NEWS FROM IRELAND.

DUBLIN, Nov. 21, 1883.

That the agitation in Ireland has had its effect upon public opinion in England is shown by the change in sentiment which is gradually taking place there. Public opinion is now becoming very sensitive, and only last week the Duke of Bedford was roundly denounced in all the papers for some petty cruelties to poor tenants in London hovels, and there are hitherto unprecedented comparisons drawn between heartless eviction and the crowbar brigade as it works in London homes and on Irish farms. Here in Ireland Lord Spencer has made himself despised as well as hated by yielding to the revolvers of the Orangemen in proclaiming the Nationalist meetings in Ulster. Several English papers, even, have joined in the cry against him, and it is by no means improbable that before a great while the "Red Earl" will have to go.

Mr. Thomas Sexton, M. P. for Sligo, had a very unpleasant adventure on the morning of the 16th inst. in Drury Lane, London. While being driven homewards he stopped at a public house in the Seven Dials for refreshments, and while returning to his cab he was set upon by seven desperate ruffians, who gagged him, pinioned his arms and rifled his pockets, obtaining, among other property, his gold watch and chain valued at £50. All the footpads escaped except one, who was captured by the police and was tried on the 18th at the Old Bailey, and upon conviction by the jury was sentenced to fifteen months' imprisonment.

Justice George Denman of the court of Queen's bench will probably preside at the trial of O'Donnell for the murder of Carey. The preparations for O'Donnell's defence are well advanced. Mr. McInerney, of O'Donnell's council has brought from Ireland a mass of evidence, and he feels confident that the verdict in O'Donnell's case will not be that of wilful murder. Mr. William J. Hoppin, secretary of the American legation, in the absence of Minister Lowell, has visited O'Donnell and formally ascertained the fact of his American citizenship.

A. M. Sullivan, one of the attorneys in the libel suit of the Central News against the Sportsman, fell in a fainting fit after the case had been dismissed, Nov. 15, and was carried from the court room in an insensible condition. He was taken to his office and lay in a comatose state all night. The next day he was pronounced much better by his physicians, who say that he has rallied and continued to improve ever since.

The Queen has postponed her departure from Balmoral. Nothing definite is allowed to become known regarding the date of her return to Windsor. The exceptional reserve maintained in relation to the Queen's movements is alleged to be due to the unabated nervousness of her majesty from fear of Fenian outrages. Even the railway officials will be kept in ignorance of the time of her return until the last moment. The Duke of Connaught's children will join the Queen at Windsor and will remain there during the greater part of the absence of the duke and duchess in India.

Mr. Biggar, member of Parliament for Cavan, Ire., in a speech delivered at Oldham, Lancashire, stated that Earl Spencer, lord lieutenant of Ireland, had caused innocent people to be hanged upon notoriously false evidence. He also declared that the Orangemen were unimportant in numbers, and were composed of knaves and dupes. When Sir Stafford Northcote visited Ireland, the torchlight procession to which he had been treated was only organized after those who composed the procession had received half a crown each to participate therein.

The Orangemen, in obedience to the proclamation of the government, abstained from assembling at Garrison on the 15th, but the Nationalists assembled to the number of 4000. The meeting was interfered with, however, by the magistrate, who, at the head of a force of cavalry, infantry and police, read the government's proclamation forbidding the meeting. Mr. William O'Brien, member of Parliament and editor of United Ireland, advised the people to respect the law. The crowd thereupon dispersed.

Mr. Healy, member of Parliament for Monaghan, delivered an address at Drogheda, Nov. 18, before a large public meeting, in which he adverted to the report that the government intended, in the session of Parliament, to introduce a bill extending the franchise, from the benefits of which Ireland was to be excluded. He declares that if Ireland did not obtain an extension of the franchise, England would not get it either.

The Freeman's Journal publishes a letter signed by Dr. Redmond, a priest of the diocese of Westminster, denouncing Mr. Errington's mission to Rome as in the interest of the landlords and the English government. He declares that the Irish clergy and laity have the right to fight their own political battle, and that the Curia must stand aside. If it decides adversely to the Irish people it may deal a mortal blow to the church.

