WEDNESDAY, JULY 15th, 1891.

The French Expatriation.

This event in our history has been the subject of recent review by several very competent and painstaking writers of this and other provinces of the Dominion, who, after a full examination of the facts which led up to the determination of the Nova Scotia authorities to rid themselves from the presence of a people who, though conquered in legitimate warfare, refused to submit to the victorious arms which had wrested their country from the French king, with whom England had been at war almost continuously for the preceding quarter of a century, and who allied themselves with the hostile Indian tribes, who had been long previously converted to their faith, and instigated them to acts of hostility which rendered the further settlement of the province as unsafe and even impossible. Under these circumstances from 1710, the authorities had tried all the arts of conciliation without effect. Though their lands had become English property the lieutenant-governors had promised to issue new grants of their lands to the habitans on their taking an oath of unqualified allegiance to the British crown,—not a new oath, but the same as all subjects of the crown were obliged to take. This they refused to do though repeatedly called upon, and though professing entire submission to their conquerors, they never failed to incite and incite the hostility of the Indians against them. No English settler's life was safe beyond the limits of the banlieu at Annapolis, and even some of the inhabitants lost their lives within its limits, at the hands of the savage, as witness the murder of the oldest son of Robert Walker, of that town, only a short time before the Expulsion.

The justification of the English is to be found in the impossibility of England exercising her rights over a conquered people and province. Her failure to secure their allegiance, except on their own terms, rendered it absolutely necessary that she should evacuate the country, or that it should be evacuated by her persistent and disloyal enemies, and that in carrying her resolve that the latter course should be taken, she adopted all the measures necessary to carry it out with as little cruelty as the circumstances would permit.

Referring to the Blue Book we reviewed a week or two ago, we observe that Mr. Baillairge repeats the story of the cruelty exercised towards his countrymen in that act, but takes no notice of the conduct which led to it, nay even forced it upon the English. He seems not to see that these obstinately disloyal habitans stood directly in the way of the further settlement of the colony, and that for more than forty years their conqueror submitted to the evil in the hope that they would become faithful subjects to the crown, and yet Mr. Baillairge says: "The English preconcerted a plan for their compulsory expulsion, although there was little to be apprehended, considering that the entire French population in Nova Scotia * * * scarcely exceeded 10,000," forgetting that it was still much greater than the English population, even up to the hour of their departure. He adds the old story that in their embarkment heads of families were separated from each other and from their children, that the vessels employed were "old and leaky," and that more than 1,000 of their corpses were buried in the sea during their transportation. When these charges shall have been made good by proofs, or show of it made to that end, it will be time enough to reply to these oft-repeated but unsupported and idle statements. That the government ordered no act of cruelty, no other act intended to all to those incident to the necessities of the case, but on the other hand took every precaution to alleviate the sufferings that could not be entirely avoided.

The New Mountain Road.

The appropriation granted by the Local Government for the construction of a new piece of road leading from the North Mountain road to Hampton, to avoid the almost insurmountable hill which the inhabitants of that section of the county have been compelled to use for years, is now being expended, and the work already accomplished is plainly visible. The new road is being built by Mr. Elias Foster, under the direction of J. L. Marshall, Esq., and as far as accomplished, is said to have been done in a most satisfactory manner. One of the great difficulties to overcome in making our mountain roads is the continual waste caused by the heavy rains and spring freshets, which, as a rule, completely carry away all the earth used upon them each season, thus rendering the time and labor spent upon them to appear as almost useless. This drawback is receiving especial care in the work now going on, and in addition to a large and deep ditch on the upper side of the highway, culverts are being placed across the road every few rods for the purpose of giving vent to the great quantity of water that pours down our mountain sides at certain seasons of the year. The new branch commences a short distance above the barn of Mr. James Chute, and after running nearly across his lot, turns westerly, crosses the old road at the red hill and goes nearly across three lots, when it turns east and connects with the old road again a few rods south of the Crosskill Lake. This new departure will somewhat increase the distance in travel to and from Hampton; but when we take into consideration that the grade will be only one in ten, as compared to one in twenty-eight, which is the case in the old one, the additional travel over a good road will be met with pleasure, and supply a long-felt want to the travelling public.

The W. & A. Railway.

