POOR DOCUMENT

FOR DYSPEPSIA,
Ayer's Sarsaparilla
Is an effective remedy, as numerous testimonials conclusively prove. "For two years I was a constant sufferer from dyspepsia and liver complaint. I doctored a long time and the medicines prescribed, in nearly every case, only aggravated the disease. An apothecary advised me to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I did so, and was cured at a cost of $5. Since that time it has been my family medicine, and sickness has become a stranger to our household. I believe it to be the best medicine on earth." —P. F. McNulty, Hackman, 29 Summer st., Lowell, Mass.

FOR DEBILITY,
Ayer's Sarsaparilla
Is a certain cure, when the complaint originates in impoverished blood. "I was a great sufferer from a low condition of the blood and general debility, becoming finally, so reduced that I was unfit for work. Nothing that I did for the complaint helped me so much as Ayer's Sarsaparilla, a few bottles of which restored me to health and strength. I take every opportunity to recommend this medicine in similar cases." —C. Evick, 14 E. Main st., Chillicothe, Ohio.

FOR ERUPTIONS
And all disorders originating in impurity of the blood, such as boils, carbuncles, pimples, blotches, salt-rheum, scald-head, scrofulous sores, and the like, take only

WHAT CAUSED THE DEFEAT?

In his Woodstock speech on Monday evening Attorney General Blair made the following reference to the cause of the defeat of the government candidates in St. John a year ago. Our quotation is from the report published this morning in the columns of our esteemed contemporary, the Sun:—

He asserted most emphatically that the defeat of the government in the city and county of St. John was not on their general policy, but, because they had the temerity to appoint R. J. Ritchie, a Roman Catholic, to the office of police magistrate for the city of St. John. A fanatical cry was raised and fomented by the opposition candidates and their friends, many of whom had since become ashamed at the part they took in that disgraceful exhibition of intolerance and bigotry.

Upon this statement the Sun makes the following comment and denial:—

It suits the attorney general, because his case is utterly hopeless in St. John, to charge two-thirds of the people of this city with bigotry and intolerance, and to say that his friends were defeated by an overwhelming majority here because a Roman Catholic was appointed to office. Mr. Blair knows that this is a false account of an affair, which was one of many events that led to his defeat here. Great numbers of Roman Catholics hold office in St. John. The appointments of many of them have been suggested or warmly approved by the men who took the leading part in opposing Mr. Blair last winter. There is, in fact, no city in Canada where there is less of intolerance and bigotry than in this city.

Here we have a most positive contradiction of Mr. Blair's statement and an angry denial of the allegation that Mr. Ritchie's religion had anything to do with the dissatisfaction of the electors at his appointment. The election referred to took place just a year ago and the circumstances are therefore fresh in the minds of all our readers. For this reason it is not necessary for us to contradict the assertion of the Sun or to indorse that of Mr. Blair. The electors of St. John who voted against Mr. Blair's candidates know why they did so, and what influences were used to cause them to vote as they did.

STEAM-BOAT SUBSIDIES IN THE BAY OF FUNDY.

The question of subsidies to steamboats running to this port from various ports in the Bay of Fundy came up yesterday at the meeting of the Board of Trade. The steamers running to St. John from Bay of Fundy ports which receive subsidies from the Dominion government are the Lansdowne, running to the Basin of Minas ports, $3,000; the City of Monticello, running to Digby and Annapolis, $11,500; the steamer running to Yarmouth, the owners of which receive $5000 for the entire route between St. John and Halifax, and the steamer Flushing running to Grand Manan, which receives $4,000. Some of these steamers received subsides from the provincial government up to last year, but all the provincial subsidies were discontinued, with the exception of that to the Grand Manan boat. It will be remembered that when a delegation of the Board of Trade went to Fredericton last winter for the purpose of pressing the Provincial government to restore the subsidies they were confronted, by a memorial from the Bay of Fundy steamship company opposing the granting of subsidies to the Yarmouth or Basin of Minas boats, and declaring that if any subsidies were to be given they should go to the City of Monticello. Now the Board of Trade is asked to assist in obtaining larger subsidies for the Basin of Minas, Yarmouth and Grand Manan boats. If the Provincial government is appealed to will the Bay of Fundy steamship company send another memoral to the government opposing the demands of the Board of Trade? Considering the amount of indignation that was aroused by the last memoral it will hardly be repeated.

