soldiers in the East 2,100 bound volumes and 190,000 smaller works. These have been granted to chaplains, officers in the two services, the Soldiers' Friend Society, Miss Nightingale, and others.

A PLUM-PUDDING FOR THE EASY.—Accompanying the tobacco and pipes, given by His Royal Highness Prince Albert for the use of the troops in the Crimea, and shipped on board the Malacca for conveyance thither, is the singular present from the Prince of Wales of a plum-pudding for Colour-Sergeant Davis, of the Grenadier Guards, who has so nobly distinguished himself throughout the campaign.

A letter from Bucharest, in the Post Amp Gazette of Frankfort, states that among the Turkish troops embarking at Varna for the Crimea are 7,000 men of the garrison of Silistria.

The Chronicle.

Saint John, N. B., Jan. 19, 1855.

SEVEN DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

The Royal Mail Steam Ship Canada, arrived at Halifax on Wednesday afternoon, bringing advices to the 6th instant. The news is interesting, and will be found in the subjoined Telegraphic Despatch.

At the seat of War great preparations were being made by the Allies, who had received additional forces, to make formidable, and we hope, a successful attack on the gigantic walls of Sebastopol. On the 15th the English had completed their new Batteries of Lancaster Guns, to rake any portion of the City; and we have every reliance magic words, "Open Sesame," thundered forth from the brazen throats of British cannon, manned by invincible Britons, will burst the gates of this Pandemonium, the strongest fortress in the world, even though old Nick! and young Nick! should head the Barbarians on the ramparts. Like the walls of Jericho those of Sebastopol must fall!

The Army and Navy Gazette, in discussing the present aspect of affairs on the Continent, says—"We may, however, state that we are still of the same opinion that Napoleon will take the command of his Army, in person, and enter on a War with Austria, for the part she has acted towards the Western Powers."

Negotiations respecting the conference at Vienna had not been concluded. The Austrian, French and English Plenipotentiaries met in the apartments of the latter, and drew up and signed a minute of the exact and precise interpretation which their Governments unanimously attach to the four points. The Austrian Minister then carried the document up stairs to the apartments where Prince Gortschakoff was waiting, in company with Counts Arnisor and Manteufel, as representatives of Prussia. In their presence, the Austrian Plenipotentiary communicated to Gortschakoff these propositions of the Allied Powers, and asked him whether he was prepared to accept them without modification or reserve. Gortschakoff replied that his instructions did not go so far. His orders were only to negotiate respecting the four points, but he would send off a courier, and hoped to receive further instructions in three days.

One informant says that the terms proposed to Gortschakoff were neither hard or humiliating. There was no intention of the razing of Sevastopol, nor of a reduction of the Russian fleet in the Black Sea. Gortschakoff requested fourteen days delay to obtain instruction from St. Petersburgh, which were granted. Consequently it will be a fortnight ere anything can be decided. Hostilities will continue in the meantime. It is said that the Russian interpretation differs but little from the allies, thereby affording a chance, although slight, for peace.

PRUSSIAN OVERTURES.

A private correspondence says that the Prussian note of December 19th, sent to London and Paris, says that Prussia has examined the Treaty made by the envoys in three separate conferences on the 16th. Prussia sees with satisfaction that the Protocols of the Vienna four points are respected therein, and Prussia, although she did not take part in the exchange of notes on the 8th of Aug., gave it her moral support, consequently Prussia is still in diplomatic concert with the Allied Powers, and has even engaged, under certain eventualities to military co-operation. Prussia is therefore disposed to join new stipulations of a pacific tendency. Prussia adheres to the general scope of the treaty of Dec. 2, and is willing to conclude an analagous arrangement, but an exact and precise interpretation of the meaning of the guarantees will be the pivot on which all Prussia's diplomatic measures will turn.

ITALIAN TREATY.—It is generally stated that a treaty is actually signed between France and Austria—France guaranteeing Austria's possession of the Italian Provinces, but the London Times disbelieves the existence of such a treaty.

GERMAN RELATIONS.—Austria has called on Prussia to place her army on a war footing. The Prussian semi-official Journals say that Prussia will not assent to it.

THE SIEGE OF SEVASTOPOL.

December 12th.—Weather frosty. There was a false alarm at 7 in the morning. The Russians were said to be gathering, and threatening the British right flank at Inkermann. The British continue to construct strong redoubts there. During the day the Russians conveyed a large convoy into Sevastopol.

Dec. 13th.—A general alarm at 1 A. M. Heavy firing was heard along the French line. An attack on the British was repulsed in three quarters of a hour.

Dec. 16th.—Severe fighting. In the night a sortie was repulsed by the French.

Dec. 19th.—Nothing important. Gen. Adams died of wounds.

Dec. 21st.—[Official from Gen. Canrobert.]—At 2 in the morning, the Russians, after having made a sortie on the third parallel of the British, who vigorously repulsed them, made a demonstration upon the centre and left of the French works. They were received by a heavy fire, and the Russians withdrew, pursued by the French bayonet:—loss considerable.

Dec. 22d.—The Paris Moniteur publishes officially from Gen. Canrobert:—Notwithstanding the bad weather, the siege works continue, the French and British co-operating kindly. Scarcely a night passes without some point of the French lines being attacked by sorties, which generally cost dear to the assailants. A corps of volunteers is organized to watch the approaches to the works at night. Also, a corps of volunteer Rifle French Tirilleurs to watch by day. The French works now extend to the Quarantine Bay. The enemy warmly dispute every inch, and the rock has to be hollowed out,—yet the works advance steadily. Reconnoiterers report that there are only pickets on the left bank of the Tchernaya. The main Russian army having moved probably towards Eupatoria. The officers of the Sevastopol garrison can have each month's service reckoned as a year.

The Czar's sons, Michael and Nicholas, were to return to the Crimea on the 7th.

Dec. 23d.—Admiral Hamelin telegraphs that 8,000 French had arrived in camp between the 13th and 20th besides others at Constantinople. The Admiral says attempts at sorties take place every night, but the Russians are always vigorously repulsed. The French on the 22d had only 1400 wounded and 1300 sick. The army suffered from wet, not cold. A spurious despatch from Odessa stated that Liprandi on the 25th was attacking Balaklava.—A heavy snow storm to-day.

Dec. 25th.—Gen. Canrobert writes, we shall soon be able to take the offensive. We make good our losses more promptly and more solid than the enemy can.—We are full of confidence. The Allies on the 25th had 350 guns on battery, ready to open. The plan of operation is, that fire was to be continued without cessation for 48 hours, and to be followed by a general assault, from both the French and British.

A letter from the Sultan Dec. 25th, orders Omar Pasha to go immediately to the Crimea to concert measures with the Allied Generals

Dec. 26th.—Menschikoff telegraphs that between the 20th and 26th Dec. nothing remarkable had occurred, excepting two sorties on 21st, in one of which 11 officers and 33 soldiers were taken prisoners and considerable killed. From bad weather, the siege operations progressed but slowly.

According to telegraphic despatches, both armies were preparing for the assault on the South side of Sevastopol.

Dec. 28th.—Considerable Russian reinforcements reached Odessa. Admiral Dundas and Hamelin were a Constantinople on their way home. Admirals Lyons and Bruat have at present command of the fleets. Lord Cardigan has left for England. Gen. De Lacy Evans has resigned in disgust.

Constantinople news says the siege works have advanced so far that direct communication was presented between the Garrisons of Sevastopol and the Russian forces near Balaklava, to whom provisions could only be sent by round-about paths along the coast. Although the works of attack were in a very forward state, the Correspondent of the Presse believes that nothing serious can be attempted against Sevastopol before Jan., 15th.

The Paris Moniteur announces that the Turkish Government shows great diligence in providing supplies, ammunition, and shipping repairs to the Allies.

ASIA.—Trebizond letters of the 5th contain important news. The Russian army was encamped at Bugazid, and had advanced to Toprak Stalch. Consternation prevailed at Trebizond, where the garrison was strong, but badly organized.

Dec. 3.—A strong Russian force attacked Redoubt Kaleh. The garrison, aided by English officers and a Polish General repulsed the attack. The situation was still precarious.

The Porte has sent commissioners to reorganize the army of Anatolia and Circassia.

The Russians have formed in various points of Circassia corps of native militia, with Russian officers.

Micklee Pasha is named Commander-in-Chief of the Turkish army in Asia.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The Board of Trade Returns for the month ended Dec. 5, show a decrease of exports of nearly two millions sterling.

Morewoods & Rogers, Iron Merchants, London, have failed for one hundred and eighty thousand pounds sterling; assets large.

The motion to set aside the adjudication in the case of Edward Oliver, a bankrupt, is further adjourned.

The London Times has caused much excitement by advocating in boldest terms the immediate removal of Lord Raglan from command for incompetency. The Times is also vigorously writing down the Ministry, and indicates the Marquis of Dalhousie, the present Governor of India, as the only man capable of the position of Minister of War.

The Queen has written an autograph letter sympathizing with the wounded.

FRANCE.—Subscriptions to a new loan were opened Jan. 2d, and a good business done. Considerable sums were from England. The French Baltic fleet is ordered to re-assemble at Brest and Cherbourg. Business very active during Christmas week in Paris.

Prussia issues a notice calling attention to the law forbidding Prussians to enlist into foreign service.

LATEST BY TELEGRAPH.

Disturbances are threatening in Brescia and Varna. The Theatres were closed and public assemblages prohibited.

COMMERCIAL.

LIVERPOOL MARKETS—Cotton in fair inquiry during the week.

BREADSTUFFS—The imports of Grain and Flour continue light, but present supplies from farmers equal the demand, and the market is quiet; dull at last week's prices.

Beef continues firm, but not active.

Pork, good quality, sells readily. Coffee, Sugar and Tea, quiet. Tobacco firm.

Manchester market unchanged. Money ditto.

Consols had declined 1 per cent., but recovered, and closed at 90 3-4.

Freights to United States still continue downward.

SHIP NEWS.

Arrived on the 29th ultimo, ships Burito, and Reddin, at the Clyde; Mohongo, Londonderry.—30th, Royalist, Leith.—1st instant, H. Stephenson, Dover.—2d, Hartley, Holyhead, all from St. John.

Arrived at Liverpool, 23d, ship Montrose, Hue, Quebec.

THE PATRIOTIC FUND.—Albion Lodge, of Freemasons, has contributed £50 stg. of its funds in aid of the Patriotic Fund for the relief of the widows and orphans of the British soldiers who may fall in the war.

Hibernian Lodge, at its last meeting, unanimously seconded the effort; and no doubt all the lodges in the Province will respond. We should think the money granted by each lodge should be formed in one common fund and sent as the Masonic offering from New-Brunswick. Many lodges there are whose Exchequer being low from the many calls to assist the destitute at this season of the year would think their means too limited and not move in the matter—by adopting the above suggestion, we think all will give to the extent of their means.

Carleton Royal Arch Chapter, in this City, has voted £25 from its funds for the like purpose.

St. George's Society at its last regular meeting voted a handsome sum. We understand St. Andrews has done likewise.

York Division, Sons of Temperance, have appropriated £20 of their funds to the same purpose.

At a meeting of Victoria Temple of Honor, held at the Temperance Hall, Portland, last week £20 was appropriated to the Patriotic Fund.

ORPHAN ASYLUM.

On the evening of Friday, the 12th instant, a public meeting, to take into consideration the propriety of establishing an Orphan Asylum in the City of Saint John, was held in the Mechanic's Institute. The meeting was large, and highly respectable—and but one feeling appeared to pervade the whole—the necessity for establishing a House of Refuge for poor destitute Orphans.—After the usual preliminary proceedings had been gone through, the following resolutions were unanimously agreed to:—

Moved by the Rev. John Armstrong; seconded by Dr. Botsford:

"Resolved—That the destitute Orphans, whose number has been much increased by the late epidemic, are committed by God as a special charge to those in whose hands he has placed the means of relief."

Moved by the Rev. W. Ferrie; seconded by Mr. John Boyd:

"Resolved—That Asylums for Orphans have been established in almost every Christian community, and that an imperative call is now made upon us to erect a similar institution, where the spiritual as well as the temporal well being of these destitute children may be promoted."

Moved by the Rev. Samuel Robinson; seconded by the Rev. E. M'Leod:

"Resolved—That the principles of christianity do not leave it optional whether it is our duty to engage in this work of humanity; but that being Stewards only of what we have received, it is our bounden duty to advance God's glory, by ministering to the wants of others."

Before the meeting separated a subscription list was opened, when the sum of £18 19s. 6d. was paid in.

