DUBLIN VERY GAY

In spite of the Fact That it is Lent.

The City Swarms With Irish and English Nobility—A Transformation From its Former Dullness.

London, April 9.—From a city of nervous forebodings, political excitement and almost stagnant business, Dublin has been transformed into a capital, as gay and as busy as any European center. The coming of the Queen, though to a Catholic country, in the middle of lent, has started a whirl of festivities such as there has not been in Ireland since the good old days of which Lever wrote. The Irish nobility have flocked across the channel from their English homes in unprecedented numbers, and from the south, the west and the north of Ireland itself, old country families have poured into Dublin.

There is a sufficient number of the members of the ministry on the banks of the Liffey to hold a cabinet council, and there are enough lovely women nightly dining in gorgeous dresses and shining with jewelry, which has not been worn for many a dull day, to make an Irish levee of which any country might be jealous. The castle, where the lord lieutenant holds sway, is naturally the center of attraction; but the ancient building can hold only a few.

There, the Duke of Devonshire, the Duke of Abercorn, the Marquis of Lansdowne, Home Secretary Ridley and a number of peers and peeresses have been dining in state every night this week. The brilliant uniforms of officers of the Life Guards from London, of the Duke of Connaught's staff and the court uniforms of Ireland's dignitaries, are nightly blended with the black attire of celebrated civilians. Nor could anything be more superb than the big-calfed, be-powdered lackeys that flit in gold and red through great corridors. Outside the castle, the Shelbourne hotel has been the center of gaiety. There, almost every visitor has a title, though many of the most distinguished found with chagrin that they could not get rooms and had to be satisfied with humble lodging and dinners. Owing to the presence of thieves in the town and the large amount of jewelry carelessly displayed, no one who is not staying at the Shelbourne is allowed to enter the outer doors of that hotel without specifying whom they want to see, and are often kept in the cold for further inspection. A well known, but badly dressed peer, who seldom visits Ireland, underwent this ordeal the other day and almost exploded with wrath when a gold laced porter barred his way and made him show his card before allowing him to enter.

BITE WAS FATAL.

Prof. Selous Took Venomous Snakes to Bed With Him.

Greenville, Mich., April 9.—Percy Selous, who was bitten on Thursday by a moccasin water snake, died. He was a professor of art and language in the Greenville schools, but had a love for reptiles. He had several boxes of different kinds of venomous snakes, which he kept in his house, and every day let them out in his room and played with them. He handled them and on cold nights took them to bed with him and placed them next his body to keep them warm. It was while he was having the moccasin out in the room that he was bitten. He attempted to get the snake back into the cage and touched the reptile's tail, when he sprang and bit him. The doctors worked over him without avail.

MADAME SCALCHI.

Mme. Sofia Scalchi, the greatest contralto singer of the century, is not to return to Europe without giving us an opportunity of listening to her marvelous voice. Supported by a company of famous grand opera stars, she will positively appear at the Grand on Thursday evening. It goes without saying, that this will be the most important musical entertainment ever given in this city. A splendid program has been arranged—one that will surely please the taste of all classes of music lovers. Following a grand operatic concert, the entire fourth act of Verdi's melodious opera Il Trovatore will be presented in costume, with scenery, paraphernalia, etc., and Mme. Scalchi as Azucena, her most famous role. The company contains stars of no less magnitude than Mme. De Pasquali, soprano, the greatest in America; Sig. De Pasquali, the eminent tenor; Sig. Franceschetti, a truely great baritone, and Sig. Le Verdi, who is one of the most brilliant pianists, conductors and composers in Italy.

CHARGED WITH IMMORALITY.

Berlin, April 9.—The authorities began Saturday the trial of Millionaires Sternberg, of Berlin, and Noirdinger, of Stuttgart, on charges of horrible crimes against morality. Sternberg is alleged to have sent a number of the most incriminating witnesses to America and is said to have spent over 1,000,000 marks in hush money. Still there are 115 witnesses left. He offered bail in 2,000,000 marks, but the government refused to accept it and he has spent months in jail. In the Stuttgart case there are 83 witnesses. Both of the defendants are prominent bankers.

POOLROOMS RAIDED.

The biggest rain in the history of the Detroit police department occurred Saturday afternoon, when the room over John Rivart's saloon at 116 Woodward Ave, was entered by a small army of police officers, and an entire outfit of pool room paraphernalia seized, and with about 80 men of all descriptions of life carted in the patrol wagons to the Central station. All were subsequently released, with a warning, but four, who were locked up as the keepers.

