A Canadian Poet.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean recently gave a half-column editorial in praise of the poem "The Mother," by William Wilfred Campbell, which appears in Harper's for April. It says there are many such poems. Milton's "Hymn of the Nativity," Hamlet's "Soliloquy Upon Man," Whittier's "Maud Muller," Buchanan Reed's "Drifting," Longfellow's "Psalm of Life," Shelley's "Skylark," Matthew Arnold's "Obermann Again," all belong in that same category. Greater poems than any of these have been written, greater still may yet be composed, but the particular subject of which each treats should be regarded as closed out. Others may imitate or dilute, but nobody can hope to rival, and those poems should be put away in the cabinet of literature as gems which are in themselves complete and priceless. The book shelves devoted to such a collection would not need to be large, but the catalog would be a long one. It is no small thing to add another gem to such a collection and the addition deserves to attract some attention. This is the opinion of The Inter-Ocean, and other American comments upon the same poem are scarcely less flattering. Mr. Campbell is a young Canadian whose poems are familiar to all and he is achieving, in fact has achieved, a name in American literature in which all feel pleasure.

T. B. Browning of Toronto has an exhaustive article in The Law Quarterly Review on "The Behring Sea Question." He draws his facts from the official correspondence stored up by the English, Canadian and American governments, and puts in short form a pretty thorough outline and criticism of the whole matter.

The Ontario Government should not seize the mining industry and squeeze it for revenue. A consuming desire to gather in and gloat over an idle surplus should not be allowed to prejudice so great an interest as that of mining. Mining should be bonussed rather than taxed.

The City May Suffer.

Editor World: You may well say in this morning's issue "the city may suffer" from the encroachments of lake waters on our Island formation. Expert government engineers have placed upon the Island a breakwater which enlightenment upon the subject of primary formation of the peninsula and the forces at present at work, if it did not cause them to remove, would certainly have prevented the erection thereof; in like manner, the extension westward of the same breakwater will cause a duplicate of the present removal at the extremity of such continuance or prolongation, and so on until the Island is girdled. The Government and the city have both been offered the information, conditional that they pay for the publication of the matter given. As the subject is one of public and not private interest, the writer has concluded that, if such information is desired, the necessary cost of publication could be undertaken, either by the one or the other parties interested. If they choose to spend some more hundreds of thousands of dollars foolishly the writer can complacently look on their rashness and moralize as to the obtuseness and prejudices of humanity.

Asking For Samples.

C. E. Sontum, the Christiania, [illegible], correspondent of The Canadian [illegible], writes: "I would be much obliged to [illegible] you would put us in connection with one of the largest millers in Canada. The mills in Minneapolis, U.S., are represented here and their agents are selling large quantities of wheat flour. If a Canadian miller would send us samples we could soon inform them if they could compete."

Belt Line Railway.

The Private Bills Committee of the Legislature at their meeting yesterday m ade provision for the entrance of this railway along the Don improvements. The compensation to the city will be determined by arbitration, and the railway will proceed with construction at once. The committee regarded the project as one of great importance and were practically unanimous in requiring that equitable terms should be made for its accommodation.

Brer Maxwell Wanted a Chance.

[Peterboro Times.]

An amusing incident occurred at the morning service in the George-street Church on Sunday. Rev. W. J. Maxwell of Toronto was about beginning to read the lesson when Mr. Seward, the organist, accidentally stepped on one of the pedals and the organ gave forth a dismal groan. Mr. Maxwell quickly turned around to the organist and said: "Hold on, there; give a fellow a chance."

At the Door.

I thought myself indeed secure,
So fast the door, so firm the lock;
But lo! he toddling comes to lure
My parent ear with timorous knock.

My heart were stone could it withstand
The sweetness of my baby's plea—
That timorous, baby-knocking, and,
"Please, let me in—it's only me."

I threw aside the unfinished book,
Regardless of its tempting charms;
And, opening wide the door, I took
My laughing darling in my arms.

