ECONOMY OF GAS ENGINES.

The Result of a Number of Experiments With Different Motors.

In a paper read before the Incorporated Institute of Gas Engineers at their recent meeting in London, Mr. Bryan Donkin gave a number of facts as to the extent to which gas engines are used, and the degree of economy they have attained, says The English Engineer. He said that, according to Mr. Dowson, gas engines for electric lighting, developing about 7,000 horse-power, had been sold in England, and Otto engines for 11,000 horse-power in Germany. Messrs. Crossley informed him that the number of Otto gas engines in use in England was about 20,000, and he might assume that there were about nearly double this number for all kinds of gas engines. At "Chateau Lay" an Otto gas engine feeding about 650 glow lamps, consumed 1.2 pounds of fuel per indicated horse-power hour for the manufacture of its Dowson gas. At the Chelsea Flour Mill, a 60 nominal horse-power twin-cylinder gas motor with Dowson gas, used during a full load test about 87 pounds of anthracite and coke per indicated horse-power per hour. The engine had a cylinder 17 inches in diameter by 2 feet stroke, and made 156 revolutions per minute. It had been at work about two years.

At the Leven Tweed Mills there were, he said, four gas engines with Dowson gas, developing about 200 horse-power. These engines used, during a six days' test, 1½ pounds of anthracite per brake horse-power per hour. With coke from the gas works the consumption was 1½ pounds per hour. At Godalming Paper Mills there were gas engines giving 400 indicated horse-power with an average consumption of 1 pound of fuel per indicated horse-power per hour. At a weaving mill in Halifax, there were four gas engines of about 200 indicated horse-power, using 1.4 pounds of gas coke per horse-power per hour. At the Uxbridge water works a water-pumping test was made in February, 1892, using generator gas. The consumption was 1 pound of coal per indicated horse-power, or 1½ pounds per horse-power of water lifted per hour. The approximate power was 16½ indicated horse-power.

The whole of Messrs. Crossley Brothers' large works are driven by gas engines, using Dowson gas, made from anthracite coal. There are eight gas motors from 12 to 30 normal horse-power, indicating collectively about 325 horse-power. The firm stated that the consumption was from 1 pound to 1½ pounds per indicated horse-power hour. The net cost to them of the anthracite fuel, labor, interest on capital and repairs, worked out at about 2½d. per thousand cubic feet. Comparing this with average town gas, and allowing for the difference in thermal value, the equivalent cost would be about 10d. per thousand cubic feet. A single-cylinder gas motor, indicating 280 horse-power, driving a large flour mill in France, was lately seen by Mr. Donkin working with generator gas from French coal. The preliminary trials gave about ¾ pound per indicated horse-power per hour. The engine will give a maximum of 320 indicated horse-power.

Why do They Drown?

The attention of the public has been called to this year's crop of reckless swimmers by a series of casualties almost unprecedented. On Sunday men who are described as expert swimmers were drowned in New York, Long Island, Boston, and Philadelphia, while there were a large number of cases of death from overturned rowboats and sailboats. Probably the people who do not know how to sail a boat! but who think they do, will continue to take out parties of confiding friends as long as the world exists, and accidents will continue to follow as a matter of course. These things are easily understood. But the mystery of a strong, skilful swimmer's death is always inexplicable to men who considers themselves good swimmers. One theory after another is put forth, the most common one being that the swimmer was attacked by cramps. But no satisfactory explanation has ever been offered for the extraordinary number of such accidents. To men who understand how to swim it would seem to be the easiest thing in the world to avoid any accident of such a character as that which occurred in the East river on Sunday, when a man who was known to be a powerful swimmer, and who was capable under ordinary circumstances of swimming several miles in the river, went down like a shot in sight of his friends, and was never seen again. He was not subject to cramps, had not eaten heavily before going into the water, had no heart trouble, and was swimming powerfully and composedly out toward the middle of the river when he suddenly disappeared. One of the most expert life-savers on Long Island, a man who was known to be abstemious, and who was in perfect physical condition, went down in a similar way before a number of spectators. There are no theories which fit such cases. Nothing is easier for a swimmer to do than to turn on his back and float, if he be tired, until he is thoroughly rested, and testimony has been given by hundreds of men that cramps in the water are not necessarily dangerous. Some swimmers have suffered from cramps so severely that they have been doubled up for hours after being taken out of the water, while their toes, fingers, ankles and wrists have been twisted so that they were entirely crippled and in great pain for hours. Yet they have always said they had no difficulty in keeping themselves afloat until rescued. It has often been found, when the bodies of swimmers who have gone down suddenly have been recovered, that there was nothing about the conditions of the joints to indicate that they had suffered in any way from cramps.—New York Sun.