BURNED HERSELF TO DEATH.

Woodstock, Ont., April 9.—Mrs. J. F. Young, wife of the well-known soda water manufacturer of this town, committed suicide Saturday afternoon by saturating her clothing with coal oil and then setting fire to it. She is supposed to have been mentally deranged.

THE MARKETS

CHATHAM GRAIN MARKET.

Planet Office, Saturday evening, April 7.—

J. B. Stringer & Co. give the following grain gossip:

There were no deliveries of grain last week worth speaking of. Stocks are nearly all in, grains of all kinds being about sold out of the farmers' hands.

Wheat—Market holding firm, with a slight upward tendency.

Coarse grains—These are all in small supply, owing to stocks in dealers' hands being exhausted. All offerings are urgently required for local use. The demand for feed stuff is exceptionally good this spring. Large quantities are being taken from the city back to the country.

Beans—Market holding quiet, as it has been doing for the past month. Some improvement in demand is expected to come soon, which will likely improve prices as stocks are all out of farmers' hands, and now in the elevators of dealers. A few orders to the latter will have the effect of stiffening the market. It is estimated on reliable authority that only some 110 car loads are available in this county for the consumption between now and next November and this comparatively small quantity, under even a fair demand, will bring a scarcity of beans towards the end of the season so that all dealers expect higher prices.

Wheat, 65c.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

Toronto, April 7.—Receipts were light at the western cattle yards yesterday, as they totalled under forty loads, including 1,100 hogs, about 600 cattle, 300 sheep and lambs, with a light supply of milkers and calves.

As far as cattle were concerned the market showed no improvement, and prices were weak.

There is no improvement in shipping cattle; cables are unsatisfactory, and prices here are not quotably changed, with only a limited amount of buying. Only a few selections touched 5c. per lb.

Butcher cattle usually was dull; some few lots of Easter cattle sold at 4 to 4 1-2c, and occasionally an eighth more was paid for small selected lots, but ordinary stuff was certainly no better.

Stockers are steady at from 3 to 3 1-3c per lb., with an eighth more paid for choice.

Bulls and feeders are steady and unchanged.

Milkers are selling at from $25 to $45 each, with $50 for prime cows.

Common calves are a drug on the market, but choice veal calves are badly wanted.

Sheep are steady and unchanged; for a few extra choice lots 4c, paid, but the price was not a representative one.

Lambs range from 4 to 4 1-2c., and up to 6c for selections; prices today were firmer.

Hogs are steady and unchanged. For prime hogs, the top price is 6 1-4c. light and fat hogs are bringing up to 5 3-4c.

Hats, Gloves, Neckwear

We find it somewhat difficult, even for one day in the week, to drop the subject of the kind of clothing we make and sell, with an occasional reference to the kind you are often asked to buy.

This difficulty is with us even in approaching such honest subjects as Christy's Hats; Gloves; or our elaborate preparations in spring and Easter neckwear.

A week ago we itemized for you ten lines of Christy's Stiff Hats and mentioned prices running from $1.50 to $3.00.

We told you of a special lot of 4137 all silk ties made to sell at 50c which we bought at half price, and were to sell at half price, and for fear you might think that was all we had we filled our big Fifth street window with the choice of all factories and marked them 25 and 50 cents.

But we never said a word about Gloves one of Easter's prime necessities. They are here as you know without the telling—here just as the season calls for them in every proper leather from the softest kid to the hearty dog skin, at $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50.

These three things, the hat, the gloves, the tie you can't debate about—there is no excuse for slackness in either regard when all are so easily within your reach and Easter just around the corner.

Come in and look around, buy or not as you please, you are welcome and there's no urging here.

BANKER SENTENCED.

George Magill Pleaded Guilty at Chicago.

Chicago, April 7.—George Magill, formerly a prosperous and well-known Chicago banker, who has for years fought a charge of receiving deposits after he knew his bank the Avenue Savings, to be insolvent, withdrew his plea of not guilty and was sentenced to the penitentary and to pay a fine of $3,027.40. Magill was largely influenced by the unlooked-for action of Robert Berger, banker, who, convicted of a similar offense, withdrew his prayer for a new trial, and was immediately taken to prison.
