REPORTS OF THE BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS AND OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF THE PROVINCIAL LUNATIC ASYLUM.—We are indebted to the Superintendent—DOCTOR WADDELL—of this Provincial Institution for a pamphlet bearing the above title. From the Commissioners report we abstract the following:—

The Receipts are for Warrant on the Treasury, £2100; of Paying Patients, £115 5s. 8d.; balance of last year, £38 10s. 2d.; amounting to £2253 14s. 10d.

The Expenditures are for Food, £887 19s. 2d.; Clothing, £96 2s. 4d.; Officers and Servants, £677 6s. 4d.; Building and Improvements, £480 13s. 2d.; Fuel, £106 2s. 6d.; Furniture, £207 1s. 6d.; Miscellaneous, £41 8s. 6d.—amounting to £2496 13s. Balance in hands of Commissioners, £57 2s. 10d.

Credit the amount paid by Paying Patients, £115 5s. 8d., from the amount of expenditure, £2496 13s., leaves the net cost for support and maintenance for the past year, £2381 7s. 4d.

Doctor Waddell states, that on the 31st of December last there were then remaining in the Asylum of "old cases" 35 males and 40 females, and of "new cases" 13 males and 8 females.

We earnestly recommend the perusal of the admirable report to all persons who feel interested in this important and useful Institution, as it furnishes many facts, which lead to the conviction, that its management has been entrusted to a safe and competent hand, and that its direction and control are fully entitled to the confidence and approval of the people at large.

CARLETON LECTURES.—The Reverend Mr. Lawson lectured last evening on "THE PRESS." He traced the origin of Newspapers and dwelt upon their progress and the present development of their extraordinary power. The essay was marked by the usual good sense of the lecturer, whilst he insisted upon the importance of a well conducted Press, and shewed its oft repeated effects in upholding the rational freedom and happiness of mankind. To the duties of those who controlled the operations of this powerful engine, the Reverend gentleman eloquently alluded, and the responsibility they labored under, when "pledged to religion, liberty and law."

We are happy to find that our opinions, relative to the best method of developing the Resources of the this Province, and making ourselves better known to the British people, are endorsed by the best informed portion of the Canadian Press, by their copying our articles on the subject entire. We trust the hints thrown out by us will not be lost by our representatives.

LEGISLATIVE LAWYERS.—If a proof were required to shew the utter uselessness of lawyers in the Halls of Legislation, it would be abundantly found in the circumstance of the House proposing to establish a new office, a "Bill Drafter," with a Salary. It is quite true that scarce a bill has been enacted for several years past, but would admit of a coach and horses passing through, without damaging its frame work. We subscribe to the proposition, "provided always" that all the lawyers are turned out.

ESTATE AGENCY.—We refer our Readers to the advertisement of Mr. C. L. Street, Land and Property Agent, in this impression; as furnishing one of the most useful establishments ever opened in this City. We speak advisedly, when we say that for promptude, efficiency, and moderation of terms, it cannot be excelled in America, and claims for itself a liberal patronage.

Our Markets have during the whole of this extremely cold winter have been bountifully supplied with fine Fish, of the largest and finest kind.—Within the last week boat after boat laden to the waters edge with fine fat Herring have arrived at the Fish Market—a perfect luxury to look upon.

MORE WIRE.—A Telegraphic line is immediately to be set up between Miramichi and the Bend of Petiodiac, the stock is all subscribed, and the contracts for erection advertized for. Bravo the North.

☞ A petition to the Legislature, praying the existing fire law, may not be repealed, is now being numerously and respectably signed, and goes to the House to morrow. We trust there will be found sufficient good sense among the members, to allow the law to stand without alteration, as we understand that in the event of Mr. Needham's York Point polity being adopted, the Volunteer Engine Companies will to a man resign, and hand over the Engines to the Corporate Body.

THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND.—Saint Paul preached the Gospel of Christ in Britain about the fourteenth year of the Emperor Nero, A. D. 63. He there appointed Aristobulus, mentioned in the Epistle to the Romans, as the first bishop, and established a complete episcopal form of government. The Church of Britain thus established was senior to that of Rome; Linus, the first bishop of the latter place, being appointed by the joint authority of Peter and Paul, in the year of their martyrdom, after Paul's return from Britain. The Church in Britain continued to be governed by its own bishops for 600 years, independent of any foreign Church, and was found in that state by Austin, the Pope's first missionary, at which time they had schools and churches, and a learned clergy; and were in a flourishing state, and refused subjection to the Pope or his emissaries. The British Church was the first Protestant Church in the world, having as early as the 7th century, and 900 years before Luther, strongly protested against the errors of the Church of Rome, and refused to hold communion with that Church.—Their simplicity and purity of worship was such that they would not sit even at the same table, nor lodge under the same roof, with the followers of Austin on account of their superstitious and idolatrous ceremonies. These facts are commended to the special notice of those who talk of the Church of England as beginning a "dubious existance in the reign of Henry VIII." To such unfledged controversialists it may be advised, "to fall at Jericho until you beards are grown." Do they refer to the "page of history" before you read it.

LIVERPOOL AND THE GREAT EXHIBITION.—One of the chief objects which will be sent for exhibition is a magnificent model of the docks, and of a portion of the town now in course of preparation. The model, which is of wood, is forty feet in length, from 6 to 10 feet wide, and upon the scale of 8 feet to a mile, represents a surface of five miles. The engineer is Mr. J. Grantham, C.E., and the work is progressing under the superintendence of Mr. Ruffles Brown, architect, who is also the contractor, and has agreed to execute the whole for £700. The docks will be represented as filled with 1600 vessels fully rigged, and the model altogether will form a very beautiful object, and it is thought will impress strangers much with our magnitude as a port. Of not less interest will be a collection now formed for the exhibition of the various articles imported into Liverpool, and very extensive contributions, some singular and all most instructive have been received. These will be put in glass case and duly labelled. There are already about one hundred specimens of wood, drugs in great variety, seeds, oils, fruits, vegetable and animal products, ores, &c., &c. It is intended that this collection, when returned to Liverpool, shall form the nucleus of a museum of commercial economy; and for the purpose of extending the little interest felt here in the exhibition, the Rev. J. S. Howson, the Principal of the Collegiate Institution, is about to deliver a course of lectures on the various imports, About two thousand samples have been received.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CASE OF BILIOUS ATTACK, INDIGESTION, AND FLATULENCY CURED BY HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Khairatee Khan, a native merchant of Patna, in the East Indies, suffered for years from bile, indigestion, and flatulency: and although he consulted the most eminent surgeons of the province, yet he derived no benefit from their treatment, but gradually become more debilitated. Having one day a severer attack than usual, he determined to try Holloway's Pills, and this fine medicine, which has obtained such high repute throughout the world, very soon reinstated him in perfect health, and in gratitude for the benefit he desires this wonderful cure may be made public.

[FOR THE CHRONICLE.]

"You stand upon your honor! Why thou "uncomformable baseness. It is as much as I "can do, to keep mine honor precise. I! I! I! "myself sometimes have the fear of Heaven on "the left hand, and hiding mine honor in my ne"cessity, am fain to Shuffle, to hedge and lurch; "and yet you, rogue, will escouce under the shel"ter of your honor."

[Shakspear's Merry Wives of Windsor.

