[From the Halifax Post.]

The Late Miss Sarah Herbert, of Halifax.

SARAH HERBERT.—The Reverend William Smith preached a funeral sermon on the death of the much lamented Miss Sarah HERBERT, on Sunday evening last, in the Old Wesleyan Chapel, to a large congregation. This amiable and talented young lady became a member of the Wesleyan Society when she was fifteen years of age, and since that time up to the period of her death conducted herself a worthy member of that Society. Her efforts were chiefly directed for the present and future welfare of the young, and as she was a teacher in the Sunday School, she had a wide field for usefulness.

The Reverend gentleman closed his very able discourse by reciting the following effusion written by the deceased, on the commencement of the year 1846, and which plainly shows that she expected soon to leave this world:—

PRESENTIMENTS.

New Year's Day, 1846.

Yes, I am here,—
I mingle with your smiling throng to day,
But, when returns the next rejoicing year,
I shall be far away.

Ye shall not hear my voice,
Your eyes shall not meet mine, in answering mirth,
And yet I would not have it check your joys,
To know me cold in earth.

For though, upon my bed—
My lowly bed—the snowy covering lies,—
My soul, ye shall remember, is not dead,
But dwelleth in the skies.

And ye shall smile to know,
That my weak spirit hath no more to bear
The burden of temptation, din, and woe,
Which all the living share.

Joy for the quiet dead!
Bliss for the early summoned to the skies,
Let not, above her grave, your tears be shed,
Or selfish sorrow rise.

But, faithful, wait your time,
And, living, bear in mind the dying hour,
Then, dear ones, meet me in the happy clime,
Where death no more has power. S. H.

THE CONCEIT.—See that conceited fellow! Were it possible to turn him inside out, what should we not behold? Our eyes would turn away with perfect disgust. His mind—originally a spark of Deity, has so long fed on the husks and vanities of the world, that it is almost smothered in the rubbish about it. A glimmer you might behold, but it would be so exceedingly dim, that you would soon lose sight of it behind the clouds of rubbish. Such a spectacle—a conceited fellow stripped of his borrowed plumage and laid bare to the public—would be a horrid sight. Yet such creatures there are; we see them in every walk of life. The reason why we are not more disgusted with their presence is, we do not know them: we cannot penetrate the shell that hides the corruption.

If our fastidious young ladies, who jump a few feet at the sight of a spider or a darning needle, and have such an exquisite taste for bright buttons, smooth chins and flattering words, knew the purity they despise and the deformity they embrace, when they turn from humble and industrious young men, and take to their affections well dressed paupers, their every day and earnest prayer would be—"Lord, keep my eyes from vanity and lead me not into temptation."—Portland Trib.

Benevolence is a duty. He who frequently practises it, and sees his benevolent intentions realised, at length comes really to love him to whom he has done good. When, therefore, it is said, "Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself," it is not meant thou shalt love him first, and do good to him in consequence of that love, but thou shalt do good to thy neighbour, and this thy beneficence will engender in thee that love to mankind which is the fulness and consummation of the inclination to do good.—Emmanuel Kant.

COLLOQUY.—The following colloquy took place, lately, between an inquisitive gentleman and his butcher boy:—'What are your politics?' said the gentleman. 'The Queen's sir.' 'What are the Queen's?' 'Moin sir.'—'What's your name?' 'My name,' replied the boy, 'is the same as father's.' 'And what is his name?' said the gentleman. 'It is the same as moin.' 'Then what are both your names?' 'Why they are both alike,' said the boy.—The gentleman turned on his heel, and the boy shouted 'Any thing more, sir?'

Conscientious Restitution.—The Sicele says—"the better part of the private fortune accumulated by the late King Ferdinand was derived from the disastrous Spanish loans, chiefly raised at Paris; and the Infanta's portion of 30,000,000 francs comes from the money so amassed to the ruin of so many Frenchmen." And it is further understood—that is, Punch so understands it—that Louis Philippe, upon touching the money, will issue a proclamation, calling together all the original losers, that he may share the recovered cash among them. This will be noble, and so like himself!—Punch.

