President-Elect Parker of the Canadian Club Gives Expression to Independent Views.

The annual meeting of the Canadian Club was held last night. After an informal luncheon, some interesting remarks were indulged in by the new officers. It was the most important meeting in the history of the club, many members declared, and some important changes were made and suggestions touching others received. The incoming officers are: President, W. R. P. Parker; vice-presidents, E. R. Peacock, G. A. Howell; secretary, E. J. Hathaway; treasurer, G. H. Woods; literary correspondent, John R. Bone; committee, A. E. Heustis, R. J. Christie, A. T. DeLury, R Home Smith, S. B. Woods, John Turnbull, F. W. Strathy.

The retiring officers and their successors made short speeches. The remarks of Mr. Parker were especially interesting. After thanking the club for the honor conferred, he spoke at some length on the objects of the organization and the necessity for keeping up its high standard.

Turning to the constitution, he read the clause referring to the desire of the club to foster patriotism. He declared that the man who framed that sentence had exhibited wisdom. The country was living on the threshold of big events. Many of those present he believed would live to see the great step taken that would lead perhaps to separation and independence. He thought they should prepare for these impending changes if the club was to be a factor in the future development of the country.

Disregarded Personal Feeling.

There were probably 100 members present. There was no demonstration over this observation of the new president. Other speakers expressed their interest in the club and thought the influence of the organization was destined to spread. The Aylesworth banquet was referred to by different speakers and Retiring President McDonald declared that in his remarks on that occasion he realized the critical situation and sought to represent the majority interest of the club in his speech, regardless of any personal feeling.

A vote of thanks was tendered the retiring officials, and they were praised for their efficient work by different speakers.

A committee composed of Messrs. Parker, Cooper and Huestis was appointed to re-edit and revise the constitution, which was declared to be somewhat out of date by the member offering the motion. It was suggested that the honorary list, to-day consisting of the late Sir Oliver Mowat, Sir Gilbert Parker and William Ogilvey, be extended, but it was decided to act upon the idea when a larger membership was present.

Annual Fee Now $2.

An important departure was the increasing of the annual fee from $1 to $2. It was announced that this was done to increase the revenues with the object of securing from outside points speakers before the club. It is the intention of the club to have the subjects discussed by speakers handled with

"BILL BAILEY WON'T YOU PLEASE A-COME-A-HOME?"

John Charlton, M.P., Again in United States on Reciprocity Treaty Bent.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—At the banquet of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association to-night, John Charlton, M.P., of North Norfolk, Ont., made the principal address, dealing chiefly with relations between Canada and the United States.

After referring to the "drastic tariff" of the United States, Mr. Charlton said:

"The substantial continuance of present Canadian tariff conditions can only be secured by important tariff concessions on the part of the United States, and the question of adopting reciprocal free trade in natural products is one that will claim the attention of Americans, as upon this basis satisfactory conditions for the present may be obtained.

"Formerly the American farmer and lumberman opposed the policy of the free admission of Canadian natural products into the markets of the United States, believing that the effect would be to depress prices in their home market. This is a mere bugbear, for when a careful comparison of the relative volume of American productions and Canadian exports for consumption in the United States is made it will be found that the volume of exported quantities is so small compared with the volume of domestic production in the United States, that it would be absurd to expect that imports from Canada for consumption in United States could do more than produce an infinitesimal influence upon prices.

"Free trade in natural products is beyond question fully earned by Canadian tariff conditions. The sooner it is arranged the better for interests of both countries. Now if the Canadian buys heavily, he asks the privilege of making proportionate sales in return. The present state of trade relations is absurd. The time is now ripe for the display of liberal spirit on the part of the United States. If that country has the wisdom to display this spirit towards its northern neighbor, the result will be vastly more satisfactory than the continuance of present conditions."

After listening to Mr. Charlton's address, the association declared unanimously for reciprocity with Canada and passed resolutions asking the government to bring this about.