"The Land of Evangeline" is being brought to the notice of the travelling public this season by the W. & A. Railway company with more than usual vigor. Not only has new and improved passenger cars been put upon the route, but in many other ways particular attention for the comfort and convenience of the pleasure-seeker is being looked after. A short trip on the train on Saturday last brought to our notice the handsome new uniforms worn by the conductors this summer, while the advertising matter issued by the company is more elaborate and comprehensive than that of any previous season, and embraces a well-written description of the beautiful scenery and towns through which the road passes. The folder and time-table, containing a complete map of the line, is unique and artistic, showing all the different connections made with other routes, and to further impart general information, the ever popular "Joe" Edwards has been given a two weeks trip, for the purpose of placing the advantages of the line before the citizens of St. John, Boston, New York, Chicago, Baltimore, Montreal and Quebec. Already has the stream of summer travel set in, the Yarmouth boats landing in that town during the past week no less than one thousand passengers, most all of whom will pass through this delightful valley by the W. & A. Railway, and doubtless at the close of 1891 the passenger and freight traffic will be the largest ever enjoyed by the company, and amply compensate the management for the vast amount of capital and labor expended.

Laying of the Corner Stone of the New Baptist Church.

Notwithstanding the disappointment occasioned the Baptist denomination in the laying of the corner stone of their new church on Wednesday last by the lowering and wet weather, the attendance on the following Thursday afternoon was a very large and representative one, and the impressive ceremony was witnessed by several hundreds of people, who gathered on the spot at 4.30 o'clock. The present pastor, Rev. F. M. Young, Ph. B., whose desire it is to see a more modern and suitable building in which to hold divine service, and through whose instrumentality and untiring efforts the laudable enterprise has been thus far advanced, had arranged a most appropriate and fitting programme of exercises for the interesting occasion, which was carried out in a spirit of reverence and solemnity well befitting the ceremony.

After a few introductory remarks by the pastor, the Bridgetown Brass Band, under the direction of Mr. Horace Bishop, played the beautiful hymn, "Nearer, my God, to Thee," when the Rev. R. B. Kinley, of Paradise, offered a short prayer.

The first speaker introduced was Professor Kierstead, of Acadia College, who had been selected to deliver the oration. This talented and cultured son of New Brunswick, on stepping to the front of the platform began an address in such a clear and appreciated style as to rivet the closest attention of all present, and for half an hour his eloquent language, his pleasing and unaffected manner and the great ability displayed in his remarks relative to the sacred scriptures and the advancement and promotion of religion, was listened to by the assemblage with that eagerness and attention only given to men of deep theological study and research.

At the close of this address, the choir, led by Mr. Geo. H. Dixon, sung an appropriate hymn.

Rev. F. H. Wright, pastor of Providence Methodist church, was next introduced, who, in a few well chosen remarks congratulated the Baptists on their enterprise and wished them success, as he knew that in the house to be built, this foundation, the truth, is to be preached.

Rev. S. H. Cain, pastor of the Baptist church in Annapolis next stepped forward, and for fifteen minutes spoke eloquently upon the appropriate subject of the "glory of this latter house exceeding the former." Mr. Cain by his commanding personality and fresh thought, expressed in a clear and practical manner, immediately gained the attention of the vast audience, which he held to the close.

Rev. R. B. Kinley, of Paradise, upon being introduced, spoke in congratulatory and encouraging terms, urging the people to rally around their noble pastor, and encourage him in the good work by a ready and hearty response in the time of need, and they themselves would be the gainers.

The pastor then stepped forward and said that, owing to the lateness of the hour he would not detain the audience with any remarks that he had intended to address to them, and merely outlined his line of thought which he had prepared. If the question which Joshua said might be used by their children, "what mean ye by these stones?" were used concerning these stones, he would feel like answering: 1st. We mean that we believe in the future prosperity of our beautiful town. 2nd. We mean that we believe in the truth of the principles taught and held by those who trust to worship here. 3rd. We mean that we believe in the willingness as well as the ability of the people to build here a house of which they shall not be ashamed.

Mrs. Young, the wife of the pastor, having been chosen by the church, was then led forward for the purpose of laying the corner stone. On her way she was intercepted by Mrs. Abner Foster, who, on behalf of the ladies of the church and congregation, presented her with a beautiful silver trowel. Mrs. Young then proceeded to fill the box which was to be placed in the stone. Enclosed in the box was a copy of the MONITOR of July 8th; a copy of the Messenger and Visitor; a full list of the membership of the Church, 350; a short sketch of the history of the church, and the present movement, with names of the officers of the church, building committee, contractor, architect and mason; also the name of Mr. Thomas Dearness as donating the stone.

