THROAT SORE?

Don't neglect it because you think it is "only a sore throat." It is often the beginning of serious trouble, which can be avoided if proper precautions are taken. Peps will safeguard you.

"Sore throat" is a sign that your power of resistance has been temporarily lowered, and your system is therefore unable to withstand the attacks of harmful germs which are being constantly breathed in. The germs have, therefore, settled in your throat and caused inflammation, and to prevent more serious trouble these germs must be destroyed.

A Peps pastille dissolved on the tongue throws off Pine vapor, which is as certain a germ-destroyer as the Pine laden air of the Swiss Mountains, which doctors so highly recommend. These Pine fumes are breathed down into the air passages and lungs, soothing and healing the inflamed membranes that medicine swallowed into the stomach could not possibly reach.

Nothing can equal this breatheable remedy for all affections of the throat and lungs, coughs, colds, hoarseness, asthma, bronchitis, etc. All dealers or Peps Co., Toronto. 50c box, 3 for $1.25.

TRANSFERRED TO BARACHOIS.

(Moncton Times)

Rev. F. X. Cormier, who has been the parish priest at Aboujagne for some time, has been transferred to Barachois to succeed Father E. N. Masse. Owing to advanced years and ill health, Father Masse is obliged to give up active work in the parish of Barachois. The resigning priest while in this district was beloved and respected not only by members of his own congregation but by all of the community. His successor, Father Cormier, a native of Cormiers Cove, Westmorland County, was ordained at St Joseph's Chapel,, Memramcook, N. B. He was stationed at the Cathedral in St. John for about three months during the year 1903 and although here but a short time he made many friends whose best wishes will follow him to his new field of endeavor. He was also stationed at Kingsclear, Moncton and Shediac . Father Masse will proceed to the Sisters' Hospital at Shediac. He was stationed at Barachois for twenty-one years.

ASSISTANCE TO EXHIBITORS OF LIVE-STOCK.

In view of the fact that it is impossible to hold the regular Winter Fair at Amherst, the New Brunswick Department of Agriculture will duplicate any prizes won by exhibitors of horses, cattle, sheep, swine or poultry at the Guelph or Ottawa fairs to be held this coming winter.

Exhibitors must secure a statement from the secretary of the fair, showing the number of prizes won, the amount of each prize and in what class or classes the stock competed; upon presentation of these statements the necessary checks will be issued.

Further information can be had from the secretary for Agriculture, Fredericton, N. B.

TWO QUEBEC NEWSPAPER MEN DROWNED.

Editor of the Quebec Chronicle and Member of the Staff Lost Lives While on Hunting Trip.—Quebec Telegraph Editor Dead.

Quebec, Oct. 15.—Quebec newspaper circles received a severe shock on Saturday when William Pike Osborne editor-in-chief of the Quebec Chronicle, and Clement Henchey, of the editorial staff, were drowned at Lake St. Joseph, where they had gone on a hunting expedition, while John A. Jordan, for 25 years editor-in-chief of the Quebec Telegraph, passed away at the age of 74 years after a long illness. The accident in which the two newspaper men lost their lives, was caused by the swamping of their boat late Saturday night.

Mr. Osborne is survived by his wife and two children. Mr. Henchy was single.

PLANNING TO CLOSE THEATRES

Movement Backed by the Clergy in Quebec City.

Quebec, Oct. 12—Strong, after their eminent participation of the prohibition victory lately, the Roman Catholic clergy, it is known, are about to start a movement to close all theatres, especially movies, in Quebec City. So far the clergy has obtained the closing of every theatre on Sundays in Quebec City and Levis, but now they mean to shut down entirely all places of amusement.

The civic authorities are said to have been already petitioned on the matter.

CAMPBELLTON ASTONISHED BY MERCHANTS STORY

A merchant relates the following. "For years I could not sleep without turning every hour. Whatever I ate caused gas and sourness. Also had stomach catarrh, ONE SPOONFUL buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-i-ka relieved me INSTANTLY." Because Adler-i-ka flushes the ENTIRE alimentary tract it relieve ANY CASE constipation, sour stomach organs and prevents appendicitis. It has QUICKEST action of anything we ever sold. A. McG McDonald.

Two men fought a duel. One man was named Shott and the other Nott, Some said that Nott was shot, others that Shott was not. Hence it was better to be Shott than Nott. There was a rumor that Nott was not shot, and Shott avows that he shot Nott, which proves either that the shot Shott shot was not shot, or that Nott was shot notwithstanding. On trial it was proved that the shot Shoot shot shot Nott, or, an accident with firearms are frequent, it may be possible that the shot Shott shot shot Shott himself, when the whole affair would resolve itself into its original elements and Shott would be shot, and Nott would not. Apparently the shot Shott shot shot not Shott but Nott.

WHAT ENGLAND CAN DO IN FOOD CONTROL CANADA SHOULD ALSO

Lord Rhondda Britain's Food Controller, Urges Individual Economy and Increased Prodution—Compulsion Must Be Used if Effort Fails.