TOOK THREE MEN FOR DEER SETTLER'S SON KILLED ONE

Another Hit in the Thigh and a Third Saves Himself by Falling.

Parry Sound, Nov. 10.—A double and fatal shooting accident occurred this morning near Edington, 15 miles from here. Three men, James McComb, Dan Quinlan and another, whilst engaged working on a camp road, were fired on by Thomas Stanley, who was out deer hunting.

The first shot struck McComb in the chest. He threw up his spade, at the same time exclaiming, "Oh, my God, I'm shot."

A second shot quickly followed, hitting Quinlan in the thigh.

Stanley then appeared from the woods and the awful spectacle of his silly performance was presented to his eyes.

McComb died in five minutes.

Stanley is the son of a settler, who lives in the Township of Christie, and has been brought up in the bush.

James McComb, who was killed, was a well-known resident of this district. He was married and had a large family.

Quinlan has been taken to the hospital here, it is thought he will recover.

The third man, whose name has not been ascertained, owes his escape to the fact that he fell flat on the ground before the second shot was fired.

Stanley was only about one hundred yards from the men when he fired, and it seems almost incredible that he should have mistaken the men for a deer, seeing that they were working in an open space.

An inquest will be held.

HELD UP FOR SIX YEARS.

What Happened to the World's Temperance Petition.

Ottawa, Nov. 10.—An interesting pit of ancient history came before the W. C.T.U. convention this morning, when one of the members announced that the famous world's temperance petition, signed by millions of people in fifty countries, prepared under the direction of Miss Frances Willard, has been stored in Dominion Methodist Church in six big packing boxes for the past six years. The petition was to have been presented to the crown heads of the world. It went to Queen Victoria and the President of the United States, but its journeys ceased with Canada, and here it has been resting ever since.

The convention was nonplussed at the news. It was finally decided to write to Mrs. L. Stevens, president of the National Women's Temperance Union for the United States, asking that something be done to have the famous petition removed and started on its way. Mrs. Rutherford, Toronto, president of the Dominion Union, said that the holdup of the petition was due to the great expense of sending it around the world. Its movements were being directed by Lady Henry Somerset from England, and the death of Miss Willard gave the movement a temporary check.

STEAMER ATLANTIC BURNS FOURTEEN MILES FROM LAND

Passengers Took to Boats in Georgian Bay, But Cargo Completely Destroyed.

Parry Sound, Nov. 10.—The steamer Atlantic of the Northern Navigation Company was entirely destroyed by fire at 9 o'clock this morning. The Atlantic was on a special trip from Collingwood to Byng Inlet with a large cargo of merchandise, including a hundred barrels of coal oil and a quantity of hay. A heavy gale was blowing. The vessel was taken in on the Parry Sound channel to escape the severity of the storm. When about 14 miles from this port the fire broke out, and in a few minutes the steamer was enveloped in flames. The passengers and crew, who had all taken to the boats, arrived safely here this morning.

Thos. Long, president of the Northern Navigation Company, said that he had received only a short telegram from the captain, stating the ship was burnt and had gone down in 60 feet of water. The boilers were inspected in the spring, so it could hardly have been from them the fire came. The value of the boat was about $32,000 and was insured heavily. The cargo was a mixed one, consigned to the ports on the north shore of Lake Huron and Manitoulin. These, he thought, the company was not responsible for, claiming that they were a public conveyance and not taking the risk appertaining to fire. It would be the duty of those to whom the goods were consigned to see that they were insured against fire. The steamer Midland will be taken off the trip running to French River and Byng Inlet for the rest of the season to supply the place left vacant by the destruction of the Atlantic.

BOWMANVILLE IN EARNEST.

Board of Trade Passes Strong Resolution Favoring Competition.

Bowmanville, Nov. 10.—The citizens of this town are becoming desperately in earnest over increased railway facilities for the frontier towns. The discussions that were heard at a meeting held in the Council Chamber tonight were most emphatically in favor of doing everything possible to induce the Canadian Pacific Railway to tap these north shore towns.

