A Set-Back for Prohibition.

It is certain that the cause of restriction and high license is gaining over the border; while it seems equally sure that prohibition is going backward. On Monday the State of Massachusetts voted against a proposed amendment to the constitution, making prohibition compulsory all over the state. The majority against prohibition was over 40,000, which is not considered so very large; still, hardly anybody expected it to be more than half as much. The truth appears to be that the occasion developed an antagonism to prohibition far beyond what was generally imagined to exist, either by friends or foes of the amendment. Massachusetts has a local option law already, and any locality desiring prohibition can have it for itself; and probably there were many voters who thought they could get along with that for a while. The women worked hard for prohibition; but the popular tide was the other way, and it was too strong for them.

What Massachusetts has done means a good deal by itself, but when we see that a similar influence prevails in other States that have been voting on prohibition lately the impression that the cause is getting a bad set-back is decidedly strengthened. Recently a prohibition amendment was defeated in New Hampshire, which is a bona fide "Yankee" State, and the question is to be voted upon over again in Rhode Island, which is in the face of it a defeat for prohibition, though the event itself has yet to be decided. There has been a pretty extensive experience of prohibition in the New England States; and it certainly does not look well for the cause that after all this experience of it it has now to go on the back track. Very soon Pennsylvania will vote on the same question; and another test of the way public opinion is moving will have been taken.

Recent results in New England are decidedly favorable to the Republican party. For in the State of New York for certain, and probably elsewhere, too, that party lost many votes in the two last presidential elections—1884 and 1888—because some Republicans chose to vote against the Republican party, for the reason that the party leaders had refused to adopt prohibition altogether, and to make it a sine qua non. The ill success of prohibition recently justifies the decision of the Republican managers and must add immensely to the party's strength in future contests. At the same time there need be no doubt of the fact that at least three-fourths of the prohibitionists in York State, where the quarrel raged most bitterly, are and have been Republicans in principle. Over the border there has been a third party movement, and within recent time it has appeared a pretty strong one too, to kill the Republican party off because it refused to bind itself to prohibition out-and-out. It is not premature to say that this particular third party movement has failed.

Nor would it be going out of the way either to say that recent experience in this third party movement over the border does not promise well for similar attempts in Canada. Further, we have had recent experience of our own which may counsel us that, as regards prohibition, it may be a good plan to leave well enough alone. Restrictive legislation is pretty strong and powerful already, in Ontario at all events. And if it were not so disgracefully linked in with partisan administration for political purposes many good temperance people might suppose that we were doing pretty well.

The Inland Freights Charge.

In 1879 the Canadian Government inaugurated the levying of duty on inland freight charges on articles imported into Canada—countries in North America and Great Britain alone being exempted from the operation of the act. For instance, an article is manufactured in an interior German town. The duty on that article is not rated according to its value at the place of manufacture, but according to its value at an ocean port. In other words, the freight charges were added to the cost of the article at the point of manufacture. This law has been in operation ever since, subject to several variations, but it was always found to create a great deal of annoyance, and the revenue derived was comparatively light. Importers of toys and fancy goods from Switzerland, a country which has no ports, found that the cost of carriage to the ports in many cases exceeded the cost of the article carried, and thus they had to pay double the amount in duties of what they did formerly. It is understood that complaints were made by Germany against Great Britain's immunity from this law, and it was proposed as a way of settlement to place Great Britain under its operation. This proposal created great excitement among importers of British goods. They would be called on to pay duty on land carriage in England, and as many of the exporting cities in England are inland—Manchester, Birmingham, Leeds, Sheffield, etc.—the tax would be burdensome.

The matter was brought before the attention of the Government by representatives of the Montreal and Toronto Boards of Trade and the whole matter was thoroughly discussed. The Minister of Customs has now announced that the tax on inland freights will be entirely abolished, and this ends a trouble between importers and the Customs Department ever since the law was put in force.

It may be remarked that Donald Morrison is now in the tureen.

A Dinner Pill.—Many persons suffer excruciating agony after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, and instead of being a healthy nutriment it becomes a poison to the system. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and convert the food partaken of into healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with Indigestion or Dyspepsia.

GOLD SEEKER'S SUBURBAN

It had nineteen starters out of the forty-nine that accepted the weights, and the result was a big surprise. Mr. Leybourne's bay colt Gold Seeker, against which 20 to 1 was freely laid, won after an exciting finish with Fullerton, who carried the top weight and beat the favorite Wise Man by a length for the place. The others with betting were as follows: 6 to 1 against Wellington, 10 to 1 each Van Dieman's Land, The Baron, 11 to 1 Vercelli, 12 to 1 Bullion, 16 to 1 Ashpian, 20 to 1 each Felix, Mamia and Lisbon, 25 to 1 each Lady Roseberry and Indian Prince, 33 to 1 once Love in Idleness, Eridsperd, William the Silent, Friday and Theosophist. Gold Seeker won the Glasgow Handicap at Doncaster as a two-year-old, which was the only occasion that he was first past the post in 1887. Betting on the Big Handicaps.

