TAGGING THE SALVATION ARMY.

The Salvation Army is becoming excited over the newsboy tag law of Reporter Kelso. It seems the officials are arranging to arrest all the Salvation Army lassies caught selling War Crys on the streets and sending them to the Haven for reformation. Any of the soldiers found selling the paper without the newsboy's tag will also be arrested. One "humanitarian" said yesterday that the tag law was especially designed to drive the Army off the streets.

A new insect, the cowhorn fly, has made its appearance in America, according to the New York State etomologist. It comes from the north of France and scientifically is known as Hematobosa Serapa. The worst effect is probably to decrease the supply of milk from the cows by worrying them. He advises the bathing of the cows' horns in oil as a preventive.

The Mississippi seems able to rise from its bed almost any time.—Buffalo Times.

It would rise a great deal easier if it would keep its mouth shut.

A Missouri town has decreed that no one shall be allowed to teach school there who has not had a year's experience. This should be accompanied by a regulation that no pupil should be admitted until he has passed a satisfactory primary examination.

A Kentucky physician has discovered a new disease, "tornado poisoning." He says it is caused by germs carried by storm winds. This is probably only another way of saying he does not know what is the matter. But "tornado poisoning" is as good a name as "heart failure."

Emma Juch is represented as having resented the coldness of an Indianapolis audience by stabbing the drop curtain.

Whoa, Emma! You should never let your passion overtop your judgment, and so far forget yourself and stab the drop.

Young Englishmen are still arriving in this country who have paid money to be "taught farming." Is it not time the Government interfered to put a stop to this sort of swindling?—Montreal Star.

It is very doubtful if it is swindling technically, whatever it may be morally. But no amount of legislation will put brains into people, though the Government might do something in the way of disseminating information.

TRADE WITH THE INDIES.

A valuable paper from the pen of Mr. Walter R. Nursey was considered by the Council of the Board of Trade yesterday. It points out that trade with the West Indies is much should be cultivated, and suggests that hand-books describing Canada's productions and manufactures should be issued under the auspices of the Government and permanent exhibits sent to the centres of trade throughout the British West Indian colonies and South American colonies. A further suggestion is made that deputies be sent by the Board of Trade. The value of exports sent by Canada to the West Indies is but $1,601,543 compared with $8,197,693 from the United States, while the total exports including South America and Mexico were: Canada $4,148,660, United States $69,273,580. Jamaica produces sugar, rum, rice, coffee, spices, wools and tobacco, and her total trade in 1887 was: Exports $7,675,000, imports $6,745,000. The imports of Jamaica in one recent year were: Food stuffs, $2035; liquors, $340,000; clothing and boots, $3005; hardware, $340,000; machinery and tools, $315,000; coal and coke, $110,000; books, $35,000. The duties are equal on Canadian and United States products. The imports of Barbadoes in 1887 were, according to Mr. Nursey's paper, $4,916,000, and those of Trinidad and Lobago $9,708,000. The United States export quite a number of manufactures to these islands, which Canada does not, including agricultural implements, boots and shoes, machinery, nails, saws and tools, paper, refined sugar, spirits, candles and matches, the total value of these exceeding $400,000, while Ontario exports only $16,375. There is no reason why the trade between this province and the West India colonies should not be multiplied an hundredfold, since favorable rates of freight can be secured, and, as pointed out, the trade is a most desirable one, which Mr. Nursey's paper may have the effect of stimulating and extending.

The Belleville Ontario is hard pressed to make a point against the N.P. when it is led to imply that peaches do not grow in Canada. Come up to Toronto in the season and a look at Yonge-street wharf will satisfy you.

The first fish story of the season comes along to the effect that a man caught a pickerel, inside of which was a bass, and inside of that again a couple of perch. The locality is not given, and perhaps the omission is wise. All fish stories do not bear the closest scrutiny.

The "Escaped Nun" is getting to be a fake like the "Converted Monk." Drop a nickle in the slot.

