DROWNED OFF BATHURST:—About 10.30 o'clock on Sunday night two of the crew of the barque Alavas, lying about two miles outside the bar of Bathurst harbor each with a life preserver, jumped into the bay to swim ashore. When they got some distance from the vessel one of the men, Hans Christiansen, aged 27 years, from Denmark, became exhausted and was drowned. The other sailor, a Swede, was heard from the vessel crying for help. A boat was sent out, and the man rescued. The body of Christiansen was recovered and was buried on Monday afternoon in the Church of England burying ground. Rev. T. W. Street officiated.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH LAWN SOCIAL, which was the subject of notice in last week's ADVANCE was a great success in point of attendance and the enjoyment of patrons. The music by the Citizens' band was delightful, the supper a good one, the entertainment in the concert pavilion heartily enjoyable and the refreshments all that could be desired. At the literary and musical entertainment the following ladies and gentlemen contributed to the programme:—The pastor, Rev. J. M. McLean, Mr. J. A. Morrison, Lina Pallen, Miss Perks, of New York, Hon. L. J. Tweedie, Miss Bertie and Herbert McDonald, Mr. Alex. Dickson, Miss Kathleen Smith, Mrs. Pallen, Ethel Rae, Mrs. Emma Connors, Miss Jean Thomson, Newcastle, Mr. J. Fraser.

The receipts were about $350.

A FIRE AT LOGGIEVILLE on Monday was caused by the crib work of the Canada Eastern Railway leading from the river bank along the shore to the wharf at the water terminus igniting from some cause not clearly established. Two shanties, each occupied by a family, and owned by Mr. Geo. J. Vaughan, were burned. About 100 feet of the railway crib work was also destroyed. A large quantity of mill refuse lying in the vicinity took fire and fears being entertained for the safety of the village a call for aid from Chatham was made and one of the Town's steam fire engines—the Ronald—was sent down. Meantime the fire was held in check by one line of 2 in. hose from Messrs. A. & R. Loggie's stationary fire pump and a similar line from the hand engine at the Vaughan mill yard tank. When the Ronald got a 1½ stream on from the river all was soon made safe. The fire started at about noon and it was 7 o'clock before the Ronald left. A good deal of furniture was removed from houses and some stock from stores for precautionary reasons.

To Our Readers.

The ADVANCE will be obliged to its numerous readers if they will enable us to make reference in our local columns to matters and events in which they are interested, or may think their friends may be. This they can do by giving the information in person at the office, or writing to us about it. Many things proper to be noticed in the ADVANCE'S columns do not appear therein, simply because our attention is not called to them by those who would like to see reference to them in the paper, but have omitted to do their part in making them known. Come, therefore, or write and tell us your local news.

I. C. R. Changes.

Several important changes have been made in the trackmasters of the I. C. R. during the recent official inspection made by the general manager and his staff. Mr. John McGovern, formerly on one of the G. T. R. sections west of Montreal, succeeds Mr. W. Rainnie, deceased, on the Campbellton and St. Flavie section. This for some time past has been looked after by the trackmaster of the Campbellton-Newcastle section, pending the arrival of Mr. Rainnie's successor. Mr. McGovern is an experienced railroad man. Mr. J. Henfield succeeds Mr. P. J. Comeau, retired, as trackmaster between St. Flavie and Riviere du Loup. Mr. James Yeo, jr., succeeds his father, Mr. J. Yeo, sr., who retires through old age, as trackmaster on the Riviere du Loup and Levis section, which extends slightly beyond.—Transcript.

The "Avon's" Fate.

In the gale of Wednesday, 6th inst., Messrs. A. & R. Loggie's schooner, Avon, was at anchor of Tracadie Gulley. She was in light ballast at the time and could not hold on, and her crew is supposed to have got one anchor up and slipped the other. At all events, she was last seen going before the gale in a southeasterly direction and it was supposed that she would be blown out into the gulf. Much uneasiness was felt for those on board and, apparently, not without good reason, for on Saturday last as some fishermen were about four miles off Malpeque, P. E. I. they discovered the Avon, dismasted with rails level with the water at anchor in fourteen fathoms of water. There was no sign of any of the crew, and it is quite certain that they were all lost.

It is evident that the vessel was blown clear of the North Cape, P. E. I., by the northwest gale of Wednesday, which, it will be remembered, hauled to the north on Wednesday night. This would blow her into the bight of the north side of the Island where she was found.

