SMITH'S SCHEMES.

How a Piano Tuner in the City Raised Money.

Defrauded Merchants and Clergymen—Laid in Goods and Did Not Pay for Them—Then Secured a Mortgage on Them.

About one year ago a tall, gawky-looking man came to this city from Ripley, England. His name was Henry Smith, and he has since turned out to be a scamp. As a result of his stay in the city merchants and private citizens are losers to the extent of about $600. For the first six months of his residence here he boarded, and last spring his wife, grown-up daughter and two sons, about 15 and 12 years of age, came from the old country. A house was then secured, into which Mr. Smith and his family moved. Here they stayed for some time, when it became plain to the tenant that it was "cheaper to move than pay rent." Accordingly Smith quietly removed to 346 King street—a small cottage just east of Waterloo, returning the key to the former landlord by his little boy. Here the remainder of his stay in the city was spent.

Smith's occupation was that of a piano tuner. A very good man he was, too, at his business. He was engaged by all the leading musicians of the city to repair their instruments, and St. Peter's Cathedral organ was tuned and repaired by him.

To furnish a house without money was a problem which took Mr. Smith but a short time to solve with the aid of plenty of nerve and an oily tongue. Accordingly he called upon a leading Dundas street furniture dealer. Smith wanted some very choice articles and selected the desired ones. After all had been chosen one thing stood in his way. How was he to get them without the cash? The furniture dealer had never seen Smith before and could not give him credit. Smith planned a crafty scheme. He had been playing on the good nature of several clergymen of London. He would get one of them to say a good word for him and then get the furniture. This he did and it succeeded admirably. At this place, however, enough furniture was not secured to properly furnish his house. He had become acquainted with another dealer, and he paid a visit thereto. Smith had heard where this gentleman had come from—a town near his own native city across the sea. This fact was used with the desired result. The articles, of course, would be paid for very soon, and there was no fear of any loss being occasioned. This gentleman was imposed upon to the extent of about $50. Some carpets had also to be secured for his residence, and a leading Dundas street firm was credited for a considerable amount. As a finishing touch to his domicile a piano was obtained—a good instrument at that—and of course was secured "on easy terms." But easy terms or any other arguments never bothered Mr. Smith's mind, and the piano was never paid for.

A quarter's water rates were also due, and one by one the bills from various dealers came pouring in. No money was coming, and everything commenced to look unfavorable for a prolonged stay.

As a last resort, he raised a chattel mortgage. A leading resident was approached and asked to issue a chattel mortgage on "his" (Smith's) furniture and household goods to the extent of $200. This was refused, unless some reliable person could be secured to go as security. Several clergymen of the city knew him as a "good, honest man," and one (a leading Anglican minister) agreed to sign the note. This was a week ago Friday, and that night Smith and his family left for parts unknown. As soon as this became known the landlady, Mrs. F. Chapman, had a landlords' warrant issued for $60. The bailiff took possession and the goods were sold. The landlady's claim came first and the remainder of the creditors will have to be satisfied with what they can get. Before leaving Smith left a small parcel addressed to the gentleman who had issued the chattel mortgage, containing the key of the house. This however, could not be used to advantage by him, and the clergyman will likely have to settle the note.

Messrs. D. W. Blackwell and T. Brenton were among those from whom furnishings were secured. Mr. A. E. Cooper holds the chattel mortgage. It was indorsed by Rev. Canon Richardson. These gentlemen will likely realize something by the sale of the goods.

Corn Sowing

Is a process conducted by the agency of tight boots all the year round. Corn reaping is best conducted through the agency of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, the only safe and sure-pop corn cure. Putnam's Extractor is now widely imitated. Beware of all poisonous and sore producing substitutes; they are dangerous to use and are sold simply because they afford the dealer larger profit.

Mrs. Portly Pompus—What does that young man do all the evenings he spends with you in the kitchen? Bridget—Sure, mum, and what did Mr. Pompus do when he called on you before you were married?

Among the pains and aches cured with marvelous rapidity with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is earache. The young are especially subject to it, and the desirability of this Oil as a family remedy is enhanced by the fact that it is admirably adapted not only to the above ailment, but also to the hurts, disorders of the bowels, and affections of the throat, to which the young are specially subject.

Mrs. Muggs—That horrid Mrs. Frills told Mrs. Nexdoor that I was a regular old cat. What do you think of that? Mr. Muggs—I think she never saw you in the same room with a mouse.

NATIONAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN.

A United Movement Set on Foot Most Auspiciously in Canada.

The Countess of Aberdeen Elected the First President.

TORONTO, Oct. 28.—The Governor-General and Countess of Aberdeen spent a busy day yesterday. They visited several public institutions and had a most hearty reception. But the most notable event was the meeting of the women in the Pavilion in the afternoon, which Lady Aberdeen addressed. There were over 2,500 women in the audience, and they extended a warm greeting to the Countess of Aberdeen, who arrived soon after 3 o'clock, accompanied by Mrs. Kirkpatrick, Lady Marjory Gordon, and her governess, Miss Wetterman, with Mr. Arthur Gordon in attendance. The prominent features of the meeting were Lady Aberdeen's address, which was delivered in a clear, resonant voice, well modulated and controlled, every word being clearly enunciated and easily audible at the farthest corner of the hall, and the organization of the National Council of Women for Canada.

The gubernatorial party were given seats in the center of the platform, Lady Aberdeen being accorded the privilege of using the mayor's chair, which, it is said, has never before left the council chamber in the city hall. Mrs. Macdonnell, provisional president of the Women's Auxiliary of Canada, performed the duties of chairman, and among the women on the platform were Lady Gzowski, Mrs. Dignam, Mrs. Sweatman (the See House), Miss Faith Fenton, Mrs. Annie Parker, Toronto; Mrs. Tilley, Mrs. John Cameron, Mrs. G. N. English, Mrs. Boomer, London; Mrs. Newcomb, Hamilton.

The Countess speaks beautifully. Her voice is charming. She is a true, noble woman. Her address was most interesting and practical. It sparkled with a dignified enthusiasm, which incited every woman present to nobler deeds of love and kindness, and ably indorsed the movement for the formation of an organization which shall at all times promote the welfare of the sex. The countess concluded by moving:

"That this meeting do heartily indorse the formation of a National Council of Women for Canada; believing that by means of such a federation a more intimate knowledge of one another's work will be gained, which will result in larger mutual sympathy, greater unity of thought and therefore in more effective action, especially in any matters that may arise from time to time which should command a general interest."

The resolution was seconded by Mrs. Tilley, of London, who made a brief and appropriate speech, and was carried unanimously by a standing vote. Lady Aberdeen then retired to the conservatory where three addresses were tendered her. The first, which was from the Women's Enfranchisement Association, of Toronto; a second one was from the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, of Toronto; a third one was from the Canadian Association for the Enfranchisement of Women.

Upon the return of Lady Aberdeen from the conservatory the organization of the national council was proceeded with, and her Excellency was unanimously elected president. On the presidency being tendered her, she said that she had no idea of becoming president when she spoke about the organization, but if she was considered as a sufficiently Canadian woman, she would be glad to accept. At Chicago, in her absence, the ladies there had elected her president of the International Association. It was a large order, and she scarcely yet knew what the duties would involve. She thanked them heartily for the trust that they had reposed in her, and said that she would fulfill the duties devolving upon her with the very best of her ability.

The other officers elected were as follows: Vice-presidents, Mrs. Macdonnell, Toronto, and Mrs. John Macdougall, Montreal; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Cummings, Toronto; recording secretary, Mrs. English, London; treasurer, Mrs. Hoodless, Hamilton. It was decided that the wives of the Lieutenant-Governors of the provinces be asked to organize their respective provinces, and elect a vice-president, these, with the above officers, to compose the executive committee.

IMPORTANT!

"Win a Crown and wear it," is a very good motto. HEINTZMAN & CO. having worked for and obtained a reputation as first-class piano manufacturers, do not feel that they are called upon to share it with any other firm, who by fallacious argument try to make the public believe that the Piano they make or sell is "just like THE HEINTZMAN," or that it is THE "Heintzman." The public and intending purchasers especially, are asked to bear in mind that there is only one HEINTZMAN & CO. Piano. Our trade mark is registered, therefore do not be induced to buy a piano unless it bears the good old name of "Heintzman & Co." It is a safe guarantee that the piano bearing it is reliable in every particular. We have some new and beautiful designs in stock at our London Warerooms, "C. P. M. H." 189 Dundas street. Also some excellent bargains in second-hand Pianos and Organs by other makers. Inspection invited, terms easy.
