HEAD LIGHT ON TROLLEY CAUSED TRAIN WRECK

Engineer Failed to See Signals to Stop and Crashed Into Freight.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 2.—Grand Trunk passenger train No. 8, eastbound, due here at 7.45 last night, from Chicago, collided with the rear end of a freight train which had broken in two on a grade near Royal Oak, about 15 miles from this city, and was wrecked.

Notwithstanding the passenger train was running 60 miles an hour, making up time, no one was killed and but two persons suffered injuries of any consequence.

It is said that a headlight on a passing suburban trolley car, running within 200 feet of the Grand Trunk tracks at the point, blinded the engineer of the passenger train so that he did not see the signals of the freight trainmen, who were trying to stop his train.

Hamilton Happenings

PASSED WITHOUT PARADE SPORTS TOOK ITS PLACE

Cook, of Hamilton, Winner of Road Race—10,000 Attended at Dundurn Park.

HAMILTON, Sept. 2.—(Special.)—For the first time in many years, Labor Day was celebrated in Hamilton without a parade. The time-honored custom gave place to a series of sporting events, comprising a road race in the morning and a program at Dundurn Park in the afternoon.

Of late years the labor men of Hamilton have not turned out in the parade as strongly as they might have. It is estimated that fully 10,000 attended the games this afternoon. The road race took place from The Herald office to the five-mile post on the Beach road and return. Owing to a heavy rainfall on Sunday night the roads were very heavy, and the time made was rather slow. The event was won by Cook, of this city, in 1.00.46. W. Muirhead was second and Cuthbertson of Brockville third. The latter finished very much to to the bad as he was unattended.

A band concert was held in the Armories in the evening, the Forty-fourth Regiment Band of Grimsby furnishing music. A large number of drawings were made for numerous articles, for which tickets were sold. The committee for the day was composed of H. J. Halford, chairman; Walter R. Rolle, secretary, and William Berry, treasurer.

Detective Campbell went to Toronto to-day and brought back William Blood, York street, on a charge of obtaining fifty cents from Thomas Beacroft under false pretenses. A number of charges will likely be preferred against Blood, however. It is alleged that he offered to get work for about fourteen Englishmen in a lumber camp and they all paid him fifty cents each. They were to meet him at the wharf at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon and go to Toronto with him. Blood claims that he missed the men inadvertently.

Frank Robbins, North Caroline-street, dislocated his shoulder at Dundurn Park this afternoon while competing in the games there.

The Royal Canadian Reds of the Indian reserve, defeated the Hamilton lacrosse team in a game this afternoon by 7 to 1.

John Gillespie, trainer of light harness horses, died at the city hospital to-night. He was a popular sportsman.

EXHIBITION NOTICES.

Martin-Orme Pianos.

The Martin Orme piano exhibit in the manufacturers' building at the fair is one which is thronged daily with music lovers and connoisseurs. This display of pianos was not especially gotten up for the fair, but is the regular stock, which is daily offered to the public by the firm, so that prospective buyers will be able to judge for themselves by looking at the exhibit.

Concrete Machinery.

The London Concrete Machinery Company have an interesting exhibit outside the eeastern entrance of the machinery hall.

Builders and contractors have studied the exhibit daily, and have found it not only instructive but in many respects a revelation.

The London Concrete Machinery Co.'s factory is located at 23 Redan-street, London, Canada. They are manufacturers of the famous London combined, adjustable, concrete, block machine, and a full line of concrete machinery.

Mill Workers Now Safe.

Every day hundreds of workmen in mills thruout the world meet with accidents such as getting fingers cut off, or more serious accidents. But now there is no more cause for such accidents since the Jones Safety Device Co., Limited, of Hamilton and Buffalo, put their devices on the market.

They have an exhibit in the machinery hall at the fair grounds, and every day throngs of men who have met with such accidents crowd around the display, with the exclamation: "If this had been invented before, I would not have been maimed like this."

The safety devices shown are the hand joiner guard, the wood shaper guard and the circular saw guard. They all fit on to the various machines and are adjustable and further, do not delay the work in any way.

"Thoroughness is Their Motto."

Judging from the quality of the pianos exhibited in the manufacturers' building by the Morris Piano Co. of Listowel, "thoroness" appears to be the motto of the company. Not only is the finish of the instruments unsurpassed, but a touch of the keys reveals a tone that is unrivaled for purity and richness.

While the uniformity of excellence in all the examples displayed make it difficult to select any particular style for special reference, a first glance over the whole exhibit will naturally be attracted by some feature or other. To those who appreciate the restfulness of the Mission style of furniture, a splendid specimen in Flemish oak will at once appeal.

