The following is a quotation from the address: "He kindly kept order by the simple manifestation of love in all his doings, could not pass a crying child without stopping to soothe its sorrow, and his children are examples of truth, obedience and affection.

Facts and Figures.

The first year's sales of that popular blood and liver purifying tonic—Burdock Blood Bitters—was upwards of 50,000 bottles; the second year it exceeded 100,000, with rapid and constant increase. It is a meritorious medicine.

Thomas Paine's Anniversary.

The anniversary of the birthday of Thomas Paine was commemorated at the meeting of the Secular society last evening. Mr. W. B. Cooke enlarged upon Paine's polemical writings and gave several extracts from the Age of Reason. A paper written by Mr. Allen Pringle, of Selby, was read by Mr. Risser, in which the writer set forth the reasons why Paine's memory should be held in honor by agnostics, and replied to some disparaging comments on his works by Bystander. Mr. A. F. Jury spoke of Paine's political career in America, England and France, pointing out the services he rendered to the cause of liberty and the manner in which he carried out his noble motto: "The world is my country and to do good is my religion." He charged the American people with having displayed the grossest ingratitude to a man who did as much as any one individual to secure American independence. About 400 people were present.

Another Editor Heard From.

THE GERMAN CONSULSHIP.

A Meeting of Germans to Recommend a Successor to Mr. Simmers.

By the death of Mr. Simmers, who represented the German empire in Toronto, the post of consul has become vacant, and accordingly a meeting of German citizens was called in Germania hall on Saturday night to consider whom of their number they should recommend to Bismarck as a proper representative of the kaiser in this city. About 120 attended. J. P. Wagner was in the chair, and Theo. Braun acted as secretary. The nominations were:

Samuel Nordheimer, proposed by Noah L. Steiner, seconded by Ph. Jacobi.

P. Freysing, proposed by Mr. Keosey, seconded by Mr. Rocomora.

Ernest Heimrod, proposed by John Erz, seconded by John Strahley.

John Kelz, proposed by I. Kormarin, seconded by Chas. Cluthe.

J. Bergmann was also proposed.

Mr. Kelz respectfully declined, though he has been one of the most active Germans in the city and practically did the work of the consulship for twenty years back.

After some discussion it was decided to appoint a committee to further consider the question, to interview certain other gentlemen who might take the post, and to report a week hence. The committee are Messrs. A. L. Steiner, Kormann, Boeckh, Jacobi, Kelz.

The decision of the meeting will be transmitted to the German ambassador at London in the shape of a recommendation and then forwarded to Berlin.

THE ONTARIO ASSEMBLY.

Prorogation to Take Place Next Thursday—The Committee of Supply.

The house met at 11 a. m. on Saturday.

In reply to Mr. Meredith, the premier said he thought that the prorogation would take place on Thursday.

On motion to go into committee of supply,

Mr. Nairn moved an amendment to the effect that the liberal party stands pledged to extend the franchise, that a law passed now could not be put in force at the general election, and that an opportunity would be afforded on that occasion to consult the people on the matter.

Mr. Meredith opposed the amendment, charging the government with trifling with the question and having legislated so as to keep the artizans of cities and towns unenfranchised.

Mr. Fraser said that the Tories had always been opposed to extending the rights of suffrage. The opposition leader himself formerly favored manhood suffrage, but had retrograded.

Mr. Morris charged the government with insincerity and lack of definite principle in the matter.

The amendment was carried by a vote of 44 to 22.

On subsequent motion for committee of supply Mr. Meredith objected in strong terms, charging the government with having committed a breach of faith in not informing the opposition of Mr. Nairn's amendment. According to agreement he had informed the government concerning the opposition's want of confidence motions, and he held that they were bound to do the same.

Mr. Fraser said that the opposition had had every latitude extended to them in being permitted to move repeated want of confidence motions to the motion for committee of supply. They had no right to expect to be taken into the confidence of the government in this matter.

Mr. Pardee stated that at the time of the agreement with the opposition he did not know of Mr. Nairn's amendment.

Mr. Morris observed "Timeo Danaos et dona ferentes." After some further discussion house went into committee, Messrs. Lauder, Pardee, Meredith and Deroche, Monk and Lyon discussed the votes for colonization after which they were passed in committee.

A number of bills were passed in committee of the whole, and general bills were read a second time.

The house adjourned at 4.30 p. m.

