The outcome of the public meeting respecting the proposed London East waterworks was that it will cost the public from $3000 to $6000 a year more to have an independent system than to take water direct from the London works.

A young man named Wm. O'Neill, for some time past ledger-keeper in the Merchants' bank at St. Thomas, shook the dust of the city from his feet the other day and is now in the land of the free. The cause of his flight was the pressing of his numerous creditors for payment.

A few days ago a youth named Charles Riley succeeded in stopping a runaway horse in Thamesville, but was trampled upon by the horse in the operation, and it is feared sustained serious injuries about the head, as he seems to have lost almost all power of thought and recollection.

Rev. Mr. Hooper and wife of Kingston were upset out of a rowboat. Mr. Hooper caught and held his wife until she was taken out of the water and then swam twenty-five feet after the boat, which contained his little boy. Spectators spoke very highly of the clergyman's courage and expert swimming.

A pig belonging to Joseph Loughlin, Adare, broke into a field and on putting the dogs after it jumped a fence containing five boards. It jumped it clean and on measuring it, it was seven and a half feet high, and from the track on one side to the track on the other measured sixteen feet four inches.

The North Buxton correspondent of the Chatham Tribune says: Isabella Molestoin, who was accidently shot by her brother here a couple of weeks ago, died last Friday morning from the effects of her wound. A man who accidently kills his sister through his carelessness, and then goes to a circus and does not get back until after she has been buried the next day, well—we think Barnum should have him anyway.

During the present month large shipments of fine cattle for England have taken place from Glencoe station. Mr. Farr 22 head, John Rodgers 37 head, Vine & McCarthy 143 head, D. W. Craig 51 head, R. McLaughlin 21 head, D. McDougall 18 head and 128 sheep; total 17 carloads, 292 head of cattle and 128 sheep. The beasts were bought mostly in the townships round and some in Aldboro', and weighed on the average 1500 lbs each, the price paid averaging $80 per head and the sheep $7. The total paid out for the above was $24,000.

Miss Alice Ransdale of Orangeburg, S. C., wears a gold ring which was the wedding ring of her great-great-grandmother, and is nearly 200 years old.

A French journal suggests the joint occupation of Mecca by the powers for the purpose of stopping the pilgrimages thither, which disseminate cholera so widely.

One spot now visible on the surface of the sun is 60,000 miles in diameter, a hole large enough to allow the passage of about forty such worlds as ours like as many toy balloons.

That anachronism, steamboats in the Grand Canal at Venice, has unpleasant results. The paddle-wheels stir up the deposited sewage of centuries, and the smell is far from romantic.

A little railway has been constructed from Konigswinter to the "castled crag of Drachenfels," on the Righi system, and the "pilgrims of the Rhine" can now make the ascent, such as it is, in that manner.

One of Gov. Butler's Boston newspaper opponents regards two things as certain—that he will not visit the south and that he will not be the nominee of the dem cratic party for governor at the next election.

Mr. Alfred de Rothschild gave a splendid entertainment on Friday. Patti sang three songs at the rate of $1000 a song. Nicolini did not acquit himself as well as usual. The rooms were full of beauty, good dresses and lovely jewels. There was an excellent supper, and a dance graced by most of the prettiest and smartest ladies in London.

Mr. Barnett, the vicar of St. Jude's, Whitechapel, has undertaken to brighten the dull English Sunday. He gave on a recent Sunday, in the playground of his parish, an exhibition of choice hothouse flowers. Mr. Barnett points out that his neighbors have no opportunity to see flowers grown in their full perfection and beauty, and the sight of such flowers on a Sunday, he appears to believe, will not have any irreligious tendency.

The Buffalo Express says that another test of the whirlpool rapids was made at Niagara Falls on Tuesday. A log, buoyed up at one end and weighted at the other, was set adrift at the Maid of the Mist landing. Its passage down the stream is said to have been similar to that of the famous little steamer. On entering the pool it kept well over to the Canadian shore, and, passing slowly round the outer rim, started promptly on its journey to lake Ontario when the outlet was reached.

Farmers Should Sell their Butter Fresh.

From the Uxbridge Journal.

At our market Tuesday the cash price of butter was 14c., with tubs exchanged. This should show farmers that they are really getting more than they ought to get, and also convince them that it is better to sell their butter when fresh, at the market price of the day, than to keep it until it falls when it is stale and not wanted, and in all probability will only bring grease prices.

Could not Corner It.

The Shoe and Leather Review intimates that most writers have failed to see the true cause of the failure of Shaw & Brothers because it lay too close under their noses. The review sums up the matter in a sentence when it says: "If Shaw & Brothers had not tried to monopolize the tanning business they would not have failed." They went to pieces in trying to spread themselves over more square miles than they could cover. They couldn't run twenty-four tanneries in places remote from one another and prevent leakages. They couldn't buy all the bark lands outdoors without getting swindled now and then."