The result of the meeting is pretty well summarized in this resolution, which was unanimously passed, moved by W. B. Couch, seconded by A. Tait:

That the Board of Trade of the Town of Bowmanville is strongly in favor of the present agitation for better railway facilities, and will exert every effort to secure the same, and that immediate steps be taken to induce the C.P.R. to connect our town with its main line, as this is a very wealthy agricultural district, and our manufacturing industries are suffering for want of competitive and better railway facilities, and are prepared to give their trade to the C.P.R., to induce them to build here."

Robert Beith, M.P., and P. C. Trebilcock, chairman of the Board of Trade and county councillor, were appointed to join the delegation appointed by the municipalities to interview the C.P.R. authorities.

Callaghan Versus Crossin Another "Piano" Document

Declaration Signed by a Toronto Citizen and Witnessed by Barrister James A. Macdonald Anent the Famous Crossin Affidavit.

COUNTY OF YORK, TO WIT:
In the matter of the re-formation of the Crossin Piano Company.

I, William Henry Callaghan of the City of Toronto, in the County of York, piano dealer, do solemnly declare:

1. That I am well acquainted with Edward Crossin, piano manufacturer of the City of Toronto, whom I have known intimately for about fifteen years.

2. On or about the sixth or seventh day of October last, I met Edward Crossin on the street, near the corner of Adelaide and Bay, where he informed me, among other things, that he was in straightened circumstances in his piano business, and that unless he could reconstruct the same and get further capital into the business he would prefer to take a position and work for some other firm.

3. I suggested thereupon that "he should get on the right side of the fence," meaning thereby, stand in with the Liberal party. He then told me he and Mr. R. R. Gamey, his partner, had disagreed, and that they had tried to sell the stock, but they were unable to do so, and he seemed very anxious to negotiate in any way.

4. I then suggested that if he would disclose any necessary information which might be required of him in connection with the so-called Gamey investigation I believed I could put his company on a good financial basis, to which, after some discussion, he agreed, and we parted.

Inspected the Books.

5. I called the next day, inspected the factory and books thoroly and generally fully acquainted myself with the said business, and told him I would see certain parties (without mentioning names) and would see what I could do.

6. On or about Oct. 9 last, I met E. F. B. Johnston in the afternoon on King-street in this city, and told him that Crossin and Gamey had disagreed, and I thought I could get Crossin to give some useful information in connection with the Gamey investigation, as he was very hard up and anxious to reorganize the company. Mr. Johnston said: "See him and bring him into my office." I told Mr. Johnston that I thought Mr. Crossin would say things that would be of advantage to the government.

7. I saw Mr. Crossin and told him all that Mr. Johnston, whom we had agreed should be known and called "Fritz" thereafter, had said, and also what I had said to "Fritz," to which Crossin readily agreed, and at my suggestion gave me a letter addressed to Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, giving me full power to negotiate the reorganization of the company, a draft of which I now have in my possession.

8. I then went to Mr. Johnston's office and delivered the said letter to him in person and made an appointment to meet Mr. Johnston in the afternoon at his office at 2.30.

Letter from Mr. McBrady.

9. On the same day I secured a letter from L. V. McBrady, Esq., to the Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, as a credential of my standing in the Liberal party. I then delivered this letter to the said Hon. J. R. Stratton at his office in the Parliament Buildings.

10. I have known Mr. Stratton personally for some years.

11. I then explained the whole Crossin-Gamey matter to Mr. Stratton, and that information valuable to the government might be obtained from Crossin provided sufficient money could be obtained to place the piano business on a good financial basis. Mr. Stratton suggested that it would take a good deal of money to run a piano business, to which I replied: "Yes, about $25,000." Mr. Stratton said it would not do for him to be known in it and requested me to see Mr. E. F. B. Johnston (known as "Fritz"), Mr. Stratton being known as "Joe."

