The M'Kenzie Murders.

We have previously stated that when the three parties (Breen, Slavin, and Slavin, junior,) were arraigned, the former plead Guilty and refused to withdraw that plea. On Monday last old Slavin was brought into Court, and charged in two Indictments—first with killing Mrs. McKenzie, and in the second with killing one of the children.—To the former indictment the prisoner plead Guilty, and to the latter also he gave the same plea, saying "I'm guilty, and this was the only one I done by myself."

On Tuesday the trial of young Slavin commenced at the Court House, and it has continued up to the present time—the rendering of the evidence not having concluded until last evening. The Counsel on both sides will be heard to-day, and it is probable that by night the Jury will have determined upon their verdict.

Breen and old Slavin having plead Guilty, were permitted to give their evidence yesterday. The former denied having killed either of the M'Kenzie family, or that young Slavin had committed any of the murders. But the public were completely horror-struck on hearing the revelations of old Slavin, who, we are informed, acknowledged to having murdered the whole family of himself!! It is a wonder that the excited crowd had not dragged him from the box, and torn him limb from limb, as he richly deserved. He might have spared the people such a horrid revelation, until the gallows was prepared to give him his deserts.

Although it may be thought that these guilty men would not now have any object in telling an untruth, yet their testimony is not credited, and it certainly does not agree either with the evidence of Slavin's youngest son, (who is the chief witness against the prisoners,) or the statement of old Slavin, who said on Monday that the murder of the child was "the only one he done by himself."

Yesterday the Grand Jury indicted Bernard Hogarty, for harboring and assisting the murderers to escape. He was arraigned and plead "Not Guilty."——This is as it should be, and it is to be hoped that the Crown Officers and the Grand Jury will ferret this horrid tragedy to the bottom, that none may escape punishment who have had complicity in the murder, either before or after its enactment. The public safety demands this course at the present time,—the recent burnings and robberies, coupled with the present tragedy, have put people in the wildest state of excitement,—families huddle together and keep watch all night, instead of taking their accustomed rest,—fire arms are in requisition in every house—and farmers come to town armed with revolvers, to protect themselves from the assaults of the numerous desperadoes who infest the line of railway construction. —This state of things must be put a stop to, and the measure of punishment meted out to the murderers of the M'Kenzie family, and their accomplices, will determine whether it shall continue or not.

☞ We must ask indulgence of those subscribers who have not received their papers regularly the last fortnight, our principal carrier having left the city in a hurry. We will have it in good working order by next publication.

34, Wine street, Bristol.

Sir,—It is with much pleasure I have to inform you of the benefit I received from your Lozenges. I was attacked with the typhus fever, during which time I had a violent cough, so that it kept me awake the greater part of the night. A friend persuaded me to try a box of your "COUGH LOZENGES" which I did and am happy to say that with only one box of your valuable compound I was quite free from cough.

You can make what use of this you please, for I think such valuable medicine ought not to go unnoticed.

I remain, Sir, your obedient Servant,

GENTLEMEN—

ON the 29th ult. a steam Saw Mill belonging to me, which was partially insured at your office was totally destroyed by a destructive fire at the Staight Shore. Notwithstanding the extreme scarcity of money, you, at once, paid over to me, in the most courteous manner, the full amount of the insurance—£1,000—for which I desire publicly to express my thanks.

I consider the conduct of your Company as praiseworthy in the highest degree, and take pleasure in recommending it to all who now, or at any future time may be desirous of insuring their property, as one which is alike honourable in its dealings, safe in its character, and prompt in its settlements. NOTICE.—If Mr. Reef of the Butternut Ridge, had come and removed the dead horse that he skinned and left at my door, instead of defaming and slandering my name among his neighbours, it would be very much more to his credit, and should he repeat the falsehoods he has told respecting me, I may deem it necessary to enter a prosecution against the said Reef.
