WHEAT PROBLEM HAS NATIONAL SIGNIFICANCE

If British Government Can Hold Price at $1.80, Canada Will Lose.

(Financial Post.)

The wheat situation presents an interesting tangle as the result of Governmental attempts to govern the laws of supply and demand. Milling officials are not inclined to take the view expressed by Sanford Evans that the settling of the $1.80 figure by the British Government is a matter of internal arrangement to curtail the price of bread, and not intended to represent the price that Britain will be ready to pay for wheat. They are inclined to believe that the British Government intends to buy wheat on the cheapest market available, and to buy it at $1.80 if possible. The question, in their opinion, is merely one of whether world conditions will force an increase in this buying figure. If it does not they foresee a condition that will compel the Canadian Government to buy at $2.15 and sell at $1.80, making up the difference from some source that they are inclined to fear may be a further tax on milling profits.

There is a prevailing feeling that the British Government has taken the first definite step toward reducing the cost of living by this action, but the ultimate benefit is doubtful if, as Mr. Evans thinks, the Government proposes to sell below its buying price. The Liverpool market, by reason of the fact that it is a free port, has always set the price for the world. As authoritative estimates of the world wheat crop put the figure at 200,000,000 bushels over and above actual demands, there is a certain amount of color given to the belief that the $1.80 figure is a figure at which the British Government actually expects to buy.

Did Farmers Play Politics.

There is a feeling that the farmers of the West forced the hand of the Government. At a recent meeting of the Wheat Purchasing Commission in Winnipeg, at which the case of the grower was heard, it was claimed by some growers that the cost of producing wheat was $23 per acre, and that unless the Government gave the equivalent of the United States set price farmers would refuse to harvest their wheat. While this was the contention of only some of the more radical group, the pressure brought to bear on the Government from all sides was so strong that they set the minimum at $2.15 instead of at the $1.75 figure that had been expected.

The Business Principles.

Of course the higher price temporarily insures prosperity to the agricultural community and it may be argued that what is good for agriculture is good for the whole country. This depends entirely upon who pays the price. If the Canadian Government can get $2.15 from some consuming nation all will be well, if not, the difference will have to be paid out of the national income; in brief, the Government will put its hands into the pockets of the taxpayers in general and extract a sum which will at once be given to one class.

The Financial Post has contended that now that the war is over we should get back to normal conditions as soon as possible, and that, while the Government might give important assistance in marketing the crop and in securing the highest possible price, that nothing more than this price should be paid to the producer. It is false economics to set up a market for a natural grown product above what it can be sold for in the world markets. An artificial price is merely delaying the inevitable adjustment. The great majority of the grain growers recognized this when, earlier in the season they refused to demand a fixed price from the Ottawa Government since then there has been a change of sentiment, and it would seem that the sense of political power has overcome business judgment.

BY-ELECTION IN DOMINION SET FOR OCTOBER 27TH

It Was Impossible to Fix a Date Which Would Enable a Candidate to Take His Seat in Parliament Before October.

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—With the announcement today of the by-elections in vacant constituencies to be held on October 27, in all cases, it became evident that the session is expected to end about the first week in October. That is the hope at present expressed in government circles. Under the Act passed at the recent session, it was stated today, it is impossible to hold a by-election in less than two months, except in constituencies which contain no village or town of more than one thousand population. This is the substance of the report made to the government by the officers charged with the administration of the Election Act.

It was impossible, therefore, to fix a date which would enable any candidate to take his seat in the House before October. The Minister of Finance, Sir Henry Drayton, and the Minister of Agriculture, Dr. S. F. Tolmie, will consequently be unable to appear in the House at the coming session, which opens on Monday, as also will Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King, leader of the Liberal party.

OBITUARY

Cambridge, N. B., Aug. 25.—On August 21st Henry A. Vradenburgh, one of the eldest, best known and highly respected citizens of Queens County, passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John C. Wetmore, Belyea's Cove, Queens County. He was ninety-four years of age, and had had a life of wide experience. Under Superior School license, in his early years of active work, he taught school at different places in the counties of Queens and Kings, and quite a number of leading men when boys came under his tuition. At Confederation he became one of the first civil servants of the Dominion, serving in the Customs Department, first at Ottawa, and later at St. John. Of a high intellectual order his ability as accountant was much prized and he was called to go over many important transactions. Of an enquiring bent of mind and having a well developed understanding, he was one of the best informed men. Passing events, as well as the records of the past received close observation and study and his judgment of men and things was always worthy of respect. Three sons: Thos. H. of Medford, Mass.; Arthur H. G. of Johnston, Q. County; Albert W. of New York; three daughters: Mrs. John C. Wetmore of Belyea's Cove, Queens County; Mrs. D. M. Pearson of Johnston, Queens County; and Mrs. A. E. Cowan of St. John; twenty-five grandchildren, twenty-nine great grandchildren and one great-great grandchild survive. His place in the family circle was truely patriarchal.