12. Being detained longer than expected at the Parliament Buildings I telephoned from Mr. Stratton's office to Mr. Johnston and postponed my appointment until 4 p.m.

13. I came down from the Parliament Buildings, saw Crossin, told him I had seen Joe and of our conversation, and that Joe had asked me to see Fritz, as he, Joe, did not want to appear in the matter, and Crossin and I discussed terms.

How Much Money.

14. We discussed how much money would be required for the business, and how much money we should ask for our services, and we decided to ask twenty-five thousand subscribed stock for the business and five thousand cash to be divided between ourselves, and I was to have a position as traveling manager at $2000 per year and $5000 stock in the new company.

15. I then went over to Mr. Johnston's office, being about five minutes late. He was quite annoyed at my being late, and asked me where Mr. Crossin was. I said if he would wait I would go and get Mr. Crossin. He said, all right, hurry up, and I went at once and got Mr. Crossin from the piano factory, and we went together to Mr. Johnston's office.

16. Mr. Johnston took Mr. Crossin into his private office, and they remained there for about three-quarters of an hour together, while I remained outside.

17. When Crossin came out he said that he and Fritz had discussed the whole matter, the terms, the amount of money required, and saw that everything was favorable, but that he would have to make an affidavit in reference to the Gamey-Stratton investigation, that Mr. Johnston had called in his stenographer, whom I had seen going in, and she took notes of Mr. Crossin's statements, and that he said he had made an appointment for the following Tuesday, the 13th.

Met Crossin Again.

18. On Tuesday, the 13th, I met Crossin at the piano factory, where we came down to Mr. Johnston's office together, he went in while I waited outside. He was with Mr. Johnston about an hour; when Crossin came out he seemed disappointed and said that all "they" would put up at present was $3500, $2000 to be paid for Mr. Gamey's stock and $1500 for working capital. He said he would write Mr. Gamey to Muskoka and offer him $1500 for his stock, as Mr. Gamey was then working with Mr. Mahaffy in the by-election.

19. I spent the afternoon of Thanksgiving Day with Mr. Crossin, who had not yet received an answer from Mr. Gamey.

20. I called at the piano factory on the 16th of October, but no reply had been received from Mr. Gamey, but on Saturday morning, the 17th, I met Mr. Crossin on the stairs at the piano factory, when he told me to keep down as Mr. Gamey had arrived, and he did not want me to meet him. Crossin told me that Mr. Gamey had wired acceptance for part of stock at $1500, and that he had gone up to Fritz's house that night when "they" had arranged to pay $2000 for all the stock that Mr. Gamey held, and "they" expected to close on Monday.

21. On Monday I called on Mr. Johnston, when he told me the matter would be cleared in a day or so. I also saw Crossin, when he told me Mr. Gamey had left for Muskoka, but expected him back the next day.

Introduced to Gamey.

22. On Tuesday, 20th, I called at the piano factory and was informed that Crossin and Gamey had gone out. I called again about 4 p.m. and saw Mr. Gamey reading a paper in the office. I left, but Mr. Gamey did not see me, and I went down to Johnston's office, but met him at the door, when he said things were being arranged, but he was in a hurry, as he had some business in reference to an order in council. I then returned to the piano factory and was introduced to Mr. Gamey by Mr. Crossin as a piano salesman, but no intimation was given Mr. Gamey that I was in any way connected with this deal.

23. On October 21 I called at the piano factory several times, but was told Mr. Crossin was out with Mr. Gamey. About 2 p.m. I met Mr. Crossin, when he told me that Mr. Gamey had received his $2000 at the Merchant's Bank, and that the money had been brought from the Bank of Commerce in $100 bills, and that Mr. Gamey had gone on the 1.30 train to Muskoka.

24. I have made repeated requests to "them" to carry out "their" agreement with me, but they have failed to do so, and no later than to-day called upon Mr. Stratton to complain of the usage I had received, and he said I would have to see Mr. Johnston.