NEW BRUNSWICK BIBLE SOCIETY.

With feelings of satisfaction we learn that His Excellency the Hon. John Henry Thomas Manners Sutton, Lieutenant Governor of this Province, has contributed the sum of twenty pounds to the funds of the New Brunswick Auxiliary Bible Society; at the same time His Excellency gave consent to be enrolled as one of the Patrons of the Society.

STARVATION STATISTICS.—The New York Herald contains the following table of persons estimated to be out of employment in New York:—Tailors and tailoresses, 7,000; cabinet-makers, uyholsterers, &c., 1,500; masons, 2,000; mechanics, smiths, &c., 700; printers, 500; stereotypers, 150; bookbinders, folders and stitchers, 450; shoemakers, 400; house carpenters, 200; ship carpenters, 700; rope makers, block makers, riggers, &c., 500; plasterers, 200; plumbers, 600; umbrella makers, 250; hatters, 200.—Total, 15,450.—[The number of common labourers is not given, and must be immense.]—Ed. Chron.

GOVERNMENT APPOINTMENTS.

We perceive that Messrs. John Duncan, George Young, and Moses Tuck, have been appointed by the New Government, Commissioners of Police for Portland, vice the Hon. C. Simonds, J. Hawes, and T. Allan, resigned; William Wright, Esq., Commissioner of Sewerage, vice LeBaron Botsford, resigned; and Allan McLean, Esq., to the post of Shipping Master for the Port of St. John.

"ALL ON THE RAILWAY."

Did we hear a-right! or have we been dreaming? The Railway operations suspended! Can we believe such a report? In the last publication of the Church Witness (seldom wrong in its statements) we read the following guarded announcement:—

"It is stated that all work on the St. John and Shediac line of Railway is suspended. It is certain that a great number of laborers have been discharged, and that some curious reports are in circulation."

Well! well! we must, after all, say we are by no means disappointed. Some months past we offered to bet a small wager with a neighbouring contemporary (who appeared to take the conductors of this line under its "Patriarchal" protection) that the summer of 1846 would not leave this line in travellable condition for Railway carriages.—We did not, however, dream of any "curious reports," nor have we, as yet, heard what those reports are. There is one thing certain, it is not for want of funds the works have been suspended, for hundreds of poor labourers are daily to be seen idle through the City, who would gladly embrace any employment to procure food and shelter for their family.

Upon this all-important subject the Christian Visitor of Wednesday last says:—

"For the present at least, our railway operations may be seen, who swell the number of labouring men in the market square. They are on their way to the United States. We hear all kinds of floating rumours which we forbear mentioning."

NO. 6 BALL.—This superb Fire Company gave a Ball on Wednesday evening last. The decorations, arrangements, &c., have not been exceeded in the City. There was a large company present on the occasion. Dancing was kept up until an early hour—(of course No. 6 is a leetle a-head in tripping the fantastic toe)—when all separated pleased with each other, and with ardent hopes of soon meeting again to enjoy a repetition of an entertainment so exhilirating and delightful.

THE PATRIOTIC FUND.

The several Societies of the Sons of Temperance in this City and Province are setting a glorious example to their fellow-countrymen by the liberality of their subscriptions to the Fund for the relief of the Widows and Orphans of the gallant soldiers falling in the War in the East. We are also enabled to state that several private contributions from patriotic gentlemen in this City, have been forwarded to London. Our Masonic Brethren are likewise heart and soul in the good work.

In the end, and when all shall have done their duty in our Province, we have no doubt but New Brunswick will occupy a conspicuous position on the List of contributors to this Fund.

CESSATION FROM THE FOURTH ESTATE.—The Rev. J. C. Cochran, in the last number of the Halifax Church Times, announced his retirement from the editorial charge of that journal.

ECCLESIASTICAL PROCEEDINGS we understand have been commenced in the Ecclesiastical Courts against the notorious Tractarian, of St. Barnabas, London, the Hon. and Rev. Mr. Liddell. Popery, no doubt, has her arms wide spread to enfold him in her arms. Be it so; better a thousand enemies should recline their heads on the bosom of the Scarlet Lady, than that the Church of God should be brought to blush for their misdeeds. Truly may we say the days for purifying the Church have arrived. The weeds are going out into the dung heap one by one.

PATRIOTIC FUND IN NEW YORK.—We are gratified to learn that in New York—notwithstanding the great depression in trade there at present, and the vast number of mechanics and labourers out of employment, and consequently in much need of public sympathy—large sums are being subscribed in aid of the Patriotic Fund of Great Britain.

IRELAND.—In Ireland the enthusiasm on behalf of the glorious cause in which England is now engaged, is very great. Young men of every class and creed are thronging forward to assert the justness of the war with Russia. The Irish Constabulary also, the picked men of that country, are volunteering most cheerfully for the seat of war, while the people in general, are subscribing their money to swell the Patriotic Fund. Who dares to doubt the triumph of our Queen over a would-be usurper, in whose behalf all British-born subjects are united as one family, to die, or gain fresh laurels for their nation!

We perceive by the last number of the Inverness Herald, that a public meeting was held in that town last week, with the view of aiding the promoters of the Patriotic Fund for the relief of the Widows and Orphans of the British soldiers who may fall in the present conflict with Russia. Go it Colonists!

MADAME KROLLMAN'S CONCERT.—Last Tuesday evening the Hall of the Institute was well filled to hear Madame Krollman's Concert, which went off admirably. Several songs were rapturously encored, and some of the lighter pieces at the close put the auditory in excellent humour. The "Gathering of the MacGregors" was sung well and spiritedly; and Madame Krollman then announced that next Tuesday evening she proposes giving a Concert at the Institute, tickets half-a-dollar each, for the benefit of the Patriotic Fund! This announcement was received with great cheering and approbation, which was suitably acknowledged by Madame K. who closed her address by stating, that her efforts would avail nothing for the fund unless support by the people of St. John, upon whose support on this special occasion, she confidently relied. The fair songstress then closed the evenings entertainment by singing "God Save the Queen" in her best style, after which three rattling cheers were given by the audience amid great enthusiasm.

Madame Krollman, was ably accompanied by Mr. Card on the piano-forte; and Mr. Card also took part in the duets much to the satisfaction of the auditory.—New Brunswicker.

