Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

Tips
—On Getting a Clerk or Position as Clerk

Clerks put Marshall Field, Wanamaker, Swift, Armour—among the "owners of America". Why? Because they selected the right Clerks. And what made Field, Wanamaker, Swift Armour—Capitalists instead of continuing Clerks? The fact that they selected the right Business and House to train in. You can do the same. FIRST AID WORK

Illustration of Value of St. John's Ambulance Association in Care of New Brunswick Man

(Ottawa Citizen)

The work of the St. John's Ambulance association is beginning to attract widespread attention throughout Canada, and particularly in Ottawa, since the appointment of R. J. Birdwhistle as general secretary. An instance of the value of the first aid work, in which an Ottawa man, F. Waterman, of 432 Laurier avenue west, figured, has just been brought to the attention of The Citizen. Mr. Waterman is engaged with the cement party on the international boundary survey between Maine and New Brunswick. They were working near Baker Brook, N. B., a few days ago, when a farmer loading hay in an adjacent field was thrown from his load and sustained a bad compound fracture of the leg just above the ankle. Mr. Waterman learning of the accident went over to render what assistance he could. He found the man in great pain, one of the bones protruding from the flesh. Stopping the hemorrhage, he placed the injured limb in splints and made the sufferer comfortable until a doctor could be summoned. There was no physician nearer than five miles and but for the timely aid rendered by Mr. Waterman the patient would have been in great distress pending his arrival.

DAIRYING IN SPOKANE

Need 1,000 Experienced Dry Milkers to Help in the Industry

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 4—Dairyman in Spokane and throughout the Inland Empire report there are places waiting for not less than 1,000 experienced dry milkers, at wages ranging from $50 a month in the summer and $40 a month in the winter with board and sleeping quarters. Milking 30 cows is a day's work. The other duties are to wash the animals and take care of the barn. Bringing the fodder to the barn and feeding is done by laborers. Thomas S. Griffith, president of the Glen Tana dairy farm, Spokane, says that at no time in the history of the city or district has there been such a dearth of experienced men in the dairy business, the causes assigned being the rapid growth of this part of the country and the increased consumption of dairy products. He said also there is need for several hundred thousand additional cows to supply the demands in eastern Washington and Oregon, north and central Idaho and western Montana, where the dealers and dairies are now sending from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 to other states for supplies.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER AND HENRI BOURASSA

(Le Soleil.)

"When one has read the one and a half column of arguments used to show that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is the villain in the Canadian melodrama, and that he is, for all kinds of reasons, the principal agent of the destination of the Canadian ideal, the only feeling that remains is one of immense pity, mingled with disgust, for the poor monomaniac who so miserably tires himself weaving the web of his ridiculous sophisms.

(Le Canada.)

How different is the conception of a Canadian nation which Sir Wilfrid Laurier strives to introduce among our English-speaking fellow-citizens! We have here in Canada two great races, distinct in their customs, their language and their mentality. Instead of each standing in its own ivory tower, to claim the fulness of its rights, let each rather strive to find a common ground, a ground of 'entente' where both can fraternize, know one another, gain mutual esteem and work together to reach a common ideal; the love of the Canadian land, national progress, the prosperity of the country. Each one at home and each one for himself, says Mr. Bourassa. Since we are destined to live side by side, says Sir Wilfrid Laurier, let us live like good relatives, consenting when needs be to make those small sacrifices of details upon which friendship is based, and without giving up any of the essentials, let it be our pride to make our neighbors feel at home when they visit us. That is what Sir Wilfrid Laurier preaches in Ontario and in the West, as well as in the province of Quebec. That is, it strikes us, the only reasonable and logical, the only practical manner of realising the ideal of a Canadian nation. That of Mr. Bourassa is merely a rhetorical paradox, and when you scrape off the literary varnish therefrom, the skeleton appears in all its natural deformity

(Montreal Witness.)

If there is not a war of races in Canada it will not be the fault of Mr. Bourassa and his Castors. Such was the private remark of a French-Canadian public man. L. O. Tallion, who backed Mr. Bourassa on the college grounds at St. Henri, was one of the signers of the ultramontane 'programme' issued thirty-five years ago, which declared for government in Canada on the principles of the papal syllabus and denounced all Liberals as bad Catholics and unfit to hold public positions. That movement, so dangerous to the church, was put down by Mgr. Conroy, Bishop of Armagh, who was sent out to Canada as papal ablegate for the purpose. But the spirit of it has cropped up continuously ever since, having received the nickname of Castorism, from a series of published letters setting forth its principles over the signature of Castor. Its influence for the most part was to confirm the determination of the Canadian people, that, however docile they might be in things religious, they were not going to be led by the nose in politics.