25. After having obtained and published for use in the by-election the affidavit from Mr. Crossin they apparently had no further use for me.

And I make this declaration conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of the Canada Evidence Act, 1893.

Declared before me at the City of Toronto in the County of York this 10th day of November, A.D., 1903.

W. H. CALLAGHAN.
JAMES A. MACDONALD,
A Commissioner, etc.

Men Named in Declaration Give Out Emphatic Denials

Mr. Johnston Declares He Had Nothing to Do With Callaghan or Crossin—Mr. Stratton Suspicious of Callaghan —Never Saw Him Alone.

The above declaration was handed to The World last night at 9.30 by Barrister James A. Macdonald. W. H. Callaghan accompanied him to the office and orally vouched for the truth of his declaration.

In justice to the persons named in it, The World sought interviews with them, in the interest of fairness and with the object of giving a complete story of the episode. Those interviews are printed below.

The affidavit attempts to solve the mystery of the origin of the money that was secured by Mr. Crossin to purchase Mr. Gamey's stock in the Crossin Piano Company, and to place the business on a running basis.

Crossin's Affidavit.

Mr. Crossin's affidavit published in The Globe a few days before the by-election in Muskoka, set out that he had made considerable effort to obtain capital, and that his company would have been forced to go into liquidation if funds had not been secured; that Mr. Gamey's connection with the concern was a hindrance to the proper conduct of the business; that he had been told that capital could be secured if he made a clean breast of everything connected with the Gamey investigation; that capital had been secured to buy Mr. Gamey out. Mr. Crossin was asked to name the purchaser or purchasers of Mr. Gamey's stock, but this he kept a secret.

Callaghan Seen.

W. H. Callaghan seen by The World was asked what he got for making the declaration.

He replied: "I got nothing. The Queen's Park people did not play fair with me, and I have taken this way of getting even."

Callaghan has lived several years in Toronto. His address as given in the directory is 40 Winchester-street. He has resided several years as a traveler, and is now a house decorator with a place of business at 40 Winchester-street.

Three months ago Callaghan was associated with George Puddy, the well-known drover, in the promotion of a cattle guard. The guard was tested at Ottawa, and was said to be a success.

Callaghan is a frank looking man of about 35. He dresses well, and his conversation would stamp him as a man of more than ordinary intelligence.

Mr. Johnston's Denial.

E. F. B. Johnston, K.C., who was in Ottawa last night, was spoken to over the telephone by The World. W. H. Callaghan's declaration was read to him and he was asked if in justice to himself he cared to make any statement regarding it.

Mr. Johnston said: "The declaration is absolutely false. There is not one word of truth in the charges, and I positively deny knowing anything about the dealings he refers to. Mr. Stratton and myself never discussed this matter in any shape or form. Callaghan approached me on King-street one day, but I refused to even speak to him."

Mr. Johnston further stated that in his opinion Callaghan must have been attempting a case of blackmail, and as he had not at any time a very high opinion of him he did not care to have anything to do with him.

OPIUM IN MEDICINE CAUSED DEATH

Thomas Dognes Took an Overdose and Slept Away.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Dognes, living at 40 Czar-street, thought that there was something amiss with her husband, Thomas. She went to the dining room and discovered him there asleep, with his pipe and a bottle of medicine on the table near. She tried to wake him up, but found it impossible, and called the ambulance and had him taken to Grace Hospital, where he died at 12.45 o'clock this morning. While he was in the hospital the doctors found out that he was suffering from opium poisoning. He was 48 years of age, and until three weeks ago was an inspector in the York County Loan Co. For the last few days he has not been feeling well, and had been taking medicine to cure him, and it is thought that he took an overdose. He leaves a wife and five small children.

Coroner Johnston issued an order for an inquest at 8 o'clock to-night.

PARKER ON ROSEBERY.