THE CHRISTIAN VISITOR.—Our Baptist contemporary, published in this City, now printed by Mr. G. W. Day, in a folio form, from a new fount of types, makes a very decent appearance. The Rev. I. E. Bill, assisted by Mr. James Demill, conduct the editorial department.

☞ We perceive by a Card published in the Yarmouth Herald, from Captain Charles Petch, of this City, who recently lost the vessel he commanded, that the Masonic fraternity in that neighbourhood, in a true Brotherly spirit immediately tendered a substantial token of that consideration which ought never to be lost sight of among Masons.

BALLOU'S DOLLAR MONTHLY MAGAZINE.—Mr. R. O'Brien has kindly supplied us with a copy of the first Number of this Magazine, published by Maturin M. Ballou, Boston. It is elegantly got up, and the tales, poems, &c., so well selected, that we have no doubt of its success among the reading public. It contains 100 pages of reading matter, exclusive of advertisements; while the price is only 10 cents, or 1 dollar per year.

THE ANGLO AMERICAN MAGAZINE.—The January number of this deservedly popular publication has been received. It needs no recommendation at our hands, having already established a high position in society. This excellent Magazine is published by Maclear & Co., Kingston, Toronto.

A NEW JOURNAL.—We have been forwarded the first number of the Westmorland Times, a new weekly Journal just sprung into existence at the Bend. It is needless for us to say we wish it may prosper.

☞ Received from Mr. W. H. Bashford, our monthly part of the comprehensive family Bible, commencing 2nd cap. Deuteronomy.

The Common Council met yesterday (Tuesday.) All the members were present except Messrs. Mercer, Wilson and Domill. The Eastern Land Committee reported that the Whitney lot at Reed's Point had been purchased by Mr. E. Hooper for 21 years, at £30 per annum—he paying also £550, the estimated value of the improvements now on the lot. A lease was ordered to be issued to Mr. Hooper under the common seal. The question in dispute with the Gas Company, with regard to lighting the street lamps, was brought forward by Mr. Fairweather; and a resolution of the Company was read, stating that although the cost of the street lights was over £10 each, in view of the probability of coals being cheaper next season, the directors were willing to furnish gas for the number of lamps required over sixty, for a year from the 1st Nov. last, at the rate of £7 10s. each.—After a short discussion, it was resolved, that the city would pay at the rate of £7 10s. per annum, for each lamp that may be lit and required, over sixty, from the present time to the 1st Nov. next—Messrs. Foster and Woodward being the only dissentients. The Lamp Committee was authorized to point out the lamps that should be lit, and to reduce the number if they thought it necessary. A Committee was appointed, consisting of Messrs. Fairweather, Keans, Woodward, King, & Coram, to take into consideration the propriety of erecting Carleton into a separate and distinct city, and report. On motion of Mr. Keans it was unanimously resolved to grant £50 to Mr. B. Lester Peters, Clerk of the Police office, as an additional remuneration for his services. A number of bills were ordered to be paid, and the Council then adjourned.—Church Witness.

☞ The following are the names of the men lost from the Brig Vixen of this Port, Captain Charles Petch, which was upset in a squall in the month of October last, on her voyage to South America:—William Shee, native of Halifax; Jas. Beatty, of Ireland; Francis Johnberts, Germany; Robert Lensman, of St. John.

TELEGRAPH TO THE PACIFIC.—Among the important subjects now before the House of Representatives may be mentioned the bill reported yesterday by Mr. Farley, from the Committee on Territories. It is the Senate bill authorizing the construction of a subterranean line of telegraph from the Missouri or Mississippi river to the Pacific ocean.—The utility of such a work, if the price of transmission should not be too high, is self evident, but the question whether it would be secure from Indian depredation or the malice of bad white men is a matter to be well considered. The difficulty of ascertaining a break in the wire is not one of the least, but human ingenuity at present is equal to almost any thing.—Nat. Intel.

More than four hundred daguerreotype pictures have been already sent from the seat of war to Paris, representing the sets and deeds of valour of the army.

We hear that one thousand persons, including men, women and children, are out of employment in Lynn. The shoemakers have been obliged to contract their business.

In New York there are 27,000 females at the present time out of employment, and unable to support themselves.

Private letters have been received at Washington which state that the British screw steamer Himayaya, the largest vessel ever built in England, and said to be the best, is now in Malta dock, being repaired. It is feared she will have to be broken up, her hull not being deemed strong enough for her power.

Colonel William Frederick Williams, C. B., of the Royal Artillery, now acting as Her Majesty's Commissioner with the Turkish Army in Asia, is to have the local rank of Brigadier General while so employed.

A yankee vessel has been seized at Sydney, New South Wales;—she had 8 guns on board, and a set of Russian colours, and it was suspected that she was going to privateer.

CRIMEAN ARMY FUND.—In addition to many other liberal donations, the Committee of the Crimean Army Fund have received from the Duchess Dowager of Cleveland one fat ox, eight sheep, and six pigs, with a large quantity of game; from the shareholders and directors of Price's Patent Candle Company a contribution to the value of £600 in patent swing ship lamps and candles, and fifty hogsheads of stout from Messrs. Truman, Hanbury, Buxton & Co.

The great transept of the Crystal Palace is now adorned with a monster Christmas tree, nearly 50 feet high, and decorated by numerous flags, variegated lamps, nick-nacks, bon-bons, &c. The tree cost nearly £700.

The funeral of Lord Dudley Stuart took place on the 15th at Hertford. Among the mourners were a number of distinguished Poles.

A man was recently fishing in the Medway, with a net, when he pulled up the body of his son, who had been drowned a month before.

Remittances have been sent as first instalments to the Patriotic Fund of £1,000 from the County of Kilkenny, £750 from Limerick, £340 from the County of Mayo, and £118 from the little town of Carrick-on-Suir.

The Glasgow contribution to the Patriotic Fund amounts to £37,000.

Advices from Darmstadt of the 15th Dec., state that according to the bulletin of the physicians King Lotis of Bavaria, the patron of art, was on that day much better. He had enjoyed much sleep, the febrile symptoms had left him, his head was relieved, and he was recovering strength.