THE BELLEDUNE AFFAIR.

There has been no evidence so far adduced at the examination which is taking place at Dalhousie to justify the horrible stories which have been published in the Moncton Times and Sun in regard to the alleged tragedy at Belledune. If the evidence of Petre, at whose house the alleged crime took place, and of his son and wife is to be believed George Williams, the sailor who is missing, was simply hustled and beaten by some of the party because he would not drink with them and, escaping from their hands ran away in the darkness. Petre swears most positively that none of his assailants except one, Cameron, went out after the sailor and he did not go until ten minutes or more had elapsed and only remained out about five minutes. This shows that the dreadful story which was so circumstantially told of what occurred after the sailor fled from the house was not and could not have been true. The drunken gang who assaulted the unfortunate sailor remained in Petre's house, drinking, after he fled until they had got themselves properly fuddled and then went away. It will now be in order for those who circulated the shocking account of the sailor's mutilation and murder to produce some evidence of the truth of their stories.

EVICTIONS IN IRELAND AND DISPOSSESS WARRANTS IN NEW YORK.

In the year 1880, 4000 ejectment processes were issued in Ireland. This number exceeds that of any previous or subsequent year. It is computed that the average family consists of five members, therefore the number of the "evicted" was about 20,000. In 1880 Ireland had a population of about 5,000,000; and the number of the evicted was one to two hundred and fifty. During the same year in the city of New York 11,280 "dispossess, warrants," equivalent to ejectment warrants in Ireland, were issued. Allowing, as in Ireland, five members to each family, this means that during the year 1880, 56,400 men, women and children were thrown into the streets for the same reasons that led to the eviction of 20,000 in Ireland. New York in 1880 had a population of about 1,250,000. The evictions therefore in Ireland and in the city of New York in the year 1880 were about as follows:—In Ireland, one to every [two hundred and fifty; in the city of New York, one to every twenty-two and a sixth. While since 1880 the number of evictions in Ireland has been constantly decreasing, in New York city during the year just closed it had swelled to a total of 16,325, which means that during the year in that one city 81,635 men, women and children were driven from under the roofs that sheltered them for non-payment of rent. It is not true, but for the sake of comparison, let it be conceded that the poverty of tenants, both in Ireland and New York, was in all cases the cause of those evictions. Then the matter stands in this wise; one in every two hundred and fifty in Ireland is unable to pay rent while in New York city one in every twenty-two is in the same condition. In 1880 it was telegraphed over the world that ejectment processes were as thick as snowflakes in Ireland and every tongue had cries of "shame" for the merciless landlords; but in 1890, while the dispossess warrants were fifteen times thicker in the city of New York the telegraph was silent and it is a question if but very few outside of the landlords and tenants in that great city had any inkling of the actual condition of affairs. Almost universally the sympathies of the poor are with the poor, and they are too apt to forget that the rights of the rich are identical with their own. They look upon the landlord who demands the prompt payment of the rent for his houses and lands as a Shylock, forgetting that he is just as much entitled to his income from those sources as the capatalist is from his railway and bank stock, or the merchant from the goods he handles. There are those who have shared their last dollar with the poor, who fail to see why the landlord should supply his tenants with shelter without recompense, any more than the capatalist should surrender his cheque book, or the merchant his merchandise to those who are unwilling or unable to pay. The contract between the landlord and his tenants is no less binding on the one party than the other. Morally the baker, butcher and grocer have no more right to refuse to supply their customers with their various commodities when they refuse or are unable to pay for the same weekly, monthly or quarterly as may be stipulated, than the landlord has to refuse shelter under the same circumstances. "What," asks the New York World, "becomes of the evicted?" And it answers:—