Still three weeks before the Brooklyn Jockey Club Handicap is decided, and yet five horses have been backed out of the Baltimore book. At this time last year Hanover was the only candidate with "full" written opposite his name, while 25 to 1 about The Bard went begging. And yet The Bard won, though his starting price was 4 to 1, while Hanover went to the post an 8 to 5 favorite. Now the book is closed on both horses, and Exile, who ran third to them in the memorable struggle at Gravesend, has also been backed to a standstill. Eleve and Juggler are the others against whose chances Messrs. Emery and Jones refuse to lay any more money, but certainly their last year's performances do not justify a reasonable hope of their even running into a place. But the Baltimore pencillers are making a round book, and as both Eleve and Juggler were backed at the long price of 100 to 1 it did not require much money to close the book on them.

Many changes have recently been made in the questions about the several candidates for the Volunteer Handicap. This rich stake will be run at the June meeting of the Coney Island Jockey Club, and the starters will be selected from among the best three-year-olds in training. The distance is one mile and a quarter, possibly a little longer than some trainers care to send a promising colt so early in the season, but the field is sure to be large, and a good race will be the result. When books were first opened on this event 40 to 1 was offered against Carroll and 50 to 1 each against Reply and Tenny. To-day all these have "full" opposite their names in the Baltimore book. Fresno is practically first favorite at 15 to 1, Dalblo, Eric, Radiant, Lannes, Magnetic, Major Domo and Tom Boy are 20 to 1 chances, while the 30 to 1 division includes Blue Rock, Crackman, Fides, Long Island, Orator, Sansom, Senorita, Saracen, Sunshine and The Don. Bill Barnes and Sam Wood at 40 to 1 appear to be worth backing

Proctor Knott at Work.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 24.—Proctor Knott was given a trial at Derby distance yesterday morning, and did his work badly. Knott was brought out on the track alone. He has heretofore been worked with Come to Taw, but yesterday the latter was left in his stall. After a preliminary warming up Knott was cantered around to the half mile pole and was then given his head. It was noticed by the critical eyes turned upon him that he did not run as easy as he has been in the habit of doing. The mile was made in 1.46 and the mile and a half in 2.47. The last quarter was run very slow and the great 3-year-old looked very tired. He had not been pulled an inch of the road but was ridden out. The trial was a great disappointment to both Bryant and Scoggan, as they had expected him to run about six seconds better. It must also be remembered that Knott's shoes have been removed and racing plates put on his feet. If he is expected to win the Two Thousand Stake at Nashville, the Kentucky Derby or any other important race, he must be got in much better fix than he is in at present.

Gossip of the Turf.

A prominent candidate for the Queen's Plate is reported lame.

Darlington has been declared out of the Suburban and Sheepshead Bay Handicaps.

The old race horse Bootjack is again on the turf and ran unplaced at Memphis on Monday.

W. C. Daly's bay horse, The Bourbon, broke the Clifton record for a mile and a sixteenth at that track on Monday, covering the distance in 1.49.

Mr. McKacy of Ottawa has purchased from Hornsby Bros. of Eminence, Ky., a yearling colt by Lexington Goldust, dam Dareus, by Green Mountain—Black Hawk.

At the Pacific Coast Blood Horse Association meeting, California, on Tuesday the Pacific Derby at one mile and a half was won by The Czar, who covered the distance in 2.36.

W. R. Letcher's Longalight, b m, 6, by Longfellow—Skylight, was injured so badly the other day on the Latonia track that she will probably be permanently retired from the turf. While exercising on the track she collided with another horse and was kicked in the flank.

The declaring at this late day of Egmont and Galore out of the Suburban crushes the hopes of many an ante-post speculator. Both horses were thought to have more than a fighting chance for the big handicap, and the varying quotations published from time to time showed that the pencillers had written cards about them.

Last week was very disastrous to St. Louis bookmakers, they having lost fully $20,000 on the Jersey races in six days. The talent have been picking the winners down the board without the least trouble. The Osborne race of Tuesday hit the bookies hard. There had been 15 and 20 to 1 laid freely against him and the post odds quoted were 10 to 1.

Mr. A. Shields has purchased from Charlie Boyle at Monmouth Park the bay gelding Dublin, 4 years, by Luke Blackburn—Imp. Dublin Belle. Dublin never started as a 2-year-old. Last spring at Washington he ran unplaced to Sir Dixon in the Analostan Stakes and was not raced again until the fall, when he ran unsuccessfully several times at Clifton and Gutteburg. Mr. Shields' new purchase is expected to arrive in Toronto to-day.