Attorneys are to lawyers what apothecaries are to physicians, only they do not deal in scruples.

New Spec.—According to the Chicago Journal, they have started a new speculation out there, which the editor thinks will prove profitable to those engaged in it—that of drying musquitoes for tooth-picks.

One of the neighbours of Mr. Wiggin, whose wife recently gave birth to four children, congratulated him on having such a "blessed, kind wife." "Oh, no," said Mr. Wiggin, "she's a most overbearing woman."—St. Louis Organ.

Sir Charles Wetherell's personal estate has just been administered to by Lady Wetherell, and a stamp-duty paid on £250,000.

The Bank of England pays £30,000 per year as income-tax.

The old Admiral, Sir Charles Wager, in answer to the question of William III., who was impatient at his scruples of sailing—"Did you ever hear of a king being drowned?" replied, with his usual gravity, "Yes, please your Majesty, Pharaoh, King of Egypt."

"If you will step in here, Sir," said a dealer in curiosities to a foreign prince, "I will show you the only thing which has been known to get over the head of the British army." The prince stepped into an adjoining room, and was shown an old hat of the Duke of Wellington's.—Almanack of the Month.

A NATURAL REMEDY

Suited to our Constitutions, and competent to the cure of every curable disease, will be found in

WRIGHT'S INDIAN VEGETABLE PILLS

OF THE

NORTH AMERICAN COLLEGE OF HEALTH.

THESE extraordinary Pills are composed of plants which grow spontaneously on our own soil; and are therefore better adapted to our constitutions, than medicines concocted from foreign drugs, however well they may be compounded; and as the INDIAN VEGETABLE PILLS are founded upon the principle that the human body is in truth,

SUBJECT TO BUT ONE DISEASE,

viz: corrupt humors, and that the said medicine cures this disease on

NATURAL PRINCIPLES,

by cleansing and purifying the body; it will be manifest, that if the constitution be not entirely exhausted—a perseverance in their use, according to directions, is absolutely certain to drive disease of every name from the body.

When we wish to restore a swamp or morass to fertility, we drain it of the superabundant waters; in like manner, if we wish to restore the body to health, we must cleanse it of impurity.

The Indian Vegetable Pills will be found one of the best, if not the very best, medicines in the world for carrying out the

GRAND PURIFYING PRINCIPLE,

because they expel from the body all morbid and corrupt humors, the cause of disease, in an easy and NATURAL MANNER, and while they every day

GIVE EASE AND PLEASURE,

disease of every name is radidly driven from the body.

CAUTION.

The citizens of New England are respectfully informed that in consequence of the great popularity which the above named Indian Vegetable Pills have earned by their astonishing goodness, a gang of counterfeiters are now industriously engaged in palming on the unsuspecting, a valueless and perhaps dangerous medicine, under the name of Indian Vegetable Pills.

This is to inform the public that all genuine medicine has on the boxes

WRIGHT'S INDIAN VEGETABLE PILLS

(Indian Purgative.)

OF THE NORTH AMERICAN COLLEGE OF HEALTH

And also round the border of the label, will be found in small type, "Entered according to Act of Congress in the year 1840, by WM. WRIGHT, in the Clerk's office, of the District Court, of the Eastern district of Pennsylvania."

It will further be observed that the printed directions for using the medicines, which accompany each box are also entered according to Act of Congress and the same form will be found at the bottom of the first page.

The public will also remember, that all who sell the genuine Indian Vegetable Pills are provided with a certificate of Agency, signed by

WILLIAM WRIGHT, VICE PRESIDENT

Of the North American College of Health,

and that pedlars are never in any case allowed to sell the genuine Medicine. All travelling agents will be provided with a certificate of agency as above described; and those who cannot show one will be known as base impostors.

☞ Personsin this city and vicinity will also be on their guard against purchasing medicine purporting to be the Indian Vegetable or Purgative Pills, of Apothecaries or Druggists, as they are not allowed to sell my medicine, and any composition which they may offer as such must of necessity be COUNTERFEIT and injurious; therefore never purchase of them.