London, Oct. 12—Lord Rhondda in an interview says:

"I have followed with great interest Lord Northcliffe's visit to Canada and his food economy speeches. Were I asked what Canada could best do to help the Empire's food problem during these coming months, I would support his advice to minimize consumption in order to have larger supplies available for the army, and make arrangements to establish credits to enable England to purchase these supplies.

"No one here wishes to seem to instruct Canada in her business. We realize the magnificent sacrifices she has made and the eager spirit of her people. Still, with the situation as it is, increased efforts and increased sacrifices all around are essential. We hope that Canada will make a great effort to increase production, particularly of those foodstuffs like bacon, where the shortage is the greatest, and further to encourage the use of substitutes for wheat and meat.

"British experience of food control has demonstated that we must fix the prices of essential foodstuffs in order to eliminate profiteering, prevent extravagance and reduce the consumption. We provide penalties for those who attempt to break the law. It is necessary to fix the price of essential articles because a slight shortage of wheat, meat or coal, if left to the ordinary laws of supply and demand would increase the prices manifold, more than would be really justified.

The people must have these things whatever the price demanded. "The same rule does not apply to luxuries, since people abandon their use when the prices are to high.

"Profiteering cannot be eliminated by the wave of the magic wand, but we are steadily developing a policy and making it impossible by preventing intermediate dealing and by fixing the rates of profit in each stage from the producer to the consumer. This takes the ground from under the profiteers' feet. It is necessary to have compulsory powers.

"Mr. Hoover's statement which I accept, shows a coming shortage of meat and cereals.

"One difficulty facing us is that the demand for food increases as the wages rise and also as prices fall. Greater prosperity in the working class district here lead to an increased demand for meat, particularly for certain cuts of meat. We are attempting to reduce consumption by a voluntary effort, but if voluntary effort is insufficient, compulsory rations will follow. People must eat less voluntarily, or compulsorily.

"I have no wish to talk about what the English people are doing voluntarily in food sacrifice I notice rather, where they fall short. They willingly submitted to wide-reaching limitations.

"Instead of attempting to work the food control from a central department in London, we have established 2,000 local food committees which are supervised by visiting commissioners. These are doing admirable work.

"The situation facing the world during the coming months necessitates that we strain every resource, increase supplies, and make every effort to economize in individual demands.

"Food" as Mr. Hoover says, "will ultimately win the war."

Reporter—"What is the secret of your success in politics? How do you manage to beat down the opposition?"

Politican—"Young man I don't try to beat 'em down. I pay 'em what they ask."

CANADA OUT TO BORROW MILLIONS

"Victory Loan" Calls for a Hundred and Fifty Million Dollars and Unprecedented Inducements are Offered Contributors.

Toronto, Oct. 7—The largest single piece of business machinery ever created in Canada, larger than any of its kind, ever organized in any country, all to be used and then broken up in the next sixty-two days, was described here yesterday by the Minister of Finance, Sir Thomas White. It consists of a gigantic selling organization with thousands of agents scattered throughout every part of the Dominion, in every country, hamlet, lumber camp, mining camp, fishing port and crowded city, from the edges of the sea to the heights of the Rockies. All will be under supreme command, seeking a single object—money. Jack Canuck, in others words, is out to borrow money. He wants a hundred and fifty millions. To get it, he offers a handsome rate of interest and unrivaled security. It will be known as the "victory loan."

In the last war loan raised in this country there were less than forty thousand subscribers out of a population of over seven million. The big corporations and the experienced investors absorbed the previous loans before the modest fellow with only fifty or a hundred dollars to offer understood the proposition. This time, instead of competition between the bond houses and over-lapping territories and duplicate efforts, the whole community of financial men and newspapermen, from coast to coast, will be working like one man.

This is the skeleton of the organization. Next to the Minister of Finance, will be the Dominion victory loan executive, including many of the biggest and most public spirited financiers in the Dominion. Under them comes the nine provincial committees, consisting of experienced financial workers in each province. Each provincial committee will then split up its province into districts (eight in Ontario), and in place an expert bond man, preferably the head of some well known house, at the head of each district.

Under each district manager, or captain will be five or six bond salesmen. Each of these lieutenants will have care of, say, one country, aided by a local chairman and secretary. Each of these sections will be subdivided into towns or townships and placed in charge of local committees composed of the persons best able to explain the new war loan to the people they call on.

This to bring the war loan close home to the very smallest and most modest investor. But that is not all. A special committee, headed by E. R. Woods, of Toronto, will canvass the very wealthy men to see that they do their share. They will see to it that no big fellow who can afford to take, say, $100,000 worth forgets that fact, and give the local canvasser only half that amount.

Meantime, the newspapers have banded together, through the Canadian Press Association and Canadian Press Limited, too handle the educational side of the work, and the five chief advertising agencies in Canada have combined to do the best and biggest display advertising ever shown in Canada.

FARMERS EXPECTED TO TAKE WAR LOAN.