There is something exquisitely ridiculous in affixing tags to newsboys, who are persevering in their efforts to let the public know they are such. Is there any danger or their being mistaken for bank presidents or "fresh" reporters?

A number of Slav women in a Pennsylvania mining town have a peculiar custom, amounting to a religious duty, of throwing water on other persons for two days after Easter. They think it bad luck for the throwers to fail in an attempt to cover the victim with water, and that if successful both will be blessed. This so angered the men who were drenched that they seized the women and thoroughly ducked them in the river. This was slightly exceeding the golden rule, but could be construed as something not far removed from the Mosaic law.

The St. Catharines Gazette speaks of the prevalent practice in that city of handing around loaded cigars. When someone loses an eye or is otherwise disfigured for life, perhaps the particular brand of fool who distributes or makes the cigars will realise that their proper place is in jail. They are closely akin to the fools who rock rowboats and point revolvers at their friends.

The combinations among the icedealers, owing to the scanty supply last winter, has led in several cities to the formation of companies to manufacture ice. It is said that a machine with a capacity of 25 tons a day can be set up for $20,000, and that the ice can be turned out for $1 a ton. That ought to leave a considerable margin for profit without any advance in price.

Now that Stanley has reached the wining and dining stage of his journey he ought to take panes to see that the windows are all secure.

It is noticeable that in the reception to Stanley at Brussels the American flag was prominently displayed, while the Union Jack was conspicuous by its absence. Yet Stanley is a British subject and not an American.

If England and Germany get into trouble in Africa the incident is not likely to create in the minds of the savage tribes a very deep impression of the advantages of civilisation.

The Toronto Globe gives a lot of figures as to the probable cost of the new Parliament buildings. When Mr. Meredith from his place in the Assembly asked Mr. Mowat what the cost would be the Premier replied that he did not know. Does The Globe know more about it than the Premier?

The New Globe Director Takes a Hand.

Editor World: Surely Mr. H. P. Dwight was influenced by a large idea of the sympathetic forbearance of his friends and a very low estimate of the intelligence and common sense of the citizens when he wrote the letter in your issue of to-day. After his (humiliating) confession, which reminds one so much of the old "monkey, cat and chestnut" picture, a discreet silence was naturally expected. It was surely bad enough for him to demonstrate that he lacked sufficient self-respect to prevent himself being used by R. Mearse Wells, solicitor for the C.P.R., while masquerading as the independent citizen D.W., without making an attempt to bring railing accusations against the gentlemen who have been addressing public meetings held to discuss the viaduct scheme. Every one who has attended those meetings knows that Mr. Dwight does not correctly present the facts when he accuses Mr. Thomson and his friends of "taking an active part in mass meetings where inflammatory speeches are made denouncing the railway companies as little better than robbers and thieves." The gentlemen who took part in those meetings entertain far too high an idea of the intelligence of the citizens to indulge in such unreasonable stupidity, and it is to be deeply regretted that any gentleman occupying Mr. Dwight's position should try to injure a good movement by misrepresenting its advocates. Mr. Dwight truly states that no satisfactory solution of the viaduct question is likely to be reached without the co-operation and consent of the railways, but there is another truth I would like to place right along side of it, viz.: that the greatest hindrance to the speedy co-operation and consent of the railways to a just and permanent solution of the Esplanade difficulty is to be found in the peculiar and unreasonable conduct of such citizens as Mr. H. P. Dwight.

Should Mr. Dwight deem it advisable to continue discussing the viaduct question in the press, permit me to suggest to him the propriety of sparing the blushes of his friends by avoiding boasting of his business experience and refrain from telling us about consulting his dictionary to justify his use of the terms demagog and montebank to such gentlemen as Mr. Thomson and Mr. Blain, who have with much self-sacrifice done a great deal to draw public attention to what all competent authorities declare the only real and permanent solution of the Esplanade difficulty. The Young People's Endeavors.