THE YOUNG BRITISH OFFICERS.—Previous to the war, luxury and indulgence appeared to have reached a point the most extravagant. Young men and elderly men seemed to vie with one another in providing means of inordinate self gratification. The club-houses of the metropolis became joint-stock palaces of refined and elaborate luxuriousness. If, on the Derby day, or Oak's day of 1853, one had walked into St. James-street about 11 o'clock in the morning, there were to be seen the young men of fashion with their admirably appointed carriages, preparing for the sports of the day, and most of them, with blue veils tied round their hats, intended to be used as guards for their complexion, when encountering the sun and dust of the road. If one walked on to the Army and Navy Clubhouses in Pall-Mall, the most preposterously luxurious of all the places in that neighbourhood, there were other similar groups.—Among all these young men, though in the dress of civilians, were officers of the regiments which have been performing such astonishing feats of valor! These young men, who thought it necessary to guard their face from the sun of a British summer day, are the same who have lain in their tents upon the heights above Sebastopol, scarcely sheltered from the cold damps of a November night, and have started with alacrity at the first sound of the trumpet and drum, in the raw mists of the morning, to lead their men into the most terrible conflicts that ever soldiers were engaged in, and to face death in every terrible aspect that death can assume.—London paper.

The Glasgow contribution to the Patriotic Fund amounts to £37,000.

NEW YEAR'S OFFERING.—We understand that the annual collection for the poor, taken up in St. Andrew's Church last Sabbath, amounted to the handsome sum of £43 1s. 6d. Taking into consideration the circumstances of the times, we cannot help commending in the highest terms the enlightened and Christian liberality of the congregation. During the course of last year they paid off a debt of about £2,000, expended on repairs of the Church about £300, and contributed for benevolent and missionary purposes £350; besides providing amply for the ordinary expenses of the establishment—an example surely worthy of imitation and deserving all praise.—New-Brunswicker.

MARINERS' LYCEUM.

On the evening of Wednesday last Mr. John Boyd delivered his third lecture on the subject—"The Old World and the New," at the Mariners' Lyceum, Marine Hall, Lower Cove. The lecture, which commenced about eight o'clock, was well attended. There was no charge for admission.

A YANKEE SPEAKING SOUND SENSE.—It is never safe to look too sharply into the affairs either of men or nations, if we wish to preserve our faith in their complete goodness. It is not to be denied that the sympathies of almost the whole American people are with the English in the present contest. If we were to analyze the reasons of this sympathy, perhaps, after all, it will be found to be groundless and misplaced. Yet we believe sympathy with Russia still more misplaced and groundless. England has been for so many years a foremost pioneer in the progressive march of civilization, she has advanced so steadily and surely, and so as a whole, (though in specific acts it may be basely so nobly in the pathway of Reform, that we are inclined to trust her in whatever she undertakes. In this war, now exciting the attention of the world, we take no other interest than that which every man must feel in the welfare of the human race. The final issue is hidden from us. Whatever it may be we fully believe it will aid in the development and progress of mankind. The readiness with which it was entered upon, shows more strongly than any language, the dread of war which has taken possession of the best minds. The comparative humanity with which it has been conducted, is an omen of great good. The hope which all men meets in its speedy termination, is an evidence that peace is better than war.—State of Maine.

A "PINCH" OF MEDICINE; AN IMPROMPTU CURE.—The Gazette des Hopitaux of the 19th, publishes a remarkable cure of cholera by mistake. Dr. Rodger (de l, Ore) having been called upon to visit a person in the worst stage of cholera, prescribed but with scarcely the slightest hope that it would be efficacious, an emetic of 1 1-2 gramme of ipecacuanha, to be taken in three doses (prises) at intervals of half-an-hour. The person who was charged to administer the ipecacuanha, seeing the word prises, and finding that the medicine was a powder imagined that it was a kind of snuff, and that the three prises meant three pinches. He consequently made the patient sniff up a third. The ipecacuanha, thus administered, instead of making the patient vomit, caused him to sneeze with such force, and for so long a time, that a violent reaction took place. Heat returned to the surface, all the symptoms of cholera ceased, and when the physician paid his next visit he found the patient cured.—Galignani's Messenger.

UPTON AND SEBASTOPOL.—When Mr. Upton went to Sebastopol the harbour was in a very inefficient state, and in vain had several engineers endeavoured to repair it. There was great difficulty in getting the water into it so as to admit large ships. He procured immense iron works at Birmingham, and by dint of science, labour and expense, he made it what it is. The whole time of his residence in the Crimea he has been engaged in the fortifications in the Black Sea, and has been for some years the chief engineer at Sebastopol. The Emperor was so pleased with him that he gave him the rank of lieutenant col. in the army, and he was received at the palace of St. Petersburg. In addition to his numerous forgeries and frauds he got upwards of three thousand pounds of the money of his wife's relations, not one farthing of which did he repay. He held the post office at Daventry for a year, and at the end of it was a defaulter of nearly three hundred pounds, which one of his sureties was obliged to pay. He died about a year ago, and has left a name (infamous though it be) more durable than the brass artillery he planted at Sebastopol.—Northampton.

BROTHER JONATHAN.—It is pleasant to vary the records of battle and the petty details of international bickerings, with mention of a generous deed, nobly performed, and with a hearty contempt for reputed jealousy. On the Fourth of July last, the U. S. steam-frigate Susquehanna, Capt. Buchanan, the U. S. sloop-of war Vandalia, and H. B. M. sloop-of-war Encounter, Capt. O'Callaghan, were lying at anchor before Shanghai. The latter ship fired a salute in compliment to the National Day; and in the execution of that duty, a seaman had his arm blown off. Thereupon the officers and crews of the two American ships raised amongst themselves the very handsome sum of £283 sterling, which was enclosed to Captain O'Callaghan in a brief and manly letter, begging that Jack would "accept it from his brother seamen as a proof of our heart-felt sympathy." Now we call that a notable and a graceful deed. There was no speech-making, and no fuss; it was all about a poor fore-mast man; but it was the right thing, well done. Captain O'Callaghan, in returning thanks on behalf of the subject of such liberality, takes occasion to dwell very happily on the good will and kind feelings which exist, and ought to increase, between the two nations.

GOING THE WHOLE PURE.—Teetotalism has its extravagance like every thing else, and the head may be turned by water as effectually, if not as rapidly, as by whiskey. We have lately heard of a sad instance of aberration in a teetotal intellect, the result of which was that the unfortunate victim threw away a handsome Mackintosh wrapper because it was water-proof.

Brigt. Neptune arrived at Yarmouth last week from Curacoa. Captain Trask died on the island; two of the crew died on the passage home, and the captain's wife had been very ill but recovered.