Some are lucky enough to have friends who help them out of their most desperate emergency. Others are able to find shelter until a few dollars are scraped together to keep the lamp of life aflame until work is secured, and the others—oh, they sell their little bit of furniture and live on the proceeds while they can and then—well, it is hard to tell what becomes of them. The Commissioners of Charities and Correction may be able to answer that question. Perhaps the morgue-keeper could tell something about it.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

Dr. Alward remarked in his eloquent peroration which we quoted yesterday that "There yet remain seven thousand men who have not bowed the knee to Baal," For "Baal" read Sir John A. Macdonald. Can it be possible that Dr. Silas Alward who was one of the seven thousand is about to become the kind of idolater he denounced and bow the knee to Baal?

Mr. Geo. Robertson, President of the Board of Trade, made a capital speech before that body yesterday. Among the things which he referred to as necessary to be done was the carrying of the railway along the city wharves. We trust that this matter will engage the new President's energies at once and that before the present year is ended he may be able to boast that this necessary work was completed by his efforts.

Mr. W. W. Turnbull does not like the present assessment law which he considers to be cruel and absurd. The assessment law may not be perfect but it is a great improvement on some we have had in St. John in former years, under which persons with small incomes were heavily taxed and rich men like Mr. Turnbull escaped. There are some rich men who would like the poor to pay all the taxes; we trust that Mr. Tuanbull is not one of them.

We publish elsewhere the amounts which the lawyers, clergymen and medical men of this city were assessed on income last year. The figures have been obtained from the public records and we beg leave to call the attention of all interested in city affairs to them. It will be seen that while some incomes are assessed to their full amount others are placed at an absurdly low figure, The medical men many of whose incomes are believed to be large seem to be rated very low.

H. G. Wall, who is cutting lumber for the Shulee Lumber Co., cut one day this week 35,000 feet of deals and boards with his mill, which is one of A. Robb & Sons heavy portables consisting of 50 h. p. Hercules engine, and 60 h. p. Monarch boiler, medium heavy stay and gang edge. Mr. Wall expects to cut 2,000,000 ft. this winter.

Wonderful Roadway That Runs 1,200 Feet Up a Mound.

Charles J. Wimple, a wealthy Mexican miner, tells the following story to a representative of the San Francisco Call:

"You have asked me to give an account of the interesting mountain my friend, Jessie D. Grant, and myself saw during our trip through Mexico en route to this city. Well, that mountain is at once one of the most gigantic exhibitions of man's handiwork and something almost beyond credence were we not already familiar with the works of the Aztecs.

"Just imagine a valley forty by thirty miles in area, and from its centre rising a mound over 1,200 feet in height. Then you can realize the first effect created upon our minds when we came before the hill I am to describe. My foreman was with us, and had partly prepared us for the surprise, but we had treated his story with incredulous remarks, and had by no means suspected he had but given a modest description of the mound.

"We gazed to the top and allowed our eyes to follow the windings of a road down to the base. We went around the base and conjectured it was about one and a half miles in circumference Then we started for the summit. The roadway was built of solid rock clear to the pinacle, and was from thirty to forty feet in width. A wall of solid rock formed a foundation and an inside wall at the same time. The outer edge of the road was unguarded. These stones weigh all the way up to a ton each, and are not cemented. The roadway is as level as a floor, and is covered with broken pieces of earthen-ware water vessels,

"Half way up the mountain is an altar cut in solid rock; in the niche is a boulder which must weigh at least six tons. The boulder is of different stone from that used in the walls. The rocks in the walls are dressed by skilled workmen but are not polished. We saw no inscriptions; in fact, we had no time to spare in making a searching investigation. We did look for arrow-heads or other warlike implements to satisfy ourselves, that the mound had not been used for defensive or offensive purposes. Nor was there any evidence to prove that the road-way was built for the purpose of witnessing bull fights and other sports in the valley. I could only conclude the Aztec sun worshippers expended years of labor on the hill in order that the might have an appropriate place to celebrate their imposing festivals, inasmuch as the roadway was strewn with broken earthenware, and those scions of a bygone and notable race were known to carry at sunrise large quantities of water in earthenware jars to an eminence, and there pour out the liquid and smash the vessels.