Mr. A. C. Boyd, Q. C., of Dublin, proposes the formation of a new Tory League to rival that of Mr. Parnell's followers, and to oppose and counteract the influence of the National League, especially in those parts of Ireland where elections are about to be held. The Nationalists laugh at the proposal and claim it is impossible to get up an organization of the kind of respectable proportions.

The official Moniteur de Rome declares that there is no truth whatever in the statement that the Pope, being vividly impressed by the latest news from Ireland, has charged Cardinal Simeoni to write to the Irish bishops and the local authorities for information as to whether the Catholic clergy have really taken part in the agitation against the government.

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY.

Montreal Gazette, Nov. 22.

Yesterday being the fiftieth anniversary of the Very Rev. Mother St. Bernard's entry into religious life, the Villa Maria Convent presented an unusually lively scene. At 5 a. m. the celebration of masses commenced and continued throughout the morning. Six altars were erected in the chapel, and thirty masses were performed, by a large number of priests. At 7 o'clock the rev. Mother solemnly renewed the vows taken fifty years ago, in the church attached to the convent. All day long the former pupils of the institution were flocking in to pay their respects to the venerable lady, together with the superiors and many of the nuns of the branches of the congregation in all parts of the Dominion and the United States. Many of the deputations also presented brief addresses. In the afternoon a deputation consisting of Hon. P. J. O. Chaveau, Hon. Mr. Lacoste, Hon. Justice Mathieu, Mr. M. Desnoyers, P.M., Ald. Grenier, Genereux and Mount, Chief Paradis, and Messrs. DeMontigny, Globensky, Bourgouin, Charlebois, Monette, J. Chapleau and others, representing the French Canadians, and another consisting of Messrs. J. J. Curran, Q. C., M. P., Edward Murphy, J. A. Sadlier, Chas. Garth, William O'Brien, Jas. O'Brien, M. P. Ryan, P. J. Coyle, J. Conaughton, B. Conaughton, D. McIntyre, sr., W. W. Halpin, Ald. Tansey, B. Tansey, P. Kennedy, B. Emmerson, J. F. Fosbre, Jos. Cloran, H. J. Cloran, P. Doran, and others, representing St. Patrick's, St. Ann's and St. Mary's churches, presented the Rev. Mother with addresses in French and English. Hon. Mr. Chauveau presented the first and Mr. Curran the second. The following is the English address:—

To the Very Reverend Sister St. Bernard, Superioress General of the Congregation of Notre Dame:

Gratitude, ever a characteristic of the race from which we have sprung, brings the children of St. Patrick to lay at your feet their humble bouquet of congratulations, fragrant with the purest wishes of warm Celtic hearts, on this the happy and auspicious anniversary of your golden wedding with the Heavenly Spouse.

Fifty years! How long it seems to some. How short to you with your life of devotion? And yet how fruitful of results, redounding to the greater glory of God, the usefulness of the noble Sisterhood of which you have been so long a brilliant ornament—a guiding spirit, and to the moral and material progress of our country, in whose history your community fills a chapter so delightful and edifying.

Two hundred and thirty years have gone by since the venerable Marguerite Bourgeois established your Order, simultaneously with the foundation of our good city of Montreal, to which her labors have been a constant source of blessings, and in the same breath with the names of Mothers St. Victor, St. Ursule, St. Elizabeth and St. Magdeleine, the generous and self-sacrificing promoters of the great work of which the venerable Marguerite Bourgeois was the foundress, the cherished name of Sister St. Bernard will be pronounced with love and veneration by a grateful people.

Under your wise and motherly care this institution, Divine Providence aiding, has flourished and fructified. From the Parent House in the City of Mary have sprung, as if by magic, numberless branch establishments in every Province of the Dominion, and in many States of the neighboring Republic.