In early life he was baptized into the membership of the Baptist Church at Colwell's, Queens County, and upon the organization of Belyea's Cove Church, was one of the charter members, holding the office of clerk until his settlement in St. John, when he became a member at Main street.

Funeral services were held on Saturday, August 24th, at late residence and interment was at Belyea's Cove, in Craft Cemetery. Services conducted by a former pastor, Rev. D. Patterson of Cambridge, N. B.

New District Leaders Appear in Revised Vote Standing Today—Others Move Up

The Next Counting of the Votes of the Candidates in The Standard's $10,000.00 Prize Contest Will be Made on September 5th and Published on September 6th—This Will Give Candidates Down in the List an Opportunity to Build up a Good Vote Showing for Their Friends to Look At.

Who Will Win the Automobiles, Pianos, Phonographs and Cash Prizes?

The revised vote standing of the candidates today in The Standard's $10,000.00 Prize Contest, shows new leaders and more activity among some who are down in the list. The voting on the whole is quite light since the votes for the Special Prizes were counted, as the votes came in at that time took about all the candidates could get, and some have not fully recovered and got things in full working order yet. To give all candidates an opportunity to make the best possible showing at the next revised publication of the vote standing, the votes will not be counted until September 5th and published on September 6th. This should give candidates who are down in the list a chance to bring their vote up with the leaders.

That some of the candidates who have not been very active in vote getting to date, are now beginning to realize that their chances of winning an automobile are as good as anyone's, is coming to light by the fact that they are now taking the good advice given in this column and are out after subscriptions as never before Some of these candidates will, no doubt, figure in the list of the winners of the automobiles. They realize that if they get busy at once and show by a big vote that they are really trying, that their friends will rally to their support and see them through to a successful finish. Every community takes pride in seeing its local candidate win a big prize, and the one to satisfy that community that they are deserving of the community's support will be th ones who will profit at the end by having made the start and showing their friends that they are made of the stuff that wins out in any undertaking.

There is glory in being a winner in a contest of this kind, but better still is the satisfaction of having won some thing worth while something that will be valuable to you for a long time to come. Think hard enough of the pleasure you can get out of an automobile and you will let nothing stand in the way of your going strong and winning the car offered for your district by The Standard. There will never be a chance again to get a fine automobile for as little effort, so if you do not want to miss the one great opportunity of a lifetime, get the votes between now and September 27th, for after that time the opportunity will be lost forever.

If you fail to make the best of this opportunity, instead of being the one to drive your own car, you may see some one enjoying the pleasure of the automobile which you could have easily won had you tried as hard as they did. This will be a feeling of regret that will come over you every time that car passes you, to think that you might have had what the other fellow is enjoying just because he tried and you did not.

Careless Shampooing Spoils the Hair

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

EXAMINING INTO TRAGIC DEATH OF JOSEPH RICHARDS

Inquest Began at Buctouche Yesterday Under Direction of Coroner Landry — No New Light on the Mystery.

Special to The Standard.

Moncton, August 26.—At Buctouche today Coroner D. V. Landry began an inquest into the tragic death of Joseph Richards, Dominion police officer, who was shot and killed on Friday last, while endeavoring to arrest Albert Nowlan on the charge of interfering with the military police in rounding up deserters under the Military Service Act. R. W. Hewson of Moncton is representing the Department of Justice, and E. R. Macdonald, Shediac, is representing Albert Nowland, who is alleged to have been the man who did the shooting. Several Dominion police officers, engaged under the Military Service Act in Kent County, gave evidence, but no new light was thrown on the shooting which took place near William Nowlan's house, seven miles from Buctouche. The evidence of the doctor, who held a post morten on the body of the dead officer, is expected to clear up the question whether there is anything in the theory being set up in behalf of the prisoner, Nowlan, that the officer accidentally shot himself. The inquest will be continued tomorrow.

The president and secretary, both One Big Unionists, resigned, and a returned soldier, A. E. Stewart, an international crafts advocate, was elected president.

By its action last night the council took the opposite stand to that expressed two months ago, when the One Big Union principle was favored.