"When we descended we brought with us a number of small sea-shells which had petrified, and if you look at these on my table you will see how they have been perforated by the Indians. We again took a long long look at the mountain and saw it was oblong in shade, and that the upward road commenced on the eastern side. I have travelled on both sides of the mountains from British Columbia to Central America, and on either side of the Sierra Madres where the cliff-dwellers have left such remarkable mementos of their skill and customs, but I have never witnessed anything so wonderful and magnificent as the mound which I have been telling you about.

"The valley is about six hundred feet above the sea level, and is about seventy miles from the coast. It is situated in Sonora, between the cities of Altar and Magdalena, and near the Magdalena River. We call the curiosity Palisades Mountain, and it is well named."

Some Cutting Things About Life in His New Book.

Beauty ends where intellect begins, Intellect is in itself an exaggeration and destroys the harmony of any face.

The ugly and the stupid have the best of it in this world. They can sit quietly and gape. They live as we all should live, undisturbed, indifferent and without disquiet.

The one charm of marriage is that it makes a life of deception necessary for both parties.

Conscience and cowardice are really the same things, Conscience is the trade name of the firm. That's all.

Laughter is not a bad beginning for a friendship and is the best ending for one.

The more insincere a man is, the more purely intellectual his idea will be, for it will not be colored by his wants, his desires, or his prejudices.

Every impulse that we strangle broods in the mind and poisons us. The body sins once and has done with its sin, for action is a mode of purification. Nothing remains then but the recollection of a pleasure or the luxury of a regret.

Nothing can cure the soul but the senses, just as nothing can cure the senses but the soul.

The only difference between a caprice and a lifelong passion is that the caprice lasts a little longer.

Sin is the only color ele ment left in modern life.

Young men want to be faithful and are not; old men want to be faithless and cannot.

Punctuality is the thief of time.

Nowadays people know the price of everything, and the value of nothing.

Men marry because they are tired women because they are curious. Both are disappointed.

People who only love once in their lives are really shallow people. What they call their loyalty and their fidelity I call the lethargy of custom or the lack of imagination.

Faithlessness is to the emotional life what consistency is to the intellectual life—simply a confession of failure.

Religion consoles some. Its mysteries have all the charm of a flirtation.

Is insanity such a terrible thing? I think not. It is merely a method by which we can multiply our personalties.

Purify The importance of keeping the blood in a pure condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is heredited and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and has also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

PHYSICIANS
Who have used the various Emulsions of COD LIVER OIL with which the market is flooded, and aft prescribing ESTEY'S COD LIVER OIL CREAM, unhesitatingly pronounce it the finest preparation of the kind they ever used. Being made with Glycerine instead of sugar or other Saccharine matter in any form, renders it far less liable to fermentative changes in the stomach, and prevents and overcomes the flatulency and eructation so often occasioned by the plain Cod Liver Oil.

FROM DR. J. F. BRINE, RICHIBUCTO, N. B.
I have prescribed your Cod Liver Oil Cream extensively during the past three years and am prepared to state that no other preparation of the kind has met with equal acceptance at the hands of my patients. It is easily taken and pleasing to the stomach. Children like it, and it does not decompose in warm weather, a most important desideratum."
Price, 50 cts. Six Bottles, $2.50. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Prepared only by E. M. ESTEY, Manufacturing Pharmacist, Moncton, N. B.