Mr. Editor,—Deep indeed in the slough of moral degradation must be that people who select for their Representatives, Civic and Legislative, men whose characters have formed for Shakspear models which vividly pourtray human villiany.—And dark and far in the rear of the intelligence of the age must be that community whose petty spite and petty jealousies can so far stifle the better feeling of their nature, as to cause them so to overlook their duty as Citizens, as to sacrifice patriotism and all proper feeling; and permit them to merge into that one odious propensity, SELF. To send men of the Falstaff kidney to Legislate for a sinking country, does indeed betray a reckelessness scarcely to be looked for in a community one removed from barbarism, and fully proves that the brute propensity so subtilely mingled in our natures predominate, and that like Rats confined in a cage, for lack of means of doing other mischief, we turn and rend each other. It is hardly to be expected that with the enlightenment with which we are surrounded, in this the nineteenth century; that men could be found, holding respectable stations in society, who would support and patronize as Law-givers of the land, men who in their private capacity they would not entrust for a single Mark; and it is truly lamentable, that notwithstanding the onward progress that is making in every part of the habitable Globe, in Arts, Sciences, and Civilization, that so little progress is made in that noble inspiration, that God-like attribute, MORAL HONESTY.—The last remarks from the pen of PUNCH were said to be severe, perhaps they were, but, gentle reader, they were facts, "and facts are things that winna ding, and darna be disputed."—Having premised thus much by way of MORAL, and having kept a demure countenance much longer than is my wont, I shall now change to the other end of the lever, and treat my readers to a "broad grin," by furnishing "a new way to pay old debts," and this brings me to Shuffle No. 6. We will suppose an Alderman, gifted with the "ambi-dexter," inflated with wind and ambition, fat, fair, and oily, fond of ease and luxuries, the weather fair and tempting, what more natural, than that he should take a Cab, and drive with Aldermanic dignity to Sylvan shades of City environs, and revel there in luscious liquid draughts, like other teetas, the taste becomes an appetite, and oft by stealth the little fat round man of legal quirk repeats the jaunt, until Sir Jarvie swears he'll drive no more until he tips the tizzies for tot's done. Now comes the day, day after day in horrid sequence grating on the ear, and clamours loud for pay. What's to be done? his little purse, all guileless of a coin, is oft displayed to prove his inability, but "Jarvie's" firm, and will not be "done brown," in short will not be "billked," for he requires means to pay his Taxes. At length a thought, a bright and brilliant thought, bursts like a meteor thwart his fertile brain; he pens an order, writes his name in full, take it, quoth he, to Alderman T. H., and let him put his fist just under mine, then hie thee to the Tax Office, present your document, and you are free. "Jarvie" retires bowing, thinks "all right," but meets a friend and cries read that, I'm paid. "Tis read, and read aloud, and thus it states:—"This man is miserably poor, and cannot pay his taxes, therefore by virtue of our dignity we him excuse; signed W. H. N., and to be signed T. H., both of the quoram. "Jarvie" in angry mood bursts forth with curses, and swears he's not a pauper nor a cheat, but ready when the Justice pays his debt, to pay his tax. Straight to the law vexed "Jarvie" wends his way, procures a Capias, tips the "piscee," and Tipstaff gets a backing of good men, when just before the orator decamps for Parliament, the "poney's posted." The orator declaims against such outrage, and rages to his audience, (Bucksaw Knights,) that he he will have a whip placed in his hands, to lash such Rascals naked thro' the world, and thus the old debt is most newly paid.—A No. 7 Shuffle is a brittle thing, and treats of crockery ware. A little fat and pompous thing, strutt like a swollen frog into a Store well filled with costly porcelain, and there selects a splendid dinner set to grace withal his (till that happy period) empty shelves; the price no consequence, pack them, speaks the thing, and send them to my house. 'Tis done, and so indeed is Cooper done, quite brown. Oh! for a law to make our limits large, as large and broad as all our county's bounds. But I'll fix that, he squeals, or I'm no M. P. P. A Shuffle No. 8 must grace his Hall, prig'd from the store of Sherry & H—fall, a Carpet, not of Turkey, but of Kidderminsters rarest kind, purchased for Carleons Sheriff, as 'twas said, but lack a day! the carpet had no eyes, and now on little Billy's parlor lies. Not paid for yet; why bless me gentlemen, you'll never get your carpet back again, and what is worse, you'll never get your money, for Billy only thinks the trick is funny.