OVER THE DON.

The Latest Events of Interest in the Eastern Suburbs.

Mr. W. Woods, Leslieville, cut several mushrooms on Saturday, one of which measured eight inches across. This is early in the season even under glass.

Messrs. George Leslie & Son appear before the police magistrate to-day charged with not removing snow from sidewalks on Eastern avenue about a mile in length. Should they be convicted they intend to test the legality of the by-law to the highest tribunal. They being with others large city taxpayers, complain of no police protection, no fire protection, no drainage, etc; yet for allowing snow to remain on a sidewalk not used by twenty persons a day, they are held culpably accountable.

A parlor social in aid of the funds of the Leslieville presbyterian church, was held at the residence of the pastor, Rev. Mr. Frizzell, on Friday evening last, a large crowd being present. Songs and recitations were given by Mrs. Hastings, Miss and Mr. McCullough, J. K. Leslie, J. Davidson, etc. Miss Amelia Manthie acted a charade, and Prof. Hastings presided at the piano. Refreshments were served ad lib. The collection amounted to over $20.

In the event of Ald. Hallam resigning his position as alderman for St. Lawrence ward, to take a seat on the library board, an effort will be made by the friends of Mr. George Leslie, jr., to allow himself to be placed in nomination to fill the vacancy in St. Lawrence ward.

Two members of the Riverside brass band who misconducted themselves at a social entertainment on Friday evening were unanimously expelled on Saturday evening at a meeting of the members of the band.

The ladies of the congregation of St. Matthew's church, Riverside, gave the children attending the Sunday school a tea party on Friday evening in the Riverside public school rooms. Upwards of 120 little ones sat down to the tables, and after satisfying themselves there was abundance left. The Riverside brass band discoursed music during the proceedings. Mr. Travis, of Monroe street, Riverside, a member of the congregation, entertained the little ones, and their parents with a magic lantern entertainment. Rev. J. S. Howard, M.A., presided. Messrs. P. Macdonald, J. P., John Gibb (trustees), Reeve Gibb, A. L. McLean, Howard, etc., were among those present.

Wall Street in Town.

James Francis, of Miller, Francis & Co., a well known firm of New York stockbrokers, is at the Queen's after spending a week in Montreal at the carnival, which he says was the finest winter gathering ever held in America. Every one of Montreal's many visitors seemed delighted with the carnival and with the treatment they received in that good old city. On the whole the committee of arrangements did their work well. What struck Mr. Francis was the politeness of the cabmen, the absence of drinking among all classes, and the freshness of the Canadian ladies.

THE CLERICAL LIBEL CASE.

Further Hearing of the Matter Before the Police Magistrate.

The libel case of Rev. Dr. W. J. Hunter against John W. Campbell and David Edwards came up again on Saturday at the police court. The court room was densely crowded. Mr. N. G. Bigelow, counsel for defendant Edwards, offered to disclose the name of defendant's informant and pay the costs of the court if necessary. To this the plaintiff's counsel, Dr. McMichael, consented upon a full apology being published in the Public Criticism, which is as follows:

In reference to the charges against the Rev. Dr. W. J. Hunter in issue of paper of 23d instant, we desire to say that (1) we have not made any of the charges as of our own information and are not able of our own knowledge to say that they are true; (2) the statement of facts were given to us by Mr. John W. Campbell; (3) assuming at the time the truth of these statements, we made reflections upon Rev. Dr. Hunter which would not otherwise have been made; (4) we made the statements as public journalists and we had no personal feeling in the matter.

D. McMichael, Q. C.,
N. G. Bigelow.

This was accepted. In the case against Mr. Campbell, which was next proceeded with, Edwards was placed as witness for the prosecution. He admitted having received information contained in the libel from Campbell, whom, he stated, Dr. Hunter swindled out of all his property. The proof of the pamphlet containing the libel had been sent to the doctor before publication.

John E. O'Mara being sworn, testified that he had seen the pamphlet in the office of Zimmerman, McNaught & Co., where Mr. Campbell was employed, but was unable to obtain copies of it.

Mr. Delamere, Campbell's counsel, claimed that the publication of the libel had not been proved.

The magistrate held that there was sufficient evidence to go to a jury, and accordingly committed the defendant for trial.

LETTER FROM MR. EDWARDS.

(To the Editor of The World.)