Who knows, but in eternity
I, like a truant child, shall wait—
The glories of a life to be,
Beyond the Heavenly Father's gate!

And will that Heavenly Father heed
The truant's supplicating cry,
As at the outer door I plead,
"'Tis I, oh, Father! only I!"

THE HORSE SALE.

Another Big Day and Heavy Sales at the Shaw-street Rink.

The big rink in Shaw-street where Canada's fine horses are being sold was occupied yesterday morning and afternoon by a good-sized crowd of buyers, who answered Mr. W. D. Grand's monotone by steady bidding. The difficulty of securing a good light caused the sale to be withheld in the evening. It will be continued to-day till about 4 and on Friday and Saturday at the Repository in Adelaide-street west. These are the sales yesterday: Nellie Blay, bl cob, Mr. Barry, Detroit, $250; Juliet, br m, Joseph Kilgour, Toronto, $350; Garnet, g g, Mr. Hirchmer, Detroit, $350; Bracelet, bl m, Mr. Osborne, Montreal, $375; Plum Pudding, sp g, William Hendrie, Hamilton, $175; Paul Jones, ch g, Mr. Barry, Detroit, $250; Buckingham, ch g, L. Said a gentleman interested in horses to The World the day before yesterday: "Mr. Grand will have to get $100 a horse more than he paid for them to clear himself." Yesterday the same gentleman said: "After watching the sale for a few days I believe Mr. Grand has cleared an average of $125 per head above the cost of the animals, and 25 times 200 in dollars is only a fair profit for his enterprise."

MINING ROYALTIES.

Letters and Telegrams Continue to Arrive in Earnest Protest.

Mr. Hardy's bill has been hung up for a week and the event will prove that this period will be well used by miners in filing objections to its passage. Here is an extract from a letter written by Albert Harvey of Wahnapitae to Mr. G. S. Macdonald of this city:

WAHNAPITAE, April 14.

I saw Mr. D—— in Sudbury, but I don't think that he will get much to do if they don't take off the royalty. We had a meeting at Sudbury and are getting up a petition to the Government, protesting against the imposition of a royalty, and every miner in the country will sign it. If the Government persist in putting on a royalty this country will be ruined. What do you think of prospecting this summer if there is no royalty?

The World interviewed Mr. T. D. Ledyard with reference to Mr. Hardy's bill, and he declared the proposed royalty to be very objectionable. He is interested in mining lands and can see only evil results in the train of the proposed legislation. The very fact of a government royalty being levied would alarm possible investors. In Michigan, where the iron mines are just now so successful, sales are not hampered by royalties or reservations of any kind. Mr. Hardy's bill is directly opposite in purpose from the recommendations of the Mining Convention, and if passed will have a baneful effect.

They Don't Want the Preparatory Classes Abolished.

Hon. Mr. Mowat, accompanied by Messrs. Ross, Gibson and Harcourt, yesterday met a deputation representing the parents of children in attendance on the preparatory classes at the Jarvis-street Collegiate Institute which it is proposed to abolish by a special clause in the High School Act, now before the Legislative Assembly. Mr. Warring Kennedy, Mr. James Lobb, Principal Macmurchy and Mr. Angus Macmurchy were present and Mr. Kennedy was the chief speaker. Many important reasons were urged against the discontinuance of these classes, which have performed an important function in the past. The memorial which was presented was signed by about 100 of the most prominent citizens in Toronto interested in education, many of whom are parents whose children have reaped the benefits arising from these classes. The principal points made in the memorial are:

The preparatory classes, which were established in 1865, were then found to serve a good purpose, their usefulness has not been impaired since, and they have been an important factor in maintaining the well-known high standard of the institute.

These classes differ from Public School classes, inasmuch as pupils attending the former have the opportunity of beginning earlier the study of classics and French.

These classes had in the past the cordial support of the late Rev. Dr. Ryerson, Chief Superintendent of Education, and met with the approval of your predecessor in office, the late Hon. Adam Crooks.