I have more such tricks, tied neatly in a bunch,
But must conclude just now, your Servant

Marietta, Georgia, Feb. 17, 1848.
Opinion of Dr. J. B. Randall on the merit of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

We have been induced, in consequence of the benefits received from this medicine, to add our testimony in favor of its extraordinary healing properties. We take great pleasure in stating, that we have frequently used it ourselves and administered it to others during the past year, in case of obstinate coughs, colds, soreness of the chest, &c., always with the most happy result.—We therefore cheerfully recommend to all afflicted with the above diseases, to TRY the Balsam of Wild Cherry.

The New York Evening Mirror says:—Wistar's Balsam is still working wonders in curing the most desperate pulmonary diseases. We have not only witnessed its effects, but have seen a great many certificates, which place the efficacy of this invaluable medicine beyond all question. It was a custom among the early settlers of New England to drink freely of Wild Cherry tea in cases of colds and fevers. This tea was made by steeping the twigs and bark of the Wild Cherry tree, and drank freely morning and evening. The old Puritan Fathers used to regard it as "the sovereignest thing on earth" for all sorts of complaints; and there can be no doubt that the Balsam prepared by Dr. Wistar is one of the very best articles for Consumption that has yet been discovered."

None genuine unless signed I. BUTTS on the wrapper.

TAKE NOTICE.

DEAR SIR:—Having been much annoyed with Rats in my Soap and Candle factory, I was induced to try your Rat Exterminator, which I spread on bread and toasted cheese. Two or three days after which I observed a dozen or two of those vermin made their appearance, in a perfectly stupified state, making their way out of the premises. Since which I have not seen or heard one of those troublesome gentry about the establishment. GEORGE WOODS,

Notice.

☞ THE Subscriber respectfully announces to his friends and patrons, that he has purchased from his Brother, Mr. L. W. DURANT, his portion of the Proprietorship of the Chronicle Printing Establishment. His brother retiring from ill health. The paper consequently will in future be conducted by himself. After returning his sincere thanks to those who for the last fifteen years, have stood by the Chronicle, in evil as well as in good report, he begs to solicit a continuance of their patronage. Having assumed the whole responsibility, he is determined that the Chronicle shall in future, in matter, form, and information, be second to no periodical in the Provinces—extensive arrangements having been entered into for that purpose. In politics, after stating that the Chronicle is essentially PROTESTANT, he would further add, that it is wedded to no particular Protestant Church—but to ALL. For the unprecedented accession to his Subscription List, of late, he feels he owes the public a debt of gratitude, which language cannot adequately express, while to friends of longer standing, he would suggest the imperative necessity of settling up all arrears, to enable him satisfactorily to close the former concern.

WILLIAM DURANT.

LATEST FROM FREDERICTON.

(By Telegraph for the Chronicle.)

FREDERICTON, Feb. 28th, 3 P. M.

This forenoon, the Hon. Attorney General brought down a Bill to amend a Bill for collecting the Revenue; also, a Bill to shorten the wording of the Acts of the General Assembly.

The House went into Committee on the Bill to empower the Rev. Mr. Wishart to Solemnize Marriage. A most unprofitable debate followed. Objections were taken to Mr. Wishart's peculiar opinions. Mr. Gilbert said it was a sacred office, and moved that it be postponed three months. This motion was negatived sixteen to fourteen.

The Ayes were,—Messrs. Gilbert, Crane, Gordon, Barbarie, Williston, Rankin, Street, Montgomery, Wilmot, Thompson, Robinson, Hon. Mr. Speaker, Rice, and Stiles.—Nays—Messrs. Partelow, Steves, Needham, Cutler, Hayward, Gray, Hatheway, Taylor, Beardsley, MacPherson, Earle, Botsford, Chapman, Johnson, Porter, McPhelim.