One or two bottles of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery will purify the blood, remove Dyspepsia and drive away that extreme tired feeling which causes so much distress to the industrious and persons of sedentary habits. Mr. W. E. Ellis, Druggist, Fenelon Falls, writes: "The Vegetable Discovery is selling well and giving good satisfaction."

Tips From Wall-Street.

Earnings of Northern Pacific for first two weeks of July show a decrease of $673,000. This was during progress of strike.

John J. Dixon & Co. received the following despatch from McIntyre & Wardwell, New York: Stock speculation to-day resembled that of many of its predecessors, notably in point of inactivity. There was a little more strength displayed in the general railway list, although Atchison touched the lowest point in its history. Sugar was remarkably steady. Distilling lost some of its recent advance. The export of $2,500,000 gold by to-morrow's steamer seems to have exerted but trifling if any influence, which is the more surprising when it is understood that the outflow of gold is expected to continue next week. The market closed dull and steady.

Supplies were large to-day at the Western yards, aggregating about 80 carloads. Of these 33 came in to-day. The market for cattle is weaker, owing chiefly to the demoralized state of trade on the other side, where prices are about the lowest of the season. The top price to-day was 4c for a load averaging 1367 lbs. Another load averaging 1300 lbs brought 4c, while others brought 3¾c and 3½c, the latter for a load averaging 1225 lbs. Butchers' cattle also dull, with rough animals selling down to 2 1-4c to 2 1-2c per lb. The best price was $3.65 per hundred for a couple of prime grain-fed cattle. Good to choice grass-fed stock sold at 3c to 3 1-2c. Ten head, averaging 1050 lbs, sold at $3.60; 18 head, averaging 960 lbs. at $2.90, and 8 head, averaging 950 lbs, at $3.10.

Calves in plentiful supply and easy; 30 good veals, averaging 135 lbs. sold at $4 per head and bobs at $1 to $2. Milch cows ruled at $25 to $40 each.

About 1100 head of sheep and lambs offered. Sheep steady, with sales for export at 3 1-2c to 3⅝c per lb, and butchers' at 3c to 3 1-4c. Lambs sold at $2.50 to $3.25 per head.

Hogs steady, with offerings of 453 head. The best bacon lots sold at $5.60 to $5.70, and mixed lots at $5.25. Half fats brought $4.90 to $5.10, stores $4.75 to $4.85, sows $4 to $4.25 and stags $2.50 to $3.

Henry A. King & Co.'s special wire from Logan & Co., Chicago: Wheat ruled fairly active and somewhat easy to-day under the same conditions as prevailed yesterday. The freedom in the movement of new wheat is the leading factor in way of weakness. Coupled with this, the cable advices are weak and lower, and while they may be more or less reflected from our market they exert weakening influence. The rains of yesterday and cooler weather in spring wheat sections and the weakness in outside markets, all combined to offset the liberal clearances of wheat and flour, amounting to 500,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 800,000 bushels and considerably in excess of estimates.

Schwartz, Dupee & Co., Chicago, wired Dixon: We had another sagging wheat market again to-day. There was some buying against "puts," but no good support from any other direction. A local concern made an effort yesterday and again to-day, with the assistance of some of their outside correspondents, to work the market up, but it miscarried, there being nothing in the situation to warrant an upturn. Export clearances were 550,000 bushels, and wild reports were circulated of a tremendous volume of business having been done at the seaboard during the past week for August shipment, with an effort to construe it as a bullish influence. Had there been no exaggeration in the reports they would have been bearish rather than bullish. The outcome of wheat crop, both spring and winter, in this country now promises a large crop, and should the European expectations be realized there is no telling how low prices would go. There were general rains throughout the West, but the nearby deliveries of corn were firm. In some portions of the corn belt, notably Central Iowa, more rain than they have had is needed. Our impression is that receipts of corn until another crop is assured will be light, and with an ordinary demand we should look for better prices, but the cash demand and speculation are both extremely limited. With another crop moderately well assured May corn ought to be a sale for a good deal of money.

Manufacturers of Surgical Appliances, Trusses, Artificial Limbs, etc. Crutches.
The following is a letter from a Clergyman of the Church of England: I have worn one of Messrs. Authors & Cox NEW ERA TRUSSES for nearly a year, and have much pleasure in saying that I firmly believe they are the very best on the market. They are exceedingly easy and comfortable, and, although possessing no under strap, never under any circumstances get out of place, and can be worn day and night for a week at a time without any inconvenience whatever. They never interfere in the slightest degree with the movements of the body, and after a few days their presence is entirely forgotten by the wearer. No greater boon in regard to surgical appliances has, I am persuaded, been conferred on suffering humanity. 6