The Avon was of 49 tons measurement, built in Lahave, N. S. in 1893 and commanded by Capt. John Leet. She had just taken a cargo of canned blueberries to Charlottetown and was returning to Tracadie for another when she was blown off. Besides Capt. Leet there were two other men, Andrew Mahr and Peter Connor of Mulgrave, N. S. on board at the time of the disaster.

Newcastle Town Council.

Mayor Ritchie presided and aldermen Rundle, Creaghan, Street, Fish, Ferguson, and Morrissy were present at a meeting of Newcastle Town Council on Friday evening last. Standing committees were appointed as follows:

Finance:—Ald. Rundle, Creaghan and Ferguson.

Public Works:—Ald. Street, Morrissy and Fish.

Police and Appointment to Office:—Ald. Sinclair, Street and Lawlor.

By-laws and License:—Ald. Fish, Creaghan and Ferguson.

Park and Fire:—Ald. Morrissy, Rundle and Lawlor.

The regular meetings of council were ordered to be held on the first Wednesday of each month and, for one month, meetings are to be held every Wednesday evening.

Ald. Morrissy was appointed to represent the town in the municipal council.

Different subjects of interest were discussed, and it seemed to be agreed that amongst the first things to be done would be the securing of electric lights, improved fire service, and water service.

Doaktown Notes.

DOAKTOWN, Sept. 19th.

DEAR ADVANCE:—The crop of hay has been good; also oats, and the weather for securing them also.

All kinds of garden produce have been a failure on account of extreme drouth for the past six weeks.

Fruit has not matured.

Potatoes on dry land are only partly matured, being dried out.

Seldom in the history of the country has the forest been so dry and the streams so low. Extreme caution should be exercised to save our woods from the fate that has overtaken and ruined some parts of the Western States, depopulating and converting whole counties into real deserts. At this critical time every man should ask his neighbor to use great caution to prevent fire escaping. Our woods have been wonderfully preserved through the last six weeks of drouth. Many are posting notices and anxiously asking all they meet to be interested in the matter. In the present condition fires would run over the fields and sweep fences and buildings. All are anxiously hoping and wishing for rain. This morning a light shower fell and it is still cloudy. Sparks from the train sometimes catch and the section men are very vigilant and put them out. We hope that care will be used to keep the proper wires in the smoke stacks until the drouth is past and the dangerous period is over. A heavy shower fell in Ludlow last week, ending with hail. The area covered was small—about four miles square.

The New Adams House.

The Adams House, Chatham, which was destroyed by fire last winter, has, to use a trite phrase, risen from its ashes. Not only so, but it is only the old Adams House in name, for it is much larger than the former one, more imposing and handsome in appearance and supplied with modern improvements and conveniences which were not in the old hotel.

When the smoke of the fire had cleared away there was practically nothing left of the old Adams House but the portion in which the kitchen and some store rooms and the servants' quarters were located, so the work of rebuilding embraced an entirely new structure, and that which now occupies the old site is creditable alike to Mr. Thos. Flanagan, the proprietor; the architect, Mr. R. C. John Dunn, of St. John, and the contractor and builder, Mr. James Troy, of Newcastle.

The former building had a frontage of 46ft. 6 in. on Wellington Street, but the new one's frontage is 68 ft., and the depth is 61 ft. 6 in., with exception of the western side, which is 42 ft. 7 in. The additional area of the floor plan is secured by extending the building west, to the line adjoining the bank of Montreal property.

There is an excavated basement, or cellar, the full size of the building, which is enclosed by substantially-built foundation walls of cemented masonry, and this will contain the heating apparatus, and storage for the usual hotel supplies, etc.

The hotel proper is three storeys high, including the mansard roof. Its front elevation presents a fine appearance, the central third of it being composed of a section which stands out eighteen inches beyond the line of the walls flanking it, and is finished by heavy ornamental corner-pilasters, the capitals of which support the cornice of the pedimented roof.

A verandah extends the whole length of the front, the lower part of which is reached by two short flights of steps from the street, and communication is had with its deck from the second floor of the hotel. The windows and doors of the second storey above the verandah, and of the third storey of the central portion of the front, are finished with scroll and turned ornamentation; all the cornices are heavily bracketed and the general exterior finish of the front is heavy, substantial and pleasing to the eye, a feature being the radials below the upper portion of the pediment entablature.

