weather it will seldom need repair, and yet it will ring in foggy weather only and whenever the fog is accompanied by the slightest breeze capable of filling the sails of a vessel. In perfect calms, should such occur with fog, which is seldom the case, a vessel is in no danger; and as soon as the slightest breeze springs up the sound of the Bell would give warning of the danger.—By easy additions to the machinery, and by using Bells of different tone, and striking at different intervals, the sailor might at once be informed on what part of the coast he had arrived, and every seafaring man will at once appreciate the value of this information.

I indulge a hope that this brief notice may be the means of drawing the attention of the public to a most useful invention, as well as to the proposition made by Mr. Robson to the Legislature during the last session, which nothing but their earnest desire to save the money of their constituents at all events could have induced them to reject.

I am, Sir, your obdt. servt.

MELANCHOLY ACCIDENTS.—We learn from the Miramichi Gleaner that Mr. James Wise, son of Mr. John Wise, of Douglastown, and Student at law in the office of George Kerr, Esq., of Chatham, came to an untimely death on the morning of the 23d ult. by the accidental discharge of his gun, while proceeding alone on a shooting excursion. It would appear that while in the act of lifting his gun towards him over a gate, something caught the trigger and the gun went off, lodging its contents in the right side of the abdomen, over the region of the liver, in a downward direction, at the same time igniting his clothes to a great extent. He then turned towards home, and succeeded in getting only about sixty paces, where he was found lying on his back close to the fence. He was an estimable young man, in the 21st year of his age.

A young lad aged eight years, son of Mr. Daniel Cranman, of Chatham, was drowned within the boom in rear of his father's dwelling, on the morning of the 24th ult.

Among the many blessings attendant upon improvements in the social condition, and the advances of our race in intelligence, is the prolongation of human life. With the increase of intelligence has grown up a knowledge of the elements of health, and a respect for them, and commensurately with the strides of science have we acquired the means of arresting disease, and averting its ravages. Notwithstanding the progress we have made, statistics show that even now, one-sixth of the whole population die annually of consumption.

One of the most important discoveries of the age, in ameliorating the condition of this large class of suffering humanity, is

DR WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.

(From the Fall River Monitor, Mass.)

This medicine, prepared by a long experienced and skilful physician, tested and approved by a great number of intelligent, distinguished and respectable persons in various parts of the country, is now received and used with entire confidence and with great success by those afflicted with pulmonary complaints. It is also recommended as a valuable medicine for other diseases, such as colds, coughs, and particularly diseases whose tendency is to consumption.—Should its efficacy continue as it has thus far proved in various obstinate cases, it will indeed be a most invaluable medicine.

REVIEW OF THE WORK.

Marriage requires the fulfilment of several conditions, in order that it may be really the cause of mutual happiness. Could the veil, which covers the origin of domestic wretchedness, be raised, and its true source in every instance disclosed, in how many could it be traced to physical disqualifications and their attendant disappointments. Excesses are always injurious; the gift which, when used in moderation, is fraught with advantage, becomes, when abused, the prolific source of mischief, and of greater or less injury to the constitution and vital powers.

The particular excesses, on the nature and consequences of which this Treatise professes to dilate, are productive of greater misery to the human frame, than any other to which it is subject.

This Work contains an accurate and complete account of the Anatomy and Physiology of the Reproductive Organs, and of their relative conditions in health and disease. Nor are these the sole contents of the work; the means of escape, as well as the nature of the danger, are pointed out in clear and intelligible language. It deservedly requires the closest attention and study, for what subject can be of more importance than the preservation of health, and of the physical capabilities of which every man should be possessed. It unfortunately happens, that the unhappy victim of excessive indulgence and vicious habits, whether acquired in early life, or from the follies of advanced age, while suffering from their invariable consequences, unwisely entertains a fear of applying to a qualified physician for relief. Shame and the dread so frequently but erroneously entertained that these complaints are beyond the reach of art, alike restrict him, and prevent his seeking for assistance where alone it can be procured. In acting thus he forgets that accurate discrimination in ascertaining the causes of disease, sympathy with the sufferer, and above all, secrecy, invariably characterize the intelligent and practical physician, and to the medical man, who can shew by his possession of the requisite legal qualification, that he is entitled to esteem and respect in his professional pursuits, the utmost confidence should be extended. DR. LA'MERT has obtained the highest medical honours, as his diplomas testify, and the great extent of his practice for many years is a guarantee for his professional experience, which has reference almost solely to the treatment of these diseases.

The Work may be had in St. John, of H. CHUBB & Co., price 2s. 6d. Stg.; Halifax, Messrs. MORTON & Co.; Quebec, Mr. NEILSON.