Cure for Sores, Scalds, and Burns.—Holloway's Ointment.—This wonderful Ointment will cure the most dangerous burns, scalds, and other sores; it completely identifies itself with the system, mingling with the blood, it lulls the pain, soothes the irritation, and speedily heals the parts affected. Thousands of persons have been saved from an untimely end, through this extraordinary salve; therefore all families, are recommended to keep a supply of it constantly by them.

GRAND CONCERT!

MADAM MARY SHAW KROLLMAN, the Celebrated Vocalist, being desirous to increase as much as possible the amounts now being raised in other places in aid of the Widows and Orphans of the noble and gallant heroes who have fallen, bravely fighting the battles of their country, begs leave to announce that on TUESDAY Evening next, Jan. 23d, she will give a GRAND CONCERT, in the Hall of the MECHANICS' INSTITUTE, when she will appropriate to the Fund, Madam KROLLMAN being an Englishwoman, although resident of the United States, yet retains that love of country which is the pride of every British-born subject to cherish, and which she believes the late noble deeds of the Army in the East cannot fail to awaken in the breasts of those who possess one drop of English blood in their veins, with tenfold emotion.

Thankful for the munificent support she has received at the Concerts in her own interest, she assures her friends and the public that she will be much more gratified should her efforts be crowned with still greater success, and hopes the Public will assist to raise a sum worthy of the object.

The Tickets on this occasion will be 50 cents each. The Programme will consist of National Songs, Airs, Ballads, Duetts, &c., appropriate to the occasion. Mr. HENRY CORD, will assist as usual at the Piano Fort.

Tickets at the usual places, and at the Hall on evening of performance. To commence at 8 o'clock. GOD SAVE THE QUEEN!

HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY.

The following was adopted as a Standing Rule in the Session of 1851:—

27th.—That no Bill of a private nature, or Petition for money or relief, shall be received by the House after the fourteenth day from the opening of the Session, both inclusive; and that the Clerk of this House do, one month previous to the meeting of the Legislature, cause fifty printed copies of this Rule to be sent to each of the Clerks of the Peace in the several Counties, for distribution, and cause the same to be inserted in the Royal Gazette, and two Newspapers in each County where Newspapers are published.

LIVERPOOL AND LONDON Fire and Life Insurance Company.

Instituted in 1836.

Incorporated by Special Acts of Parliament.

Capital, Two Millions Sterling.

Unlimited liability of the Stockholders of the Company.

Subscribed Capital, £1,500,000.

Instalments called in,	£197,197	10 0
Accumulated funds,	346,972	4 0
	£544,169	14 0

THE 18th annual General Meeting of this company was held at Liverpool on the 16th February last, when the following Report of the business of the Company during the past year was submitted:—

"The increase in the Fire Insurance Business must be satisfactory to the Proprietors, as shewing the rapid and safe progress which the Company is making. The receipts for the first year have increased considerably over those of 1852, while the losses have materialy diminished.

	1852.	1853.
Receipts,	£98,654	£113,612
Loss s,	59,091	42,846
Profits,	£39,563	£70,766

These results show, notwithstanding the very numerous and destructive fires that have occurred both in this country and especially in America, that great caution has been exercised in taking risks, on the part of those on whose judgement the Directors must necessarily in a great measure rely. The reserved surplus fund now amounts to £143,712.

The officers for the current year at Liverpool are:

The scenes are laid alternately in New York, on the coast of Africa and Ægian Sea. We have laughed almost to side splitting at the eccentricities of Old King Kettle, the Lounge Chief; and we have alternately rejoiced and wept over the history of Zuleika, the Greek maid and matron.

We fancy, too, that there is some satire hidden beneath the character of Mordaunt, but we do not wish to forestall the author's narrative—there are some exceedingly beautiful touches of pathos in various portions of the volume. It must have a large sale. For sale by

THE TERROR KING—DEATH!

WHO CAN STAY HIS SCATHING LANCE?

I come! I come!—'tis in vain ye flee,
I'm a monster—indeed ye may well fear me—
I'm a tyrant with whom ye may not play;
Powerful my arm—resistless my sway—
I'm "King of terrors"—and terror of Kings.
And the dread and awe of all animate things:
When e'er I seize, so firm is my grasp,
No mortal my icy hand can unclasp.

If ye dare to question my Sovereign power
O'er all that live—from the germ to the flower,
Come with me and mark—on that fond mother's breast
The beautiful infant just sinking to rest—
Its playful endearments and sweet cherub smile,
Her fond young heart of its cares beguile:
I touch it—and snap life's tender thread—
In a moment—'tis number'd with the dead!

I'm a pityless wretch—and with me bring
A horde of evils for life's young spring—
I scatter diseases, and terror, and dismay,
O'er the juvenile throng at their school and their play—
The book and the doll are quick laid aside,
The young things my with ring blast can't bide,
But shrink from my pressure and give up the ghost,
Like a young bud nipt by the biting frost.

See that blooming maiden, just sweet sixteen,
Her bright laughing eye—her enchanting mein—
Full of joyous hope—full of years to come—
The delight of her parents—the pride of her home—
A cankering care ne'er clouded her brow—
Her life teemed with pleasure—ah! look at her now!
I breathe o'er her beauty—she sinks in my arms,
And the pale winding sheet hides her envy'd charms.

To the midnight revel—the ball—the play—
I go in disguise—and what hosts I slay!
At the festive board unseen I preside,
In the sparkling glass I'm sure to hide—
The votaries of pleasure don't dream I'm near
Till I put a stop to their gay career:
Their feverish passions no longer burn,
And friends that lov'd them weep over their urn!

See the friend—the master—the prop of the house
The fond, fond father—the tender spouse—
The family circle, so happy, and gay,
So loving! so lovely! you'd with them stay:
They liv'd for each other—ah, home, sweet home!
So sweet, they thought not of a world to come—
But I change their note into mourning and woe,
My aim is unerring! the head is laid low!

I'm a waster—a spoiler—my pestilent breath
Wafts destruction and misery over the earth:
I level distinction—rank, talent and fame
Flee at my approach, and leave scarcely a name!
From the cot to the palace—the lowly, the proud,
The wise, the ignoble, by me are subdued—
The proud, haughty chieftain—and warrior brave,
Who conquer'd whole nations, himself cannot save.