The first quarterly meeting of the Toronto Union of the Young People's Societies of Christian Endeavor was held last night in the Western Congregational Church, Spadina-avenue. The edifice was decorated for the occasion and presented a charming appearance. Over 800 persons were present, these churches being represented:

Zion Congregational, Hazleton-avenue Congregational, Beverley-street Baptist, Sherbourne Methodist, St. Clarens-avenue Methodist, St. James-square Presbyterian, Central Presbyterian, Parliament-street Baptist, Cook's Presbyterian, Leslieville Presbyterian, Hope Congregational and Northern Congregational.

Mr. T. G. Anderson, president of the union, was chairman and Rev. A. F. McGregor conducted the devotional exercises.

Rev. Coverdale Watson of Central Methodist Church gave an address of welcome, after which a choice musical program was disposed of in which these ladies and gentlemen took part: Miss Lillie Howell, Miss E. Dawkins, Mrs. H. McClellan and Mr. W. A. Ashdown.

A paper on "Spirituality" was contributed by Miss E. Dawkins, which was listened to very attentively. Miss Glover of St. James-square Presbyterian Church also read a paper on "Practicability." Rev. W. W. Andrews, B.A., of St. Clarens-avenue Methodist Church, led a consecration meeting, after which the touching hymn, "God Be with You Till We Meet Again," was sung. The union was reported to be in a flourishing condition. The proceeds of the meeting will be used to defray expenses of two delegates from the union to the St. Louis Convention in June.

The Canadian Chautauqua at Niagara-on-the-Lake.

The season this year at this popular summer resort will open June 14, and judging from the preliminary announcements the program will be of unusual excellence and variety. The establishing of an institution of this character has been a work of no small moment, in view of the fact that it is not intended as a land speculation but a permanent summer resort, where our business men and best people may with perfect confidence bring their families for a summer sojourn, be it brief or extended, and feel assured they will be surrounded by all the influences of a refined home. Nature has been very lavish with her bounty at the grounds at old Niagara and the artificial embellishments are all of a high order, as may be noticed in the photographic views now being displayed in the windows of some of our prominent stores.

HE HAS CROSSED THE BAR.

Prof. Boys of Trinity Joins the Great Majority—Died at the Hospital Yesterday—A Useful Career Closed.

At 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon Prof. Boys, late classical professor in Trinity College, passed away. At an age when the most of men are in their prime he was lingering on the margin of death in the hospital. Day after day his many friends have enquired as to his condition and invariably the answer came, "He is gradually growing weaker." Patient and uncomplaining to the last, his kindly face was like a ray of sunshine to the faithful nurses in the hospital.

The sad news was learned at his beloved university with profound sorrow. The professional staff with whom he was associated and the students who had learned words of wisdom from the skillful teacher could hardly believe that they had lost one whom they had learned to love as a brother.

By the death of Professor Boys, not only does the English Church lose one of its ablest ministers, but education in Canada suffers the loss of a learned disciple and faithful teacher.

In early life Prof. Boys attended Shrewsbury school and afterwards entered Jesus College, Cambridge, where his career was marked by more than ordinary distinction. He graduated with classical honors and a high standing in theology. Hebrew was one of his favorite subjects, and at that time a special examination was prescribed in that branch of study. Prof. Boys was the only student "starred" in this subject, the term being then applied to any one obtaining a high percentage. He commenced his life work as curate at Faversham, Kent, where he remained until appointed classical professor at Trinity College nearly 12 years ago.

In the early part of this year he resigned his position with the intention of once more taking pastoral work. He never fulfilled his plan, for the dread consumption laid him low and two months ago he was compeled to enter the hospital. With seeming premonition of his approaching end he presented Trinity College with his entire library, containing over 1000 valuable books.

Those bearing on classical subjects have already been arranged in the college library and a brass tablet is about to be placed on the walls bearing this inscription:

A Libel Case.