A noticeable feature of the central portion of the front is the window of the general office, which is 8 ft. 6 in. x 8 ft., in one square, and of heavy plate glass. The office is entered by double street doors leading off from the verandah and is 22x25 feet. This room—like all the hallways, the dining room, writing and private rooms on the first floor—is floored with clean, tongued and grooved birch, 2½ inches wide. It is also wainscoted with birch. An attractive feature in this general room of the hotel, is the spacious open fire-place, with its slate mantle and pressed brick jambs.

Through a door near the front, leading to the right from the entrance of the office, is the writing room, 16 ft. 4 in. x 12 ft. To the rear, off the writing room, is the manager's private room, 16 ft. 4 in. x 11 ft., and a door at the rear of this room leads into a corridor which communicates with a private entrance at the west end of the front which runs into the main hall.

The main hall is gained by double doors in the eastern section of the front, corresponding with those of the office entrance. This main entrance is vestibuled and the hall entered from it is 8 ft. wide and 59 ft. long.

The dining room, which is 22x32 ft. is reached by double doors leading from the main hall, and also by a door from the hall or corridor leading from the private entrance. It is lighted by four large windows on the west side, which, like other windows of the house, are fitted with sash-weights and pulleys, admitting of their being readily opened or closed at top and bottom so as to secure the best ventilation.

On the east side of the main hall, facing Wellington street is a double parlor 38x14 feet, which is divided by folding doors; and there are also three bedrooms on this side of the main hall, extending towards the south, or rear, side of the hotel.

In the southwest corner of this floor is a wash room, and adjoining this, to the east, is a baggage room.

The second floor is reached by two flights of stairs. One of these is at the rear end of the main hallway, and is in two sections, with a midway landing; the other runs from the office and is broad and easy of ascent.

In the front, looking out upon Wellington street, in the central portion of the second floor, is the ladies' parlor 22x25 ft. It is entered from the main hall by double doors, opposite to which is an open fire place similar to that in the main office. When our reporter visited the hotel yesterday the carpet and other furnishings were being placed in this room and their quality indicated that it would be a very attractive place when fully fitted up.

There are, on this second floor, eleven good-sized bedrooms, a spacious linen room, and a bath room and lavatory. The linen room is 8x15 feet and fitted on three sides with iron-bracketed shelving, so that the housekeeper will have ample accommodation in this particular and important department of her charge. The bath-room and lavatory fittings are of a high class and convenient in every respect.

The third floor is arranged similarly to the second, with exception of the portions occupied by the ladies' parlor, linen closet and bath room, the floor-spaces corresponding with which are included in the bedroom accommodation, so that there are nineteen bedrooms on this floor.

All the bedrooms are lighted and ventilated by windows, none of them depending upon artificial devices in this respect.

While guests may not be able to order by the dial system everything they may require directly, they will have the most improved electric plant connected with their rooms, to be found in the province, for Mr. Flanagan is putting in the return call system, so that guests may not only make their requirements known directly from their rooms, but have their presence or absence therein promptly determined from the office.

It is needless, perhaps, to say also that the house is fitted throughout with electric lights, no other being used.

The water-supply, which is a most important thing is through pipes from the spring in the former Muirhead field, now known as the Winslow field, the source being that which still supplies so many families and one or two industrial consumers. Mr. Flanagan has also made provision for the introduction of the corporation water system as soon as the civic authorities introduce it.

A great many people have, of late, visited the new hotel with the view of inspecting it and Mr. Flanagan who, with his assistants, is busy fitting up, has regretted that he has not had time to show them through. While explaining this part of the situation, yesterday, he said he feared that his friends might think him inattentive, but he hoped they would not do so, and he intended to make amends by setting apart a day, towards the end of next week, when the house was ready for guests, on which to escort all visitors through it. He hopes to be ready to open about the 28th.

St. Andrew's Church Improvements and the Re-opening on Sunday Next.