California not so Golden.

Prolific as are the vineyards and orchards of Southern California there are many drawbacks to the prosperity of farmers and fruit-growers in that region. The market is limited, and any surplus must be disposed of at ruinous rates. A shrewd and careful merchant of Chicago, John A. Tyrrell, after an extended tour through the State, makes some statements that sound strangely in comparison with the rosesate experiences of other tourists. Mr. Tyrrell says: "The best fruit farms have bankrupted many of the owners and nearly bankrupted the remainder. The cause of this is the very high freights that have to be paid before the markets are reached. The owners of fruit farms are always on the watch for strangers—every man wanting to sell out." Cultivators of the vine, he says, look forward with gloomy forebodings to the future, fearing that the phylloxera, which has appeared in Southern California, will work a destruction similar to that which it has effected in France. Besides this, Mr. Tyrrell adds, "the commerce of the coast is dying out. The population of San Francisco has not materially increased for seven years. When the mining is done the state is doomed." A deficiency of rain, with the consequent necessity for irrigation, renders the cultivation of the sandy soil unprofitable, and there is discontent and suffering among immigrants and colonies of settlers who are without substantial capital to rely upon in case of need. This is a sad and unsatisfactory reverse to the metallic splendor with whose glittering obverse the public has become familiar through years of bonanza mining and boasted prosperity.

Seven Tough Tales.

A young woman of Warren, Pa., eloped the other day with her father-in-law.

A singular man of Sullivan county, N. Y., has eloped with his mother-in-law.

There is a four-legged chicken at Chowkee, Iowa, which runs like any normal quadruped.

There is a cat in Tama county, Texas, with two heads, while it is wauling with one mouth it will be licking itself with the other. One voice is hollow, sepulchral bass and the other a piercing tenor.

On Saturday morning a duel with knives was fought at the county line church, in Doty county, Ga., between Samsou Carson and Samuel Clifton. Clifton was hacked in pieces.

The latest plan for shuffling off the mortal coil is that adopted by a North Carolina woman, who knocked the old man's brain out with a shovel.

Madame Hurtelle, a lady of position in Paris, has been arrested for drunkenness. In defence she said that she had read that the surest way of preserving furs from the ravages of moths was to stow them away in an empty spirit cask. She accordingly purchased one and confided to it her cloak. The weather being chilly she required the garment, and the alcoholic fumes produced intoxication. She was acquitted.

Peculiar Pets.

A Massachussets teacher has a mule that wont kick.

A Maine man owns a fox which can play a jewsharp.

A Bugletown bachelor uses a pet kangaroo as a paper weight.

A Vermont lady has taught a rooster to sing "Yankee Doodle."

A Fifth avenue young lady has a tame dude. She feeds him on taffy and glucose.

A maiden lady living in New Orleans has a tame gorilla which is her constant companion.

A Wisconsin woman keeps a tame white bear in a refrigerator in the summer time. In the winter she drives him before a cart.

Fond Fathers.

A Fond du Lac father always lays his boy over a barrel when he spanks him with a shingle.

A Hackensack, N.J., father furnishes his fifteen-year-old son pocket money with the understanding that he must not buy cigarettes or toy-pistols.

A Hamilton father gives his boy a dollar every time the youth thrashes a boy larger than himself.

A Washington, Ga., father punishes his son by compelling him to eat a whole watermelon at one time.

A Muskoka father permits his son to keep bears and mules as pets.

Advice to Consumptives.

On the appearance of the first symptoms—as general debility, loss of appetite, pallor, chilly sensations, followed by night sweats and cough, prompt measures of relief should be taken. Consumption is scrofulous disease of the lungs; therefore use the great anti-scrofulous or blood-purifier and strength-restorer, Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery." Superior to cod liver oil as a nutritive and unsurpassed as a pectoral. For weak lungs, spitting of blood, and kindred affections it has no equal. Sold by druggists. For Dr. Pierce's treatise on consumption send two stamps. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

An Alabama ball club composed of young ladies challenged a male nine and beat them by 20 to 11. It might be stated, however, that the males were all married men, and accustomed to knuckling under to the women folks.

ALBION HOTEL—GREAT ALTERATIONS have taken place at this hotel for the reception of travelers and agricultural people in general. It has long been felt that there was not sufficient room to accommodate the increasing trade of the hotel, and to meet this demand the proprietor has, at an expense of over $15,000, purchased the late premises occupied by the St. Lawrence coffee house association adjoining the Albion, and has now 125 bedrooms, accommodation for 250 guests. The house has been re-modelled and re-furnished throughout at an outlay of $5000—gas in every room, new dining-room 40x60, capable of seating 200 people at one time.