Noble Lord's Speech re Canada Called Catchpenny Statement.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

London, Nov. 11.—Sir Gilbert Parker, speaking at Gravesend last night, said: "Lord Rosebery says that from the news he gets Canada is more interested in the Alaskan question than in the matter of a preferential tariff. What a catchpenny statement! The Alaskan boundary question was a nine days' excitement. The preferential tariff is Canada's permanent desire. Lord Rosebery fears that American immigration into Canada will destroy their loyalty toward the flag. He forgets that the history of the French-Canadians shows that 75 per cent. of the American immigration into Canada is either of Canadians repatriating themselves or of Scandinavians and Germans, not of native-born Americans. He forgets that the settler after becoming identified with the country becomes jealous of its autonomy. Does he think that Canada is like Panama? We are told that the free trade policy is an open door. It is a policy of an open house and a welcome to strangers, and be hanged to your poor relations."

POLICEMAN FOLLOWED OVER FENCE

And Two "Gay Cats" Are Locked Up for Highway Robbery.

The "Gay Cats" are once more to the front. Thomas Norton, 9 Blackburn-avenue, had occasion to walk up a lane off Peter-street, about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. While there, it is alleged two of the "cats" held him up and got away with $3 in cash. A boy who saw the assault notified P. C. Lawlor. He gave the thugs a grand chase, thru lanes and over fences, an finally landed both the assailants. Their names are George Murphy, 330 West Adelaide-street, and Thomas Milligan. Milligan comes from London, and is evidently associated with the tough element of Toronto. Murphy has a bad record with the police.

ROWE MUST FACE TRIAL.

Anthony Stanley Rowe, charged with defrauding the Great Fingal Consolidated Mining Company out of half a million of dollars, and arrested here some weeks ago, has been ordered back to England to stand trial. Detective Inspector Sager of the London Police, will start for England tomorrow, it is expected, with his prisoner. Rowe has put up a hard fight thru his counsel, T. C. Robinette, against being sent back for trial. When the decision was given yesterday he was visibly affected, altho he refrained from making any statements of any kind—a course he has pursued ever since arrested. Justice Britton declared when delivering judgment that a clear prima facie case of theft had been established.

DANGER IN THE PLEA.

What Giving Canada Treaty-Making Powers Would Mean.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

London, Nov. 11.—At a meeting of the Royal Colonial Institute in the Hotel Metropole last night, Sir G. D. T. Goldie, chairman, declared that no recent movement was more far-reaching than Canada's plea for power to make her own treaties. The proposal meant that one-tenth of the white population of the empire might commit the unconsulted nine-tenths to a tremendous hazard, and the costs of a war. Mr. Chamberlain was the first Colonial Secretary to recognize the enormous opportunities of Imperial sentiment among the colonies, and to transmute the Colonial Office from a Sleepy Hollow and Rip Van Winkle concern into a valuable machine for the consolidation of the empire. Major Ross read a paper on "Malaria in India and the Colonies." They were all indebted to Mr. Chamberlain for his far-seeing and powerful efforts on behalf of tropical medicine and sanitation. He favored the idea that learned societies should periodically send out special commissioners to report on the sanitary affairs of the colonies.

BURNED TO A CRISP.

Port Hope, Nov. 10.—A most harrowing story comes from the Township of Manvers, telling of the death of a little boy of six years. The boy, whose name is John Newton Fallis, is the son of Isaac Fallis, who lives about two miles south of Manvers station, of the C.P.R. On Sunday night about 9 o'clock the boy, accompanied by his sister, Maria, aged 9, went to the barn with a lantern to attend to some "chores," when the lantern exploded, resulting in the complete destruction of the barn and the burning to a crisp of the boy. His sister was also severely burned, but may recover.

LONDON CARTER CRUSHED.

London, Nov. 10.—Bartholomew G. Clampett, a well-to-do cartage agent of this city, was instantly killed this morning. The unfortunate man was assisting his men to move a press into the McClary works, when a misstep was made and the heavy machinery breaking away fell on Mr. Clampett's chest, crushing his life out instantly. He leaves a widow and three grown up children.

