In Other Schools

In St. Malachi's boys' school, Principal Joseph Harrington, the scholars were examined on subjects of interest which they have studied during the year. The same was the case in St. Peter's Boys' school, Principal Wm. Shea, in Victoria school, Principal Wm. H. Parlee, and in St. Joseph's Girls' school, Principal Sister Alphonsus.

No formal programme was carried out in St. Thomas' school although the children enjoyed songs and recitations in their rooms. A short review of the year's work was made by the teachers.

At the Newman street school, under the principalship of Miss M. M. Briggs, the lack of an assembly room prevented a mixed closing programme. Individual exercises, including readings, recitations, drills, short dialogues and songs were presented in the rooms.