Bowling on the Green.

The annual meeting of the Victoria Bowling Club was held at the Rink on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. There was a large attendance. The secretary presented his report, which showed the club's first year to have been a satisfactory one. They opened the season with a most successful tournament on July 14, at which sixteen rinks took part, the clubs represented being from Hamilton, London, Belleville, Walkerton, Granites and Victorias. The Granites won the president's gold medals, Walkerton capturing the vice-president's silver medals. During the season six matches were played with the Granites, in which the club was successful in four. They closed the season by winning both the gold and silver medals at the Granite tournament on September 20 and 21.

The old officers were re-elected, viz: L. A. Tilley, president; J. S. Russell, vice-president, and A. F. Jones, sec.-treas.

Twelve skips were elected, and the club anticipate a membership of over sixty active bowlers.

The secretary's address is Medland & Jones, Mail building.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR TORONTO.

The Canadians Defeat Wilkesbarre by their Superior Team Work.

WILKESBARRE, April 24.—Although the weather was not favorable to-day there was a reasonably good attendance at the first game with Toronto. The Canadians won by a lucky bunching of hits in the third innings and by fine team play. The only weak feature of the visitors' play was McGuire's throwing to second base, and the home team stole that base pretty nearly as they chose. This and erratic pitching were the bad spots. Grim in centre field distinguished himself by a very brilliant catch, but by long odds the prettiest catch ever seen on the grounds was one by McMillan in left after a hard run. The catch saved a home run or at least a three bagger, and although it told badly against Wilkesbarre was loudly applauded. Hoover did the best batting for the Torontos. He got his eye on the ball for a double and single and both hits were very fortunate for his team. Vickery was wild throughout, sending seven men to first on called balls, but two batsmen and advanced base runners by two wild pitches. McGuire proved a tolerably effective backstop but the pitcher was too wild to give him much of a show. The Torontos batted Wheeler hard, but rather unluckily at times, sending many flies to the outfield which were taken good care of by Wilkesbarre. Beecher's batting for the home team made him a popular figure with the crowd. The teams play again to-morrow. The score:

Whose is the Duty?

Editor World: Whose duty is it to remove from the Bay the numerous snags with which it is infested? In the vicinity of Hanlan's there are at least half a dozen very dangerous snags to row and small sail boats. Several boats ran on them last year and had holes knocked in their sides and bottoms. The writer knows of one such case where the most strenuous exertions were almost ineffectual in keeping the boat from sinking, and it had at least six persons aboard, some of them ladies. A terrible catastrophe was barely averted. It is more by good luck than anything else that no drownings have so far resulted from these dangerous and easily removed obstructions, and should one occur a verdict of manslaughter would be found against the person or persons clearly responsible for their non-removal. This Fair Canadian Land.

How fair is this land which the might of our fathers
Bequeath'd to their children to have and to hold;
From lonely Belle Isle, where Atlantic foregathers,
To Mackenzie that down thro' the ages has roll'd!
Yes, fair is the land, with its great inland waters,
Vast links, forg'd of God, in the national chain,
That shall teach our brave sons and our virtuous daughters
To attune heart and voice to the patriots' strain:
Then patriots say, Shall alien footsteps stand
In triumph on this fair Canadian land?

O Britain, dear Britain, ever glorious nation,
Whose strong arm in peace nigh engirdles the earth,
Canadians turn yet, aye, in proud exultation,
To the Mother of Nations that gave to them birth.
Oh, where be the hearts that in trait'rous illusion
Would barter for pottage a birthright so fair;
On each bo the brand of dark shame and confusion,
And the stews of sedition his crime-haunted lair!
God make his hope but as the rope of sand
And one and indivisible this land.

Of the people who dwell in the land on our borders
We are kinsmen—not lovers—and can never be one;
Apart lies our future, and He will afford us
The help of His arm till our destiny's done.
We like them, but yet are their ways not as our ways:
There—the marriage tie's but as a tale that is told,
There—the Bench and the Forum are equally powerless
When Justice and Honor are ravish'd by gold.
Peace, an' they will—nay more—a friendly band,
But not one foot of our Canadian land.

—Recited by H. K. Cockin at the St. George's Society dinner on Tuesday night.

A Likewise Parody.

[Daily Business.]

If a body see a broker
Buyin' lots o' wheat,
Like as no ye'll follow after,
Like as no get beat.

Wha's tae blame if ye're a tailor
Tail'n' on behind—
Buyin' when ye should be sellin',
Naebody ill mind.

If a broker meet a body,
And that broker's begged
For a "point," and he should answer
July wheat is "pegged"
Wha's tae blame, etc.

Ilka "deal" will have its tailers,
June wheat or July,
Sellin' when the market weakens,
Watchin' when tae buy.
Wha's tae blame, etc.