At the Civil Assizes yesterday the case of Walker v. Evening News occupied the attention of Mr. Justice MacMahon. The plaintiff is William Walker, who went from Toronto to England some time ago and opened an emigration agency in London. He wrote to John Scully of this city, asking him if he could find situations for emigrants. In reply to Mr. Scully's letter he sent out a number of men who were unable to find work here. The News published three articles headed: "Angry Victims," "Big Walker" and "Emigration Frauds," in which statements were made alleged to be derogatory to Walker's character. Hence the action for libel in which $10,000 damages is claimed.

The defence was that the articles, so far as they relate to the plaintiff in their actual and ordinary signification, are true in substance and in fact. J. S. Fullerton appeared for the plaintiff and W. R. Meredith is conducting the case for the defendants. The suit will be continued to-day.

The Two Pittburgs Win and the Clevelands Both Lose—The Bison Brothers are Sluggers—Turf News from Kentucky—Betting on English Racers—Royal Canadian Yacht Club.

The second day of the big baseball battle differed from Saturday in the respect that there was less disproportion in the attendance at the games of the two organizations. The Players took a mighty splurge at the outset and are now finding their level. The Pittsburg Leaguers surprised their friends and twice knocked out their opponents, while the Buffalo Brothers had little trouble in knocking out Cleveland a second time.

Henry Chadwick, the veteran writer and a gentleman who carefully studies baseball and the players generally, named his favorites in the League and Brotherhood games of Saturday. Out of the eight games he called the turn but three times, viz., Chicago in the former and Chicago and Boston in the latter. This shows the improbability of knowing one's giving proper "tips." Better shake the dice.

The Varsity nine play a smart, nervy game. Schultz pitched well and fielded his position perfectly. Some of the players had not handled a ball or bat since last season, and the lack of practice told against them; but even though the game was so one-sided the visitors are to be commended for the vim with which they played. A double play was their most brilliant bit of field work, while Waddell's stop of Leighton's hit in the fifth and Campbell's handling of wild throws were all creditable.—London Free Press.

R. C. Y. C.'S OFFICERS.

A. R. Boswell Re-elected Commodore—Captain Brown.

The four important offices of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club have been filled owing to a lack of opposition to a quartet of popular candidates. The nominations must be sent in a week before the annual meeting, which takes place next Saturday night in Shaftesbury Hall, and for the offices of commodore, vice-commodore, captain and hon. secretary there was a single candidate for each. These gentlemen are therefore elected by acclamation:

Commodore—A. R. Boswell.
Vice-Commodore—Thomas McGaw.
Captain—C. A. B. Brown.
Hon. Secretary—J. Bruce Harman.

For the general committee there are a large number of candidates and an interesting contest is expected Saturday.

KENTUCKY TURF NEWS.

Will Iroquois Bring $30,000?—The Lorillards' String.

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 21.—The improvements on the Kentucky Association track were completed Saturday, and it is now the handsomest track in the west. Training is progressing slowly, owing to the long continued bad weather, but many of the horses here will be ready to race when the meeting begins, May 6. There is great interest among the horsemen here over the approaching Belle Meade dispersal sale of next Thursday. It is rumored Lorillard will be a contending bidder for the stallion Iroquois, and several bets have been made that he will bring over $30,000. As the Belle Meade offering is the biggest thing in the way of a thoroughbred sale since Lorillard's in 1885, the eyes of the turf world can see nothing else until the auctioneer decides who shall own Iroquois, Luke Blackburn, Bramble, Enquirer and imp. Great Tom. Frank B. Harper, the owner of Ten Broeck and Longfellow, has eighteen horses in training this year, including Long Boy, Famine, Unite, Early Dawn, Silver Top, Long Roll, Corinne, Blackburn and five 3-year-olds and five 2-year-olds. This stable will race exclusively in the West.

A $10,000 Trotter Hauling an Express.