The stone was then neatly laid by Mrs. Young and pronounced as planted, in the name of the Father and the Son and the Holy Ghost by the pastor. The choir, led by the band, then sung the Doxology, which was beautifully rendered, after which the benediction was pronounced, which brought to a close one of the most beautiful ceremonies witnessed in Bridgetown for a long time.

A large part of the audience rapidly repaired to the Parsonage grounds where a Lawn Party was given by the ladies. The grounds were beautifully decorated, and about three hundred were attracted to them, when their wants were spedily attended to, and up to a late hour all seemed to enjoy themselves. Swinging, croquet, and archery were the chief amusements of the evening. The day was counted by all as a grand success.

The work of our friends, which has been so auspiciously begun, will, we believe, be carried rapidly on to a successful completion. That this may be so, is our ardent desire.

Launch of the "Canada."

Our townsman, Capt. Vidlio Munroe, may justly feel proud of the honor attached to having command of the new ship Canada, launched from the shipyard of C. R. Burgess, at Kingsport, on the 6th inst. This ship has the largest net tonnage of any vessel ever sent from a Dominion shipyard. She registers 2,400 tons, and will cost $111,000. Her length is 275 feet, depth of hold 27 feet, and breadth of beam 45 feet. The ship Kings County, only a few tons smaller, was launched from the same yard last year. Mr. Burgess controls a fleet of his own built ships, with an aggregate of over 18,000 tons. One of the vessels is the bark Belt, costing to build $50,000, and which has netted in the past thirteen years a profit of $175,000. Mr. Burgess believes in big ships rather than small as paying investments, and says he does not fear for wooden ships as against those of steel for the next twenty-five years. He is at present managing owner of the following fleet:

Canada's Rose Month.

July is the Canadian rose month, perhaps more especially in these maritime provinces, and the lovers of this queen of flowers will be well repaid for a stroll into the adjacent pastures and fields where the blooms of our many varieties of the wild rose family are just expanding their petals and scattering their fragrance with a profusion unequalled by any country on the continent. None of the cultivated members of their widely distributed and much admired family can vie with the wild members of it in delicacy of coloring or richness of flavor. They adorn, with a beauty all their own, the hedgerows and stone-walls of our highways and division fences of farm lots, and leave no landscape on hill or dale, on mountain and valley, without their elegant presence, inviting a ramble in their midst, and proclaiming themselves "as things of beauty," a "joy forever." No doubt Keats was a lover of roses, and saw in them that divine beauty which makes them emblematic of the love of Him who made them, and their kindred flowers, to give delight and joy to his creature man—the culminated gem of his wondrous creation.

DIPHTHERIA IN QUEBEC.—Diptheria has spread to such an extent in Quebec as almost to be epidemic. The Telegraph has been investigating the matter in St. Roch's and St. Sauveur and finds that there has been 2500 cases in that district since January 1st and that not one-fifteenth of those had been reported to the health officer. In St. Sauveur, from January 1st to July 1st, there were 99 deaths from diphtheria and in St. Roch's 100. Cure Belanger, of St. Roach's, says that the disease is rapidly spreading and is assuming a more malignant form. At first it was mostly confined to children, but now it is taking hold of elderly people and several of them have succumbed.

UNFORTUNATE.—Among the number of visitors who visited this town on Dominion Day was Mr. S. Hunter, of Lunenburg, who had the misfortune of losing a roll of bills amounting to about $110.00. SUDDEN DEATH.—Mrs. W. F. Marshall, of Bear River, died very suddenly on Tuesday last. In the forenoon she took a drive with her husband, apparently in perfect health. About 20 minutes later the servant girl, having occasion to go to the room to ascertain the time, found Mrs. M. sitting in the chair, dead, with her sewing material in her lap and the thimble on her finger. She was about 70 years of age, and very highly esteemed.

A NEW LODGE.—Mr. J. D. Greenaway, of Halifax, has recently been travelling the valley and forming lodges in the interests of a new benefit society known as the Sexennial. Mr. John Hall, of the same place, whose advertisement appears elsewhere, escorted the invalid gentleman on his journey, and will remain with him till his return.

