FROM SHEEP LAKE ALL OVER KOOTENAY WON BY ROSSLAND A BATTLE IN SAMOA Rossland Mining Stocks

Supply From That Source.

An Appropriation of $800 in Aid of the School of Mines-The Epworth League Wants a Bylaw to Defend It From Thieves.

At its first regular meeting Tuesday the newly elected council settled down to active work as composedly and as systematically as if it were the oldest civic government in the world instead of being one of the first administrations of one of the newest towns in the Dominion. Mayor Goodeve presided, and his thorough acquaintance with parliamentary proceedure made any hesitancy on his part unnecessary. Alderman Hooson from the First ward was the only new member of the council in attendance, as Alderman McCrae is not yet back from Halcyon and the successor of Alderman Barrett has not been elected.
The water question was the first thing that the new council considered. A report was received from W. F. Tye, engineer for the Columbia & Western railneer for the Columbia & Way, showing that the altitude of Sheep way, showing that the altitude of Sheep lake is 4,300 feet, whilethat of the Red lake is 4,300 feet, whilethat of the Red ing hard in preparation for the carnival ing hard in pre mer consequently is 800 feet above the town. Mr. Tye estimated the flow of water from the lake at 500 miner's inches. Its length he put at three-fourths of a mile and its breadth at a quarter of a mile, while near the shore it is about 10 feet deep. The council, it is about 10 feet deep. The council, with the idea of securing the lake as a source of supply for the new municipal water works, instructed City Engineer Smith to make some preliminary surveys. City Solicitor Abbott was also instructed to take up the water in the structed to take up the water in the

Dave Dunlop, librarian of the Epworth reading room at the Methodist church, asked for a special bylaw making it an offence to steal books and the like from the reading rooms. Mr. Dunlop wrote that thieves "were getting annoying and bold; they had stolen books and even the contribution box. They would take anything, and they would not contribute a cent, either. It was necessary to set the other readers to watch them."

Alderman Hooson pointed out that the Dominion laws on theft fully covered the reading room, and it would be useless for the city to pass a special bylaw for that purpose.

The grade bylaw and the bylaw to buy a city park were passed. The bylaw to appropriate $300 to the school of mines passed its first reading. An amendment to the street bylaw was introduced, making it compulsory for owners of buildings abutting on the streets to keep the roofs free from snow.

The resignation of Alderman Barrett, who lacks the property qualifications permitting him to sit in the council, was accepted, and Tuesday next was set as the day for nominating his successor. The application of W. S. Heron for the position of sanitary inspector was reblanks in the fire, water and light and in the finance committees will be filled

In the thick of the fight Chesterton was suddenly struck a terrific blow on the head with the rubber. It laid his skull open for nearly two inches. After a moment's rest the plucky captain returned to the battle. The first point was made at the end of 11 minutes by Davis of the Rosslands. The Victorias rallied considerably in the country.

In the second half, the only point was won by Davis of the Rosslands, which gave that team the game by a score of two to one. Some Fine Playing.

O'Brien, the Victoria's cover, played in good shape, and his cool work saved his team a dozen losses. His lifts were brilliantly executed. Merritt, the Victoria's point, was exceptionally good in toria's point, was exceptionary good in getting down the rink with the puck. Ohesterton, the captain of the Rosslands, although badly hurt, distinguished himself for his remarkable speed and his generalship. Mr. McBride was one of the best aggressive players that the Rossland team had, and at in-playing did clever work. A. W. Davis, who scored both points for his team, was both rapid and reliable. When he hit the disk it went where it was meant to go. Rea's interference When he hit the disk it went where it was meant to go. Rea's interference was good, and he snatched a possible win from the Victorias half a dozen times. Big Mike Lahey at point resisted innumerable offers to make grand stand plays, but instead attended to business, and when he was needed he managed to send the rubber down the rink with a vengeance. Elwood, the Rossland's cover, surprised even his own team with the steadiness of his playing, and he made a strong support for the forward line.

The market for the past week has shown activity. Iron Mask, Dundee, Evening Stars and Tamaracs being most Evening Stars and Tamaracs being most in demand. The final payment has been made on the Spitzee, and it is now the property of the Indian Chief Gold Mining company. The concentrator of the Dundee starts up this week, and the shares are steadily advancing, being today firm at 27. This property will soon prove a dividend payer, and we look for a very sharp rise in its shares. Good reports are in from the Tamarac. The machinery is now working and the property is being actively developed.