Since certain at some time my visit I'll pay,
And none can escape me, or chase me away:
Be READY to meet me—to SUCH I'M A FRIEND—
To their toils and their suffering I put a sure end:
To the Christian I'm welcome—my sting has no power,
While the triumph of Faith gilds his dying hour
As I open the portals to mansions of bliss,
Far—far from the woes of a world such as this!

PUNTER'S D—.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND YOUNG MEN SOCIETY OF ST. JOHN.

The first Annual Meeting of the Church of England Young Men's Society of this City, was held at the Mechanics' Institute on the evening of Tuesday se'nnight. Notwithstanding the unfavorable state of the weather, the attendance was large and respectable, and the meeting passed off in the most cheering and satisfactory manner.

At eight o'clock the chair was taken by his Honor Mr. Justice Parker, and the proceedings commenced by singing the first psalm—the whole meeting joining—and by prayer, which was offered up by the Rev. John Armstrong; after which the Chairman briefly stated the objects of the Society, and expressed in very appropriate terms, the pleasure he felt in assisting in their promotion.

The Rev. Dr. Gray delivered an address, pointing out some of the tendencies of the age, the origin of similar Societies in the 16th century, the advantages of them to young men, their parents, employers, and to society at large; the duty of all to support and encourage them; and pointing out especially the one now formed amongst us, and the claims it possesses.

The following resolutions, after being ably supported by the movers and seconders, having been put to the meeting, were unanimously agreed to:—

Moved by Dr. LeBaron Botsford: seconded by Mr. J. W. Lawrence—

"Resolved—That the Church of England Young Men's Society of Saint John, is in the opinion of this meeting entitled to the encouragement and support of Churchmen in this City, as calculated to be highly conducive both to the morals and spiritual improvement of the young men themselves, and to the advancement of the interests of the Church in this Province.

Moved by the Rev. John Armstrong; and on being seconded—

"Resolved—That the remarkable extension of the Redeemer's Kingdom in the world at the present time thro' the instrumentality of the Church Missionary and other Societies, calls for the adoring gratitude of all Christians, and that this meeting learns with pleasure that it is one of the objects of the Church of England Young Men's Society to obtain and circulate more general information as to the Missionary efforts of the Church, as also to contribute thereto."

A hymn was then sung with cheering effect by the assemblage, after which the Rev. Dr. Gray pronounced a blessing, when the meeting (having first subscribed £9 10s), separated.

CARLETON DORCAS SOCIETY AND LADIES' BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION.

At a Meeting of Ladies, at the residence of Andre Cushion, Esquire, it was proposed by Mrs. Cushion and supported by Mrs. Jewett, that a Ladies' Association, connected with the several religious denominations of Carleton, should be formed, for the purpose of enquiring into the necessities of the poor; and supplying their wants during the inclement season of winter.

With these Ladies, it was referred to Mrs. J. F. James, and resolved that the Ladies of Carleton should be apprised of this preliminary meeting, and called upon to unite their benevolent efforts in the object. Accordingly, a meeting was convened at the residence of E. D. Jewett, Esq; when a series of resolutions were adopted, and Ladies engaged to fulfil the office, as follows:—

President—Mrs. KNIGHT;
Vice President—Mrs. M'ALLEN;
Treasurer—Mrs. MAYO;
Secretary—Mrs. J. F. JAMES.

Directors and Visitors:

Mrs. J. LITTLEHALE,	Mrs. JAMES OLIVE,
" GORE,	" SALTER,
" CUSHION,	" JEWETT,
" TILTON,	" Z. ADAMS,
" W. OLIVE,	" WRIGHT,
" THOMPSON,	" WARD,
" LUCAS,	" LONGLEY.

This our effort receives the patronage of his Worship the Mayor, and other Gentlemen in our vicinity, who have liberally given in their subscriptions, as also ourselves; present upon the occasion, amounting to £16 10s. 0d. Our thanks are due to E. D. Jewett, Esq., for his liberal and hearty entertainment, and to J. Littlehale, Esq., for assisting in the operations of the evening.

Donations and subscriptions in Cash and Goods, will be thankfully received by any of the before named parties.

P. S.—Our weekly meeting upon Tuesday, the 17th instant, at Andre Cushion's, Esq., commencing—Ladies Sewing Circle, at 3, p. m.; Tea, at 6; when friends are invited to attend.

For the Association,
J. F. JAMES, Secretary.

The far-famed Medicine. HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

SUPPOSED CURE OF A CONFIRMED ASTHMA, AFTER FIVE YEARS' SUFFERING.

The following Testimonial has been sent to Professor Holloway, by a Gentleman named Middleton, of Scotland Road, Liverpool.

Sir,—Your Pills have been the means, under Providence, of restoring me to sound health after five years of severe affliction. During the whole of that period, I suffered the most dreadful attacks of Asthma, frequently of several weeks' duration, attended with a violent cough, and continual spitting of phlegm intermixed with blood. This so shook my constitution that I was unfitted for any of the active duties of life. I was attended by some of the most eminent medical men of this town, but they failed to give me the slightest relief. As a last remedy I tried your Pills, and in about three months they effected a perfect cure of the disease, totally eradicated the cough, and restored tone and vigour to the chest and digestive organs.

I am, Sir, your obedient servant,
Jan'y. 1st, 1853. (Signed) H. MIDDLETON.

PERMANENT CURE OF A DISEASED LIVER OF MANY YEARS' DURATION.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. Gamis, Chemist, Yeovil, to Professor Holloway.

Dear Sir,—In this district your Pills command a more extensive sale than any other proprietary medicine before the public. As a proof of their efficacy in Liver and Bilious complaints, I may mention the following case. A lady of this town with whom I am personally acquainted, for years was a severe sufferer from disease of the Liver and digestive organs, her medical attendant assured her that he could do nothing to relieve her sufferings, and it was not likely she could survive many months. This announcement naturally caused great alarm among her friends and relations, and they induced her to make a trial of your Pills, which so improved her general health that she was induced to continue them until she received a perfect cure. This is twelve months ago, and she has not experienced any symptoms of relapse, and often declares that your Pills have been the means of saving her life. I remain, Dear Sir, yours truly.

Nov. 23, 1852. (Signed,) J. GAMIS.

AN ASTONISHING CURE OF CHRONIC RHEUMATISM AFTER BEING DISCHARGED FROM THE HOSPITAL INCURABLE.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. W. Moon, of the Square Winchester.

