Dominion Board of Trade.

This body was called to order at noon by the President, W. H. Howland, Esq. The President congratulated the members on the large attendance. He then proceeded to review some of the questions that would come before them, claiming that the discussion of questions in the Board had done much to shape legislation. The Executive Committee would first submit a motion to make all ex-Vice Presidents members of the Board. Another motion that would come before them was one to impress upon the Government the necessity of establishing a Department of Commerce. He had received an invitation from the Association of Commerce, England, to send delegates to the meeting they are to hold in September. That body had also announced its intention to send representatives to this Board.

The great question to come before them was that of Reciprocity.

On the question of "The Baie Verte Canal," C.H. Fairweather moved that this Board reaffirm its former expressed opinion of the importance of this work and the necessity for its immediate construction. The motion passed unanimously.

On motion of Hon. T. R. Jones the Council was given power to appoint delegates to the English Chamber of Commerce.

The President read an invitation from Lieu.-Governor Tilley and lady to the Dominion Board, the St. John Board, and the lady friends of the members, to partake of luncheon at Government House, on Friday, at 10 o'clock. (Cheers.)

On motion of Mr. White the Board adjourned until Saturday forenoon.

A Nova Scotian in Trouble.

It is with sorrow for the feelings of the Halifax press, knowing how deeply they will be wounded, that it becomes our duty to record how another Nova Scotian is in trouble in this city. This time it is quite an elderly man, and the place where he fell was in Sheffield street. He belongs to the western part of the sister Province, and a short time ago was unfortunate enough to have his house burned. Armed with a paper signed by several Justices of the Peace and a clergyman or two, who testified to the excellent moral character, christian graces, &c., of the applicant, he came to St. John and solicited charity. After one or two days' labor he had $27 in his pocket. Most unfortunately he found himself in Sheffield street, and, seeing a cosy looking shop, with the doors thrown temptingly open, he entered and presented his credentials. There were several men and one or two good looking women seated in the shop. His suit of good Nova Scotia homespun attracted their attention (if Nova Scotians do not want to get into trouble they ought to leave their grey suits at home), and a damsel stepped smilingly up to him and listened to his tale. "Follow me," she gently said, and even assisted him up a pair of stairs by throwing her arm around him. The man of fifty summers was pleased with such attention. It was youth and beauty payins homage to age and honesty, (for hadn't he the clergyman's certificate?) Then she kissed him, and he felt like knocking her down, but he didn't. After passing an hour in conversation, she excused herself and left him. Then he discovered that his pocket had been picked. The police authorities to whom he applied this morning, advised him to grin and bear his loss. The paper was not taken from him, so the charitable public will again have a chance to assist the wearer of the homespun suit and straw hat with money contributions.

City Police Court.

James Johnston was first called upon to answer a charge of being drunk in King's Square, and also another of assaulting Policeman McManus. This policeman is very unfortunate in doing his duty, and but a few weeks ago was hovering between life and death from the effects of a beating. This prisoner, however, only kicked his shins and knocked him around until the dollar-and-a-quarter a day was, in his opinion, fully earned. For this amusement he was fined $12, which was at once paid by his sister.

John Marshall, arrested drunk on North Wharf, was fined $4 without receiving a lesson on the danger he was in of being ushered suddenly into eternity.

James Quinn, a pilot, was charged with using abusive language to Alexander Harvey, a Sheffield street grocer. He confessed his guilt and was fined $8.

Mary McAvoy, an old woman, confessed to drunkenness in St. John street, and was fined $6 or two months in the penitentiary.

Daniel Manley was fined $4 for drunkenness.

A summary of the fire last night, in Chicago, gives the space burnt over as 57 acres, and the number of buildings about 1,700. The loss of life, three children, one woman, and three firemen. The loss of property is about $4,500,000. Nearly all the insurance is in eastern companies, but the proportion of loss. property insured is very small. The centre of the negro population has been swept out of existence, and the streets in the new burnt district are very narrow, very closely built and very thickly settled.

The following are among the larges losses: Jewish synagogue, $30,000; Quinn's Chapel, $15,000; Adelphi Theatre, $75,000; St. James Hotel and furniture, $150,000; Post Office, $50,000; First Baptist Church, $100,000; Church of Messiah, $25,000; Rivet Baptist Church (colored) $40,000.

A fire last night at Iowa Falls, Iowa, destroyed 45 buildings, involving a loss of $145,000. Insurance small.

THE BEECHER SCANDAL.

NEW YORK, July 14.

Francis D. Moulton appeared before the Beecher Investigating Committee, last evening, in obedience to a request, and made a statement declining to tell what he knew about the scandal until Beecher and Tilton had both gone before the Committee together, and each made his statement. If, after hearing them, the Committee could not effect a settlement of the whole difficulty between the parties, and still desired to hear him (Moulton), he would then tell the truth and the whole truth. He said he was a personal friend of both parties, and had acted as umpire between them, and he thought that the whole matter might be settled if Beecher would make a statement relieving Tilton from unjust charges and insinuations against him by Plymouth Church and Dr. Bacon, and, when he was set right, Moulton believed that both parties should refuse to re-open the difficulty merely to gratify public curiosity. After leaving the committee, Moulton stated to a reporter that he loved Beecher as he did the apple of his eye, but that he would not stand and see Theodore Tilton crucified.

A Herald reporter learns from undoubted authority that Mrs. Tilton went before the Committee against her husband's wishes or knowledge, and that, in consequence, Tilton had separated from his wife.

The Brooklyn Argus says Theodore Tilton's letter, printed yesterday, convinced the public that he intended to lay before the Investigating Committee the sworn details in the monster scandal; and to-day we have from the highest sources, an admission that the friends of Mr. Beecher are endeavoring to effect a compromise which shall prevent the publication of the lengthy statement promised by Tilton. The committee will consent to no such proceedings and the investigation must go on. All the facts obtainable are to be brought out before the members of the Committee, who will make a report. Mr. Tilton, with his witnesses, is to be heard, unless the present effort to compromise the matter is successful. It is now established that Mr. Tilton was not aware of the existence of an Investigating Committee in the Plymouth Church case, till after Mrs. Tilton had appeared before the Committee to give her testimony. It further appears that when Mrs. Tilton appeared before the committee, she answered only leading questions put to her in advance by Mr. Beecher's counsel. It also appears that, after the publication of Mr. Tilton's letter, addressed to Dr. Bacon, Mrs. Tilton left her home in Livingston street. Mr. Tilton and the children continued to occupy the house, and he receives his friends there. Mrs. Tilton is now sojourning in a family who are friends of Mr. Beecher. It is not understood that a formal separation has taken place between Mr. and Mrs. Tilton.