BIG BEETS.—A. D. Brown, Principal of the Bridgetown schools, is as fond of gardening during his spare moments as he is of instructing our youth throughout regular school hours, and among other vegetables now to be found in his garden is a patch of beets, of the Early Egyptian variety, planted just six weeks ago. Yesterday morning he pulled a few for the table, and was much pleased with the rapid growth of many of them, as in the number several measured nine inches strong in circumference.

THE BODY OF ANOTHER INFANT FOUND.—Word reached town on Saturday that the body of another infant had been found in the vicinity of the Temperance Hall at Centreville, three miles below here. Coroner Fowler was at once communicated with, and stated that such was the case, but that the remains were in such a state of decomposition that an inquest was impossible, and that nothing could be done at present towards bringing the supposed guilty mother to justice as she had gone to the States. These cases are becoming too common in our midst, this being the second one brought to light within a few weeks. A mother guilty of concealing the birth of her offspring should be punished to the fullest extent of the law, and the authorities should use every effort in ferreting out the guilty parties, and have them legally prosecuted.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

J. W. BECKWITH.

In my Christmas Card of Thanks to the public of this County I promised to use my best endeavors to meet the wishes of my numerous customers and the public generally by a largely increased importation of all the best lines of goods from English, Canadian and American manufacturers, and after four months of untiring perseverance and attention to the numerous and varied requirements of my patrons, I have the satisfaction of feeling that my efforts have met their approbation to the fullest extent; but, notwithstanding this, my trade has increased so rapidly during this brief period, that I have been obliged to repeat orders in many lines, and which have been continually arriving to supplement those that are being so rapidly disposed of, 53 bales and 104 cases of Dry Goods having been imported since January 1st this year.

Dress Goods.

The Dress Goods and Mantle Cloth Department comprises all the latest Novelties of the season, among which will be found the Stanley Suitings of this spring's manufacture; also, Mourning Goods in great variety.

Union, All-Wool, and Silk Warps, all double width, and in prices from 25 cents and upwards.

Flannelettes.

Fifty pieces of Flannelettes, in great variety of patterns, and extra value.

Sunshades.

In Sunshades I have the largest and best assortment and best values ever imported to this market.

Carpets.

My Carpet Department is replete with the newest styles, as having sold more Carpets this than any previous year, I have been obliged to repeat my orders so as to keep my stock up to the increasing demand. I have 200 ends, from 1 to 2 yards long, which are marked down to half price.

HATS, CAPS, BOOTS & SHOES.

The largest stock and best assortment of Hats and Caps, Boots and Shoes, in all the latest English, American, and Canadian styles.

I beg to invite an inspection of my Hard and Soft Felt Hats at $1.00, the style of which will be found equal to those costing $2.00 to $2.50.

Also, my Men's $1.25, $1.50, and $2.00 Boots, the sales of which is a sufficient guarantee of the satisfaction they are giving.

Clothing.

My latest styles of Ready-made Clothing are pronounced equal in fit to the best custom-made, and my $4.50 and $7.00 Suits are giving universal satisfaction. I have already secured a second importation this season.

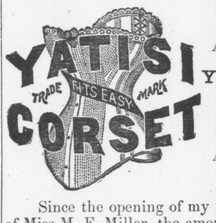
Kid Gloves.

Kid Gloves in all prices. In this line, I can recommend with confidence, my dollar glove, which is taken in preference to the well-known Josephine, and which has given entire satisfaction for some time past.

LACE CURTAINS.

For extent of stock and variety of patterns and price my present assortment far exceeds any of my former importations, and are unsurpassed in the market.

Corsets.



All the leading makes and styles in Corsets, amongst which I would call special attention to the

YATISI and WATCH SPRING,

TOGETHER WITH THE

E. T. Long Waist, Exquisite, Agava and Crompton's Coraline.

Also, the Hygene Waists for Boys or Girls from four to six years, Misses' from seven to twelve years, and twelve to seventeen years and ladies.

Since the opening of my new Millinery establishment, under the efficient management of Miss M. E. Miller, the amount of patronage accorded it has so far exceeded the expectations indulged in at the onset that I cannot but express my sincere thanks for the appreciation of my endeavors to please by all who have paid that department a visit. The satisfaction so frequently expressed at the taste displayed in the trimming department affords us an amount of pleasure and gives promise of a largely increased demand.