To Professor Holloway,

Sir,—I beg to inform you that for years I was a sufferer from Chronic Rheumatism, and was often laid up for weeks together by its severe and painful attacks. I tried everything that was recommended, and was attended by one of the most eminent Surgeons in this town, but obtained no relief whatever, and fearing that my health would be entirely broken up, I was induced to go into our County Hospital, where I had the best medical treatment the Institution afforded, all of which proved of no avail, and I came out no better than I went in. I was then advised to try your Pills, and by persevering with them was perfectly cured, and enabled to resume my occupation, and although a considerable period has elapsed since, I have felt no return whatever of the complaint.

I am, Sir, your obliged servant,
Oct. 8th, 1852. (Signed) W. MOON.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF DROPSY, AFTER SUFFERING FOR EIGHTEEN MONTHS.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. G. Briggs, Chemist, Goole, dated February 15th, 1853.

To Professor Holloway,

Sir,—I have much pleasure in informing you of a most surprising cure of Dropsy, recently effected by your valuable medicines. Captain JACKSON, of this place was afflicted with Dropsy for upwards of eighteen months, to such an extent that it caused his body and limbs to be much swollen, and water oozed out it were from his skin, so that a daily change of apparel became necessary, notwithstanding the various remedies tried, and the different medical men consulted, all was of no avail, until he commenced using your Pills, by which, and a strict attention to the printed directions, he was effectually cured, and his health perfectly re-established. If you deem this worthy of publicity, you are at liberty to use it.

I am, Sir, yours respectfully,
(Signed) G. BRIGGS.

The Subscriber having been appointed Agent to the above Company for New-Brunswick, begs to announce that he is prepared to receive Proposals for FIRE AND LIFE ASSURANCE. The large Capital of the Company, and the number and influence of its Proprietors, enable it to rank with the most eligible Offices, either in America or Europe, with respect to the security offered to the Public.

FIRE BRANCH.

Persons assured by this Company are not subject to any covenants or calls to make good losses which may happen to themselves or other, nor do they depend upon an uncertain fund or contribution, the Capital Stock of this Company being an unquestionable security to the Assured in case of Loss or Damage by Fire.

LIFE BRANCH.

In addition to the more customary methods of Insurance, the Company likewise Assures Live on any of the following contingencies:—

For the term of One Year, Seven Years, or any other definite period.

For the whole continuance of Life.—The Premiums to cease, after a limited number of Annual Payments.

For Two Joint Lives.—The sum assured to be paid on the death of either.

On the longest of Two or Three Lives.—The sum assured to be payable at the death of the last survivor; or,

The Survivorships.—To secure the payment of the sum assured, if a life A die before another life B.

For a sum to be payable at age 60, or at death.

Premiums on Credit.—A portion of the Premiums may remain on Credit. Assurances may be effected in various ways, not enumerated, to meet the convenience of parties.

The important advantages afforded by the Company in the Life Branch will include the following viz:—

The Guarantee of an ample Capital, and Exemption of the Assured from liability of Partnership.

Moderate Premiums.

Large Participation of Profits by the Assured amounting to Two-thirds of its net amount, which may be applied at the option of the party effecting the Assurance:—1st. By the immediate payment of the sum so apportioned.—2nd. By an equivalent reduction of the future Premiums.—Or, 3rd. By an equivalent increase of the sum assured.

Small Charge for Management.—The expenses of the Office being borne in due proportion by the two Branches.

Prompt Settlement of Claims.

Policies lapsed by non-payment of the Premium may be renewed within three months, by paying the Premium, with a fine of 10s. per cent., on the production of evidence to the satisfaction of the Directors of the good state of health of the life assured.

The Company will always be prepared to Purchase the Policies of this Office at their equitable value or will grant a New Policy in lieu thereof without any further payment of Premium, for a sum to be agreed on.

Extra Premiums, suitable to special circumstances, will be accepted to enable a party possessing a Policy on the life of another to rank against the possibility of its being vitiated by the Life departing beyond limits, or by any other cause.

Thirty Days are allowed for the Payment of Premiums after the day on which they respectively

Additional Advantages offered to Lives Assured with this Company at St. John, N. B.

I.—RESIDENCE.—Persons assured for the whole term of life will have permission, without the payment of extra Premium, to reside in any part of Europe, or in any place in North America to the north of 38 degrees of North Latitude, but not to the westward of the Mississippi River.

II.—VOYAGES.—They will also, if not sea-faring by profession, be allowed, without any extra charge—

To cross and re-cross the Atlantic Ocean, in steamers or first-class sailing-vessels;

To pass from any part of Europe to any other, or from any part of North America to another, within the limits above specified; also,

To pass to and from, but not to reside in any place which shall not be further south than 35 degrees of North Latitude, but not to the westward of Mississippi River.

CEASE BY THE EMPEROR OF RUSSIA.

Russian Consulate General,
London, Dec. 2, 1847.

The Consul General has been ordered to inform Messrs. Barry Du Barry & Co., that the Revalenta Arabica they had sent to His Majesty the Emperor, has, by imperial permission, been forwarded to the Minister of the Imperial Palace.

Cure No. 71, of dyspepsia from the Right Hon. the Lord Stuart de Decies:—"I have derived considerable benefit from Du Barry's Revalenta Arabica Food, and consider it due to yourselves and the public to authorise the publication of these lines.—STUART DE DECIES."

Cure No. 49,832—"Fifty years' indescribable agony from dyspepsia, nervousness, asthma, cough, constipation, flatulency, spasms, sickness at the stomach and vomiting have been removed by Du Barry's excellent food—Maria Jolly, Madgeburg, 15th Sept. 1853.

My wife, having suffered for years from a pulmonary complaint, became so ill at the beginning of this year, that I looked daily for her dissolution.—The remedies which hitherto had relieved her remained now without effect, and the ulcerations of the lungs and night sweats debilitated her fearfully. It was in this, evidently the last and hopeless stage of pulmonary consumption, when every medicine seemed powerless in even affording temporary relief—that I was induced by a medical brother from Hanover, who makes pulmonary consumption his special study, and treats it with Du Barry's Revalenta Arabica, to try this strengthening and restorative food, and I am happy to be able to express my astonishment at its effects. My poor wife is now in as perfect a state of health as ever she was, attributing to her household affairs and quite happy. I do it with pleasure and the most sincere gratit