After paying in full the salaries of the teachers in charge of these classes and a proportionate share of the general school expenses for rent, fuel, etc, a surplus remains from the fees of the pupils in attendance thereon.

The deputation appeared well satisfied with their interview.

A Voice for Gravitation.

Editor World: Sewage leaks into the pumping city water well. Ald. Phillips is doing good work, but against great odds. What is necessary to obtain pure water is to make a coffer dam around the present pumping well, which can be made tight for all time to come; the immediate completion of the new conduit and extension into pure water in the lake. Mr. Hamilton and Mr. Brough stated at a committee of the waterworks on April 1 that the new conduit would be completed in one month. At the rate they are working now it won't be ready in six months. If they could only get Prof. Ellis to make the people believe that the water was pure they would be all right. Do you think that bricklayer is doing what is right by trying to bluff everybody? I don't. It seems strange to me that he should know so much and do so little. Now, he says that the city is in want of an engine and pumping well at a cost of $157,000. In reply to that, I beg to say Toronto waterworks has all the engine pumping power required for the next six years to come and could be worked at one-quarter less than the present expenses. I had full charge of the old Toronto Waterworks and I know whereof I am speaking, and when the day comes for voting I shall vote against the bylaw. I deem it prudent to call the attention of the citizens to the fact that the question of gravitation is our only hope.

FULTON ATTACKS MOODY.

A Sensation Created by the Jesuit-Hater in Boston.

BOSTON, April 14.—Rev. Justin D. Fulton, of Jesuit-hating fame, created a sensation here yesterday by his vindictive attack upon D. L. Moody, the famous evangelist, because of the latter's liberality towards the Catholic Church. The attack was made before the two thousand people who crowded Music Hall, and was entirely unexpected. The subject of the discourse was quite suggestive, being "Moodyism and Romanism; or pandering to Rome the peril of our country." This could mean nothing else than that Dr. Fulton considered Mr. Moody a panderer to Rome and therefore a fit victim to be run over by the anti-Romanist locomotive. The cause of all this outburst seemed to have resulted from Mr. Moody's statement that he had given money to assist in building a Roman Catholic Church in Northfield, and what the evangelist said two months ago in the Park-street Church concerning Protestant intolerance of the Catholic Church in the United States. After a prayer for the benefit of Mr. Moody's future, Mr. Fulton said: "Moodyism is a growth rather than an institution, an attempt to teach people the way of life without instructing them with regard to the performance of their church duties. Moody calls himself an evangelist and believes he has a sphere of duty different from that of ministers. From being a simple clerk he branched out after his conversion as if men could be saved by the job. To prosecute his work as an evangelist Moody started outside of the churches and his meetings were conducted so as to afford offence to no denomination. How successful the plan has been I leave to others than myself to determine. Moody has a perfect passion for souls, but I believe there is a kind of work that he has not undertaken. For the souls of Romanists Christ died. Moody knows that as well as I do. Then why doesn't he tell the truth to them?" The doctor concluded by offering the following direct challenge to "his brother Moody:" "To-day, in the presence of this great company, I call upon Mr. Moody to take this matter to heart and to raise the banner of Christ and to plant it in the midst of Romanism. I want you to ask him to come to Music Hall and preach one sermon against Romanism." The doctor appointed Drs. Chase and Townsend and Mr. Bradbury a committee to carry the message to Mr. Moody.

DELUCCIA TO BE RELEASED.

The Cayuga Murder Case to be Indefinitely Postponed.

Mr. Michael Basso has just returned from Cayuga, where he has been looking after the interests of Joseph Deluccia, at present before the assizes there on the charge of murdering Mrs. Daly, the wife of his employer, and her two children. The crime, it will be recollected, dates two years back, Deluccia while under arrest becoming insane and until recently being confined in the Hamilton Insane Asylum. He was declared cured some weeks ago and accordingly was sent back to Cayuga jail to stand his trial. It is now the intention of the Crown to nolle the case and release the prisoner on his own bail, the evidence being very weak.