To your labors are due not only the growth of the Congregation de Notre Dame—for how many kindred Sisterhoods, striving in the same glorious cause have not been furnished from amongst your pupils with numbers of their most zealous workers—but Canada owes you a debt of gratitude which no human acknowledgments can repay. You have furnished to our country mothers into whose minds and hearts you had instilled that piety, those sterling precepts which make a nation God-fearing and great. And, as it were, to crown your career during your administration, we have seen gradually rise to its present proportions this magnificent edifice, the Mother House of Villa Maria, whose architectural beauty and grandeur is the glory of your institution and the pride of Montreal, as it is in usefulness the moral and intellectual centre for the ladies of our Dominion.

Needless to attempt the recapitulation of the history of your inimitable career, but amongst the many generous acts of your Community there is one we cannot alow to pass in silence. To some of us the sad desolation of 1847 comes back with a pang as within our recollection; to others it is but a matter of history. When our unfortunate countrymen and countrywomen were stricken down by that malignant destroyer, the typhus fever, who were more ready to sacrifice their lives in the cause of humanity than the members of your Order? True, His Lordship, the then Right Reverend Bishop of Montreal, wisely forbade you to nurse the sick, fearing the spread of contagion in the schools, but your efforts were not to be paralyzed. And well is it remembered that among the fatherless and motherless orphans of that melancholy period, many found not only homes but education in your establishments, and not a few, having been received into your Community, have contributed by their piety and talents to add new laurels to the fame of your institution.

A career such as yours forms one of the strongest bonds in our national life. To you do all Canadians, without distinction of origin, look up as one of the brightest characters in our country's history. To-day, in the different languages spoken by our population, united through your exalted devotion, the praises of your usefulness are heard, and the prayers of all ascend to the Throne of the Most High, that you may long be spared to guide the destinies of your sisterhood and scatter blessings amongst our people.

Signed on behalf of the congregation of St. Patrick's, St. Ann's and St. Mary's Churches of Montreal.

EDWARD MURPHY, Chairman.
J. J. CURRAN, Secretary.

Montreal, 21st November, 1883.

Rev. Mr. Collin, Superior of Seminary of St. Sulpice, replied in French, giving a short history of the Order of the Congregation of Notre Dame since its foundation by Sister Bourgeois to the present time, when there were nearly 800 sisters belonging to the Order, 88 educational institutions giving the advantages of a liberal education to about 19,000 pupils, 10,500 of which are instructed free. Mother Bernard was the twenty-second Superioress.

Rev. Father Beaubien, parish priest of Lavaltrie, followed in English, the choir singing at intervals several beautiful songs expressly composed for the occasion. The ceremony of blessing the Holy Sacrament was then held in the chapel, where five hundred nuns and an equal number of ladies and gentlemen were present. Mgr. Fabre officiated at the ceremony, which was an imposing one. The guests were afterwards entertained at lunch.

THE ARCHBISHOP OF TORONTO.

Twenty-Fourth Anniversary of his Consecration.

From The Tribune.

On Tuesday the twenty-fourth anniversary of the consecration of His Grace the Most Rev. Dr. Lynch was fittingly celebrated. His Grace, whom his many devoted friends rejoiced to see in such good health notwithstanding his many years of arduous labours in the service of his Master, and the severe illness from which he suffered in the early part of the year, celebrated Pontifical High Mass at the Cathedral in thanksgiving for the many mercies and graces vouchsafed to him. His labours in Toronto have indeed been greatly blessed and very fruitful of good. Perhaps, in no part of America is there a Catholic community of the same number which possess as many churches and as many Catholic institutions as exist and flourish in Toronto, thanks to the great zeal and the ceaseless efforts of the Archbishop and of the clergy by whom he is assisted. And in every part of his extensive diocese the spiritual wants of the people are carefully provided for and the great cause of Catholic education is successfully promoted. The Globe says:

