Poetry.

A CRIMEAN INCIDENT—By Bayard Taylor.

"Give us a Song!" the soldiers cried,
The outer trenches guarding,
When the heated guns of the camps allied
Grew weary of bombarding.

The dark Redan, in silent scoff,
Lay, grim and threatening under;
And the tawny mound of the Malakoff
No longer belched its thunder.

There was a pause. The guardsman said,
We storm the forts to-morrow;
Sing while we may, another day
Will bring enough of sorrow.

They lay along the battery side,
Below the smoking cannon—
Brave hearts from Severn and from Clyde,
And from the banks of Shannon.

They sang of love, and not of fame;
Forgot was Britain's glory:
Each heart recalled a different name,
But all sung "Annie Laurie."

Voice after voice caught up the song,
Until its tender passion
Rose like an anthem rich and strong—
Their battle-eve confession.

Dear girls, her name he dared not speak,
Yet as the song grew louder,
Something upon the soldier's cheek
Wash'd off the stains of powder.

Beyond the dark'ning ocean burned
The bloody sunset embers,
While the Crimean valleys learned
How English love remembers.

And once again a fire of hell
Rained on the Russian quarters,
With scream of shot and bursting shell,
And bellowing of the mortars.

And Irish Nora's eyes are dim
For a singer dumb and gory,
And English Mary mourns for him
Who sang of "Annie Laurie."

Ah, soldiers! to your honored rest,
Your truth and valor bearing;
The bravest are the tenderest—
The loving are the daring.

VARIETY.

Getting used to it by Degrees.—Somewhere about here, writes a Southern correspondent, lives a small farmer of such social habits, that his coming home intoxicated was once no unusual thing. His wife urged him in vain to sign the pledge.

"Why, you see," he would say, "I'll sign it after a while, but I don't like to break right off at once; it ain't wholesome. The best way is to get used to a thing by degrees, you know."

"Very well, old man," his helpmate would rejoin. "See, now, if you don't fall into a hole one of these days, while you can't take care of yourself, and nobody near to help you out."

Sure enough, as if to verify the prophecy, as he returned home drunk one day, he fell into a shallow well, and after a deal of useless scrambling, he shouted for the "light of his eyes" to come and help him out.

"Didn't I tell you so?" said the good old soul, showing her cap frill over the edge of the parapet; "you've got into a hole at last, and it's only lucky I'm in hearing, or you might have drowned.—Well," she continued after a pause, letting down the bucket, "take hold." And up he came higher at each turn of the windlass, until the old lady's grasp slipping from the handle, down he went to the bottom again. This occurring more than once, made the temporary occupant of the well suspicious.

"Look here," he screamed in a fury at the last splash, "you're doing that on purpose; I know you are!"

"Well, now, I am," responded his old woman tranquilly, while winding him up once more.—"Don't you remember telling me, it's best to get used to a thing by degrees? I'm afraid if I bring you up of a sudden, you would'nt find it wholesome!"

The old fellow could not help chuckling at the application of his principle, and protested that he would sign the pledge on the instant, if she would lift him fairly out. This she did, and he packed off to sign the pledge, wet as he was.

"For you see," she added very emphatically, "if ever you fall into the ditch again, I'll leave you that—I will!"

Questions for a Wife.—Do you recollect what your feelings were after you had spoken the first unkind word to your husband? Did you not feel ashamed and grieved, and yet too proud to admit it? That was, is, and ever will be your evil genius! It is the temper which labors incessantly to destroy your peace—which cheats you with an ill delusion that your husband deserved your anger, when he really most required your love.—It is the cancer which feeds on those unspeakable emotions you felt on the first pressure of his hand and lip. Never forget the manner in which the duties of that calling can alone be fulfilled. If your husband is hasty, your example of patience will chide as well as teach him. Your violence may alienate his heart, and your neglect impel him to desperation. Your soothing will redeem him—your softness subdue him; and the good-natured twinkle of those eyes, now filling beautifully with priceless tears, will make him all your own.

The Judge and the Moustache.—A constable in the Kent police having been dismissed from the force for refusing to part with his moustache, brought an action in the Maidstone County Court to recover damages from Captain Buxton, the chief constable. The Judge (to plaintiff): What made you refuse to shave off your moustache? Plaintiff, Because I consider that it is best on. The Judge, It is an absurd thing. The time used to be when an Englishman was proud of being an Englishman, but now, it appears, he must either attempt to look like a Jew clothesman, or a foreigner. (A laugh.) I think the order is a proper one. Most of the worst thieves wear the moustache, and all the empty headed puppies. Last week, five out of eight persons taken before the London Magistrates for embezzlement, had adopted the ugly and degrading fashion of covering their dishonest faces with hair. The Plaintiff was non-suited.

Honoring the Confessional.—The Savoy Constitutional states that in the Commune of Loco, the Episcopal Court, with the view of striking alarm into the said Commune, withdrew from the priests the power of confessing the people. The result, however, turned out quite contrary to expectations. The municipal authorities, aware of the Episcopal interdict, met in the Hall of the Commune, and passed the following Resolution, viz: "That whereas the power of confessing has been withdrawn, and whereas auricular confession was not instituted by Christ, but invented for secondary ends by Councils and Popes, and that the institution itself has occasioned grievous evils, and promoted discord among families—it is resolved that auricular confession be abolished in the parish of Loco, and that the confessional boxes be removed from the church, and burnt in the place of public concourse." The resolution was immediately carried into execution.