The strong point against Deluccia lay in the fact that in his statement he said that on the night of the alleged crime the little son of Mrs. Daly was not sleeping with him, as was customary, he being sick at the time. When the ruins were examined afterwards the skeleton of the boy was found in such a position as to warrant the supposition that Deluccia's story was not true. Again an unlucky train of fires seems to have followed Deluccia wherever he had been employed, and as the Daly homestead was burned to the ground on the same night as the supposed murders were committed suspicion naturally turned to Deluccia. The prisoner has two brothers in Buffalo.

The Harnessing of Niagara.

Editor World: I was much taken with your wonderful article that appeared in The World on April 8 depicting the new city that is to be built on the banks of the Niagara River, by the great power that is going to waste over the far-famed falls, and after seriously considering and pondering over it I felt that there can be no doubt that the construction of such water power at Queenston will cause a large town or city to grow at that spot. I then began figuring on the value that land will soon acquire, and found by assuming that if the town would cover 5000 acres of land, it would be safe to say that it would realize an average value in a few years of $25 per foot, comparing it with other towns that have sprung up during the last five years on this continent. Toronto has over 6000 acres in which the average value is $60 per foot. It can therefore be readily seen that an enormous sum will be made either by capitalists who are controlling the land, or by the parties who now buy land from the company, and as a follower of Henry George, I say, why should these enormous profits be made by those who are fortunate enough at the present time to be able to secure some property in the town? Should they not be realized by the public? The Province of Ontario would take the enterprise up and allow the present capitalists a fair remuneration for their plan and work done to the present time, it would be a profitable investment for the province, and the public would realize within ten years of this date, I believe, from fifteen to thirty millions dollars for public use, and would in addition have a large revenue every year from the sale of power. I understand that Sir John Macdonald has lately expressed the opinion that the time has arrived when all waterpower should be held by the Government, and only leased to private corporations, as waterpower will become one of the most powerful assets that a government can have, and therefore think that the Local Government cannot act too quickly in this matter. I understand it is contemplated within the near future to have 100,000 horse power. Now then the sale of 50,000, or one half of this amount at $10 per annum, being less than one-quarter of the cost per horse power at the present time, would give a revenue to the province of $500,000. The figures below will show that the value of the land would be at the price above given. From the growth of population on this continent, I think that these values are quite within the possibility of being realized inside of ten years, and that within 30 years a city approaching the size of Toronto may be found at the locality which would give a far larger profit to the country. And I think now is the time for the land reformers to have a fair test of the principles claimed by them. As one of them I am willing to do all in my power to have this enterprise made a public one and not remain a monopoly in the hands of those who are now fortunate enough to be capitalists and interested in the works. One acre of land equal 250 feet at $25 per foot makes one acre worth $6250 per acre. Five thousand acres of land at $6250 per acre equals $31,250,000.

Who are getting these profits? land speculators and those who buy land and do not do anything with it, or the public?

DISOBEYED AND WAS SAVED.

A Survivor of the Utopia Disaster Tells His Story to The World.

There arrived in Toronto yesterday in the person of Dominic de Franco of the Province of Foggia, Italy, one of the few survivors of the disaster in the Straits of Gibraltar, when the steamship Utopia carried 500 of her passengers to the bottom of the sea. De Franco is a pleasant-faced young Italian and evidently educated. He was found by The World at No. 18 Mansfield-avenue, and through an interpreter told his story as follows:

"Early this winter I received a letter from D. Ronca, with whom I am now staying, and he told me so much about Toronto that another friend, Angelo de Lucca, and myself determined to come here. We took the Utopia, and there must have been with us at least 800 others, mostly countrymen. On the night of the disaster De Lucca and myself retired to the bunk which we shared. I cannot tell what hour it was, but a noise like thunder awoke both of us. When it ceased somebody, I think the captain, shouted down the hatchway that all was right, and for everybody to keep their bunks and go to sleep again. My friend obeyed, as did most of the others, but I and a hundred more disobeyed, and to this we owed our lives.