Collected Employer's Accounts.

Robert W. Lamb spent last night in No. 4 police station. He was formerly in the employ of the Knickerbocker Ice Company. It is alleged that because he needed money he collected some accounts that belonged to the Ice company and converted the receipts to his own use. It is said $3 will cover the amount collected.

FITZGERALD PRESIDENT WARD 1 CONSERVATIVES

In Annual Meeting They Listen to Andrew Miscampbell, Dr. Pyne, W. F. Maclean and Others.

The annual meeting of the Ward 1 Conservatives in Dingman's Hall last night was a winner. In enthusiasm it has never been equalled, and the addresses from the several speakers were lustily applauded and the sentiments of loyalty to the party, its policy and its leaders expressed, were sturdily re-echoed in the cheers which punctuated them.

Wm. Fitzgerald was unanimously elected to the office of president of the association.

On the platform were Andrew Miscampbell, Ald. Foster, Ald. Hubbard, W. F. Maclean, M.P., Dr. Pyne, M.L.A., John Greer, A. J. Keeler, Ald. Fleming, Controller Richardson, ex-Mayor Shaw, Dr. Thompson, Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, M.L.A., Dr. Ryerson, John Roach, Emerson Coatsworth.

Ald. Wm. Stewart, who presided, referred to Ward 1 as the banner ward of Conservatism, and then gave way to Ald. Hubbard, who was chosen to preside while nominations were made.

Ald. Stewart, Wm. Fitzgerald, B. Cairns and Ald. Robert Fleming were nominated for the office of president. All the nominees retired with the exception of Mr. Fitzgerald.

The other offices went by acclamation, as follows: First vice-president, B. Cairns; second vice-president, John Maxwell; third vice-president, W. J. Sanderson; secretary, John Humphries; treasurer, J. B. Leroy.

The following were elected to the Executive Committee: H. Dibley, H. Hogarth, G. E. Briggs, R. Courtney, Robert Fleming, John Wickett, James Watts, J. J. McKenna, R. Defries, R. Lehman, A. Thompson, W. J. Chick, R. S. Grundy, Geo. Stagg, A. Allen.

Dr. Pyne Hits Out.

Dr. Pyne then congratulated the Conservatives of Ward 1 on the splendid set of officers chosen. It presaged continued victory in the old ward. The Conservatives were often knocked down, as Mr. Miscampbell was the other day in the Soo, but Mr. Miscampbell would represent the Soo yet when a fair appeal was made to the people. The Globe had thrown up the sponge, he said, and victory was in sight. He recounted that the Liberals had attempted to unseat Donald Sutherland in South Oxford by procuring criminals

EAT RAW POTATOES.

Five Doukhobor Prisoners in Winnipeg Exhibit Signs of Insanity.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 10.—Five Doukhobors, who are in the city jail on their way from the Yorkton colony to the Penitentiary at Stony Mountain, this morning resolutely refused to touch the food tendered them for their breakfast. In its place they sat on the floor of their cells, and with appetites sharpened by a fast of 30 hours, devoured raw potatoes.

The five men are those who, under the leadership of Ivan Briscoff, one of the most fanatical of the fanatics, burned some binders, which were being used by their more enlightened co-religionists for the purpose of harvesting their crop.

The miscreants were given a quick trial, and a sentence of two years for their offence, but up to the present they fail to realize that they are in future to govern their actions by anything but the dictates of their own insanity.

It is with the greatest difficulty that they can be persuaded to eat anything but raw vegetables.

Order Furs To-Day.

The time to buy furs is to-day. You'll have the satisfaction of selecting from a large stock, be prepared for the cold weather, and in all probability save considerable money, because there is a threatened rise in the price of furs. The Dineen Co. has its showrooms positively crowded with a select and exclusive stock of furs, never before equalled in the Dominion. This includes some particular designs in stoles, caperines, collarettes of mole skin and Royal Russian Ermine.