The altar was beautifully ornamented with candelabras, showing various colored lights. There was a large attendance at the mass, which was the Gregorian chant, rendered in grand style by the students of St. Michael's College, divided into two choirs, one at the organ and the other at the altar. The following assisted His Grace in the service:—Deacons of honour—Very Rev. Father Vincent, Superior of St. Michael's College, and Father Green, Superior of the Redemptorists; Deacon, Father Bergin, Sub-Deacon, Father Hand, and Assisting Priest, Rev. Father Rooney. There were also present in the sanctuary:—His Lordship Bishop O'Mahoney, attended by Vicar-General Laurent, of Bracebridge, and Father Leppcott; Vicar-General Laurent, of St. Michael's, Fathers O'Hagarty, Morris, Cherrier, Dumouchel, and a great many other ecclesiastics from St. Michael's College. Mr. Lemaitre presided at the organ. During the day Bishops Walsh, of London, and Jamot, of Peterboro; Mons. Farrelly, Administrator of Kingston; Very Rev. Vicar-General Dowling, Administrator of Hamilton; Rev. Father Brennan, of London; Rev. Father Keogh, Hamilton; and Rev. Father Heenan, Hamilton, called upon the Archbishop at St. Michael's Palace to pay their respects to him. Almost all the priests of the archdiocese of Toronto were present, amongst others, Very Rev. Dean O'Connor, Rev. Father Cassidy, of Dixie; Rev. Father Harris, Newmarket; Rev. Father McCann, of Brockton.

CATHOLIC NOTES.

The Rev. Father Turgeon has replaced Rev. Father Cazenu as Rector of the Jesuits' College at Montreal. The latter had filled the position for six years.

The Rev. Father Jutteau, O. P., will commence to preach a retreat in the parish of St. Anne, Ottawa, on the 16th December.

A musical and dramatic soiree in aid of the funds of St. Elizabeth Sewing Society of Ottawa will be given in the Institute on the 28th inst.

His Grace the Archbishop of St. Boniface, Man., visited the new school of the Immaculate Conception at Winnipeg, under the direction of the Rev. Sisters of Jesus-Mary, on the 14th inst. This makes the fourth Catholic school in that city—two directed by the sisters and two by the Marist Brothers.

Monseigneur Carberry, Bishop of Hamilton, was born at Cork, Ireland, in 1821, and he entered the Dominican Order in 1843. He subsequently exercised the sacred ministry at Cork and at Limerick, filling in the latter place the responsible position of Prior; in 1875 he became Provincial of Ireland. In 1880 he became Secretary to the General of the Order, and since that date has resided in Rome.

The Dean of York does not approve of the Luther celebration. Having been requested to take part in a service in Yorkminster, he said in his reply: "Very few of us would be prepared to endorse all that Luther said or did," and adding: "I mistrust the expediency of such a proceeding when its tendency must be to fan the smouldering embers of past struggles and persecutions, and to give pain to many of our fellow Christians."

Rev. Father Wissell, C.SS.R., and five other priests of the same order, arrived in Halifax, N. S., on the 3d inst., from St. John's, N. B. On the Sunday they preached in the different Catholic churches of the city; the Superior, Father Wissell, preached in the Cathedral at High Mass. They left at noon on the 5th inst., by the Allen boat for Newfoundland, to renew the Missions which were given in the diocese of St. John's and Harbor Grace, some nine months ago.

The Catholic congregation of Nelson, New Brunswick, deserves great credit for the energy they have displayed in the matter of rebuilding their church and presbytery. Good progress has been made with the frame of the church, and the presbytery has been so far advanced that services were held in it last Sunday. It will be a larger and better looking residence than the one that was burned. The lower portion will be used as a residence by Father Egan, and the upper portion will serve as a chapel until the church building is ready for use. His Lordship the Bishop of Chatham was present on Sunday, and addressed the congregation after mass had been celebrated.

All the boys attending the schools of the Christian Brothers, in the city of Quebec, mustered in the Jacques Cartier Hall on the 14th inst., whither His Excellency the Commissary Apostolic went, attended by a numerous train of clergymen. The hall and galleries were filled to repletion with citizens and scholars and were beautifully decorated with flags and banners and suitable inscriptions. Addresses were presented to him, to which he made an eloquent reply. There was also music and songs and recitations.