Marshal Castellan ordered a sham fight recently to be executed by his troops at Vaudray in some fields near Lyons. The day was extremely warm, and the Marshal perceived two grenadiers overcome by the heat and fatigue, reclining very leisurely on the grass under the shelter of a hedge. Galloping towards them and commenced rating them severely. "Vaincants! why are you here? While your companions are fighting you are asleep. You do nothing!" "Pardon, Marshal," replied one of the grenadiers, "we are the dead!" The Marshal smiled and retired without further parley.

Mrs. Partington says that nothing despises her so much as to see people who profess salvation, go to church without their purses, when a recollection is to be taken.

Napoleon was one day searching for a book in the library of Malmaison, and at last discovered it on a shelf somewhat above his reach. Marshal Moncey, who was present, one of the tallest men in the army, stepped forward saying: "Permit me, sire, I am higher than your Majesty." "You are longer, Marshal, said the Emperor, with a frown.

A veritable young gentleman, four years old, recently threw his maternal relative into a fit of admiration by the following speech: "I likes most all kind of cakes—pound cake, sponge cake, and jelly cake, but I don't like stomach ache."

An old maid in Connecticut being at a loss for a pin-cushion, made use of an onion. On the following morning she found that all the needles had tears in their eyes.

HEALTH OR SICKNESS!

CHOOSE BETWEEN THEM.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

The blood furnishes the material of every bone, muscle, gland and fibre in the human frame. When pure, it secures Health to every organ; it necessarily produces disease. HOLLOWAY'S PILLS operate directly upon the elements of the stream of life, neutralizing the principle of disease, and thus radically curing the malady, whether located in the nerves, the stomach, the liver, the bowels, the muscles, the skin, the brain, or any other part of the system.

USED THROUGHOUT THE WORLD.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS are equally efficacious in complaints common to the whole human race and in disorders peculiar to certain climates and localities.

ALARMING DISORDERS.

Dyspepsia, and derangement of the liver, the source of infirmity and suffering, and the cause of innumerable deaths, yield to these curatives, in all cases, however aggravated, acting as a mild purgative, alternative and tonic; they relieve the bowels, purify the fluids, and invigorate the ystem and the constitution at the same time.

GENERAL WEAKNESS—NERVOUS COMPLAINTS.

When all stimulants fail, the renovating and bracing properties of these Pills give firmness to the shaking nerves and enfeebled muscles of the victim of general debility.

DELICATE FEMALES.

All irregularities and ailments incident to the delicate and sensitive organs of the sex are removed or prevented by a few doses of these mild, but infallible alteratives. No mother who regards her own or her children's health should fail to have them within her reach.

SCIENTIFIC ENDORSEMENTS.

The London "Lancet," the London "Medical Review," and the most eminent of the faculty in Great Britain, France and Germany, have eulogized the Pills and their properties.

Holloway's Pills are the best remedy known in the world for the following diseases:

Asthma	Female Complaints	Piles
Bowel Complaints		Stone and Gravel
Coughs	Headaches
Colds	Indigestion	Secondary Symptoms
Chest Diseases	Influenza
Costiveness	Inflamation	Venereal Affections
Dyspepsia	Inward Weakness
Diarrhœa		Worms, of all kinds.
Dropsy	Liver Complaints
Debility
Fever and Ague	Lowness of spirits

The Subscriber having been appointed Agent to the above Company for New-Brunswick, begs to announce that he is prepared to receive Proposals for FIRE AND LIFE ASSURANCE. The large Capital of the Company, and the number and influence of its Proprietors, enable it to rank with the most eligible Offices, either in America or Europe, with respect to the advantages offered to the Public.

FIRE BRANCH.

Persons Assured by this Company are not subject to any covenants or calls to make good losses which may happen to themselves or other, nor do they depend on any uncertain fund or contribution, the Capital Stock of this Company being an unquestionable security to the Assured in case of Loss or Damage by Fire.

LIFE BRANCH.

In addition to the more customary methods of Insurance, the Company likewise Assures Lives on any of the following contingencies:—

For the terms of One Year, Seven Years, or any other definite period.

For the whole continuance of Life.—The Premiums to cease, after a limited number of Annual Payments.

For Two Joint Lives.—The sum assured to be paid on the death of either.

On the longest of Two or Three Lives.—The sum assured to be payable at the death of the last survivor; or,

The Survivorships.—To secure the payment of the sum assured, if a life A die before another life B.

For a sum to be payable at age 60, or at death.

Premiums on Credit.—A portion of the Premiums on Credit. Assurances may be effected in various ways, not enumerated, to meet the convenience of parties.

The important advantages afforded by the Company in the Life Branch will include the following viz:—

The Guarantee of an ample Capital, and Exemption of the Assured from liability of Partnership.

Moderate Premiums.

Large Participation of Profits by the Assured amounting to Two-thirds of its net amount, which may be applied at the option of the party effecting the Assurance:—1st. By the immediate payment of the sum so apportioned.—2nd. By an equivalent increase of the sum assured.

Small Charge for Management.—The expenses of the Office being borne in due proportion by the two Branches.

Prompt Settlement of Claims.

Policies lapsed by non-payment of the Premium may be renewed within three months, by paying the premium, with a fine of 10s. per cent., on the production of evidence to the satisfaction of the Directors of the good health of the life assured.