They are Prosperous and Public Opinion Expects Them to Help.

Farmers should subscribe for a substantial portion of the forth-coming war loan. Crops have been uniformly good throughout Canada prices were never so high and the margin between selling price and cost of production has ensured a splendid profit. Mr. B. L Please, vice-president and managing director of the Royal Bank of Canada, in a recent interview, gave it as his opinion that an active campaign should be carried on among the farmers of the West. The farmers of that section of Canada and Ontario according to Mr. Please, are the best class to canvass for the loan.

The Manitoba Free Press also urges that an active campaign be carried on to get the farmers to invest. It suggests that the Minister of Finance send a letter to 100,000 Western farmers, personally appealing for their support of the loan.

GREYFISH SERVED AT HOTEL LUNCHEON

Royal Hotel Guests Enjoyed a Delicious Salad.

The October 6 issue of The Fishing Gazette of New York, the authority on fishing matters on the [illegible] coast, contains a St. John item that is of more than ordinary interest. It is a brief report of a luncheon at the Royal Hotel in this city at which the piece de resistence was greyfish. The host of the occasion was Mr. John Jackson, and his guest was the President of the Fishing Gazette Company. Mr. Jackson as a member of the Canadian Fisheries Advisory Board, has taken a keen interest in the movement to develop a demand for greyfish, otherwise known as dogfish.

Of the luncheon The Fishing Gazette Publishing Company, incorporated, was tendered a greyfish luncheon on Sunday last at the Royal Hotel, St. John, N. B., by Mr. John Jackson, the well-known salt fish merchant. The fish was served as a salad, with mayonaise, and was pronounced very palatable. The chef of the hotel said there were great possibilities for this fish served in various ways. The fish used was prepared and packed by fish merchants of New Brunswick under the personal supervision of Prof. E. E. Prince and Mr. Jackson.

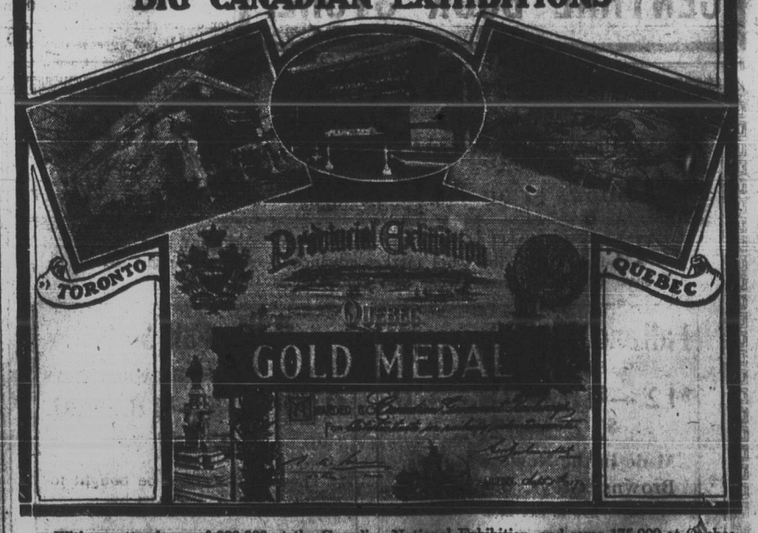
THE GOVERNMENT RAILWAYS IN EVIDENCE AT THE BIG CANADIAN EXHIBITIONS



With an attendance of 920,000 at the Canadian National Exhibition, and some 175,000 at Quebec, and judging from the interest which a large percentage of these visitors evinced in the Government Railways attractive exhibits, they may reasonably expect to augment their ever increasing clientele.

At Toronto an immense map of Canada from Winnipeg East to the Atlantic Coast, some sixty feet long by fifteen feet high, was erected. The route of the Government Railways was outlined in electrically lighted red globes, and in order to demonstrate the run of the principal trains a moving shadow by an ingenious electrical contrivance was arranged. For instance, starting from Quebec an illuminated sign flashed the "National Atlantic," and immediately the shadow commenced its run to Quebec, connecting at Cochrane with the line to Toronto, the names of the principal stations flashing as approached. Nearing Quebec another sign announced the Ocean Limited had left Montreal. The two lines connected at Quebec, and the Ocean Limited continued its journey by the shores of the St. Lawrence and thence to Moncton, Halifax and the Sydneys. On the return journey a similar operation was performed.

An announcement on the map stated that over 500,000 of our soldier lads had travelled this route without mishap, a feature in railway operation any transportation corporation might point to with pride—as indeed did a huge statue of Jack Canuck, emblematic of the fact that it was his own railway that had made such a record.

An architectural illuminated model of the new Union Station which is to be erected in connection with the west terminals now under construction at Halifax was also displayed together with oil paintings showing the terminals as they will appear when completed.

The Quebec exhibit was on somewhat similar lines, and so impressed the Exhibition authorities that a gold medal was awarded for artistic taste in railway advertisements.

At both Exhibitions a large number of the railway publications were distributed.