Tradition says that during the flight into Egypt the Holy Family once reposed themselves under a certain tree in lower Egypt. This tree, which still exists, is in a locality named Mattarich. At the time of the inauguration of the Suez canal the ex-Empress Eugenie, who took part in the ceremonies, received this tree as a present from the Khedive of Egypt. It now appears that the Jesuit Fathers have bought the tree with some adjoining land for 18,000 francs, and that before long they will there erect a sanctuary in honor of the Blessed Virgin.

The following from the Pittsburg, Pa., Emerald Vindicator ought to commend itself to the thoughtful consideration of all Catholic heads of families: "We have frequently urged on our readers the great importance of extending a more liberal support to the Catholic press. A family without one or more of the many excellent journals—true and faithful exponents and advocates of Catholicism—are like a ship at sea without rudder, sail or compass. Let the fathers and mothers take warning at the many ship-wrecked members of our holy religion, so numerous throughout the land."

Le Canadien of Quebec is in a position to formally contradict the statements of some of its contemporaries that His Excellency, the Commissary-Apostolic, had finished his business in Quebec, and was about to take his departure for Montreal. The announcement surprised Mgr. Smeulders himself, as he had not yet entertained the idea of leaving the Archiepiscopal city. The same paper says, that His Excellency had visited St. Bridgets' Asylum and had expressed himself delighted with the reception given him. He also visited the Asylum of the Good Shepherd.

HYMENEAL.—On the 17th of last month the Catholic Church of Springtown was the scene of a very happy event, Mr. James J. Meany, of Sorel, being united in marriage to Miss Josephine Kennedy, daughter of Mr. Patrick Kennedy, merchant, of Springtown. The bridesmaids were the Misses French, daughters of Michael and Frances French, of Renfrew. After the ceremony they drove to Mr. Kennedy's, where, with a large number of friends, they partook of a hearty breakfast. Rev. Father Burns spoke in very high and complimentary terms of the new married couple, and in particular of the bride, having known her for many years. The bride received a large and varied assortment of very handsome and costly presents from her friends, who regretted her departure from amongst them. After breakfast the bride and bridegroom left by the C. P. Railway for Montreal, carrying with them the good wishes of all present.—True Witness.

An incident which caused not a little amusement, occurred recently at the Richmond, Que., depot on the Grand Trunk Railway. A certain Catholic Bishop and a certain member of the local legislature—the latter noted for his absent-mindedness—both entered the dining room of the depot to partake of luncheon. The legislator having eaten to his satisfaction went on the platform to smoke his pipe, where, to his inexplicable amazement, the persons there approached him one after the other, and, rather irreverently, it must be confessed, bending the knee, asked for his blessing. In the meantime the Bishop had also finished his meal and looking for his hat found that it had disappeared. For the benefit of residents outside of the Province of Quebec it may be well to explain that the Catholic Bishops all were a green plaited cord with two lapels falling down behind on their hats, and the absent-minded legislator had taken up that of His Lordship and was wearing it in happy ignorance of the mistake.

An item going the rounds of the Catholic press, that our Right Rev. Bishop was worse, and that the Very Rev. Father Phelan had been put in charge of diocesan affairs, is without foundation in fact. On the death of Father Ryan, at whose house Bishop Tuigg was residing, and felt somewhat prostrated by the excitement, Father Phelan, as Vicar-General, took charge of the dead priest's funeral at the request of the Bishop. The daily press, with its usual habit to blunder—especially where Catholic matters are concerned—published the item alluded to, and which has deceived a number of our contemporaries. Our advices as to the Bishop's health and condition are up to within a few hours of going to press. His general health is quite good and the paralysis of the right leg and arm slowly improving. He is able to walk through the house, is in excellent spirits, and very hopeful of his ultimate recovery.—Pittsburg, Pa., Emerald Vindicator.

At Night.

My lamp burns low, the night winds whisper,
Through the room a stillness reigns,
Sandal'd silence waves her sceptre
Moonbeams press the window panes,
Down the street a distant footfall
Echoes through the vaults of night,
Tired hearts and dreamless spirits
Wait the smile of morning light.