Sir: As I find that the word "apology" has been used in the reports of the above named case, and as I distinctly declined to make any apology in relation to it, I beg to say that although I am prepared to abide by my undertaking to publish the articles, as agreed on in the anteroom, between the respective parties, I am not prepared, and never shall be, to style them an apology.

THE SALVATION ARMY'S CRUSADE.

Official Reports of the Various Regiment Commanders.

From a long list of reports published in the War Cry and Official Gazette of the Salvation Army in America, the following are selected:

ROUTING THE DEVIL IN TORONTO.

We are still getting large crowds here, and the devil kicks up now and then, just to let us know that he is still alive and we have not got all the field to ourselves. Perhaps this is well for us, so that we know there is no time to ground our arms. When the enemy is quiet there is danger of his undermining us. While he kicks we know the firing is taking effect. There is no difficulty in getting big crowds here, and the devil has his soldiers pretty well drilled in scepticism. But we mean red-hot firing from our gospel guns, and his kingdom must fall.

Our great General leads us to victory, and we take prisoners from the devil's ranks. Our soldiers come up well to march through the enemy's camp. Nightly, if it rains, blows, snows, or freezes, the soldiers muster. This is the sort we want. Infidels are saying there must be something in this religion. The Lord led us to victory on Sunday.

A converted Jew blessed God for the salvation army. O Lord! help us all to roll the gospel chariot along until Jew and Gentile, black and white, learned and illiterate sinners may take up the strain and ory salvation to the end of the earth.

Our prayer is that God will save the respectable sinners in this Queen city of the west. Amen. Capt. Holloway.

THE DEVIL RAGING IN HAMILTON.

Saturday night the devil tried hard to break up our ranks, but he did not succeed. We are rousing up the people in this city. Praise God!

We mean Hamilton for Jesus. Sunday was a glorious day with us. We had a good drill at 7 p. m. I got some good ammunition for the day's battle. We had some hard fighting, but, hallelujah! we gained the victory. Sunday night we had some very hard fighting. The devil raged. He kicked our doors in and broke our windows. But, praise God, nine souls came out for pardon, and got it. Closing another week of real victory. Yours in the thick of the fight. Lieut Wiseman.

A GLORIOUS FIGHT IN CHATHAM.

Glorious meetings all day on Sunday; also on Monday; six precious souls got gloriously saved on New Year's day, and came out on the street with us.

One sister said: "Last New Year's the devil and whisky were in her house, and turned her out, and she sings 'Praise God! me and my husband have got gloriously saved by the Salvation army. I used to be ashamed to go out with him, but, praise God, I am not ashamed of him now.'"

One sister said that she would be a soldier for God as long as she lived, for He has made her home so happy since she got saved.

Capt. O'Leary and Lieut. Brock.

LATEST SPECIAL FROM THE FRONT.

London, Ont., Nov. 16, 1882.—Sunday, grand smash; six killed in fountain; lots wounded visibly.

Capt. Shirley.

Grand Opera House.

Manager Sheppard never tires of showering his riches on his patrons. Last week he made us laugh until our sides ached. This week he intends to tickle our more refined and artistic sensibilities and has provided the wherewithal in Wilbur's admirable and successful opera company, which opens tonight in Gilbert and Sullivan's great opera Patience. Wherever the company has appeared it has been received with delight and been the recipient of unstinted praise. In Baltimore, for instance, the Day there criticizes its performance: "The solos and concerted pieces were all beautifully sung and many of them were warmly encored. The full choruses were given with marked precision. In fact, there was nothing lacking to an entirely smooth and satisfactory performance from first to last, and the popular verdict of the house was that it was the finest production of Patience ever given in Baltimore. * * * The opera was remarkably handsomely placed on the stage."

Hard Extradition Work.

A despatch from Ottawa on Saturday announces that no action has yet been taken in the Hall extradition case by the department of justice, nor will anything further be done until the arrival of the necessary official documents from the authorities at Washington. As soon as they arrive, which will probably be to-day, the Canadian papers will be transmitted in the usual way. In the meantime the Newark officers now in the city anxiously await the arrival of the papers.

THE OLD WORLD.

Moody's success among the students of Oxford and Cambridge is confirmed by reports of conversions by the hundred.

Two very eminent Europeans have died in the past six months whose end is involved in mystery—Skobeloff and Gambetta.

A Roman catholic priest has returned a stolen watch to its owner at Vincennes, Ind. It came into his hands from the thief in the confessional.

