

RELIGION AT THE FRONT

WITH OUR FIGHTING MEN... The Story of Their Faith, Courage, Endurance in the Great War. By William E. Sellers.

It is a common opinion that the occurrence and the long-drawn out agony of the present war imply that religion is largely in a bankrupt condition.

Now he bade them as they scoured the Strait to say words barbarous and presumptuous. O that bitter water, thy lord lays this punishment upon thee for that thou didst do him hurt albeit he had done no hurt to thee.

After this plain speaking the Hellespont gave up the struggle, and in reward for its compliance it received a golden cup and a golden mixing-bowl and a Persian sword which they call a scimitar.

This all happened a mile or two above the Narrows that defied the Allies for some time. A good deal further up on the Gallipoli side, in the "Chersonese," as it then was, Alcibiades had a castle of his own.

Moreover, the presence on active duty of all these communions in the persons of their recognized ministers tends to give everybody the advantage of the help of all of them.

THE CRAFTY, BRINY RIVER
So crafty was it—the river of the Dardanelles—that the ungainly little ships of thirty centuries ago preferred to unload before they reached it.