"When we got on deck I at once saw that the boat was bound to sink right away, and stripping myself I jumped into the sea and swam away from the vessel. I will never forget the groan of agony which seemed to burst from the Utopia as she sank. I could hear it although it took my entire strength to avoid being sucked down with her. What with the exertion of keeping afloat and the sudden chill I had little time to notice anything more. I must have been in the water an hour when some English sailors rescued me. Poor De Lucca and all the others who remained in their quarters sank with the Utopia; but I believe if a general alarm had been given many more people would have been saved."

General Civic Business.

When the Belt Line business had been disposed of Tuesday night the council plunged knee deep into regular business. In the Executive's report there was a lively discussion on the recommended rebate on taxes to Mr. James French on his Queen-street east property, but it was finally accepted. After an angry debate it was agreed to purchase horses for the fire brigade and pay the drivers at the rate of $1 per day; the local Board of Health was instructed to hunt up another site for a smallpox hospital and the life of granolithic sidewalks was extended to 10 years. Ald. Rose desired the clause of the Waterworks Committee's report recommending that a bylaw be passed forfeiting Mr. McNamara's contract be struck out, as he thought the contractor had not been fairly used. The council determined not to interfere with the recommendation, and Ald. Hill was given leave to introduce a bylaw based on the disputed clause.

Enlarging its Premises.

At the monthly meeting of the managers of the Girls' Industrial Institute, Richmond-street, the report of the receipts and expenditures was most satisfactory, showing a small balance in the treasury after paying all expenses except the rent. It was particularly gratifying, as some of the managers had feared that the rates for board and coffee room had been placed too low to pay expenses. Just now they are having unusual expenses, as it has become necessary to fit up more bedrooms and another sitting room. The satisfactory state of the institute's affairs is greatly due to the good management of the superintendent, Mrs. Hardie.

"Noble Work."

It is always good evidence of a frank and sincere nature to overcome prejudice so as to tell the truth, and, when the truth is told, there is but one opinion, like the following: "Kansas City, Mo., U.S.A., Nov. 15, 1889. Gentlemen,—I am proud to say that your wonderful remedy, St. Jacobs Oil, has done its noble work. I am able to move around, being entirely free from pain (neuralgia). When meeting my associates I am often asked what in the world brought me round in such perfect health, and in reply I tell them it was your valuable medicine.—James W. Lang, M.D."

Doctors generally are reluctant to speak out, but there are many exceptions like the above, where physicians frankly acknowledge the merit of The Great Remedy.

The Godson Cases Adjourned.

Arthur W. Godson and his counsel, George Tate Blackstock, were in the Police Court yesterday morning bright and early and waited until the Godson case was called. Godson pleaded not guilty to the two charges, and through his counsel expressed his readiness to have the investigation at once proceed. The crown, however, was not ready and the case was enlarged until the 21st. Judge Macdougall was present, and a large box containing all the exhibits shown in evidence before the magistrate when he was in possession of by the court and will only be accessible to the defendant in presence of crown representatives.

The W. H. C. Kerr Estate.

Application for probate of the will of W. H. C. Kerr, late of Toronto, esquire, deceased, was yesterday made to the Surrogate Court by his widow, Mrs. Annie H. Kerr. The estate, consisting mainly of real estate, is valued at $300,042. The widow is appointed sole executrix with full powers, and the estate, with the exception of some small family bequests, is left to her for life, with remainder to the children.

Mrs. W. J. Lang, Bethany, Ont., writes: "I was one of the greatest sufferers for about fifteen months with a disease of my ear similar to ulcers, causing entire deafness. I tried everything that could be done through medical skill, but without relief. As a last resort, I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and in ten minutes found relief. I continued using it, and in a short time my ear was cured and hearing completely restored. I have used this wonderful healer successfully in cases of inflammation of the lungs, sore throat, coughs and colds, cuts and bruises, &c., in fact it is our family medicine.

