POETRY.

"I STILL LIVE."

THE LAST WORDS OF HON. DANIEL WEBSTER.

"Still I live!" The leaves were falling
Round the mansion where he lay;
And Autumnal voices calling
Waned the summer's pride away;
While the shining sands of ocean
In its greated beauty run,
Breaking with a ceaseless motion
Like the fleeting hope of man.

"Still I live!" O strong and glorious
Were those prophet words of cheer;
For whatever, in truth victorious,
Greatness hath its worship here,
Patient power its high ovation,
Eloquence its lofty birth,
He shall win from every nation
An undying name on earth.

"Still I live!" The flesh was failing,
All in vain the healer's skill;
Light in that deep eye was paling,
And the mighty heart grew still.
Yet the soul, its God adoring,
Clad in armour firm and bright,
O'er the body's ruin soaring,
Mingled with the infinite

Where he sleeps, that man of glory,
Marshfield's mournfull shades can say;
And his weeping country's story
Darkened on that funeral day;
But the love that deepest kindled
Caught such balm as heaven can give;
For an angel's pinion glistened,
At the echo—"Still I live!"

CHARADE.

In Babylon my first was made,
My such as idols dumb create;
And worship to me being paid,
A great command did violate.
My second is to unites allied,
By nature's and affection's ties;—
Yet restrain the currents tide,
Which from the ocean mounts the skies.
My whole of all things is confess'd,
To be the ugliest and the worst.

Since earth for wickedness was curs'd.

POISONED BY EATING A WORM.—QUICK DEATH.—A small boy was poisoned to death in Munson, last week by eating a part of a worm in an apple, dropped it, and complained it did not taste good. In a short time his mouth began to swell, and in two hours he was dead. His parents picked up the apple, and upon examination, found in it a worm, known in common parlance, as the thousand-legged worm. We did not learn the name of the boy.—[Clarion (O.) Democrat.

THE GREAT REMEDY.

Sharp's Balsam of Hoarhound and Aniseed.

An never failing cure for Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Shortness of Breath, &c.

The extraordinary celebrity which this simple, pleasing, and effectual medicine has attained, may be seen by the following proofs, or certificates, all from persons well known:—

MR. J. G. SHARP—

Since you appointed me agent for the sale of your valuable Balsam of Hoarhound and Aniseed, I have been repeatedly informed by those who have used it, that it is without doubt one of the best medicines they have ever had, for the complaints in which it is recommended.

R. D. M'ARTHUR.

To Mr. J. G. Sharp—

SIR,—One of my children has been suffering for years under a severe Cough. The usual remedies were applied without effect. Having heard of Mr. J. G. Sharp's "Balsam of Hoarhound and Aniseed." I obtained some, and after the use of about 8 oz., or one vial of this extraordinary mixture, the cure was complete.

J. G. CAMPBELL.

April 23, 1852, City of Saint John,

Mr. J. G. Sharp,

Had, a few weeks ago, a very bad cold. Being recommended to try Sharp's Balsam of Hoarhound and Aniseed, I got a quarter dollar bottle, and found it not only a pleasant but a most useful and effective medicine. It is pleasing to take, and a first rate cure.

PATRICK POWER.

April, 23, 1852, City of Saint John,

For the last sixteen years I have suffered from Asthma so bad that I was often obliged to sit in bed to prevent suffocation. I tried every means, during that time, that the usual or ordinary medicines could produce, but without effect, until I obtained some of Sharp's Balsam of Hoarhound and Aniseed, (which was recommended to me,) and after using two bottles, I found the relief so long sought for.

Prospectus of the Fifth Volume of the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN.

THE Fifth Volume of the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN commences on the 15th September, and as a great proportion of our patrons usually commence their subscriptions at this point, we take occasion to extend them our gratitude for the encouraging and liberal support heretofore bestowed on our humble efforts, and to re-assure them of our determination to advance it still higher in the scale of utility, and, if possible, in their own estimation. We aim at an honorable independence in discussion upon all subjects, and, in some instances no doubt, our readers may have been surprised at our determined opposition to highly lauded discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Time tries all things, and it is with some degree of pride that we revert to the efforts made through the columns of the Scientific American, to establish sound views respecting several conspicuous miscalled discoveries. Since the commencement of this Volume, that peerless Exhibition of the Industry of all Nations closed its gorgeous display, affording a delightful episode in the extern page of the world's history. Above and beyond all criticism it has passed away, leaving a world-wide influence, beneficial to every branch of industry, and although not profusely represented by gew-gaws and tinselry,—the character of our country shone forth with magnificence in all the elements of substantial utility. Acting under the stimulus suggested by the success of the Great Exhibition, the enterprizing citizens of New York have determined to construct a Crystal Palace of no mean dimensions, and as this is likely to become an important feature in our history, we shall endeavor to present our readers with descriptions and illustrations of such novelties as may be deserving attention.

The present form of the Scientific American will be preserved as most suitable for binding and preservation. The paper will be of the best texture, and we shall aim to store its pages with practical knowledge in every branch of the Arts and Sciences. Invention claims important attention, as one of the fundamental agencies in the world's advancement; hitherto we hope to have satisfied our readers by our weekly summary of "New Inventions." The Weekly List of Patent Claims, officially reported for our columns, is a distinguishing feature, which must commend itself to every one interested in Patents.

We need the co-operation of our readers to enable us to publish a journal, worthy of their support at two dollars per annum. We have never appealed to them in vain, and the Premiums offered for the largest list of subscribers will, we presume, encourage their efforts. All subscriptions are payable in advance. We repeat our warning against Travelling Agents, as none are accredited from this office.

Sharp's Celebrated Family Medicines.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

Sharp's Celebrated Family Medicines and Preparations.

SHARP'S Celebrated Medicines have of late years been a great source of profit to the Proprietor, on account of their extraordinary efficacy in curing Chronic Rheumatism, Skin diseases, Scurvy, Obstinate, Carbuncles, Erysipelas, Indolent Ulcers, Diseases of the Pericranium and Bone, attended with obscure pains, affecting the body, consequent on the great success and the unprecedented sale of these medicines, many unprincipled persons have taken the term of Chronic Rheumatism, and attempted to palm off their Cathartic, but experience has proved it a most atrocious imposition, and other means of a very different character have been used, adulterated in name, and cheaper in price, and the deluded sick of the system has been at many a dear discount.

These events, prompted by John G. Sharp, has put forward strong and most convincing testimony of persons who have for years been afflicted with scurvy from head to feet, and others who have been afflicted with Rheumatism, which they have had relief in 2 or 3 days. Prepared and sold by John G. Sharp, Member of the Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain. N. B.—Dose, a Wine Glass full, three times daily.

SHARP'S BALSAM OF HOARHOUND AND ANISEED, for Coughs, Colds, Shortness of Breath, Asthma, &c.

This excellent medicine has the extraordinary property of immediately relieving Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Difficulty of Breathing, and Roughness of the Throat. It operates by dissolving the congealed phlegm, and causing free expectoration.

Persons who are troubled with that troublesome tickling in the Throat which deprives them of rest night after night, by the incessant cough which it provokes, will by taking one dose find immediate relief, and one bottle in most cases will effect a cure. Sold in bottles at 1s. 6d. to 2s. 6d. each.—Prepared by John G. Sharp, Member of the Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain, Dock street, St. John, N. B.
