Work of a Little Five-year-old

Interests her friends in the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives

The letters that accompany the contributions being received in aid of the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives are full of human interest. To-day, Mrs. Oliver McNinch, of Grimsby, Ont., sends $9.00. She says: "This is to help the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives. My little girl, 5 years old, went out and collected it from friends. It is not much, but we thought every little would help. Hoping you will prosper in your good work."

In amounts large and small, contributions are being received from friends in all parts of the Dominion to help on the work being done by the

Muskoka Free Hospital For Consumptives

"I have been sick for over four years, but life is sweet, and I think, perhaps, that if I could get into your hospital I would get better. Can you take me? I have a bad cough and I pray that you may care for me."

The Appeal is to You This Christmas

Many Are Helping. Will You Help?

—Contributions Received Since Opening Hospital year, October 1, 1910.

WOULD MOVE INDICTMENT TO THE HIGHER COURTS

Toronto Railway Co. Pleading That Questions Involved Are Too Intricate For a Jury to Pass Upon.

The Toronto Railway Co. will to-day, at Osgoode Hall, apply to Justice Riddell, to have the indictment charging dangerous overcrowding, inadequate service and faulty cars and fenders returned by the grand jury of the sessions court, removed from the jurisdiction of that court, to that of the higher courts, because of the "intricate questions and points of law" involved. Crown Attorney Baird will oppose the motion.

The motion asks for a writ of certorari, to remove the indictment and "for such further orders as the judge may seem meet." An affidavit by James Gunn, superintendent of the railway, mentions the alleged difficulties created by the city when the company endeavored to carry out the Ontario Railway Board's order of May, 1907, to build new lines to reduce overcrowding, to carry out which it would cost the company $2,000,000, but concerning which the company has already spent several hundred thousand dollars. The fenders, he says, are those approved by the railway board in May, 1908, and recalls that an indictment returned by the grand jury against the company in Oct., 1900, was never pressed. The affidavit continues:

"I am advised by counsel, and verily believe, that intricate questions or points of law will arise on the trial of the said indictment, and I am advised by counsel that the legal issues involved are too important for a decision by a jury, and the defendant company wish the facts laid before a judge of the high court, to which said indictment may be traversed."

The questions asked in the affidavit are:

(a) What are the respective liabilities of the City of Toronto and the Toronto Railway Company under the original contract between them with regard to the alleged overcrowding?

(b) Whether, having regard to the fact that the jurisdiction in respect of such matters has been by the Ontario Legislature committed to a judicial tribunal, including the questions as to whether the orders of such tribunal are a protection to the company, if complied with, and such questions involving very large sums of money, the company can be indicted for committing a common nuisance.

(c) That the attempt to indict the company before the court of general sessions is an attempt to indirectly bring within the jurisdiction of an inferior court questions which by reason of their importance should be determined by a higher court.

(d) Whether the company can be indicted for a common nuisance, when they have complied with the railway board's order.

(e) Whether the company can be indicted without first obtaining the consent of the railway board.

(f) Whether this indictment is not really a proceeding instigated by officials of Toronto, for the purpose of endeavoring to influence the Ontario Railway Board when dealing with questions in which the city and the railway are concerned.

(g) Whether a fair trial can be had in the County of York.

(h) Whether by reason of the action of the city council and by reason of the almost daily comment in the public newspapers in the City of Toronto on the Toronto Railway, some prejudice has not been created among that class of persons in the City of Toronto and portions of York County from whom the jurymen are selected, and that a fair trial cannot be had in the jurisdiction of the court.

MAKING WORK FOR MAGISTRATE

New Street Railway Rules Result in Several Court Cases.

F. F. Macklem, a street railway conductor, was fined $1 and costs by Magistrate Kingsford yesterday for assault on Roy Bellier.

"I was sitting between two ladies and the conductor hit me right here in the eye. There's a scar there. I was pushed past the conductor by the crowd getting on at Avenue-road. It was a 'pay-as-you-enter' car, and the conductor was punching a transfer. I reached out to give him my transfer, but he couldn't take it and I went into the car. He came down to where I was sitting and took my transfer, then he came back and started to lecture me." Then Bellier told the conductor to mind his own business and the conductor then punched him.

Charles Skipper had tried to jump from a car while it was moving, and George Downey had grabbed him. Then he hit the conductor. It cost him $5 or 30 days.

W. H. Hynes was fined $1 and costs because he rang the bell violently several times to stop a car, which had changed its route unexpectedly, and otherwise created disorder.

W. H. Martin had stood on the back of a car, a P.A.Y.E. car, and wouldn't go inside. The notices are all down, there is no use doing anything about this," was announced, so the case was adjourned till called on.

Edward Grove got in the front of a trailer. The conductor wanted him to get out and come in the proper way. He wouldn't. Again decision was not given.

Western Mission Fervor.

Rev. C. E. Manning, field secretary of the Methodist Home Missions, has just returned from a trip thru Western Canada in the interests of his work. The campaign which he organized extended from Port Arthur to Victoria, centring chiefly in Winnipeg, Calgary, Vancouver and Victoria. At Winnipeg 800 Methodist men attended a missionary banquet, while in Vancouver this number was raised to 850; 200 people attended a life meeting in Victoria and between 700 and 800 in Calgary.

In all of these places it was decided to aim at an increase of not less than 100 per cent. in the givings to missions over the previous year.