Disposal of Night Soil.

Dr. Allen, the new Medical Health Officer, is making things hum. In the matter of the disposal of night soil it is understood to be the intention of the department to procure a suitable place, and let objectors whoever they may be prove the depositing to be a nuisance. Farmers are willing to buy the night soil for fertilizing purposes, and the department believes the courts will not allow the validity of objections to a properly managed pit system.

Razors and Cakewalks Ruin a Church.

NEW YORK, April 15.—The New York Presbytery to-day decided to dissolve the Shiloh (colored) Church in West Twenty-sixth-street and form a new congregation. ### AT OSGOODE HALL.

The Chancery Sittings Closed Yesterday—County of Halton v. G.T.R.

In the action of Annie Tremaine of Toronto against her husband, J. B. Tremaine, a motion will be made in a few days for interim alimony and for an order to restrain the defendant from disposing of his property. The parties were married in December, 1872, by Rev. John Robinson and have had a family of six children, five of whom are now living, the eldest being about 17 years. The affidavit of the plaintiff charges the defendant with various acts of adultery, alleging that he was arrested while living with a woman, Sarah Ann Boyd, at Galt, but on expressing regret and promising to support his wife and family the charge was dropped, but that he soon after left his family again. It is further alleged that he brought with him from England a young woman, who he said was his niece, that she lived with the family, that improper relations existed between this young woman and the defendant, and that they became so bad that the plaintiff was forced with her family to leave her husband's house. The defendant is alleged to be worth about $4000.

Judgment in the alimony case of Robertson v. Robertson will in all probability be delivered this morning. Mr. Justice Robertson in reserving judgment said that he considered that the plaintiff had established her case and that the defence had failed, but thus he would have to reserve judgment on the question of condonation. His Lordship spoke in most severe terms of the defendant's conduct and of the evidence of his 16-year-old daughter.

The Grand Trunk Railway is appealing from the judgment of the Common Pleas Divisional Court, upholding the judgment of the trial judge in the action of the county of Halton against the railway company. The company yesterday deposited in court some $70,000, the amount of the judgment, and security for costs of the appeal.

Mr. Justice Robertson closed the Toronto Chancery sittings yesterday and to-morrow goes to St. Thomas to hold the sittings there.

The master in chambers refused to give judgment on the motion for interim alimony in Robertson v. Robertson, holding that the motion had been made too late, and referred it to the trial judge.

CHRIST'S SECOND COMING.

A Yale Professor Predicts the Fulfilment of a Biblical Promise Before 1900.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 15.—Prof. C. A. L. Totten of Yale, in speaking of the publication of his recent mathematical calculation, says: "Some papers have published that I predict the end of the world within this century. They mistake. That is their error, not mine. I don't think that the end will come for a million years, and I have not made any prophecy about it at all. What I did declare was that a mathematical calculation founded on Biblical truth proved beyond peradventure that the Messiah will come again before the year 1900. I don't mean by this that I believe the millennium will begin in 1899. I think that is a thousand years away. I say simply that at His second coming Christ will make the world better, as He did at His first."

TONS OF MAIL FOR GHOSTS.

A Mythical Old Lady for Whom Dupes Are Gathering Stamps.

ROCKVILLE, Conn., April 15.—Lillian S., wife of F. L. Hall, has received at the post-office here within the past six months and carted to her Ellington home in the mountains many wagonloads of mail from everywhere. She has just been arrested and held in bail for using the mails to defraud.

Her scheme was first to advertise both in Canada and the United States for 1,000,000 canceled postage stamps, ostensibly for an indigent old woman who could sell them for $100 and get into an old ladies' home; then to advertise for stamps, fancy work, food, clothing or anything that could be disposed of to assist "Clementine Ray" to get "medical services and a rubber leg." The old lady and Clementine were "ghosts."

Ashes on the Great Selkirk Glacier.

