THE WOMAN'S CORNER

EFFICIENT HOUSEKEEPING

BY HENRIETTA D. GRAUEL
(Domestic Science Lecturer.)

MUSHROOMS OR "TOADSTOOLS."

There are more than a thousand varieties of fungi that belong to one great family; none of them are "toadstools" more than another. This term, however, is used constantly to distinguish the edible from the unedible variety, and the methods by which the division is made between the two is about as meaningless as the misnomer. The truth of the matter is that even scientists who have studied the fungi carefully cannot tell the poisonous kinds from the safe ones.

The "silver," the "salt" and other tests fail so many times that the wisest way to secure safe mushrooms is to use only those you are positive about and not attempt to test them at all.

If too highly seasoned or cooked too long the delicate flavor of this delectable food is destroyed, so after rinsing them in cold water and drying them gently with a soft cloth drop them for four minutes into boiling water that has been made a little acid with vinegar or lemon juice. Now drain them and brown them in very hot butter, add salt and pepper and serve on toast that has been moistened with steam and well buttered.

Mushrooms are excellent escalloped. Cook them until tender in the water, as directed above, then have ready a rich cream sauce, at the last moment add the yolk of an egg to it and a little paprika. Put the mushrooms in scallop shells and pour the sauce over them. Place in the oven until the buttered crumbs over the top brown nicely.

Where mushrooms grow plentifully you may gather them as they reach perfection and keep them for use later. Cook them in the hot salt water with the little bit of vinegar in it, as this blanches them, and when they are tender enough to be pierced easily with a long thin needle, drain and dry them in the oven. String them on a strong cord, as grandma used to do with apples that were to be dried. Take care they do not touch one another while they hang in the sun drying, and afterward hang them in a dry place where there is a good circulation of air.

They must be soaked when used, or they may be put through the food chopper or pounded fine and used in cream soups and for seasoning.

Fine, large mushrooms may be baked. Use just the caps and put one on each slice of toast needed, and this toast should be buttered, moistened and salted. Put the mushroom top on it and lay all on a shallow pan, slide this into the hot oven for five minutes, then draw out the pan and season the mushrooms with salt and pepper and brush them over with melted butter. Bake them until they are a little brown and very tender. Have ready a heated platter and lift the toast, with the mushroom on it, upon this, and serve immediately.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

A strong solution of borax and hot water poured down the sinks and drains will rid them of any offensive odor.

There is no economy in buying small pieces of ice. Know the size of your ice box and buy a piece to fill it.

Do not clean shoes too often. Sometimes they only require rubbing up. Do this with a pad made of old velvet.

Acid fruits should never be prepared with a steel knife. The best preparing tools are nickel or silver knives.

When making hot starch always use soapy water, as it gives the necessary shine to linens, and the irons will not stick.

Iron the button side of a waist in a folded bath towel, buttons turned downward. It will prevent them from breaking.

Soiled dancing slippers of light color can be successfully dyed in ink. Either blue or black ink produces a pretty art blue shade. Ink must be fresh and applied with a small pad of cotton wool. One application is sufficient.

To clean a raincoat, it should be dipped in cold soft water, spread on a table and scrubbed all over with a large nailbrush and soap. Then put it on a coat hanger and, if possible, dry in the open air.

FASHIONS AND FADS.

The absolutely plain robes, beltless like Egyptian tunics, are very chic.

There is a fancy for princess slips made entirely of very fine embroidery.

Some of the new blouses have darts in them and fitted girdles.

Black is going to be in extraordinary favor for day and evening.

Long kimono sleeves, tapering to the wrist, are as popular as ever.

The Medici collar, in its modern form, has lost much of its firmness.

Smart suits for little girls have checked skirts and plain white serge coats.

Semi-long afternoon wraps of plain and flowered silks are a Paris fancy.

Very wide "waistcoat belts" are of suede leather and have pockets in them.

Little walking hats of black straw are exactly like the churchman's beretta.

Waistcoats of white pique, fastened with pearl buttons, are fashionable.

A pretty new glove is of velvety mocha in mutternut shade and of beautiful finish.

Taffeta and crepe dresses are trimmed with collars and cuffs of ecru batiste, embroidered.

SISTER: READ MY FREE OFFER.

I am a woman.
I know a woman's trials.
I know her need of sympathy and help.

If you, my sister, are unhappy because of ill-health, and feel unfit for household duties, social pleasures, or daily employment, write and tell me just how you suffer, and ask for my free ten days' trial of a home treatment suited to your needs; with references to Canadian ladies who gladly tell how they have regained health, strength, and happiness by its use. I want to tell you all about this successful method of home treatment for yourself, my reader, for your daughter, your sister, or your mother. I want to tell you how to cure yourselves at home at trifling cost, and without aid from anyone. Men cannot understand women's sufferings; what we women know from experience, we know better than any doctor; and thousands have proved there is hope even for the hopeless in my method of home treatment. If you suffer from pain in the head, back, or bowels, feeling of weight and dragging down sensations, falling or displacement of internal organs, bladder irritation with frequent urination, obstinate constipation or piles, pain in the sides regularly or irregularly, bloating or unnatural enlargements, catarrhal conditions, dyspepsia, extreme nervousness, depressed spirits, melancholy, desire to cry, fear of something evil about to happen, creeping feeling up the spine, palpitation, hot flashes, weariness, sallow complexion, with dark circles under the eyes, pain in the left breast or a general feeling that life is not worth living, I invite you to send to-day for my complete ten days' treatment entirely free and postpaid, to prove to yourself that these ailments can be easily and surely conquered at your own home, without the expense of hospital treatment, or the dangers of an operation. Women everywhere are escaping the surgeon's knife by knowing of my simple method of home treatment, and when you are cured, my sister, I shall only ask you to pass the good word along to some other sufferer. My home treatment is for all—young or old. To Mothers of Daughters, I will explain a simple home treatment which speedily and effectually cures green-sickness (chlorosis), irregularities, headaches, and lassitude in young women, and restores them to plumpness and health. Tell me if you are worried about your daughter. Remember it costs you nothing to give my method of home treatment a complete ten day's trial, and if you wish to continue, it costs only a few cents a week to do so, and it does not interfere with one's daily work, is health worth asking for? Then accept my generous offer, write for the free treatment suited to your needs, and I will send it in plain wrapper by return mail. To save time you can cut out this offer, mark the places that tell your feelings, and return to me. Write and ask for the free treatment to-day, as you may not see this offer again. Address:
