Weeks, General Agent, 1 Exchange-street, Buffalo, N.Y., for 50 cents each, or will be mailed in stiff tubes, secure from injury, to any address, for 75 cents each, or any two of them to one address for $1.30, or any three or more ordered at one time to one address, 60 cents each, in currency, stamps, express or postal money order.

Trade With Australia.

The Hon. Robert Reid yesterday delivered an eloquent address upon this subject before the Toronto Board of Trade. It is pointed out that trade between Australia and the other parts of the world is facilitated by the Bradstreet Company, who some years ago opened offices in Australia at Melbourne and Sydney. This company has the very best facilities for supplying reports upon mercantile firms in that far-off land.

TEN YEARS FOR PICKING POCKETS

Ten Days for Rape—Three Years for Counterfeiting—Judge Robertson Sentences Convicted Prisoners.

Justice Robertson has no love for young men who embark on a career of professional crime. He yesterday gave James Harrigan and Wm. Ross, who were convicted of pocket picking, the limit, sending each to the penitentiary for ten years.

Ross' aged mother wept bitterly as the crushing sentence was delivered, and the young man seemed dazed. Harrigan, however, took the thing coolly, save that his face took on a more villainous look, and leaving the dock he muttered curses, not loud, but deep upon the Judge.

Wm Moss, a youngman convicted of rape, was sentenced to ten days in jail. The jury which convicted him made a strong recommendation for mercy and His Lordship held there were extenuating circumstances.

John Kerr for larceny of a bicycle and for having counterfeit coins in his possession was sentenced to three years at Kingston.

For attempted rape James Burke was sent to the Central Prison for 23 months.

IT WAS AN OLD PLANT.

Discovery of a Large Quantity of Counterfeit Coins.

Provincial detectives have returned from Ballsville, Haldimand County, near Hagersville, where they went to investigate the discovery of a large quantity of counterfeit coins under an old blacksmith shop. It was supposed that the headquarters of the gang which has recently been flooding this section with bogus money had been located, but the detectives decided that the coins were probably hidden there by a gang of counterfeiters whose headquarters were at that place, but who were captured and prosecuted by the authorities many years ago.

"KEEP HUMPIN'."

I remember the time when I was a lad,
An' lived on the farm long with ma and dad;
In the long hot days how I'd have to hoe
Out in the cornfield, row after row.
How I'd think of the fishes that lay in the brook,
An' I just a-longin' to take my hook
An' line, an' sprawl by that ole trout stream,
For I loved in them days to loaf an' to dream—
An' watch the fish a-jumpin';
Then I'd groan an' bemoan my unfortunate lot,
I'd go to my father an' say, "It's so hot—
Can't the corn an' pertatoes wait well as not?"
But my father, he'd say—
In a stern sort of way—
"Keep humpin'."

Then I'd work with a will till each sep'rate row,
Stood forth without airya weed to show;
An' each little rock I would duly install
In its proper niche in the ole crumblin' wall,
An' I'd say to my father, as proud as could be,
"I've finished my work, dad!" an' then in high glee
Off I'd go, skippin' an' jumpin';
Then he'd say, "It's well done excepin' one spot;
Now bring down them cows from the north pasture lot—
There's no time to shirk—a farmer has got
(So my father would say
In a stern sort of way)
"Keep humpin'."

Take this for your maxim, and may it e'er be
Deep-seated and firm as the roots of a tree;
Never your work, whether peddling corn
Salve or door-mats, or tootin' a horn,
Or sellin' of clothes-line or cloth by the yard,
You'll find that your duty'll be much the less hard,
If you put to your labor the heft of your soul;
Half-hearted won't win—you can't fetch the goal
By occasional skippin' an' jumpin';
If you're fully determined, my friend, to "git there"
You mustn't sit down by the wayside and swear;
You can gather more courage from a fervent prayer;
And, as father would say,
In a stern kind of way,
"Keep humpin'."