[Goldthwaite's Geographical Magazine, N.Y.]

President W. C. Van Horne of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in commenting on the article on the great Selkirk glacier in British Columbia, that recently appeared in this magazine, says that although the face of this glacier is now dirty it was not so a few years ago when he first saw it; on the contrary, the ice was singularly white and beautiful. The dirt he thinks is due, not to dust and clay eroded by the ice stream, in its descent from the mountain, but to ashes from the fires that have destroyed such a vast extent of valuable and beautiful forest in that country. Now that the authorities have taken measures to prevent any further destruction of the trees, it is thought by Mr. Van Horne and others that the face of the glacier will resume its pristine whiteness. It will be a century at least before the damage wrought by careless people of the noble forests of British Columbia can be made good by natural growth, but the Canadian Government has acted wisely in imposing penalties for any further slaughter. Their action might be imitated with advantage in our own country.

The Telephone Extensions.

The Bell Telephone Company intend to string a larger amount of trunk line extensions this year than they have in any one season for the past six. A through copper line will be constructed from Toronto to Orangeville, and through Shelburne, Dundalk, Flesherton, Markdale and Chatsworth to Owen Sound, and across to Hepworth and Wiarton via Tara. This will relieve the pressure of the present trunk lines reaching Toronto via Barrie, Orangeville and Guelph. A trunk line is also to be constructed from Mt. Forest to Durham and Flesherton connecting with the above main line. Another extension will be made from Parkhill to Sarnia, and also a connecting link between St. Thomas and Ridgetown, and a line will be run north from Lindsay to Fenelon Falls and Bobcaygeon. All these will furnish good connection for the city.

The Work Will Go On.

"I do not anticipate any difficulty with the McNamee contract," said Superintendent Hamilton yesterday. "Mr. McNamee knows exactly what the city is ready to do the moment he refuses to press on the work, and knowing this he will not hesitate. I see today his men are at work, and I anticipate that it will not be many days before the city will be furnished with water through the new steel conduit. I might add that Engineer Brough in the past three days has thoroughly examined 27 of the joints of the conduit and has found them all tight. There are about the same number yet to be tested, and if they are found in the same condition we will at once take over the work."

Disputed Wharfage Fees.

The Lily of Hamilton, a small passenger steamer owned by Mr. McDougall and valued at about $2000, has been lying at Sylvester's wharf, foot of Church-street, during the past winter, and thereby incurred a charge of $35 wharfage. This charge McDougall is unwilling to pay and came to take the vessel away, whereupon Sylvester requested the police to watch it. The police appeared upon the scene, but had no power to hold the vessel, and McDougall and his men took the Lily to Mimico last night. The work of removal was difficult, as the way was blocked by a large steam barge and a schooner, the Jessie McDonald.

Queen-street Methodists.

A capital concert was given Tuesday night in Queen-st. Methodist Church by the choir, assisted by Miss Lena Hayes, violinist, and Mr. H. L. Clarke, cornetist. The choir, numbering 60 voices under Mr. J. B. Baxter, rendered a number of choruses with good effect. In addition to the selections of the well-known specialists, valuable assistance was given by the soloists of the choir, Mrs Baxter, Miss Florence Benson, Mrs. Leadley and Miss Howard, soprani; Miss Leadly, Miss Baxter and Miss Kennedy, contralti; Mr. Robertson, tenor; Mr. Barber, Mr. Gilchries, bassi.

ALLEY—MASON.

An Auspicious Wedding Yesterday in St. Peter's Church.

A charming wedding took place yesterday at 2.30 p.m. in St. Peter's Church when Mr. Henry Ruttan Alley of the Education Department and Miss Florence Maud Mason, daughter of Mr. J. Herbert Mason, were made one. The pretty bride wore white brocade with cream bengaline train and orange blossoms and carried white roses. Her bridesmaids, Miss Mason, Miss Aggie Ross of Goderich, Miss Lucy Howard and Miss Amy E. Mason, were costumed in cream nun veiling, the first two carrying red roses and the latter cream.