Primroses in penny bunches were selling in the southern suburbs of London on Saturday, Jan. 5. The hawkers stated that they were chiefly gathered in the copses among the Surrey Hills around Sanderstead, Warlingham and Barrow Green.

A curious and probably unique recognition of the Roman catholic as a state religion by Great Britain is found in the London Gazette of 1794, which declares the Roman catholic the only national religion of Corsica, and proclaims his Majesty George III., king of Great Britain, sovereign of Corsica. Yet the same monarch avowed that he could not give emancipation to Ireland without a sacrifice of conscience.

During the excavations in connection with the construction of the new drainage system at Brentford, in England, a large number of antiquated horseshoes of various shapes were found imbedded in the gravel at a depth of eight feet. Antiquarians in the district suppose that they are the shoes of the cavalry horses which took part in the battle fought at Brentford in 1642, during the war with Charles I. and the parliamentary party.

Mrs. Dawson Damer, an English lady of rank, who traveled very extensively some years ago, made a unique collection of locks of hair of prime notabilities. At Alexandria she begged a lock from Mehemet Ali, who said that in a collection containing Nelson's, Napoleon's and Wellington's, his was unworthy to be included, but that if she thought otherwise he would leave a request to Ibrahim Pasha to present her with his head (he had no hair on his head), and if she did not outlive him, it was to descend to the son or daughter who inherited her collection. His secretary took the names of her children. Mehemet was a grandiose figure compared to the pigmy khedive of to-day.

Dr. Fischer, a German traveler, has just started from Zanzibar for the interior of Africa. The principal object he has in view is to visit the formidable tribe of the Massais, whose reputation for ferocity is so great that the explorer could not find bearers at the coast to accompany him. He eventually organized a commercial expedition, in which the six hundred armed natives who start with him for the country of the Massais have each an interest. A Hamburg commercial society has placed the sum of 15,000 marks at his disposal, and he has also drawn largely on his private resources to meet the expenses of the expedition. He has spent five years at Zanzibar studying the languages of the country and preparing for the adventurous journey he is about to make.

In November next, 400 years will have passed since the birth of Martin Luther, and a new edition of the reformer's works is announced as one of the proposed modes of doing him honor which Germany will adopt. Hitherto the best edition of his Latin and German works has been that published at Erlangen, 1826-1857, and in a second edition, 1861. That edition will be superseded by the new one. The German emperor has presented the necessary funds for the undertaking, and the Prussian ministry of worship has appointed a committee to superintend it. The editor will be Pastor Knaake, who has an unrivalled knowledge of Luther, and has for some years been exploring German and English libraries in search of books and manuscripts bearing on the subject. The edition will be published at Weimar, and and the first two volumes of it will appear on the anniversary of Luther's birth, Nov. 10.

The statement has been made that Gen. Chanzy's widow will receive from the French government, in addition to a pension, a grand bureau de tabac. Not only is the growth and manufacture of tobacco under state control, but the sale of it is equally so. Only a certain number of the shops for the retail of tobacco are permitted, and they must be sufficiently far apart from each other to make the proprietorship of one substantially remunerative. The bureaux de tabac in France are bestowed upon servants in reduced circumstances, and more frequently still upon their widows. They are however the cause of much intriguing, and the enemies of the government often discover, or think they discover, a scandal in a tobacco shop. The system usually adopted by those who are so fortunate as to obtain a bureau de tabac in a good situation is to employ others to look after the business, while reserving to themselves the disposal of the profits.

The red brick, thirteen roomed residence, on the south-east corner of College street and Spadina avenue, with lot 32.3 x 118 ft. to a lane, was sold under a power of sale contained in a mortgage to John Canavan for $3250. The brick store and residence on the south-west corner of Edward and Chestnut streets, with lot 80 x 120 feet, and two rough-cast cottages in rear, was sold under similar power to James Metcalf, who also purchased two rough-cast houses, Nos. 333 and 335 Adelaide street, with lot 24 x 185 feet, for $2900. Mlle. Legrand as Camille.

To-night the citizens of Toronto will have an opportunity of seeing Mlle. Legrand in the great character of Camille. Many of the American papers rank her with Bernhardt, Rachel, Rhea, Ristori and other leading foreign artistes. To-morrow night she will appear as Pauline in the Lady of Lyons.