The work of making the repairs and improvements on St Andrew's church was commenced June 14th, and will be practically completed before the re-opening of the church next Sunday. In order to improve the architectural appearance of the building, and also secure the necessary basement space to put in heating apparatus, it was decided to raise it to a height of eight feet above its former level. The building is one hundred feet in length by fifty-eight in width, with an organ alcove or annex of eight feet and is massively framed from foundation sill to roof-top. The work of raising it the required height was very successfully performed by Mr. P. MacManemin of St. John, who used seventy-three jack-screws and many thousands of short deals in the undertaking. The ground beneath the building has been excavated to a depth of two and a half feet, making in all ten and a half feet of basement height, which, when floored and finished, will give a fine auditorium of over nine feet to ceiling.

In building in the space between the former foundations and the walls of the church when raised, two 12-inch courses of solid rock-faced freestone were placed on the stone foundations, and the remaining six feet of height was framed in with heavy timber, boarded over and clapboarded in same finish as the upper part of the walls.

Eighteen windows have been placed in the basement walls, insuring sufficient light in this part of the sacred edifice. The stone and masonry work was furnished by Mr. C. E. Fish, of the French Fort Cove quarries, Newcastle, and the wood work was done by Mr. John McDonald, of Chatham.

The roofs of the church building and of the Sabbath School Hall adjoining, have been re-shingled by Mr. James Mowat.

The two side entrances of the church has been closed up and the front entrance has been enlarged to a width of eight feet, giving ample access and exit for a large congregation, such as they have in St. Andrew's. A door has also been placed in the rear end of the church, giving an easy exit into the S. S. Hall, and swing-doors, covered with crimson cloth, are placed between the vestibule and the auditorium.

A graceful flight of steps in the front of the church leads into the vestibule, where a further flight of four steps brings one to the auditorium floor level.

The contract for painting the exterior of the buildings and interior of the church was given to Mr. John Johnston, of St. John, whose men, under the superintendence of foreman Reid, have done very artistic and creditable work. The flat ceiling with central recess made a fine ground for the decorator's skill, and has been laid off in panels and ornamented with lines and stencil-work in harmonious colors. The walls, thoroughly repaired and to a large extent, newly replastered, have been painted in light terra cotta color and stipple finished. The pews and gallery front have been grained in dark oak.

The massive pipe organ, placed in the church about seventeen years ago, has been thoroughly cleaned and rebuilt by Mr. F. A. Peters, of St. John.

Two wood-burning furnaces,—improved Cumberland pattern—5 feet 6 inches long, with a heating capacity each of 90,000 cubic feet are being placed in the church basement by Mr. Geo. R. Marquis, who is also placing one 4 foot 6 inch furnace in the basement of the S. S. Hall.

The cost of the repairs and improvements is about $5000.

The Minister and congregation of St. Andrew's are to be heartily congratulated on the most successful termination of the landable work which was undertaken by them—the beautifying and improving in comfort and appearance of their Church.

The unanimity and harmony existing in St. Andrew's was evidenced by the fact that every family connected with the church, without an exception, gave to the improvement fund from $2.50 to $3 per family. Every organization connected with the church gave something—Choir, Ladies Aid, Y. P. S. C. E., etc. The Christian Endeavor Society presented the church with the handsome pulpit chairs which adorn the platform.

The young men of the church, to whom the pastor preaches a sermon once a month, are placing two beautiful electric light pedestals on the posts of the flight of steps leading into the church.

The energetic pastor of St. Andrew's—Rev. D. Henderson, B. Sc.—is busy preparing for the reopening of the church, which is to take place on Sunday next, services connected with the event to continue daily until Oct. 1st. The programme for the services is as follows:

FEW MEN ORIGINAL.

Did you ever notice how few people are original in things they say and do? For instance, one man makes a fortune out of a simple thing; immediately hundreds of others try it. This is human nature. While it is gratifying to be the "first man" to bring out an idea, the great mass must be content to follow their leaders. There is one line that is always original, however, and that is the business of Bradley-Garretson Co., Limited, of Brantford, Ont., because they continually bring out publications, to suit the times and seasons, thus their agents are kept steadily at it and make big money. In fact, no other occupation is more honorable, healthful, lucrative, or offers half as many opportunities for promotion. It is a life school. Many men and women in Canada, to-day, testify to the truthfulness of his claim, in fact, it is conceded on all hands, that one year's experience with this Firm is worth more to any young man or woman, than two or three years at College, from an educational point of view, and financially, it is all that can be desired.

Agents:—Did you ever think of handling our latest work "The Light of Life"? If not, now is a good time to start. $3.00 a day sure; some make twice that. Experience or capital unnecessary.