Venerable Archdeacon Boddy, assisted by Rev. Cecil Owen, M.A., wove the legal bond. A large number of guests assembled to view the ceremony, for which the church was richly and neatly decorated with flowers—Easter lilies, hydrangea and roses. The groomsmen were Mr. Frederick W. Campbell, Mr. Cæsari Marani, Dr. Crawford Scadding and Mr. J. Macdonald. Messrs. C. Wilmot, Strathy, Frederick Wilson and A. J. Boyd were ushers. Miss Dallas, organist at St. Peter's, officiated at the keys with appropriate grace, playing for the entrance Wagner's Lohengrin march and for the exit Mendelssohn's.

After the ceremony a reception was held at Mr. Mason's house, No. 477 Sherbourne-street. Mr. and Mrs. Alley left for the west on the 4.55 train.

Joyous Spring Time.

Spring time! What gladness and cheer in the words! We look around us and see nature changing and putting on a new garb. The grass is showing up in a lovely green, the trees are budding, the feathered songsters are hovering around us and flitting from tree to tree, pouring forth their musical welcome. The farmer is clearing his ground and putting things in order for a more bountiful harvest than last year's. Even the beasts of the field seem to be glad and rejoice at the coming of spring. Spring time from a sanitary point of view, should be an important season to every man and woman in Canada. We should now seriously consider the state of our health. It is our duty to cast off all the impurities which the system has received during the winter season. From the impurities which the blood has received many suffer from nervousness, headaches and dizziness; the brain is clouded and wearied, and the whole body feels used up and tired. Dyspepsia is laying its hand heavily on many.

At this season all should seek that fountain of health—that great brain and nerve food, Paine's Celery Compound. It is the only reliable and effectual remedy for the toning and bracing up of the nervous system; it builds up the body and strengthens the whole digestive organism. It gives new life, vim and energy to resist the enervating effects of a hot and sickly summer, and enables all to avoid disease and contagion.

Before Mr. Justice Street.

George Burfoot v. Rev. Canon DuMoulin, O. A. Howland, Lieut.-Col. Grassett, churchwardens of St. James' Cathedral, and George Balmer was continued. Property on Parkview-avenue and Amelia-street was purchased by Burfoot and George Shaver from the churchwardens and rector of St. James. It was claimed that adjoining property was sold to James McIlwain, who erected inferior buildings to the detriment of the plaintiffs' property. Balmer bought a lot from McIlwain and put up a wooden shed thereon and the plaintiff asked for an injunction restraining such cheap buildings. Mr. Justice Street held that the restrictive covenants in Burfoot's agreement as to building should apply in such cases and ordered a reference as to damages to Neil McLean as Osgoode Hall. The verdict is practically for the plaintiff with costs. The counter claim was dismissed with costs.

Mr. Thomas Ballard, Syracuse, N.Y., writes: I have been afflicted for nearly a year with that most-to-be-dreaded disease, Dyspepsia, and at times worn out with pain and want of sleep, and after trying almost everything recommended, I tried one box of Parmelee's Valuable Pills. I am now nearly well, and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money."

The Pedigree was Wrong.

A case of some interest to horse dealers came up before Magistrate Wingfield at the Court House yesterday. Henry Wade, secretary of the Clydesdale Association, lodged a complaint against William D. Richardson, Vandorf, Ont. The charge alleged was that Richardson had sold a mare to a man named Tuckett, representing it to be sired by Galloway Laird, Glenliffer, Victor II. and Bay Wallace. "Gip," as the mare was named, was sold in the States. The offence, the penalty for which is a fine not exceeding $100, was proven against Richardson, but sentence was suspended.

The Bell is Hustling.

The Bell Telephone Co., in a letter to council, states it is the intention of the company to place its wires underground within the specified limit in advance of the time directed by the bylaw of December 23. It is also its intention to remove the poles and overhead wires from Bloor-street on the