Others will undoubtedly have their attention drawn to a colonial case with a landscape painting on the panel beautifully executed. The primus inter pares, however, is certainly the Sheraton, which has been admitted by visitors qualified to express an opinion as the finest specimen of that style on exhibit. The Toronto agents of the company are the H. W. Burnett Co., 276 Yonge-street.

A Popular Exhibit.

One of the popular stopping places for the throngs which constantly surge thru machinery hall at the exhibition is the exhibit of the Chapman Double Ball Bearing Co. of this city. This concern is an extremely popular one thruout the Dominion, there being no less than 600 factories wholly or partially equipped with their anti-friction bearings, and when it is remembered that a line of shafting fitted with them is from 70 per cent. to 85 per cent. more efficient than with ordinary journal boxes, the cause of this popularity is very apparent.

Besides shafting bearings, the company is showing a full line of loose pulleys, mule stands, light and heavy thrust bearings, light power table bearings and automobile bearings, all of course of the Chapman Double Ball type. They are also running a 50-inch Sheldon Shavings Exhaust Fan, and expert blower man state that the performance of this fan, equipped as it is with Chapman Double Ball Bearings, is astonishing.

Comparative tests of ordinary journal boxes and Chapman Bearings are still being made daily at the exhibition from 10 a.m. to 12 m. and from 2 to 5 p.m. These are of great interest to engineers and factory managers.

Chapman Double Ball Bearing Axle.

The Chapman Double Ball Bearing Co. of this city has an extremely interesting exhibit in the carriage section of the exhibition under the grand stand. Here they are showing a huge truck wheel, formerly on one of the wagons of the George E. Waite Co. of Fitchburg, Mass., and for two years carried a load of from 10 to 12 tons of wood pulp from the freight depot to the factory daily. That the wheel is in excellent condition is evidenced by the length of time it will spin after it has been set in motion.

They also have two trucks—apparently twins—each loaded with 2500 lbs. of pig-lead. But there is a vast difference in their running qualities. One is equipped with Chapman Double Ball Bearings, the other with the ordinary axle bearing—the former taking a measured pull of 9 1-2 pounds to start it on the level, the latter 33 1-2 pounds.

A full line of parts for carriage, buggy and heavy truck bearings is also shown, as evidence that the Chapman Ball Bearings can be applied to the ordinary vehicle with but little effort.

DESTROYING DRUDGERY.

Orison Swett Marden in Success Magazine: No matter how humble your work may seem, do it in the spirit of an artist, of a master. In this way you lift it out of commonness and rob it of what would otherwise be drudgery.

You will find that learning to thoroly respect everything you do, and not to let it go out of your hands until it has the stamp of your approval upon it as a trade-mark, will have a wonderful effect upon your whole character.

The quality of your work will have a great deal to do with the quality of your life. If your quality is down, your character will be down; your standard down, your ideals down.

The habit of insisting upon the best of which you are capable, and of always demanding of yourself the highest, never accepting the lowest, will make all the difference between mediocrity, or failure, and a successful career.

If you bring to your work the spirit of an artist, instead of an artisan—if you bring a burning zeal, an all-absorbing enthusiasm—if you determine to put the best there is in you in everything you do, no matter what it is, you will not long be troubled with a sense of drudgery. Everything depends on the spirit we bring to the task. The right spirit makes an artist in the humblest task, while the wrong spirit makes an artisan in any calling, no matter how high.

There is a dignity, an indescribable quality of superiority, in everything we do which we thoroly and honestly respect. There is nothing belittling or menial which has to be done for the welfare of the race.

You cannot afford to give the mere dregs, the mere leavings of your energies, to your work. The best in you is none too good for it.

It is only when we do our best, when we put joy, energy, enthusiasm and zeal into our work, that we really grow; and this is the only way we can keep our highest self-respect.

He Was Sitting Down.

The late James A. Bailey, famous as the successor of P. T. Barnum, once accepted an invitation to a dinner tendered to a bride and groom among the "freaks" of his circus. He was late in arriving and found the company politely awaiting him. There were living skeletons, dwarfs, Circassians, snake charmers, the "girl that spoke seven languages and had two heads which made fourteen languages in all," the "dog-faced boy" and others. Beaming upon them with paternal air, the happy manager acknowledged the genial "Hello, pop," that went around the festal board.

"I am sorry I kept you waiting," he said, taking his place at the table. "I believe there are several new additions to the company. Is this the groom?"

"No," replied a deep voice from the full beard addressed. "I am the bride."

"I beg your pardon," said Mr. Bailey. "I did not recognize the bearded lady. But, tell me, which is the groom?"

"I am," proclaimed a very thin voice.

"I congratulate you, my man," said the manager. "Sit down, let us on with the feast—sit down."

The guest addressed at once began to ascend seemingly until his head was in the neighborhood of the canvas roof, from which height he looked down and said:

"I was sittin' down, pop—I was sittin' down!"—Success Magazine.