"Yes, gentlemen, Small Hopes, Vanderbilt's $10,000 trotter, is now hauling an express wagon in New York, and it's a shame. He was the greatest 'ringer' on the American turf and made fortunes for more than one man. I ought to know, for I was his 'rubber.'"

There were a number of gentlemen in the reading-room of the Leland Hotel yesterday afternoon and they are all admirers of the trotter. A discussion arose about Vanderbilt's and Bonner's possessions of horse flesh, when the "rubber" or groom of Small Hopes opened their eyes about the horse whose name was on the lips of members of every trottin associationg in America fourteen years ago. After a successful career of five years the clique who handled him were detected in Boston, and after considerable trouble had been experienced, the greatest turf scandal of modern times was exposed.

The horse was forever barred at the meeting of the National Turf Congress, and his driver, Bill McGuigan, was also barred from ever driving a trotting horse for a purse or stake over an Association course. After much litigation the famous horse was sold to Vanderbilt. With Lady Mac he annihilated all team records, and in his old age is compelled to draw an express wagon. He was bought by his present owner for $64.

"He must be about 19 years old now," said the former groom, who is now in the real estate business, "but when he was five years old he trotted many a mile in 2.15. He was the cleanest trotter that ever looked through blinkers, no boots, braces, checkreins or any modern trotting paraphernalia for him. And when it came to heats he was the greatest stayer I ever heard of."—Chicago Journal.

Pee Weep Broken Down.

HAMILTON, April 21.—Pee Weep of the Hendrie Stable has been declared out of all her engagements. On Saturday after being worked at the Valley Farm track she pulled up lame and it was discovered that she had broken down. She will accordingly be bred to Strathspey. Pee Weep is a bay mare, foaled in 1885 by Pat Malloy out of Virga. As a race mare she gave great promise, but like her sire she grew and thickened so rapidly that she looked almost too heavy for her legs. As a 2-year-old she started nine times, but failed to secure a bracket. Her best performance was running third to Emperer of Norfolk and Van Leland in the Tennessee Stakes at Saratoga, Aug. 19.

Mr. Phil. Dwyer was seen at Elizabeth and denied that Hanover had broken down, but said that it was true the horse was very lame. Furthermore, Mr. Dwyer says he is afraid that Hanover will not stand the preparation for another race. Mr. Mike Dwyer was not at the track yesterday. He is suffering from a slight attack of malaria and has gone to Washington for a change of air.

LABOR LEGISLATION FORTHCOMING.

Gen. Laurie's Scheme for Extending Trade with the Mother Country and the Colonies—Divorce Cases.

OTTAWA, April 21.—In answer to Mr. White (Card.), Hon. J. A. Chapleau said the labor legislation promised in the Speech from the Throne would be introduced this session.

Mr. Bergeron brought up the case of certain laborers for a sub-contractor for the Canada Atlantic bridge at Coteau who had been defrauded of their pay. He thought the men should be paid out of the Government subsidy in such cases. Sir John Macdonald having pointed out that this could not be done by law as the Government's agreement was with the railroad company, not with the contractors or sub-contractors, Mr. Laurier held that the necessary change in the law should take place. Mr. McDougall (C.B.) advocated the abandonment by the Government of its preferential lien so that the laborers could have the plant as security for their wages.

General Laurie moved for correspondence between the Imperial and Dominion Governments with reference to the abrogation of such articles in the various treaties of commerce between Her Majesty's Government and the Governments of foreign nations as preclude preferential fiscal treatment of goods of British and colonial production by the Government of the Dominion. He spoke at considerable length in favor of the facility for intercolonial trade possible consequent on such abrogation. Canada, he held, had much to expect from an extension of trade with the West Indies, Australia, New Zealand and South America, much more than from any scheme of commercial union with the United States. Mr. Casey followed, extolling the advantages of trade with the States.

Sir John Macdonald said the net results of the endeavors made to extend our trade with the West
